Other areas of responsibility have included direction of the OMS film department. Mr. Haines uses his abilities in music, photography, programming, etc., to assist pastors in their church missionary presentations.

Also speaking at the missions convention will be Scott and Kathy Murphy. Appointed to service with OMS International in Spain, Scott and Kathy Murphy are preparing for their ministry to Spanish youth. Scott, a graduate of Taylor University with a B.A. degree in psychology, attended Asbury Theological Seminary and earned a Master of Divinity degree with an emphasis in counselling. Kathy majored in piano performance at Asbury College and, in 1981, received a Master of Arts in Religion degree with an emphasis in church music from Asbury Theological Seminary.

Kathy and Scott Murphy

Wesley H. Haines

Although the Murphys will be new to Spain, neither is a novice to missionary service. Kathy was first exposed to overseas ministries of OMS in 1976 when she spent a summer in Japan under the NOW (Novice Overseas Witness) Corps program. Living in the home of a Japanese pastor, she taught conversational English in a local church as a means of evangelism.

Serving OMS in Haiti from October 1977 to June 1979, Kathy taught music theory, piano, and English in the Emmaus Vocational Bible School. She also taught evening classes in conversational English at the Practical English Institute in Cap-Haitien. The evening sessions which included a time of Bible study and prayer provided a good outreach to the upper classes of the area.

Scott, whose parents are OMS missionaries to Brazil, was raised in the mission field. His years as an MK (missionary's kid) provided opportunities for exposure to and involvement in a variety of evangelistic outreaches. A member of the OMS church in Brazil, he was active in its music program. In 1974 he toured the United States with the "Ligados", a Brazilian singing group directed by his father, Mike Murphy.

While a student in the United States, Scott has been involved in various ministries and has served as pastoral assistant and hospital chaplain as part of his course of study at the seminary.

Moerland announces candidacy for county board

I. Lee Moerland, who presently represents District 15 on the 15-member Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, has announced his candidacy for commissioner of District VI which will encompass the entire City of Charlevoix, effective Jan. 1, 1983.

Moerland, a veteran of more than 16 years in county government, is the first to announce his candidacy for the new District VI post. He will be a candidate on the Republican ballot.

The six-member board is the result of the re-apportionment of the county on a one man-one vote basis following the 1980 census. District VI, which Moerland seeks to represent, has a population of 3,296 based on the 1980 census figures. Other districts vary from 3,166 to 3,422 well within the 10 percent varience allowed.

Moerland said that he felt operating the county under a six-man board would be a real challenge. "I think that more and more demands are going to be made of those in government on the local level because of the federalism. Thus, more responsibility will be placed on those at the grass-root level such as the board of commissioners. The operation of the county has become a big business and I think, in the years ahead, it will become bigger and bigger, and, as a result, a greater challenge. With the knowledge I have gained during my tenure of office in local and county government, I would like an opportunity to accept that challenge" Moerland said of his decision to become a candidate for commissioner from District VI.

Moerland is no newcomer to the political scene. He served as first ward councilman from 1956 through 1959; as county supervisor from Charlevoix's third ward from 1965 until 1968 when the number of commissioners was reduced from 25 to 15 under the new state constitution. Since that date, he has represented District 15, Charlevoix's third ward, as commissioner.

Moerland has served on most committees of the Board of Commissioners including 12 years as chairman of the Ways and Means committee, these during the years of the Grandvue Medical Care Expansions, the financing of the new county jail and the conversion of the former jail to that of county building annex for offices and commissioners room. He also served as a member of the allocation board which established fixed millage in the county; aided in establishing the Delinquent Tax Fund which "buys" unpaid taxes thus giving all units of government and schools their full revenue from taxes instead of waiting for tax collections.

He has represented Charlevoix county on the 10-county Northwest Manpower Consortium since 1974 and has chaired the consortium since 1978; the Northwest Regional Planning Commission, 1981-82; the 10-county Agency of Aging, 1981-82; was named to represent the board on the three-man planning committee to establish the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation and has served as its president since it was established in 1981 and is presently serving on the committee involved in the study of the County Transit System for the Commission on Aging.

In the city of Charlevoix, he has been a member of the Charlevoix Volunteer Fire Department for the past 25 years.

A native of Grand Rapids, Moerland has been a resident of Charlevoix since 1952. Since 1960 he has been Secretary-Treasurer and warden of the Belvedere Association.

He is married to the former Helen Whitney. They have a son, Tim, a graduate student at the University of Michigan, and Karri, a student at Eastern Michigan University.

Sladek saves a life in Alaskan adventure

by ANNE KELLY

When young Joe Sladek, 19, graduated from Charlevoix High School last year, he had a pretty good idea about what line of work he would pursue.

What he didn't know was that in less than a year on the job, he would be a hero. Perhaps Joe doesn't think of himself in those terms. He would, however, admit that he recently saved a fellow worker's life.

Joe, following in his brother's footsteps, works for a seismic data collection company known as Geophysical Service Inc. (GSI), a subsidiary of Texas Instruments Incorporated. His present position is that of a "vibe" truck operator on the Alaskan tundra. When Joe started with GMI in Alaska, he began on the bottom rung of the ladder, learning the trade as a "juggie" laying cables with attached sonar devices across miles of Alaskan tunda. Before long, Joe was driving the "juggie truck", his parents reported. The next promotion found him an assistant operator on a "vibe" truck. These heavy machines caravan behind a catepillar which clears their way through the ice and snow in sub-zero Arctic temperatures. The vibe truck initiates the "vibes" which send sonar waves down into the earth. These in turn are reflected up to the surface where they are recorded. This seismic exploration data is used for mapping prospects and recommending drilling sites for oil and other mineral deposits. Now, after several months, Joe operates his own vibe truck, a big responsibility for a young man.

The job of seismic exploration is a demanding one. There may be 16-18 hours a day, 7 days a week of hard work from Dec. To May. Employees are given ten days off a month to revitalise themselves in order to come back for another laborious dose. The rest of the year, the crew for GSI works at various locations around the country doing similar jobs under less strenuous conditions.

Joe, from all reports, has been enjoying the Alaskan experience and was weathering the pressures quite well.

Then came a letter written to his grandmother which told of a chilling (literally and figuratively) episode that his parents, John and Beverly Sladek of Charlevoix, still find hard to believe.

It seems that Joe, operating the first vibe truck in the caravan was traveling about a fourth of a mile behind the catepillar when "all of a sudden it (the catepillar) was gone."

Only taking time to "yell over the radio that a cat was down," Joe leapt from his heated cab and out into the elements with only slippers on his feet. Vibe truck operators purposely dress lightly in case of accident. Heavy clothing would be dangerous in the event of a "breakthrough".

"I ran down and reached the hole before the man was even up..." After about 2 minutes when the man finally surfaced, Joe yelled at him to come toward the bank, but the cat operator was in a daze.

"Finally he started to come toward me and I reached out and grabbed his hand."

Joe pulled him out of the icy water and half-dragged, half-carried the man most of the way back to his truck before help came.

"Now everyone is scared of the ice but we still work on," Joe wrote. His only concern was that his grandmother relay the incident to his parents so that he didn't have to rewrite the whole story. It's a story that "could get a little pulled out of shape," Joe modestly added.

The senior Sladeks are understandably proud of their son and will be relieved when his present Alaskan stint with GSI is completed. Joe, on the other hand, will probably be ready to hit the tundra again come next December. That's what it is to be young.

Substance abuse workshop to be held

The 2nd annual Northern Michigan Clergy and Religious Workers' Workshop on Substance Abuse will be held Monday, May 3, 1982 at the Holiday Inn Conference Room in Petoskey.

The purpose of the conference is to sensitize clergy and religious workers to the effects of chemical dependency on the spouse and children and to help them become catalysts in substance abuse situations by providing education, information, referral and support. Participants will have the option of two types of groups: Introductory for those who are new to the conference and Advanced for those who attended the conference last year.

The staff will consist of members of the Chip Counseling Center and are all trained in psychology, counseling and have specialized training in substance abuse counseling.

The seminar is sponsored by the Petoskey Ministerial Association.

Registrations are to be sent to 1190 Blackbird Road, Petoskey, MI, 49770, by April 20. There is a registration fee of $5.00 For more information call 347-5448.

Opinion

Knight on the Town
At the crossroads

by Dave Knight

Nothing less than the means by which Charlevoix shall be governed is presently at stake with City Manager Robert hunt's resignation on the table.

The matter would have been easily dealt with had it involved a simple clash of personalities, a case of blatant incompetence or an unhappiness with the job. Such problems are unfortunate but common to both government and business. They are not unique to this community though Charlevoix has perhaps experienced them with a bit more regularity than other places

This time, however, neither personalities nor competence nor job happiness are at issue. Hunt has professed a sincere desire to serve the city council and has gone about the task with unprecedented vigor. Nobody can accuse him of not trying.

For their part, council members have repeatedly praised Hunt's dedication and ability. From his first interview when they came away thoroughly impressed to last week when several expressed real dismay at his decision, council members have respected the man.

So what's wrong?

Number one, communication. Last week's development can be directly attributed to a series of events that dates back to early January when it came time to start the search for a new fire chief. The message Hunt got from the council was, that they wanted the best man available regardless of where he was from. Some council members now say they indicated that a preference would be given to a local candidate. Minutes of the meetings tend to substantiate Hunt however not everything that is said is recorded in the minutes.

It was the rejection of the search committee's recommended candidate from downstate plus council's decision not to lay off city employees as per Hunt's budget reduction plan that led to a closed March 26 meeting at which the city manager and council were to iron out their differences. Hunt prepared a lengthy statement defining his concept of the city manager's role and came away from that meeting thinking that the council had understood and agreed with the wisdom of his actions. There was, at least, no apparent disagreement expressed so he fully expected to be supported on both the fire chief selection and the employee layoff plan at the council's next meeting which was Monday, April 5.

At that meeting, the council acted otherwise on both matters and the next morning he resigned on principle.

Hunt was subsequently misquoted on the United Press International wire as saying Charlevoix "was not conducive to responsible government." The statement made the television news and the Detroit Free Press thus providing the state with a great image of Charlevoix as some banana republic where city managers are advised to rent by the week.

What he actually said was that Charlevoix was not conducive to "professional" government and therein lies the real guts of the issue.

The whole idea of the charter approved by the voters in 1978 was to usher in a new era of professionalism at City Hall. This is what the people wanted; an elected council to set policy and provide direction with a professional city manager to administer day to day operations such as hiring, firing and other like chores. Other cities, and corporations, function smoothly under the same system.

Bob Hunt is probably the most professionally qualified manager hired since the charter was adopted. He studied municipal government specifically in school and put in his time in apprentice-type positions. For a city wanting professional government, Hunt's resume is tailor made.

What Hunt and the community have gotten, however, is a mixed message. While the charter calls for a professional city government, what we are getting from the present council is a provincial city government. Our elected officials still see the governing process as sort of a Norman Rockwell painting where the city fathers venerably preside over everything, no matter how small, that goes on at City Hall.

If this is what the people wanted, they would not have passed the charter. And if the sentiment of the majority has changed so significantly over four years, it does not yet show.

The future of professional government in Charlevoix has been severely threatened this past week. The crisis is compounded by the fact that the city is smack in the middle of serious negotiations with the township, for perhaps the last time, on the subject of consolidation. The city is also at a crucial point in developing a master plan that will have a major impact on future growth. To embark on yet another city manager search now will seriously delay these two all-important functions.

In this current atmosphere of turmoil, with petitions flying and their phones ringing off the hook, the council's responsibility should be to the charter which clearly mandates a committment to professional government. With that in mind, Hunt's resignation should be summarily rejected and an immediate effort initiated to improve how council and the city manager communicate. More importantly, Charlevoix must be made conducive to professional government.

Anything else would be a giant step backward.

Clockwise
Right thing, wrong reason

by Bob Clock

The trouble with Michigan's lawmakers is that they sometimes do the right thing for the wrong reason.

For example, take the 10-cents-a-pack increase on cigarette taxes, which is supposed to take effect May 1.

The new revenue, according to our capitol reporters, will be used to offset Michigan's cash shortage problem. Which is all well and good. After all, it is no secret that Michigan is short of money. The problem is epidemic across the state.

But I am terribly afraid that the new tax on cigarettes will backfire and Michigan will wind up with no tax revenue at all from its tobacco addicts.

Why? Because they'll all quit smoking before the new law takes effect.

Now this wouldn't have been the case if our august legislature had announced that it was imposing an additional tax on cigarettes because smoking is dangerous to your health, causing all manner of respiratory problems. Then all of the confirmed cigarette smokers in the state would have redoubled their efforts to prove the lawmakers wrong. Tobacco sales would have soared.

But if smokers are convinced that the state legislature is just out to pick their pockets, they'll kick the habit rather than be victimized again by Lansing.

Mark my words, after May 1 all of the cigarette vendors in Michigan will be lucky to sell one carton a week between them.

Furthermore, I think it's rotten for our lawmakers to single out a special group — in this case craven tobacco junkies — to solve Michigan's tax-flow problems.

In order to be fair, a tax should effect as many people as possible, not merely a select group of sinners.

The way things stand now, if we all quit smoking and drinking, Michigan would go belly up.

A CONSTITUENT called over the weekend to ask what I planned to do to save Charlevoix's city charter which my friend feels is in danger because of the present convulsions at city hall.

True, the present turmoil is placing a few strains on the charter, but I can attest that the fabric is strong. In Bob Hunt we have one of the brightest young city managers in the country, and hopefully the council will not accept his tendered resignation.

I think the council is having a little trouble turning him loose to do the job he is paid to do. But time and a growing confidence in his abilities should alleviate much of the tension.

Under our new charter, the council should be playing a policy-making and advisory role in the operation of the city and Bob Hunt should be in charge of nitty-gritty, day-to-day operations.

I am surprised that the council still spends so many tedious hours on agenda items that should be the responsibility of the city manager. And sometimes I am surprised by some of Hunt's recommendations.

But I have confidence in the entire staff at city hall. Of course they err from time to time — which only makes them card-carrying members of the human race.

Letters: Poem, thank-you, response

Poem from a friend

Dear Editor:

As I was cleaning my files, I found a poem which was sent to me from a friend in Japan in the early 70's. I thought it might be worth writing to you as the climate in Central America gets hotter each day. This poem was written by women who lost their sons and husbands in World War II:

"Yes, we have come through the same ordeal.
We sent our sons and husband to war,
To fight communism and defend our land,
To liberate Asia..., so we were told.
We did not know, we refused to believe
Our arms were killing innocent babes.
Nor did it ever occur to our minds
That we were hardening people's hearts against us,
There, in the lands which we were to save.
We tried so hard to convince ourselves
That we lost our boys for a noble cause,
It is true that their deaths were useless?
No!
If we can tell other mothers that their deaths were useless,
If we can spare other women the tears we have shed,
Then, we can say with deep conviction, and with relief,
'Their deaths have served the cause of humanity.'

Now, in Vietnam we see the tragedy being repeated.
You send your sons and husbands to war,
To kill and be killed so far away from home,
To safeguard Free Asia..., so you are told.
We appeal to you, we want you to remember
You have the right to ask whether Freedom can be preached with napalms and gasses.
You aren't forbidden to reason why
You pay so much to create enemies,
To support a government unpopular with the people.
You are citizens entitled to demand:
Is all this really worth the sacrifice?
So!
You have the power to let your dear ones come back to you.
You have the power for building a home-land of the free.
How we yearn to hear you say, for the whole world to hear,
'Peace, not war, will save our democracy.'"

When World War II began I was only a 4th grader. After growing my pre-teen years in the terror and hunger and tragedy of Japan, I remember saying to myself, "If I had been old enough when the war started, I would have done everything I could to stop that war!" Now I am a mother of three growing daughters. Many of my friends have sons.

I earnestly urge every mother to watch closely what is happening in the world. In Central America are we supporting those who say they are fighting against Communism to protect their wealth and power, or are we staying out of it to let the oppressed win their revolution? Remember, our forefathers fought for our freedom from oppression!

By this coming week-end I will have lived 50 years on this earth - half of which I spent in Japan, and the other half in America. At a time I was your enemy. Communist China was our enemy until President Nixon went there in 1973. Now we tend to see China in more friendly terms. There are mothers in Russia, Ukraine, Guatemala, etc., just like you and me. Please think about it.

Thanks for the help

Dear Editor;

As coordinators of the Mother's March for March of Dimes held recently in Charlevoix, Penny Gregory and I would like to thank those persons who gave of themselves so unselfishly to make this year's March such a success.

We also want to thank everyone who contributed so generously to aid in the research of birth defects so babies in the future will benefit from these gifts.

Answers Clock

Dear Mr. Knight:

I feel that the Clockwise Column of April 7 calls for a response from me as a township resident. It appears that parts of the column were based on assumptions which could be misleading.

Mr. Clock states that the township jumped on the bandwagon concerning the changing of the charter commission representation rules. However, when this proposal was made to the Charlevoix Township Board by the City, it was not accepted or rejected but tabled for consideration at a later time. I do think that later it was agreed that those who were pushing for consolidation would probably lobby their legislative representatives anyway because citizens do have a right to petition their government. I do agree that the chances of this proposal to change the law has a rather slim chance of passing through the legislature.

However, the real issues of consolidation are yet to be discussed and resolved. They are such items as taxation, utilities and other factors of economic as well as political importance.

Mr. Clock also mentions that consolidation would eliminate costly duplication of services. I wonder which services are being duplicated and at what cost? It would seem logical to conclude that if services are being duplicated they will be eliminated upon consolidation. Does this mean that the city will discontinue its police force or the providing of electricity to the residents? Perhaps the township could sell its fire fighting equipment and close the fire halls. I rather doubt that the residents of city or township will want to eliminate any of these services which they now enjoy. There is a possibility that a duplication of sorts in taxation could happen upon consolidation. The residents of the township could be duped into paying for a sewer plant which is presently not usable to them.

When I consider this proposed consolidation, it appears that the city has much to gain and nothing to lose whereas the township has nothing to gain and much to lose.

Grader to be used

Operation Petunia Update

by FRAN MARTIN

Nothing is ever as simple as it seems at first glance.

That is the lesson the Operation: Petunia people have learned in a hurry.

After making an in-depth survey of the area along which the group proposes to plant petunias as a beautification project, it was found that sand, salt, and gravel used throughout the winter months has resulted in a build-up of as much as 15 inches in some places between the curb and the sidewalk. In order to remove this build-up and lower the area to its original level, it has been decided to engage a huge grader to excavate this foreign material which is presently in approximately 60 per cent of the route between Mercer Blvd. on the north and M-66 on the south. An 18 inch trench will then be dug at the curb and filled with the proper soil to serve as a bed for the flowers, Dale Boss who heads Operation: Petunia said. On the day of the planting, this 18 inch area will be roto-tilled and readied to received the plantings.

At the same time, the area behind the planting trench to be sidewalk will be hydro-seeded at cost by Site Planning and Development. Within less than a week this will result in a lush growth of greenery that will rival any golf course Boss said.

Thus, with an 18 inch ribbon of flowers backed by the growth of grass, US 31 through the city of Charlevoix will definitely take on a new and more beautiful look.

Meanwhile, the project of measuring the distnace where plantings will be made must be stepped off with the use of a measuring wheel and the exact amount of materials tabulated.

"It will cost us a little more but we feel that as long as we are doing it, we might as well do it right" Boss said of the additional work and cost. "We're going to have to sell more front license plates and perhaps conduct some other campaign but I'm sure we will meet our goal" he added.

Other plans are shaping up Boss added. On planting day plans are presently being made to host a Swiss steak dinner in the park for all the wokers who will be issued numbers as they sign up to work. When mealtime comes, the person in the "chow line" with the lower number will have priority over other workers, Boss explained.

With Project: Petunia little more than five weeks away, plans are fast falling into place.

Out of the Blue

Mind if I placed my nuclear waste
In your salt mine? It appears
That I'll only want to leave it there

LTCT to present 'John Loves Mary'

The Little Traverse Civic Theatre will be performing "John Loves Mary" at 8:00 P.M. on May 13, 14, 15, 18, 20, 21, and 22 at the McCune Art Center in Petoskey. Tickets are $4.25 and may be purchased at the door or reserved by calling 526-2661 or 526-5553. The Art Center is located at 461 E. Mitchell and occupies the former United Methodist Church Building.

"John Loves Mary" is a light-hearted romp into Spring and the final play of the Little Traverse Civic Theatre's 1981-82 season, their 39th year on stage. This romantic comedy is a revival of the Rodgers and Hammerstein hit production of 1947 which starred Nina Foch and Tom Ewell.

The play opens with Mary McKinley anxiously awaiting the return of her finace from W.W. II. John has been gone three years and loves Mary very much. However, before he leaves England, John generously marries a young woman he mistakenly thinks is the long lost love of his best frend Fred, who's already returned to the States. John assumes its the only way to get the girl into the country. It's only a matter of time before havoc and hilarity ensue.

Already in rehearsal, "John Loves Mary" will open May 13th with the following cast: Debbie Zoerhof of Harbor Springs will play the part of Mary McKinley, a young woman deeply in love with John Lawrence, a soldier just returning from W.W. II. Eric Grandstaff of Alanson plays the part of John. Mary's parents, Senator and Mrs. James McKinley, are played by Dr. Jerome Fink and Betsy McCune, both of Petoskey. Bill Henne of Charlevoix plays the part of John's best friend, Fred Taylor, and the cause of all the confusion. Others in the cast are Carrie Rautiola of Charlevoix as Olive Dugan; Bob Shiver of Petoskey as Lt. Victor O'Leary; Susan Dunstan of Petoskey as Georgia Beechwood; Jill Ball of Petoskey as Lilly Herbish; and Bill Zoerhof Sr. of Petoskey as Harwood Biddle.

Gene Beach, a Petoskey teacher and past president of the Little Traverse Civic Theatre, will be directing "John Loves Mary", with Larry Willis of Petoskey producing the show.

CHS Band students earn high honors

Two Charlevoix High School instrumentalists passed Proficiency Level III on their respective instruments at the State Solo and Ensemble Festival held at Big Rapids Saturday their director, Terry Isenbarger, has announced.

They are Mary Plagge on flute and David Staublin on trombone.

Proficiency III is the highest level attainable at a festival Mr. Isenbarger explained.

Receiving Second Division ratings for their performances were Andre Fiedler for a trombone solo and a brass quintet composed of Tom Graf and Treasure Drost on trumpet, Andre Fiedler and Peter Plagge on trombone and John Pearl on tuba.

Earlier six Charlevoix Middle School entries in the District II Junior High Solo and Ensemble Festival at Johannesburg-Lewiston High School with all six receiving First Division ratings Mr. Isenbarger reports.

The events were: Lisa Seymour, Lara Stargardt and Michelle North, flute solos; Dan Staublin, piano and snare drum solos and Lisa Seymour and Michell North, flute duet.

Legion Auxiliary welcomes V.I.P. guests to potluck

Guests were Raymond Everst of Alpena, Lower 11th District Commander, and Harry Pearsall of East Jordan, 4th Zone Commander. Commander Everst spoke on increasing membership to promote the work of the American Legion.

Following the dinner, each organization held its own meeting.

At the post meeting, Joseph Seidel gave an informative resume of the history and present crisis in the Falkland Islands.

The group also discussed tentative plans for the annual Senior Citizens dinner to be held jointly with the Charlevoix V.F.W. Post No. 1153 in May. Details of the event will be announced when plans are completed.

At the meetin of the Auxiliary, plans for the annual spring salad-casserole luncheon to be held at the post home May 5 were completed. Mrs. Ray Wood and Mrs. William Farkas will be co-chairmen of the event assisted by a calling committee of Mrs. George Lochner, Mrs. Harry Goldstick and Mrs. Bertha Sternaman. All members will be contacted.

April has been proclaimed "Foreign Relations Month" Mrs. Wood advised the membership. The National Auxiliary president's project for the year is the School for the Deaf and Blind in Nambia, Africa. The local Auxiliary voted to send the mandatory donation for the project. Other contributions approved were for the Charlevoix County Humane Society, Public Broadcasting TV 6 and 14, American Legion Villa at Battle Creek, the VA Hospital at Battle Creek which was given $75 and the Grand Rapids Veterans Facility which received $125.

The membership was advised that Connie Borths, Beth Falting and Linda Joy were named as candidates for Girls State and that Bridget Noirot, Kristin Allard and Susan Parker were named alternates by a committee composed of Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Gertrude Holt and Mrs. Gayle Gennett of the Charlevoix high school counseling staff. All are juniors.

Members were asked to write to their state representatives voicing their objections to Senate Bill S-315 now in committee that would tax all military pay in excess of the taxes military people now pay.

Mrs. John Cross, Jr., was elected to membership.

The next meeting of the post is scheduled for 8 p.m. April 20.

The post and its auxiliary will hold a joint potluck supper at the post home at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 4, prior to separate meetings of the two organizations.

Wedding

Shakley-Left

Gerald D. Left of Charlevoix and Alice Shakley of St. Petersburg, Florida were married March 20 in Tallahassee, Florida.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Bernard Kurzweg, assisted by the bride's son, the Reverend Harry Vansel, both of Epiphany Lutheran Church, and Father Michael Foley of Good Shepherd Catholic Church.

The bride's daughter-in-law, Ruth Vensel, served as her only attendant, and Franklin Left of Jacksonville Beach, Florida was his brother's best man.

Horror of nuclear exchange concerns Margaret Duerr

Margaret Duerr is coordinator of Ground Zero activities in Charlevoix. The nuclear war education project is organizing community-based discussions and events during the week of April 18 to 25 in an attempt to educate and involve the American people on the issue of nuclear war. This week Mrs. Duerr tells the Courier something about Ground Zero and her own interests in a nuclear arms freeze.

Meet Charlevoix

Margaret Duerr

COURIER: Just what is Ground Zero?

DUERR: It is an organization based in Washington and headed by Dr. Roger C. Molander, who was a member of the National Security Council staff in the White House from 1974 to 1981. The organization has planned Ground Zero Week as a national education week on nuclear war issues.

COURIER: What brought about Ground Zero Week at this particular time?

DUERR: There seems to have been an explosion of grass roots concern about nuclear war. Ground Zero Week was planned last fall. The timing is just that everything is coming to a head at this time. Things are being said now that weren't earlier because the Government realizes the public is concerned and more knowledgeable.

COURIER: So you're going to provide a week of movies and speakers telling about the horrors of nuclear war. Where do we go from there.

DUERR: In Michigan, we're working on a nuclear weapons freeze. Petitions are being signed to present to the legislature requesting that the question of a nuclear weapons freeze be put on the ballot in November. Ground Zero does not endorse any particular solution to the problem. It is strictly a non-partisan educational organization.

COURIER: Do you have any plans for the ballot box? Why not use the technique of the Moral Majority and vote out of office those in Congress who aren't in favor of a freeze on nuclear arms?

DUERR: As explained above, Ground Zero is simply an educational organization, so that would not be something they would do. However, most of us know pretty well who is in favor of what and will vote accordingly. We want people to do their own thinking.

COURIER: Does Ground Zero operate in other countries?

DUERR: Ground Zero is strictly national but it has links to other countries.

COURIER: Other than going to the meeting next week, how can one learn about the dangers of nuclear war?

DUERR: There are two very good books on the market. "Nuclear War – What's in it for You" by Dr. Molander and his brother and staff is the best I know of for the average non-technical person. It is available at book stores and at the library. "The Fate of the Earth" by Jonathan Schell is another one. It appeared in the New Yorker in three parts and has caused much comment and concern.

COURIER: You seem to be well read on the problem.

DUERR: I've tried to become impartially informed on ways to stop nuclear confrontation. I think we should consider the moral and ethical issues, not just fear. The presence of nuclear weapons changes the idea of a "just" or "justifiable" war that has prevailed through the centuries. In a nuclear war, millions of people who had nothing to do with starting the war would lose their lives. There's one thing that hasn't been explained to me, too. We hear about what the Russians COULD do to us if we participated in a nuclear freeze, but we don't hear about what the Russians WOULD do. They have to take into consideration their own economic problems and their long borders with other unfriendly countries.

COURIER: President Reagan has been criticized for telling the world that our present stock of nuclear weapons is inferior to that of the Russians. Why do you think we are being told that now?

DUERR: The President has a difficult task. He has to re-assure the Europeans and us and he also has to let the Russians know we are ready for retaliation. Also, military people have to be prepared for the worst possible situation and sometimes they overlook the fact they may not have to take any of those actions.

COURIER: How long have you personally been interested in the problems of nuclear war?

DUERR: Over a long period of time in varing degrees of activity. However, I really became involved within the past year.

COURIER: What age groups do you find most interested in the problems of nuclear war?

DUERR: Young people and older people. It is the middle group that's missing, probably because they are the ones who have so many other things to do. Young people, as well as older people, seem to see things more directly.

COURIER: Do you want to add anything else?

DUERR: Just to urge everyone who possibly can, to take in Ground Zero activities. Our greatest problem is a "head in the sand" attitude. We don't understand it, so we won't think about it. It has been said that the only defense against nuclear war is the larynx – people thinking and talking. Locally, we have tried to keep Ground Zero actifities informal. The library room is small enough so people can talk after the meetings without feeling intimidated.

MAEH members from area attend meeting

Julie Micheal, Petoskey; Dorthy Zipp, Charlevoix, Eleanor Buck, Oden, Kathy Garms, Petoskey, Ann Laubengsyer, Conway and Jorene Stone, Petoskey joined 230 other MAEH (Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers) members from across the state at the Learn & Lead '82 conference Jan. 30 and 31 at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

The purpose of this conference was to provide an opportunity for MAEH members to share successful program ideas from their counties and to learn leadership skills for effective involvement in organizations and the community, says Dorothy Zipp, Emmet County Chairman.

Participants selected two of the six workshops offered. Workshop sessions covered topics such as resolving group conflict, running meetings effectively and motivating persons to use their skills and talents in MAEH and other groups. Other sessions helped participants understand the roles they can play in local government, schools and community organizations.

MAEH, a national organization affiliated with the Cooperative Extension Service at the land grant university in each state, includes 10,000 Michigan members. Of that number, 153 members of Emmet County belong to study groups throughout the county.

Since early in the 1900's, MAEH has helped homemakers learn to deal with challenges of every day life, such as child rearing, nutrition, and health, and participating in government.

Sizes of groups, meeting places and programs vary from county to county. Membership is open to all interested persons. For more information, contact Irma McGary, Emmet County MAEH membership Chairman.

Middle School Honor Students Are Itching!

Itching! Itching! The sixth and seventh grade honor students at Charlevoix Middle School are just itching to go to Chicago for their annual field trip! The kids are raising funds for the trip right now and the Charlevoix Courier is helping them out. Half the money collected for every new subscription sold by the students in April will go toward the trip. For every subscription renewal sold, the students get 25%. It's a good bargain, too! Courier subscription rates will go up this spring. May will be the last month to subscribe to the Courier for $11 a year in the area and $15 a year elsewhere.

Call Tom Sothard at the Middle School to make sure the honor students don't miss your home or business as they canvas the Charlevoix area.

Sports

Track team prepares for Thursday

The Charlevoix Rayder track teams, both boys and girls, will launch their 1982 track seasons at Traverse City Thursday their respective coaches, Hal Evans and Dennis VanGuilder, have announced.

Both teams have been preparing for the season by getting in shape in the gym with fundemental exercises and by running outside in all kinds of weather.

Both coaches agree that the weather has not cooperated. In fact, they agreed that this will be the latest start as far as preparation goes in years.

Coach Evans said he feels his team will be off to a good season "if the weather cooperates".

He went on to say that 52 candidates signed up for the sport but only about 40 have been out regularly for practice. Among them are 15 seniors, some juniors who have had experience, some sophmores who show promise and some freshmen who should help this season.

With so many candidates, he has named captains of given squads such as Scott Shepherd who will head the hurdlers and sprinters, Van Sloan and Tim Louiselle, the middle distances, Matt Peterson and Bill Taylor, the distance runners and Mark Beaudoin and Bill Ranger the field events.

Among his other candidates are Tim Krueger, Ross Carey, Larry Lemerand, Tony Starr and Jim Landon who are among the seniors; George Smith, junior hurdler who was sidelined last season; Ron Way, John Tunison, Lee Allard and Steve Young, junior distance runners; sophomores Pat Mitchell, Shawn Harnett, Alec Sheets and Jeff Lemerand and freshmen Kyle Smith, Jim Martin, Doug Sloan and Jim Kenney.

There are others who show great promise and who will likely be participating once we can get on the track and field Coach Evans added.

Coach VanGuilder of the girls' team said that he is starting the season with only two veterans, Sally Westenbroek and Lisa Pischner, both seniors. "We lost many by graduation and others have chosen other sports. Tanya Ford, who had qualified for state last season, will be lost to the team after undergoing knee surgery last week VanGuilder said.

Of the 42 candidates who sighed up, about 30 have been reporting for conditioning in the gym and in the field VanGuilder said.

"The girls are showing a lot enthusiasm, they have been running regularly despite the weather and I know that we will be getting off to a good start once we can get on the track," he added.

Girls softball team warming up

The Charlevoix High School Girls Softball team, coached by Mary Lieberman, is scheduled to open its 1982 season on the local field against East Jordan Monday, April 19.

"But unless we have a change in the weather and the snowdrifts on the field disappear so some work can be done on it in preparation for the opener, I'm afraid we'll be getting a late start" Mrs. Lieberman said over the weekend.

The team has been preparing for the season by getting in shape, using the batting cage and throwing the ball inside but Coach Lieberman said she was hoepful of getting in some outdoor work before opening day. "We need warm weather for two reasons...to clear the field and get the kids outside where they can practice at their assigned positions".

The team will be opening the season with five veterans; the remainder of the squad will have limited or no experience she said.

Returning will be two seniors, Colleen LaBlance at second base and Holly Taber at first and as one of the pitchers; Bridget Noirot, junior catcher and sophomores, Rhonda Buchanan, a pitcher, and Amy Sell who plays in the outfield. All have had at least one year's experience plus playing during the summer season.

Other candidates are Kim Bolduc who played as a freshman but who was not out for the team last season, Mary Lenhart, Laura Kemp and Cathy Boal, all juniors; sophomores Yolanda Chippewa and Beth Jones and Meg Fowler, Angie McClanaghan, Sue Ragina and Wendy Olinger, freshmen.

Coach Lieberman said of the team "They have a lot of potential, they're quick and they're learning fast. If the weather will just cooperate we should have a good season."

The team had a 26 win-7 loss record before losing in the regionals last spring.

City slow pitch league sets first meeting

The Charlevoix Slow Pitch League will hold an organizational meeting at the community room of the city hall at 7 p.m. Tuesday Dwight Boss, Recreation Director, has announced.

All teams planning to participate in the league are asked to send a manager or representative to the meeting at which fees, schedules and other important issues will be discussed.

Ward & Eis wins VB tourney

Ward & Eis of Petoskey won the annual Independent Mixed League Volleyball tournament held last week at Charlevoix after defeating Charlevoix HBO in the finals by a score of 2-1.

The two teams had come through their respective brackets to meet in the finals.

In the semi-finals Charlevoix HBO had edged Charlevoix Rock Shop and Ward & Eis had won over Petoskey Sidedoor Saloon by the same score.

In the first round of play, Charlevoix HBO eliminated Petoskey Artisans 2-1; Charlevoix Rockshop had edged Elcoate Sign & Design 2-0; Sidedoor Saloon defeated Townhouse of Charlevoix 2-0 and Ward & Eis won by the same score against CocaCola of Charelvoix.

Ward & Eis was the defending champion in the second annual Char-Em shootout.

Charlevoix fourth graders breakfasted in style last Friday. A practical learning experience in eating out at a restaurant involved more than they realized. Students took an active part in all phases of the production, assuming roles as cooks, busboys-girls, waitresses, host-hostesses, patrons, and clean-up crew. The menu included a nutrious balanced breakfast of juice, scrambled eggs, muffins, fruit cups and milk.

Mrs. Joseph Seidel re-elected president of V.F.W. Auxiliary

Mrs. Joseph Seidel was re-elected president of the Auxiliary of V.F.W. Post No. 1153 recently at the post home.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Albert Russell, senior vice-president; Mrs. Robert Rajewski, junior vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Staley, secretary; Mrs. Angeline Borths, chaplain; Mrs. Clarence Goldstick, conductress; Mrs. Ivan Phillips, Mrs. Donald White and Mrs. Thomas Hodgkinson, trustees; Mrs. Keith Wagner, guard. Appointive officers will be named at a later date.

Plans were also made for a social meeting to be held at the post home at 8 p.m. April 15 and for a potluck supper for V.F.W. and auxiliary members and their respective spouses to be held at the post home May 1. Entertainment will follow.

Delegates to the District 13 meeting to be held in Kalkaska May 2 were named. They are Mrs. Seidel, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Staley, Mrs. Hodgkinson, Mrs. White and Mrs. Goldstick. Anyone wishing rides to the district meeting is asked to call Mrs. Seidel or Mrs. Staley.

Two new members were installed as auxiliary members. They are Mrs. John Curtis and Mrs. Larry Finck.

Plans were made to present Pledge of Allegiance cards to the elementary school and flags to the Girl Scouts on May 1, National Americanism and Loyalty Day.

Members voted to renew the Auxiliary cancer insurance program. Under the program, all members are automatically insured after one year's membership without charge to the member.

Reports were given on community service and assistance given by V.F.W. Post and Auxiliary members at the recent Special Olympics held at Petoskey.

V.F.W. Poppy Days will be held May 20 through 22, Mrs. Seidel informed the membership. She also urged members to attend all meetings to enable the Auxiliary to carry out its service projects for the community and all veterans.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Melvin Plum and Mrs. Clarence Rabach at the close of the business meeting.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX COUNCIL MINUTES

April 5, 1982
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Staley presiding.

Present. Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Absent Councilman Morris.

The Minutes of the March 15, 1982 regular meeting and of the April 1, 1982 special meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Timms to adopt the Minutes of the March 22, 1982 regular meeting as amended to read as follows: "be granted the 8% rate increase in wages and that all City employees take the necessary days off, without pay as a sacrifice" ....

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas. Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

A Public Hearing was held to consider a request to rezone the Oscar Stroud property, the Wayside Motel, from "R-1" to "C-1". The Council discussed the many aspects of the problem with Greg Bryan, the manager of the motel, and members of the General Public present. Councilman Block's motion to table the matter was withdrawn and the City Attorney's advice the Council adjourned to the Board of Appeals.

The Mayor, after advice from the City Attorney, instructed the clerk to reflect in the minutes, that although the Council Members had convened as Board of Appeals for the Hearing, that they should have been acting in their capacity as members of Common Council.

Following the Board of Appeals, roll call of the Council was again taken with all members being present.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Block to appoint John Martin as Fire Chief for the City of Charlevoix.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: Councilman Porter. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The Council generally agreed with Councilman Block's suggestion that Mr. Martin's performance be re-evaluated as provided in the City Charter.

The Council discussed various ramifications of the proposed Ordinance for a Downtown Development Authority with members of the General Public present freely exchanging concerns and with Mike Greeley who answered questions regarding the boundaries of the Downtown District. The City Attorney offered legal guidelines for the selection of a D.D.A. Board. The Council directed the City Manager to have an appraisal done on the Drew Young property, 104 Mason St.

Councilmembers Block and Wood and Mayor Staley said they would attend a meeting with the Traverse City D.D.A. on April 7, 1982 at 1:00 P.M.

The Council directed the City Manager regarding negotiations in the upcoming Fire and Ambulance Contracts asking him to focus particularly on the matters of billing and services rendered. The Mayor and the City Manager are to go to the Township Boards to make the proposals. Additional details are to be discussed at a future work session.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilman Wood to award the Recreation Director's Contract as amended to Dwight Boss for one year.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas. Councilmembers Block, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: Councilman Porter. Absent. Councilman Morris.

The Council directed the City Manager to set a Special Session for the discussion of the City Attorney's appointment at which time they will consider the City Manager's suggestion to prepare a written contract.

Council recessed for a brief period.

Following the recess the Council addressed itself again to the problems of the reduction in labor for a balanced budget. The discussion involved the City Manager, Treasurer, members of the various Unions, Department Heads and members of the General Public present.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Wood that full-time permanent employees and Department Heads of the City of Charlevoix be scheduled, as necessary, to take days off without pay to reach the desired 1982-83 Fiscal Budget reduction.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas. Councilmembers Block, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: Councilman Porter. Absent. Councilman Morris.

The Council generally agreed not to participate in the tour of Belle River facility in Detroit, May 1, 1928.

The Council directed Bob Muma, spokesman for the local chapter of the American Legion to supply them with background information before they considered the Legion's request to allow a Farmers' Market on their property this summer.

The Council having examined bills totalling $252,407.79 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Porter that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amount.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent. Councilman Morris.

Council adjourned
Deanne Balch, City Clerk
Kenneth A. Staley, Mayor

THE BOARD OF APPEALS

The Board of Appeals convened with Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood present, Absent: Councilman Morris.

Greg Bryan, manager of the Wayside Motel, restated his expansion plans, his concerns relative to property use and tax burden should the Council not honor his request. The Council recognized the complex zoning problem and expressed the desire to meet with Mr. Ron Nino on the matter.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilman Wood to table the rezoning request for the Wayside Motel from "R-1" to "C-1" until the first regular Council meeting May 3, 1982.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The Board of Appeals adjourned.
Deanne Balch, City Clerk
Kenneth A. Staley, Mayor

Fran May

Fran May stresses consistency and sensitivity to her second graders

by ANNE KELLY

Fran May, second grade teacher at Charlevoix Elementary School, stresses two areas in dealing with her students: consistency and sensitivity.

"If children today lack anything," Fran believes, "it is self-discipline"

Parents can work on this with their children by being consistent in discipline and by instilling responsibility in the child as early as possible.

"Never underestimate a child," Fran expanded her feelings on the subject. "Even a second grader can have responsibilities around the house. Carrying in the wood, taking out the garbage, helping with the dishes, picking up what they mess up, making their beds – these are all within the capabilities of a seven or eight year old." Fran suggests that a parent should consistently expect these services.

A teacher, in like manner, should consistently teach the child to adhere to rules and follow through with consequences of actions. This is the way for a teacher to earn the respect of the students.

Sensitivity to individual needs is one of the main concerns of this soft spoken teacher. "It's (individual instruction) possible but it's exhausting." Each child is so different. He has individual strengths and weaknesses and absorbs information at different rates. He often comes to school with individual problems which affect his learning and his performance.

Fran joined the elementary staff in 1974 when she spent the year teaching Kindergarten. For the past seven years she has been teaching 2nd grade where she finds the challange and rewards of working with students whom she finds "still innocent and easily motivated."

A graduate of Central Michighn University in elementary education and social studies, Fran was a substitute teacher in the area before assuming her present position. Her family includes husband, Bob, four children, and three grandchildren.

Fran's most successful classroom technique is one which though not unusual or profound is effective.

"I begin every day with 15 minutes of silent reading. It sets the mood for the day and gets them off to a silent start for more teaching and more listening."

A favorite activity in Fran's classroom is that of creative writing, a medium through which she feels that they can express their feelings.

Consistency and sensitivity to individual needs appear to be the key to effective teaching for Fran May.

Historical Society delves into history of Charlevoix Garden Club

The members of the Charlevoix Historical Society heard the history of the Charlevoix Garden Club, one of the community's most active groups, at the recent meeting of the society.

The history, presented by Mrs. Edward Lewand who had compiled it in 1980, told of the organization of the Garden Club on May 27, 1939. Charter members were Hilda Alexander, Florence Culver, Margaret Erber, Sadie Faulkner, Mamie Fessenden, Anna Campbell, Benona Bartlett, Betty Riggin, Dorothy See and Lillian Swinton.

According to the history, meetings were held at the homes of the members. They had many picnics and engaged many speakers.

The club had set its goals and among them was the beautification of Charlevoix which the club, more than 40 years later, continues to do.

At that time, the club sponsored the planting of 500 white pine seedlings on the south bank of the Pine River channel. The seedlings had been donated by the late George R. Hemingway of the Charlevoix County Nursery.

The club popularized the Christmas residential decorations in the community and for many years served as judges. During World War II, a Red Cross committee was organized to do its bit for those in uniform. Victory gardens came into being at that time and the club sponsored programs on this purject as well as nutrition and conservation.

Today evidence of their planning can be seen in areas of the former Chicago Club golf course, now owned by the city, in the form of 2,000 trees planted under the supervision of K.C. Festerling, district agent for the 4-H Club, and sponsored by that club. At one time, the Garden Club took advantage of 1,500 bulbs from the Loeb Gardens and planted them in the State Street boulevard between Park Ave. and Antrim St. which has since been removed. Later the bulbs were replaced by petunias and pansies.

Today, the club continues to be active. Among their many projects are Arbor Day plantings, bird education, care of flower beds and plantings throughout the community, the Memorial Garden on Mercer Blvd. at the end of E. Dixon, the Pere Charlevoix mini-park overlooking Lake Michigan at the end of West Dixon, Christmas tray favors for the Charlevoix Hospital, representation at City Council meetings and participation in district and state federation meetings.

Mrs. Betty Zipp will present the history of Bay Shore at the May 4 meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society to be held at Harsha House. As an ongoing project, the society is compiling the history of the small communities that once dotted the area.

Membership in the Charlevoix Historical Society is open to anyone interested in the history of this community and area.

Obituaries

ROBERT E. ULRICH

Funeral services for Robert E. Ulrich, Jr., 30, of Lansing, were held April 10 at the Belltower Reformed Church at Atwood. The Rev. James Heneveld officiated. Interment was in Lakeview Cemetery at Eastport.

Mr. Ulrich died unexpectedly Dec. 30, 1981, while vacationing at Treasure Island, Fla.

Born in Detroit Sept. 5, 1951, Mr. Ulrich was a resident at the Moore Living Center at Lansing and was employed at the Tri-County Diversified Industries in Lansing.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ulrich, Sr., of Howell; a brother, Richard of Okemos; one sister, Mrs. Carol Ann Mills of Prescott, Ariz., and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sobol of Eastport.

The Hasting Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

MARY O'LEARY

Funeral services for Miss Mary O'Leory, 93, who died April 9 at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility where she had been a patient since 1975, were held Tuesday morning at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Medard Buvala, A.F.M., of St. Francis Xavier Church in Petoskey officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Born in Painesville, Ohio, Sept. 24, 1888, Miss O'Leary came to Charlevoix as a girl. She graduated from Ypsilanti Normal School, now Eastern Michigan University, and taught in the Detroit School system until retiring in 1955. At that time she returned to Charlevoix, where she had spent the summer months for many years, to make her home. She was a member of St. Mary's Church.

She has no survivors.

Memorials to the Grandvue Medical Care Facility have been suggested for those wishing to honor her memory.

MAEH regional group to hold seminar

On April 21 the North Regions Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers group and Home Economists will be sponsoring a Learn & Lead Seminar at Grayling's Holiday Inn. Nancy Gay Frye, MAEH Assistant Membership Chairman, will be keynoting on the day's topic "Ask Me Who I Am!" As the topic indicated the day will be devoted to defining ourselves as MAEH members and what we do to bring people into groups and keep them.

The afternoon workshops will be: "What Draws Us Together - Focusing on County Projects"; "What Keeps us Together - Skills for Sharing"; "What Motivates Us to Volunteer - Butterflies are Free"; "How to Let People Know About Us - Tooting Our Own Horn".

Pre-registration must be in to your county Home Economist by April 15. There is a $5.50 fee to cover materials and luncheon. The day will start with registration at 9:00 a.m. and end with wrap-ups by 3:00 p.m.

Supplement To The Charlevoix Courier Wednesday, April 14, 1982

Energy efficiency will be key factor in future home design

With the average price of a home expected to climb from $65,000 in 1980 to $130,000 by 1990, those who own homes will have to make the most of them by remodeling with energy conservation in mind, says Cynthia Fridgen, Michigan State University Extension specialist in human environment and design.

Fridgen told an audience at a program on beating high heating costs during Farmers' Week and Natural Resources Days on the MSU campus that there are a variety of ways to add solar energy collection and storage devices to homes.

Fridgen, who has lived in homes using solar energy in California and Michigan, said her family has the opportunity to save more money here than in California because the heating season is so much longer in Michigan and solar collection brings much greater savings.

Homes of the future will be smaller with open interior designs that effectively use a central heat source, such as a wood-burning stove, Fridgen predicted. Cluster housing, in which individual residences share common walls and centralized yard space, will provide affordable housing alternatives.

Another energy-efficient, reasonably priced housing option

Owning land is game of chance

In the investment game, owning undeveloped land could bring satisfaction, security and profit to you several years down the road or it could leave you with less money than when you started. As a game of chance, keep in mind your money will be tied up when you buy land, as real estate is not very liquid (not easily converted to cash.)

Don't assume all land will appreciate. How much a piece of land is worth depends on many factors such as how suitable the land is for commercial development. Is there a potential for development in the future? How may years will it take?

How much you profit from you land will depend primarily on how a buyer can use the land. Land outside the suburbs and within the urban areas generally carry a higher rate of risk than land in the suburbs.

Before investing in land, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants says, do some thorough research. Consider the costs involved, cash down paymant, mortgage payments, property taxes, maintenance costs, tax aspects and a realtor's commission when you sell. the best place to look for land possibilities, say CPAs, is where you are most familiar with property values and real estate development. This includes land where you live, work or vacation.

Laod investment often requires a greater initial cash outlay than other types of investments with other expenses involved, too, such as property taxes and mortgage interest. CPAs say, consider your federal income tax return as these may affect your deductions.

High returns and leverage may be realized from real estate investments, say CPAs, by paying as little as possible with your own resources and as much as you can with borrowed money.

If you buy five acres at $30,000, yoo my contribute $10,000 cash and a $20,000 mortgage. Should you be able to sell the property at $50,000, there would be $30,000 remaining after repaying the mortgage. Then, subtracting the initial $10,000 in cash you paid, your profit before taxes would be $20,000.

Tax benefits are a major consideration with any investment and CPAs remind you investing in raw land is not treated as a tax shelter. The advantage to owning land is that profits on the sale is viewed as capital gains. When the property is beld for one year or less the gain is considered to be short-term and is fully taxed as ordinary income. When owned for more than one year the gain is long-term with only 40 percent of any gain from the sale taxable.

Money may be made from your land while you hold onto it, says CPAs, by putting it to use. Renting it as pasture, selling timber rights or charging hunters and campers for their use of the land are some ideas for this. You may even plan it so the sale of portions of your acreage will finance the building of a vacation or retirement home.

1982 Wojan M-35
Just One Look And You'll See Its Exceptional Value

The more you look at the finest window in the world the more you'll like the Wojan M-35 Rolling Aluminum Window.

The Wojan M-35 seals out the cold like no other.
Its insulating glass in harmony with its double sliding panels create a triple glazing system that is unsurpassed. Extremely wide air spaces stop cold and heat transmission. Its triple weatherseals lock out strong winds as they do normal air movement due to air temperature and pressure differencials.

You'll see the window that won out over all competition in Northern Michigan Universities 2440 window replacement program at Marquette.

There are many similarities between the M-35 and other outstanding windows but as you begin to study the important features of each, the major differences stand out.

The unique Air-Lock thermal barrier eliminates conduction of cold or heat with great efficiency.

Clad inside and out with weatherproof, mar resistant aluminum that will remain structually sound for centuries to come. The Wojan M-35 is protected with impact resistant baked-on finishes in colors that enhance its inherant beauty.

The M-35 is an engaging mixture of Architectural sophistication and no-nonsense engineering. Clean, well balanced lines create an uncluttered expanse of glass effect. Yet its structual integrity is retained through depth.

Listen To The Quiet
An interesting spin-off from the Wojan engineered design is the M-35s ability to shut out unwanted noise from traffic or other anneyance.

All of this without paying "Rolls Royce Prices".

Home fire safety is any homeowner's top priority

Before you read this article pick up the phone and call your next door neighbor. Ask her if you can come by and check out some potential fire hazards. If her house goes up in flames, your may go too.

Check her basement, garage and home for flammable liquids—liquids that will burn such as gasoline, kerosene, benzine, paint removers and paint paraphanalia. Most of these have no reason to be in the home. Those that do should be stored in very small quantities only and in tighly closed metal containers. Flammable liquids can evaporate quite readily and it is this gaseous (vapor) state that makes them double dangerous when mixed with air.

Vapors from flammable liquids are heavier than air; they can flow invisably along the ground and can be ignited by a far-off flame, spark or heat source such as those coming from furnaces, gas heaters, wood and coal burning stoves, and kitchen ranges and ovens. The vapor trail acts as a wick.

Warn your neighbor that in the event of a flammable liquid fire, water must never be used because it can cause the fire to spread or explode. An ABC-type all-purpose dry chemical fire extinguisher will fight all kinds of fire including grease and electric ones. Make sure it's the size all of her family can handle in an emer-

Energy conservation stimulates new design

Fridgen said will become more popular is the earth-sheltered structure. Ron Krzanowski, of Sunway Builders in East Lansing, called the earth-sheltered arch design "affordable, attractive and inherently energy efficient."

These structures can be build on flat land he told the Farmers' Week audience. The volume of earth removed for the structura is used to surround the top of the home. Krzanowski said a 2,000 square-foot home with 18 inches of dirt on top can be heated for an entire winter season for about $150 with forced air gas heat and about $200 with electric baseboard heat.

The two-story structures are formed with Bernold steel sheets, developed in Switzerland and used for years in mine shafts and tunnels. The structures are constructed in less time than conventional homes at a cost of $40 to $45 a square foot, depending on design. At least one side of the home has a view of the outside.

These homes require little outside maintenance, and inside they are practically soundproof. Fridgen said earth-sheltered arches are a practical desigo for property located near airports, freeways or other locations where noise pollution is a problem. Home insurance costs should be lower, she said, because chances of fire or storm damage are greatly reduced.

Krzanowski said the earth-sheltered arch also has escellent possibilities as a plant growth chamber because of the fairly constant temperature. Below a depth of 8 feet, the earth remains at 45 to 50 degrees F, requiring an eoergy boost of only about 20 degrees to create a comfortable environment.

Weatherstripping windows

Does there always seem to be a slight draft around the frames of your closed windows? The solution to your problem is to weatherstrip your windows. Weatherstripping can be bought by the foot or in a kit. Most windows can be insulated with one of three types:

•Spring metal strips can be installed by opening the window, sliding the strips into the sash channels (where the windows move up and down) and tacking them in place. They should also be tacked along the full width of the bottom rail of the lower sash, where it meets the window sill, as well as between the upper and lower sashes.

•Vinyl weatherstripping, the second type, is nailed to the exterior window frame up the sides, along the bottom sash rail and to the bottom of the upper sash rail.

•Lastly, there's adhesive-backed foam, which is probably the easiest to install. You just peel off the adhesive cover and press the strip carefully into place. However, it should be applied only to areas where there is no friction. On many windows this is on the upper and lower sash rails.

Locally owned banks serve their communities best.

To many people, 'condo' still means a building style

Many people still mistakenly think the word condominium refers to a particular architectural design. Not so. Condominium refers to a type of workshop.

A concise definition is "a multi-unit development in which an owner has free title to the part actually occupied with joint ownership of common areas used by all occupants." By that definition, campgrounds, mobile homes, office buildings, industrial parks and almost any type of real property could be termed condominium.

However, the distinguishing feature about condominiums is that ownership of the common area is termed "undivided" interest. For instance, if there were 50 feet of land extending in front of a five-unit development, it would not be correct to say that one owner owns the first 10 feet, the second owns the second 10 and so on. Rather, they all own the property together, and it cannot be divided into single-ownership portions.

How are expenses handled with his type of arrangement? A condo owner is responsible for operation and upkeep of his living quarters. This includes decorating, utilities, interior repairs and maintenance, insurance, mortgage payments, real estate taxes and mortgage insurance, if required.

As far as common property goes, each owner pays a proportionate share of common area and maintenance expenses. This could include utilities, heating or air conditioning, management expenses, garbage removal, janitorial service and recreational facilities such as pools and tennis courts. These expenses are usually assessed annually, and paid monthly.

A condominium is governed by its owners. As units are sold, responsibility for the property is transferred from the developer or sponsor to the owners who form a condominium owners' association. Every owner belongs to this association elects a board of directors, who set policy and oversee the operation of the condominium in accordance with the condominium's declaratioo and by-laws. A condominium, therefore, is run as a small democratic institution.

Your interest in participating in the management of a condominium is, perhaps, the first question to consider in making the switch from a single-family house or rented apartment. Large or small, a successful condominium depends to a great extent on the willingness of its residents to become involved in making it work.

Another important issue to consider is your readiness to accept majority rule. It is the reality of condominium living that if the majority or residents want to raise the monthly assessments $50 to cover the costs of enclosing the swimming pool, for example, your options are to pay the higher charges or sell your unit. Most condominium associations have a legal right to charge interest on overdue payments and to place a lien on a unit for non-payment of assessments. In escaping the burden of shoveling snow and mowing grass, you also relinquish the autonomous right to make decisions that will affect your budget.

Evaluating the attitudes, expectations, and circumstances of other owners in the building or complex can be a useful guide in selecting a condominium. What is the age range of the residents? Are there many children? Is your income significantly higher or lower than the income of other owners? Is there a general sentiment in favor of expanding upon existing amenities? If so, are you willing to pay the higher assessment necessary to build additional facilities? To some degree, your lifestyle expectations should match those of the building's population. If you are not interested in extensive recreational facilities, you should think carefully before buying in a condominium that offers racquet ball courts, tennis courts, saunas, and swimming pools. Although condominium ownership has a tremendous poteotial for providing luxuries that many persons could not afford individually, it also can lock owners into paying for features they do not want.

Before you buy, it is a good idea to interview the members of the association board, consult with other owners in the building, review the financial history of the

Take time planning bathroom

The bathroom is a very important place. A well-planned bath area adds greatly to the liveability of a home. Prospective home owners give high priority to conveniently located, well-equipped, and nicely decorated bathrooms. More bathroom remodeling jobs are sold each year than any other single type of home improvement. But remodeling can be expensive, and—more important—leaks, undetected, can cause structural damage.

If you are considering buying a previously occupied house, you should examine and evaluate the condition of the plumbing. Try operating the bathroom devices and watching the drainage. You may feel shy about turning on the water and flushing toilets. Don't be. The house is your investment, and you will inherit problems unless you detect them prior to purchase. You have every right to inspect and question.

The following suggests features that should not be overlooked:

•Are there water stains in the building, indicating leaks in the water supply or drainage piping? If so, have the leaks been corrected satisfactorily?

•Is the flow of water from the faucets good and strong, indicating absence of corrosion or scaling in the supply piping?

•Do the fixtures drain quickly and quietly?

•Are all fixtures and piping firmly anchored or supported?

•Does the toilet flush completely and shut off completely? Does the tank refill quietly?

•Do faucets, valves, and stoppers operate freely and close completely?

•Are the fixtures chipped and stained? Do they need to be replaced?

•Observe the condition of the shower floor. Does it look dirty? Is the tile cracked? Are there numerous patches with caulking compound? What is the condition of its door?

•Put a stopper in the floor drain and fill the shower with four inches of water. Watch to see if it goes down, and observe the ceiling below.

•Go to the ceiling below. Do you see any stains? Is the ceiling crazed? cracked? Even if it is painted over, observe closely around the light fixtures—is there any rust?

•Are there adequate storage areas, a large medicine cabinet, and mirrors?

•What kind of floor is there? Is it cleanable?

•One requirement is a good ventilation fan for removing odors and excess humidity in the air. Such humidity can be harmful to the walls, paint, paper, and insulation. Check for proper operation in air-flow; does the fan force air out of the room?

•Are there adequate heat, lighting and convenience outlets?

•Do fixtures have easily accesible shut-off faucets? How long does it take the hot water to arrive and does it maintain ahot temperature?

•Beware of an old house with only one bathroom. This can cause family inconvenience. A house with two or three bathrooms makes for better living and a higher resale value.

condominium, and talk to the management company, if there is one. Ultimately, it is the residents' ideas—not the developer's—that mold the condominium budget and assessments. In evaluating the long-range costs of living in a condominium, another essential element is the structural condition of the building. How sound is the heating system, roof, basic structure, plumbing, electrical wiring, and window sashes? All of these are extremely expensive to repair or replace and can have an effect on your monthly assessment. Information about the condition of the building can be found in the engineering report available from the developer, if the conversion is in process, or from the association in an established condominium.

The management of condominiums, both large and small, is a difficult, sometimes full-time undertaking which requires expertise in engineering, maintenance, budgeting, contracts, and other areas. There is little doubt that effective management is the key to a successful condominium, and, although there are exceptions, the job is usually best handled by a professional management company. Of course, overall responsibility for running the building or complex remains with the owners, but to place the day-to-day chore of management in the hands of amateurs is often ill-advised.

Here are some additional precautions you can take before buying:

•Hire a lawyer who has some experience with condominium purchases to represent you at the closing and to go through the documents affecting management and restrictions.

•Look at the developer's final plans for the project to make sure he isn't going to put up another building that will block the view that induced you to buy in the first place.

•Check the maintenance charges with real estate agents or people who have bought similar units. Some developers set fees unrealistically low to attract buyers. Make sure that enough money goes into the reserve fund for repairs. If a vandal ruins the lobby, for instance, you could be hit with a high assessment if there aren't enough reserves.

ROOF'S ARE IN BAD SHAPE AFTER LONG, HARD WINTER

If your leaky roof has got you down, don't feel bad. Northwest Michigan's severe winter has caused water to drip through many area rooftops. If you're looking for an answer that will give years and years of leak free service, Cold Process Roof Coating or Single-Ply Membrane Roofing are inexpensive answers to your drip problems.

Mightyplate preserves and protects your roof ... forms a long-lasting, pliable, seamless, waterproof sheathing over your present roof surface. The result of years of research, manufacturing experience, and enthusiastic customer acceptance, Mightyplate represents a great advancement in cold process roof coating. Mightyplate cold process roof coating comes complete with a seven year warranty.

Mightyplate Single-Ply Roofing Membrane is ideal to apply over existing roof systems and is able to cut new roof costs since there is no "tear-off" involved, so most of your money is being invested in waterproofing instead of labor. A ten year warranty is part of this super roofing deal.

Simply put, they both save money, and the headaches of a leaky roof.

COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ROOFING OF CHARLEVOIX asks that you call collect for your free estimate on any roofing problems, or if you have a driveway or parking lot that needs coating you can choose from a quick dry asphalt sealer or an emulsion type sealer. Call collect, 616-547-6208. Paid Advertising.

It's simple...

Just stop and bank in our home town ... where you get a piece of the PROFIT on every transaction.

When you shop or bank in our home town, part of every dollar will go to pay your local tax bill, and for local benefits like fire and police protection, schools, streets, parks and playgrounds ... leaving LESS for you to pay toward their cost.

Charlevoix County State Bank knows the strength of home town assets and the importance of trying our home town first. If you shop in the big city or with downstate banks, your dollars are gone forever.

Can you think of a better place than our home town for your bucks to stop?

Good organization of family records can help houshold efficiency

When was the last time you couldn't find an important paper you knew you had carefully put away someplace? How much time do you spend trying to straighten out your household business affairs, especially at income tax time?

How, in fact, do people decide what records are important to keep and what they can discard? How do they decide where to store and keep such records and papers?

Even though each family or household must work out its own system, some general guidelines can be helpful. As a starter, ask yourself a few questions:

•How easy or difficult would it be for other members of your household to figure out your record system? Or...do you even have a system?

•Who besides you knows where to turn for necessary information about the family household assets and obligations? Do you have a listing of people who are important contacts, such as tax counselors, attorneys, bankers, brokers, insurance representatives, employers, creditors, and debtors?

•Are you sure tilles to property and possessions are held in the best way for all concerned? If not, you may want to ask an estate attorney or a trust officer at your bank for professional assistance.

A good record system will provide a bird's-eye view of what happens to property after you die or when a member of your household dies. Other changes can alter plans too—for example, divorce or separation, children reaching legal age, a long illness, a lawsuit, a natural disaster, loss of job, and retirement.

•What happens if the place where you liva is burglarized or there's a fire and records are destroyed? What do you do when you lose track of important papers? Which can be replaced, and how do you go about that? Which ones cannot be replaced, and what do you do about those?

If you don't hava a safe deposit box, then consider getting one. A guildline as to what goes in and what stays out might be: Put it in if you can't replace it or if it would be costly or troublesome to replace. Among the things to put in are: Birth, Marriage and Death Certificates; Citizenship and Adoption Papers; Wills and Deeds; Divorce Decrees; Tilles to Automobiles; Veteran's Papers; Bonds and Stock Certificates; Important Contracts; A Household Inventory.

In addition you should organize a home filing system for personal records. A metal, fireproof cabinet would protect your papers best. Some of the things to keep on file are: Tax Receipts, Unpaid Bills; Paid Bill Receipts; Current Bank Statements and Cancelled Checks; Income Tax Working Papers; Employment Records; Health Bene[illegible]nformation; Credit Card Information; Credit Card Information; Insurance Policies; Copies of Wills; Family Health Records; Appliance Manuals and Warranties; Receipts of Items Under Warranty; Education Information; Inventory of Safe Deposit Box; Loan Statements and Payment Books; Receipts of Expensive Items Not Yet Paid For.

Check for piles of stored newspapers, oily, greasy rags, fuses of the wrong size and overloaded outlets or extension cords. Frayed extension cords or those with exposed wires or loose plugs can cause internal wall fires or throw sparks to ignite flammable liquids or other flammable materials. Make sure her extension cords are of the same size and type that comes with the appliance and that appliance plugs fit tightly into the cord receptacle. Make sure the cords are not run under carpets, in closets or over nails. Check for double sockets being put into double sockets, possibly causing overloads.

Though this type of fire prevention checkup is belpful, fires may still break out. See if your neighbor has smoke detectors as an early warning signal. She should have at least one in her home, thougb two are better. There are two kinds of detectors. Photoelectric detectors respond quickly to smoke from smoldering fires but slowly to flaming fires. Ionizalion detectors respond quickly to smoke fires that produce little or no smoke. It's best to have one plug-in photoelectric detector and one battery-operated ionizalion unit. Because of the different sensitives of the two types, she will get backup protection as well as a dual alarm system. You may consider a smoke detector as a gift next Christmas. Make sure the battery-operated model has a warning device that tells when the battery is weak. Locate one detector in the hallway outside the bedrooms. Don't place a detector where it's easily triggered, such as across from a fireplace or too near the kitchen stove.

Finally, help your neighbor organize a fire emergency plan for her family. Designate emergency exits. Make a diagram of each floor and plan two escape routes—one by the normal exit and the other by a different door or window. If your neighbors have a second story, make sure they have safety ladders (metal chain link are the best) and decide where to put the ladders for emergency use. If her household includes babies, youngsters, or older persons who'll need help, decide who will be responsible for each one's safety. Have her choose a meeting place outside the house so nobody will go back for someone who's already out.

When buying new home, it's important to know insurance needs

In the excitement and anxlety of buying s home, it ia not uncommon for proud new homeowners to acquire insuranee without fully understanding the coverage they've purchased or possible alternatives.

"Details vary depending on the state you live in and the company you insure with," Roger B. Knauth, director of personal lines insurance at Aetna Life & Casualty, noted. "But there are some things everyone should know about homeowners insurance--whether you live in the city or the suburbs, whether you own a house, live in a condominium or rent."

Many companies have simplified their policies to make them easier to understand, so it's worthwhile, if you're currently insured, to read your policy carefully. If you have questions or doubts, make a list to discuss with your insurance agent.

You'll be more comfortable discussing specific coverages and needs if you are familiar with the basic features of homeowners insurance. Homeowners insurance includes two kinds of protection.

Property coverage protects the home and personal possessions (like furniture and clothing). The insurance will either be a "specified perils" policy providing protection against listed occurences (like fire, vandalism, windstorm or theft), or you can purchase "all risks" coverage on the dwelling to get protection against any occurence except those listed as esclusions. Some of the things excluded are damage resulting from neglect, floods or the consequences of nuclear accident. Personal property, it should be remembered, is protected only against listed perils.

Liability coverage protects you in case of accidental property damage or bodily injury to others. Exclusions to the coverage are listed in the policy. Some important ones are liability resulting from auto accidents or business pursuits. Except for the maximum payment (which depends on the amount of insurance coverage yoo bny), homeowners insurance policies provide substantially the same liability coverages.

For those who reot, renters insurance protects personal beloogings--furnitura, clothing and appliances, for example--against specific perils. It gives the same liability coverages as other homeowners policies. And, if you've spent your own money improving yonr apartment or rented house, some reoters policies will cover damages to those improvements. With this, as with any pobcy, it's essential that you know the limits--how much your policy will pay--for each part of the coverage.

If you own a condominium, you need insurance protection for your personal possessions, for improvements and decorations to the structure that you paid for, and for that part of the condominium structure that you own individually. (Normally, the condominium association carries insuranca on commonly-owned real property, including soma real property directly related to individual units as well as commmon facilities like a club house or swimming pool.)

How much coverage do you need?

A condominium policy provides protection against specified perils and the same liability coverages as other homeowners policies. It's important to remembar that a condominium's "improvements and betterments" coverage (for things like carpeting, kitchen cabinets and lighting fixtures) is usually limited to $1,000. Increased coverage is available as a separate option. Optional coverages are available for other needs unique to condominium owners--including loss assessment and owner's rental of the unit to others.

How much coverage do you need? Since the purpose of insurance is to enable you to rebuild or repair damage, you must know the current replacement cost of your house--how much it would actually cost to rebuild at today's prices. Most insurance companies and agents will provide a questionnaire to help you determine the replacement cost of your home. Results of the questionnaire are used along with construction cost data from reputable appraisal companies to obtain a reasonably accurate estimate.

If your home is insured to at least 80 percent of what it would cost to replace it, a partial loss to the dwelling will be paid without penalty or assessment for depreciation as long as the damaged property is rebuilt or replaced. But if a home insured at less than replacemeot value is totally destroyed, the policyholder faces a substantial out-of-pocket espense to rebuild. So most companies urge that you review your coverage annually and raise your policy limits to keep pace with inflation.

Most companies insure furniture and other personal possessions for 50 percent of the coverage on the home itself. So if you insure you home for $60,000, your belongings would be insured for $30,000. Personal property is usually covered for its depreciated value, although some companies offer the option to purchase "replacement cost" coverage for personal belongings.

Some personal belongings are susceptible to loss--cash, securities, silverware, jewelry, furs or guns, for example--and you should be aware that homeowners insurance generally gives only a limited amount of coverage on these. You can, however, buy increased coverage for these items. And some companies offer special policies for valuable items that give broader protection against losses. With the value of many items increasing rapidly, you should make a point to consider whether you need extra protection.

How can you save on insurance costs? First, the deductible for your property coverage will affect the cost of your policy. The deductible is the amount you agree to pay for a loss before the insurance takes over. If you have a $100 homeowners deductible, for example, and have a $600 loss, your insurance pays $500. With deductibles, you gain the benefit of substantially lower premiums while keeping protection against serious financial losses.

Second, you may be eligible for a discount rate if you have certain protective devises in your home. Talk with your agent about a discount rate if you have a burglar alarm, a fire alarm or smoke detectors.

Finally, remember that some buildings are more fire resistant than others; some communities have better fire protection. These and other factors are considered when an insurance company determines the total cost of your policy.

"Your home is likely to be your most valuable asset," Aetna's Knauth pointed out. "In the same way you look after other major investments, you should get the best possible advice on protecting your home. A professional insurance agent can cut through the complexities in language to help you get coverage suited to your family's needs."

Land use map up for okay

by DAVE KNIGHT

A land use plan for the City of Charlevoix incorporating input from three public workshops will be presented to the City Planning Commission at a public hearing Monday, April 26, 5:30 p.m., at City Hall.

The land use plan is a crucial segment of the master plan being formulated for Charlevoix by planning consultant Ronald Nino. It is the product of three planning workshops held over the past three months at which members of the public were invited to address special land use needs and problem areas in the city.

While it provides direction to future land use in the city, the land use map is not a zoning map. It is not regulatory and those properties zoned differently than shown on the map do not neccessarily face immediate rezoning.

Explains City Manager Robert Hunt, "The intent of the map is to insure that no major improvements to existing uses or entirely new uses be permitted which are not in compliance with the adopted land use map."

Preparation of the map began earlier this winter with a public survey conducted through the Courier. Respondents were asked to rank their concerns and express thoughts on specific uses for specific areas of the city.

A series of three Saturday morning workshops were then held. At the first, people discussed general planning concepts and concerns. At the second, Nino and landscape architects from the firm of C.H. Smith divided the participants into teams and instructed them to design their own land use maps.

At the third workshop, Nino presented three maps incorporating information from the team maps. One represented an extreme "no growth" philosophy, another was based on extreme "pro-growth" thinking and a third represented a moderate point of view.

It was the third map that workshop participants agreed was most suited to Charlevoix and which will be presented to the Planning Commission Monday for approval. Though it is the Planning Commission, not the City Council, that must adopt the land use map under state law, the council must eventually approve the entire Master Plan of which the land use map is a key part.

The following symbols are used on the accompanying map:

RLD: Residential Low Density; means less than four units per acre. Primarily owner occupied single family detached units.

RMD: Residential Medium Density; means up to seven units per acre. Primarily mixed owner-renter occupied attached units, generally of four to six units per structure.

RHD: Residential High Density; means more than seven units per acre. Primarily owner-renter occupied attached units, generally of more than six units per structure and two or more stories in height.

CLI: Commercial Low Intensity; means basic types of goods and services for a predominantly local clientele. Generally basic neccessities, home services and related professional office and services.

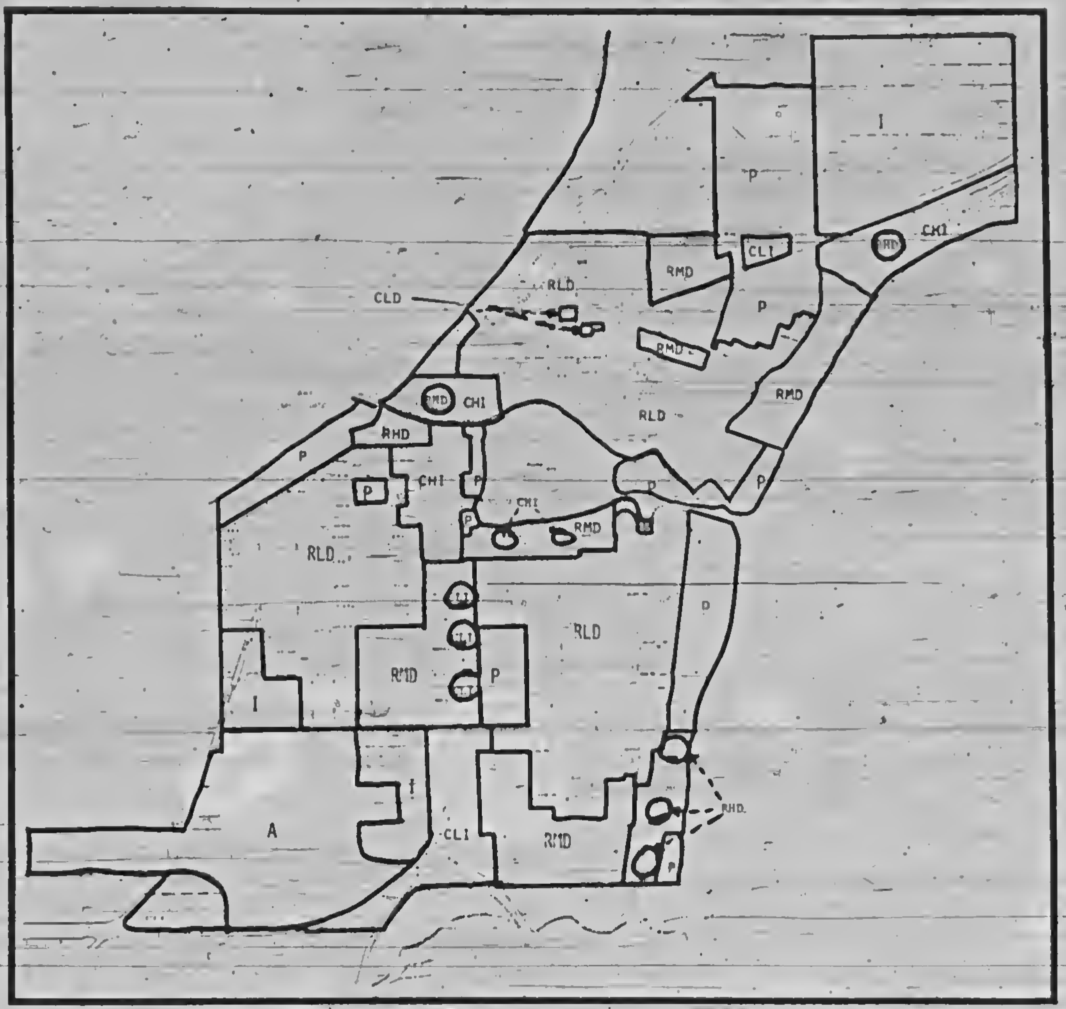
CHI: Commercial High Intensity; means mixed types of basic and specialty goods and services which are dependent upon a non-local visitor-tourist clientele from outside the city. Generally basic commercial, specialty shops, marine-water related retail and services and regional service businesses.

I: Industrial; means all types of industrial activity of a manufacturing or non-manufacturing nature. Generally processing, manufacturing, assembly and service types.

A: Airport; includes the Charlevoix Airport, private hangars, related offices and services and similar related airport uses.

P: Parks, Public Facilities and Open Space; includes all types of public or private facilities or spaces utilized for recreation, public service or conservation-preservation purposes. Generally parks, public-noncommercial marinas, public buildings and facilities, open space and public right-of-ways.

Circled areas: mean that alternative land uses may be permitted within an otherwise major land use category.



Meter parking tickets to cost $1; other fees boosted, too

by DAVE KNIGHT

Time is up for delinquent car parkers. Starting May 1, tickets for expired parking meters in Charlevoix will be $1 following City Council action Monday night.

That is double the previous 50 cent fine but still less than the $2 recommended in a series of city fee schedule increases brought before the council at their regular meeting. The $1 fine only applies if paid within 24 hours. Expired meter tickets paid from one to three days later will now cost $5, up from $2, and, after three days, will cost $10, up from $4.

All other parking violations will bring $5 fines, up from $2, if paid within three days, and $10 fines, also up from $2, if paid after three days.

Boaters using the city docks will pay more this summer as council approved marina rate increases averaging about ten percent above last year's rates. The new daily fees range from $2.25 for a boat under 20 feet during the low season to $28 for a 60-footer during the busy season.

Single golfers will pay $65 for a season pass to play the municipal course this year, up from $45 last year. Other season pass fees for residents are: husband and wife $75, up from $55; family $90, up from $70; student $35, up from $25; senior citizen single $45, up from $40 and senior citizen husband and wife $55, up from $50.

Non-residents will pay an even greater increase this year with singles charged $130 for the season, up from $90 last year. A round of golf stays the same, however, at $5 for nine holes and $7.50 for 18.

The day camp sponsored by the Recreation Department at Mt. McSauba will cost $35 this year, up from $25 in 1981.

Swimming lessons for residents will go from $7 for a single and $14 for a family to $10 and $20 respectively. Nonresidents will pay $15 for single and $30 for a family, up from $10 and $20.

In the only other fee increase, the base rate for an ambulance run will be $50 starting May 1, up from a previous rate of $45.

In other business Monday night, the council:

-Set May 17 as the public hearing date for the Tax Increment Financing plan to be proposed by the recently created Downtown Development Authority board.

-Approved a request by the Lake Charlevoix Property Owners Association to designate one city dock on Round Lake as a "Shopper's Dock" at which local boaters may tie up for up to two hours at a rate of $1 an hour.

-Awarded the bids for improvement to the airport to Manthei Construction and Granger Engineering; they also expanded the scope of the project to include a taxi-way between the end of the paved runway and the new hangar.

-Set the salary of new fire chief John Martin at $16,500 per year plus overtime accumulated filling in for other fulltime firemen and ambulance volunteer pay.

-Agreed to allow the American Legion to use the post home parking lot for a farmers market on Saturdays.

Hunt, council continue to meet

City council members met in closed session Saturday with City Manager Robert Hunt to discuss Hunt's resignation which, according to Hunt's announcement on April 13, is to take effect on May 6. Hunt was reportedly directed at that meeting to draft a proposed working agreement with the council that could possibly result in his remaining as city manager. Council and Hunt are to meet again Wednesday in closed session to further discuss his position.

Big Rock is back on line; passes SALP test

by DAVE KNIGHT

After a two-month shutdown for refueling, maintenance, inspection and other required chores, the Consumers Power Big Rock nuclear generating plant went back into service Thursday evening.

The plant was officially back on line at 8:20 p.m. Thursday, about three days later than originally scheduled due to some last minute adjustments.

Start-up was accomplished as planned despite an April 8 mailgram request to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission by the Concerned Citizens of Charlevoix to delay restarting. The request for intervention was based upon the CCC's contention that, in event of an emergency, Big Rock does not have the capability to completely off-load its reactor core.

In an unrelated development also last week, Big Rock received a generally favorable critique from the NRC in the form of the regularly conducted Systematic Assessment of Licensee Performance (SALP).

In comments to reporters at Jackson where the SALPs for both Big Rock and the Consumers Power Palisades plant at South Haven were released, NRC Regional Administrator James G. Keppler said, "Big Rock continues to run well. It has a good regulatory performance." He added, however, that because of Big Rock's relatively small size and lack of complexity, it should not necessarily be compared to other nuclear plants.

To seek .9 mil for H.S. roof

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education voted to request a renewal of 15.25 mills for operational costs and to ask for .9 mill for two years to re-roof and insulate Buildings A and B at the high school.

The action was taken at its regular meeting Monday night.

In asking for a renewal of 15.25 mills for one year, it was explained that the millage would be levied on the estimated State Equalized Valuation of $150,815,206.

The board voted to ask for .9 mills for two years to replace the roof on the two sections of the high school which has been on the structures since they were built 22 years ago.

The action was taken after a committee headed by John Pearl made its recommendation to the board following an in-depth survey of the roof at the high school. Pearl whose committee was composed of Carl Price, John Haggard and Dawson Way, said that a great deal of damage had been done to the girders which would have to be repaired and that insulation should be installed in order to correct the heat loss.

The committee recommended a Trocal roof system. Pearl, Haggard and Price all made suggestions and recommendations.

It was their recommendation that the full .9 mill be levied the first year and that portion necessary to meet the needs to complete the project be levied the second year.

In conclusion, Pearl said it is most important that the roof be replaced. "If you don't it is going to be beyond repair," he added.

The proposed .9 mill levy would be, more or less, the continuation of millage levied over a five year period for the renovation of the Middle School which expired this year.

The .5 mill for the operation of the Charlevoix Public Library is also up for renewal this year. This millage is a renewal for five years.

Debt retirement millage to meet obligations on three bond issues will be decreased one full mill to 1.25 mills.

The 15.25 mills for operational purposes plus the .9 mill for two years for the roof project; the renewal of the library millage for five years and 1.25 mills debt retirement will add up to 17.9 mills or 1.1 mill less than the 19 mills levied in 1981.

The millage issues will appear on the ballot in the June 14 election.

In other action at Monday's meeting, the board:

Heard a report from Vincent Olach, business manager, regarding the Downtown Development Authority and how it would affect the school district. He explained that under P.A. 151 of 1981, the city or municipality could designate by ordinance an area to be improved or rehabilitated and the cost financed, in this case, by a "Tax Increment Financing Plan" the TIFP as it is known freezes the State Equalized Valuation to the taxing units in the established year for revenue purposes to those taxing units. Taxes are paid on the increased SEV and the difference in the frozen SEV and the actual SEV is paid to the DDA (Downtown Development Authority).

Charlevoix Yesterday

This trailer park was located on the present site of the Charlevoix Area Hospital. It came into being when travel by automobiles with camping equipment became popular. According to Forrest Fowler, who furnished the picture, the park replaced Bartholomew's cow pasture where townspeople pastured their cows for many years.

Board releases local tax monies

All units of government in Charlevoix county as well as school and intermediate school districts will receive their taxes due them for the year following action taken Wednesday by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

A resolution unanimously approved by the board allowed the "purchase" of delinquent taxes; i.e., those not paid prior to March 1, in the amount of $2,418,407.

Of this $1,784,528 will go to the school districts in the county; $227,264 to the townships and cities; $241,071 to the county and $115,543 to the intermediate school districts located within the county.

Of the total to go to the schools, the Charlevoix School District will receive $596,216; St. James Community School, $42,599; and the Ellsworth School District, $12,066.

The city of Charlevoix will receive $76,994 in delinquent taxes; in the townships Charlevoix township will receive $5,487; Hayes, $3,813; Norwood, $1,668; Marion, $2,832; Eveline, $4,992; Peaine, $12,722 and St. James, $14,777.

Because the delinquent taxes are "purchased" through the Revolving Tax Fund, the units of government and school districts have the use of the tax monies to meet budget needs now rather than waiting for the taxes to dribble in over the coming months and years.

Monies to purchase the delinquent taxes come from a balance on hand from taxes paid during the year in the amount of $484,461, $400,000 in investments and the remainder borrowed without interest against other accounts within the county.

"I'VE HAD IT!" said Mrs. Ginger Hamlin last week when she found her 14-year old son Patrick's room knee-deep in dirty clothes. The result? Patrick came home from school to find his clothes draped over trees, bushes and the lawn at the Hamlin home at 310 W. Robinson in Charlevoix. There was also a sign on the front lawn announcing whose clothes were on display and why. Mrs. Hamlin's rebellion came after repeated requests for Patrick to clean his room. With her pleas apparently falling on deaf ears, she decided it was time to take drastic action so, with the urging of a neighbor, out went the clothes. It is not yet known whether Patrick got the message and cleaned his room.

Don Smith will be candidate for county board District five

Donald R. Smith, Charlevoix township trustee for the past six years, has filed his nominating petition for the office of county commissioner of District 5 on the Republican ballot.

Smith, 35, a native of Charlevoix, said in announcing his candidacy for the office, "The 1980s need some new blood and new ideas at the county level of government. With the smaller board of commissioners, the members are going to have to be very active and involved. That's the challenge I want to accept."

Effective Jan. 1, 1983, the county's board of commissioners will be reduced from a 15 member to a six member board as the result of the recent reapportionment based on the 1980 census. District 5 for which Smith is now a candidate is composed of Charlevoix, Marion, Norwood, Peaine, and St. James townships and that section of Eveline township west of Peninsula Road. The district has a population of 3,317. Charlevoix township is presently combined with Hayes township to form District 3.

Smith is no newcomer to the political scene. He has been a member of the Charlevoix township board since 1976; served three years on the Charlevoix County Planning Commission; is a member of the Michigan Association of Townships, the township zoning board of appeals, township sewer study committee and is chairman of the consolidation study committee named to study the proposed consolidation of the township and the city of Charlevoix. He also participated in Governor Milliken's Growth Conference for Small Cities and Rural Areas. He is a charter member of the Charlevoix Township Volunteer Fire Department.

Smith said he is opposed to the present township-city consolidation effort. "I didn't like the idea from the beginning. After reviewing the facts, especially the sewer and electrical problems along with the millage differential, I think it is a bad deal for the township" Smith pointed out. He added that he feels he would be a strong advocate for township concerns on the county board of commissioners.

Smith has taught economics and history at the Petoskey High School for the past 14 years. He and his wife, the former Pamela Hiller, have two sons, Ryan, nine and Jason, four. They live on Pa-Shan Lane in Charlevoix township. He is a 1968 graduate of Michigan State University with an MA degree from Central Michigan University.

He is the first candidate to file a nomination petition for the newly-created District 5 post.

Two incumbents will run unopposed in School Board election

Only two candidates, both incumbents, filed nominating petitions for the Charlevoix Board of Education as the deadline passed April 12.

They are Ardeth M. Wieland who is seeking a third term and Elaine Martin Buddle who is seeking her first four year term after having been elected to fill a three-year vacancy on the board.

Deadline for registering for the June 14 election is May 17.

SHEDDING NEW LIGHTS on the subject of the drawbridge over the Pine River channel in downtown Charlevoix were members of the State Highway Commission work crew last week. The crew replaced traffic lights at the bridge as melting ice brings the boating season closer.

Commissioners tab NMHSA to address issue of poverty

The Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency was designated as the county's Community Action Agency as a means of combatting poverty and helping the low income population to become self-sufficient by resolution of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners at its recent meeting.

In a report to the commissioners, Robert Smith, representing the agency, said that of the county's population, 19.7 per cent of those in the low income catagory and 11.4 per cent of its senior citizens had benefited from the Community Services Block Grant. He said that this year the grant would amount to approximately $199,000 for a 10-county area with Charlevoix county receiving $23,500. He went on to say that during the past five-year period a total of $610,500 had been spent in the county.

The monies are not used for maintenance of welfare programs or for duplication of services for the low income but to help people help themselves, Smith said.

He listed, as an example, the home weatherization and insulation service for those who qualify. This assures a warm home and, in the long run, savings on fuel bills. A targeted fuel assistance program for those who must use more than eight per cent of their income for the purchase of fuel is also available. This is a "one shot" assistance deal, Smith said. Fifty-two clients received that assistance in the county since January he added.

The agency also offers other programs such as counseling with the objective of client "mainstreaming"; child development through the Head Start program operated at Boyne City; career development; offenders assistance and youth employment programs all designed to ready the persons involved in helping themselves.

"The programs offers no "cash in hand" to clients but it is designed to help those who qualify with bettering themselves" Smith said in conclusion.

The resolution approved by the commissioners recognized the need for Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency and gave support to its activities in addition to designating the agency as the county's Community Action Agency for the purpose of handling the services under it jurisdiction.

Knight on the Town

Matter of trust

by Gretchen Knight, with some help

Hi, folks. Gretchen here again with a special message for all grown-ups.

A couple months ago, Dad brought home copies of a series of three articles by Jonathan Schell that ran in the New Yorker magazine. At first, Mom thought it was stupid to have paid over $12 to have some 125 pages copied; but then, she knows Dad is sometimes the impulsive sort. After all, it's one of the reasons he proposed to her.

Anyway, this series of articles is entitled "The Fate of the Earth" and, according to Dad, it's the most thought provoking piece ever written on the subject of the consequences of nuclear war. Can't read yet myself so I'll have to take Dad's word. We babies are so trusting sometimes! More on that later.

Jonathan Schell says that any use of nuclear weaponry, whether by some act of insanity, or by accident or by design, will virtually be the end of us all. By "us all" he means not only humanity but also life as we know it on Earth. This, of course, is contrary to what some people think. President Reagan thinks we can win a nuclear war. That is why he wants to pump millions of dollars into such emergency plans as the one that will bring all the folks from Hamtramck up to Charlevoix in case Detroit is nuked.

Even at my age, five and a half months, the thinking there looks pretty shaky.

Dad was furious when he picked up the Wall Street Journal two weeks ago Monday and read an editorial that wrote off Schell and those of like mind as hand-wringing liberals who are just scaring people needlessly. Dad said it was the most irresponsible thing he'd ever read in the Journal. Wait until those guys hear that! I hope those Wall Street Journal editors start working on a new editorial policy after they read their Charlevoix Courier this week.

Like I said before, we babies are trusting. Don't have much choice, acutally. We have to depend on grown-ups to make decisions for us like making us sit in infant seats while riding in the car. We depended on the grown-ups in Lansing to make that decision and when you trust the Lansing grown-ups, you're talking real trust.

One of the things we trust is that we'll get a chance to be grown-ups, too. That's not much to ask is it?

The reason I bring up the point this week is that it is Ground Zero Week in Charlevoix and around the country. There is a lot going on this week to build awareness among grown-ups of the consequences of a nuclear exchange.

This Wednesday, April 21, a slide presentation on nuclear weapons will be shown continuously from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Community Room of the Charlevoix Public Library. That same evening a panel discussion will be held in the library at 7:30 p.m. on whether "To Freeze or Not to Freeze." Panelists will be Tom Shea of Northwestern Michigan College, Richard Georgi, Sr. formerly of NATO and Petoskey physician Dr. Gerald Drake. What they will be talking about is the petition going around Michigan to freeze any further deployment of nuclear weapons. That petition drive will be continued through May 12. Those interested may sign the petition at the library anytime this week.

Films and slides at the library will continue from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. both Thursday and Friday.

I know some of you grown-ups would just as soon not think about the subject at all. "What's the use?" you say, "Nuclear war is a horrible thought but there's nothing we can do. It's out of our hands."

Come, now.

That is not the type of response to the situation our generation is trusting you to make.

Letters: Why the TCE delay?

To the Michigan Department of Public Health and Department of Natural Resources Water Resources Division

Dear Sirs:

At our general meeting April 10, 1982 over forty Charlevoix area residents discussed water quality in this area. Larry Levengood was our guest speaker and he did a fine job of covering water quality in general.

At this meeting there was intense interest and genuine concern regarding TCE reported in our drinking water last September (1981) and this subject dominated our meeting.

Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc. was urged to contact the DNR to request a speedy resolution to the problem.

We must ask "why has this condition been allowed to exist for so long?" As we understand, the present situation, the source of the contamination is still unknown.

Ray Wood, City Councilman, has agreed to address the possibility of a joint water authority to be formed by the city and township fo Charlevoix.

Because of the seriousness of this subject and its effect on our health and on our tourist industry, we have scheduled another meeting for June 5 on the water quality of the Charlevoix area.

We would appreciate your comments and suggestions.

Operation Petunia Update

Good response!

by Fran Martin

There are 137 properties along the four-mile route which will be involved in Operation: Petunia Bruce MacArthur reports after contacting the majority of those persons living on US 31 between Mercer Blvd. on the north to M-66 on the south.

"I received a positive reaction to the project from the majority of those living along the route. In fact, I'd say the reception was fantastic" he added.

Operation: Petunia calls for the planting of the colorful flowers in beds 18 inches wide along the entire four mile route to keep Charlevoix beautiful. The operation calls for the removal of existing soil and build-up between the curb and the sidewalk and replanting it with flats of petunias in an array of colors and hydro-seeding the remainder of the area. A committee headed by Dale Boss and the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful committee are spearheading the project with the assistance of a corps of volunteers.

MacArthur went on to say that those areas along the route that would not lend themselves to plantings are cooperating by purchasing tubs in which to plant the petunias. The majority of these are business places he explained.

McDonald's fast-food operation, to be located on Bridge St. at Carpenter Ave. has offered top soil to those persons who might need it for their tubs or their frontage MacArthur said. Those seeking the soil are asked to contact Paul Osterberg who is in charge of landscaping at the McDonald's location.

MacArthur is also seeking block captains to serve as a liaison between the sponsors of the project and the workers. He said he has four or five and will need as many more to assist with the project.

Saturday, May 22, Pride Day of Michigan Week, is the target date for the planting of the petunias. Preliminary work in preparing for May 22 has already started MacArthur said.

Clockwise

No concessions for execs

by Bob Clock

I IMAGINE THERE was a good deal of teeth-gnashing among General Motors' rank-and-file Friday when the company announced hefty pay increases for top level executives only hours after GM Chairman Roger Smith signed the now-famous United Auto Workers concessions contract which virtually freezes the pay of Joe Lunchbucket for the next 29 months.

In its annual report to stockholders — which also was released Friday — GM revealed that Smith himself received a base salary in 1981 of $475,000, some $200,000 more than he received the year before when he was executive vice president.

Granted, Smith has greater responsibilities as chairman than he did as executive VP, but his salary was still $75,000 more than his predecessor Thomas Murphy earned as chairman in 1980.

Other top-rung executives also received plump wage increases, but at least they did not receive the handsome bonuses the company has paid in better times.

The timing of the announcement — which had to be made because GM is a publicly owned corporation — could not have been worse, coming on the same day as the the blue collar wage and benefit concessions became union and company policy.

Will heads roll in GM's public and industrial relations departments this week because of such an enormous gaff? I doubt it. Big business can't get maudlin about such things, even after the close (52 to 48 percent) vote on concessions.

You'd almost think, times being as bad as they are, that GM would have worked out a pay freeze for its upper echelon before it even suggested going to the bargaining table with the UAW. If it had, the contract certainly would have had a warmer reception among the workers and GM would have had a better chance of effecting a turnaround in its corporate fortunes.

CHARLEVOIX SNOWBIRDS wintering in Florida are advised to extend their sojourns as long as possible.

The surprise snowstorm Saturday afternoon buried our crocuses up to their armpits and sidewalks were slick until the sun broke through Sunday morning.

The miracle, of course, is that crocuses have bloomed at all, the weather being so all-fired miserable.

An inspection of the backyard Sunday afternoon after the snow melted showed rhubard shoots poking their red and green heads through the frosty ground, right along with the onions we set out in the fall.

However, more snow is forecast and spring seems as remote as it did last November.

WHAT DO YOU think about Ronnie and Nancy Reagan donating some of her old clothes to a couple of museums and then deducting their estimated value (just under $6,000) from their income tax?

I'd try to pull the same scam but I can't find a museum that's interested in threadbare T-shirts without collars.

Engagement

Cheryl M. Morris and Keith R. Schafer

Morris-Schafer

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Morris of Charlevoix have announced the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl M. Morris of Lansing, to Keith R. Schafer of Deerfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Schafer of Tecumseh. The bride-to-be is a 1976 graduate of the University of Michigan School of Nursing and is presently an R.N. specializing in oncology. Her fiance is the manager of the Schafer Grain Elevator in Deerfield. He attended Central Michigan University and Michigan State University. A May 29, 1982 wedding is planned in Charlevoix.

Detroit troupe to present 'Wizard of Oz' musical

Come along with Dorothy on her classic journey down the Yellow Brick Road as the Detroit Youtheatre and the Prince Street Players present a new musical adaptation of "The Wizard of Oz!", live on stage in Petoskey and East Jordan. The performances are scheduled for the McCune Arts Center on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 27 & 28, at 9:45 a.m. and 1:15 p.m.; and at the East Jordan Community Center on Thursday, April 29, at 10:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. The Prince Street Players are presented as part of the Detroit Youtheatre's contribution to the Detroit Institute of Arts' "Show on the Road" series. This touring project, which brings live professional performing arts to schools and communities throughout the state, is funded, in part, by a grant from the Michigan State Legislature.

The Prince Street Players are known internationally for their creative adaptations of children's classics, and for their consistently high standards of production. Detroit Youtheatre and Michigan audiences have enjoyed numerous productions by the Prince Street Players in recent years, including: "Aladdin", "The Emperor's New Clothes", and last season's delightful "Jack and the Beanstalk".

"The Wizard of Oz!" has been winning the hearts and minds of adults and children for over eighty years. The book, a best seller since its first publication in 1900, outsells all other fairy tale books year after year. In this adaptation, which features an original musical score, Dorothy, the Lion, Tinman, and Scarecrow sing and dance all the way to the Emerald City.

"The Wizard of Oz!" is sponsored locally by Crooked Tree Arts Council as a gift to area school children, grades 1 through 4. For further information, contact the Arts Center office at 347-4337.

DIAMOND-APRIL BIRTHSTONE
Colleen Tilsworth
Manager

April Birthstone is the diamond. One legend around this stone involves Alexander the Great. According to Aristotle no one but Alexander ever reached the place where the diamond is produced. This is a great valley in India. Sight cannot penetrate its depths and serpents are found there the like of which has never been seen. Even to gaze upon them causes death. However, when the serpents die this power leaves them. Now Alexander ordered an iron mirror brought to the place of the serpents and when they looked at their own image it caused their death. Alexander then wanted the diamonds removed from the valley but no men dared to descend into the valley. So counsel of the wise men was sought, and they told him to throw a piece of flesh into the valley. This he did, the diamonds became attached to the flesh, and the birds seized the flesh and bore it up out of the valley. This then Alexander ordered his people to pursue the birds and to pick up what fell from the flesh. Reusch Jewelry will be offering 25% off all April Birthstone Jewelry, April 1 thru April 10.

Middle School Honor Students Are Itching!

Itching! Itching! The sixth and seventh grade honor students at Charlevoix Middle School are just itching to go to Chicago for their annual field trip! The kids are raising funds for the trip right now and the Charlevoix Courier is helping them out. Half the money collected for every new subscription sold by the students in April will go toward the trip. For every subscription renewal sold, the students get 25%. It's a good bargain, too! Courier subscription rates will go up this spring. May will be the last month to subscribe to the Courier for $11 a year in the area and $15 a year elsewhere.

Call Tom Sothard at the Middle School to make sure the honor students don't miss your home or business as they canvas the Charlevoix area.

Museums! Skyscrapers! Theatre! The Middle School honor students are just itching to go!

CHS baseball team opens at home against Gaylord

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team, coached by Pete Spieles, will open its 15-game schedule on the home diamond when Charlevoix hosts Gaylord in the season opener at 4 p.m. Thursday.

"We have high hopes. We should have a good season" Spieles said of the team that boasts 11 experienced players who have lettered including seven seniors. Spieles went on to say that his team was not strong at all positions but that there was strength at key positions. Graduation last June robbed the team of only one starter, Mike Zednicek, so Spieles feels he has a good sound base on which to build. "On paper we look strong but winning requires sacrifices. We cannot fool ourselves into thinking we are better than the other team. We have to prove it with each game" Coach Spieles has told his team, adding that if he can instill that thought, the team should have a good season.

The Rayders had a 22 win-six loss record last season before losing in the District finals. It is their goal to better that record this season.

Heading the list of players returning are Jim Buchanan, an outfielder with a batting average of .425; Gary Drury, first baseman and pitcher; Jeff Greene, catcher-pitcher and outfielder; Mike Loper, a pitcher with seven wins to his credit last season who also dubles in the infield; Kurt Puffpaff who had a 5-2 record on the mound in '81; Ken Spiegl, third baseman and Scott Kelly, pitcher with a 4-2 record who also plays shortstop.

Others who will fill out the line-up are Jon Supernaw who will be behind the plate; Jon Speiles, pitcher and third baseman; Chris Putman, pitcher; Jeff Novotny, second baseman; Craig Klooster who accounted for two wins as pitcher last season and outfielder; Jeff Trimper, second baseman; Jeff Kelly, a sophomore and Thad Morgan, a freshman who will likely be in the line-up.

Other candidates are Brent Cole, Mike Ford, Dave Garner, S.J. Greenway, Mike Herriman, and Dave McKenzie.

Charlevoix will be at Central Lake Friday and at Grayling Monday.

A few healthy swings are all it takes to get back in the groove.

Rayder trackmen set two new school records

The Charlevoix track teams were in Traverse City Thursday for a dual meet with the Trojans with the host team winning by 90-42 margin according to Coach Hal Evans.

The girls team, however, did not fare as well and no score was available though their coach, Dennis VanGuilder, said they had a good workout.

Two school records were broken with Van Sloan setting a new record in the 440 and Mark Beaudoin in the discus. Sloan's time was :51.03 breaking Ed Russell's record of :51.5. Beaudoin, with a toss of 137'9" broke Kirk Lieberman's 136'4" record for the discus. In setting new records, Sloan placed first in the 440 and Beaudoin second in the discus.

Coach Evans said his team ran well and that the freshmen and sophomores showed up very well.

Ross Carey placed first in the shot put with a distance of 51'5"; Bill Dohm first in the mile with a time of 4:50.5 and John Tunison second; Bill Taylor first in the mile in 10:24 and Matt Peterson second; Ron Way second and Jim Landon third in the 880 yard run.

Scott Shepherd was second in the 100 M. and in the long jump; placing third in their respective events were George Smith in the high hurdles; Jim Martin, a freshman, in the 440 and Tony Starr in the high jump.

The team will be at Kalkaska Thursday and the Chip Relays at Mt. Pleasant Saturday.

The next outing for the girls team will be at Grayling with Cheboygan on April 27.

Food and Hospitality Show to feature program on employee attitude

A successful business, especially one that attracts Michigan tourists, is best supported by motivated, skilled and professionally-trained employes.

"What's more, the attitude reflected by the employe toward the patron may well determine a repeat visit," says Robert McIntosh, Northern Michigan Food and Hospitality Show featured speaker.

During the seminar offered at the show, May 6 and 7, at Boyne Highlands, McIntosh will stress the rewards of a well-trained service staff. A Michigan State University faculty member since 1946, McIntosh teaches in the School of Hotel, Restaurant and Institutional Management.

He will provide practical information on how to find the most effective leadership method to increase employe productivity and methods to establish an employe training program.

The show, sponsored by the MSU Cooperative Extension Service and the Michigan hospitality industry, is for people in the tourist and food service business. Held annually since 1968, the show is one of the largest of its kind in the northern Great Lakes region.

Show exhibit floors are open from noon May 6 until 6 p.m. and from noon until 5 p.m. May 7. Displayed will be almost everything a food service operation may need for the coming year; complete table settings to culinary supplies. Admission to the exhibit area is $1 per person.

MSU Extension eductional activities being held at the show include a three-hour seminar Friday beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Speakers are Cal Flegal, MSU Extension poultry specialist, who will demonstrate omelet making as a customer attraction, and McIntosh.

"Employes are the ones who come in contact with the customer," McIntosh says. "How employes perform, how skillful they are, what good sales people they are, their degree of experience, determines the success of the business, or lack of it."

Management styles – including authorative, task-oriented and participatory – will be discussed. McIntosh will also make recommendations about methods that will help develop the most productive employe. He will also outline the importance of and how to conduct job training that fits the business operation.

An Extension specialist for 33 years, McIntosh has written 38 bulletins on restaurant and hotel management and is currently wirting a book on restaurant employe management.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The following Ordinance was adopted by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix at a Special Council Meeting on April 12, 1982.

CITY CHARLEVOIX
ORDINANCE NO. 387

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE CODE OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX BY ADDING NEW SECTIONS, WHICH NEW SECTIONS SHALL BE DESIGNATED AS SECTIONS 1.271 (1) through 1.271 (14) CHAPTER VII OF TITLE I OF SAID CODE.

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS: THAT TITLE I, CHAPTER VII, OF THE CHARLEVOIX CITY CODE, IS HEREBY AMENDED TO ADD SECTION 1.271 TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1.271
DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY

Section 1.271 (1)-Title of Ordinance. This ordinance shall be known and may be cited as the "Downtown Development authority Ordinance."

Section 1.271 (2)-Authority. This ordinance is enacted pursuant to the provisions of Act 197 of the Public Acts of 1975, as amended, and subject to the provisions thereof unless otherwise specifically provided for herein.

Section 1.271 (3)-Definitions. The terms used in this ordinance shall have the same meaning as given to those terms in Act 197 of the Public Acts of 1975, as amended, or as hereinafter in this Section provided unless the context clearly indicates to the contrary. As used in this ordinance:

(a) "Authority" means the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority created by this ordinance.

(b) "Act 197" means Act 197 of the Public Acts of Michigan of 1975 as now in effect or hereinafter amended being MCLA 125.1651 et seq; MSA 5.3010 (1) et seq.

(c) "Board" means the governing body of the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority.

(d) "Chief Executive Officer" means the Mayor of the City of Charlevoix.

(e) "City" means the City of Charlevoix, Michigan.

(f) "Downtown District" means the downtown district designated by this ordinance as now existing or hereinafter amended.

(g) "Council" or "City council" means the City Council of the City of Charlevoix.

Section 1.271 (4)-Determination of Necessity for Development Authority. The City Council of the City of Charlevoix hereby determines that it is necessary for the best interest of the public to halt property value deterioration and increase property tax valuation where possible in the business district of Charlevoix, to eliminate the causes of that deterioration, and to promote economic growth by establishing a Downtown Development Authority pursuant to Act 197.

Section 1.271 (5) - Establishment of Downtown Development Authority. Pursuant to Act 197 of the Public Acts of 1975, as amended, the City of Charlevoix does hereby establish a downtown development authority for the City of Charlevoix, Michigan. The authority shall analyze the impact of economic changes and growth in the downtown district and develop plans to promote orderly economic growth in the downtown development district. The authority shall be a public body corporate and shall be known and exercise its powers under the title of "Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority." The authority may adopt a seal, may sue and be sued in any Court in this State and shall possess all of the powers necessary to carry out the purpose of its establishment as provided by this ordinance in Act 197. The enumeration of a power in this ordinance or in Act 197 shall not be construed as a limitation upon the general powers of the authority. The authority shall implement a development plan in the downtown district as necessary to achieve the purposes of the Downtown Development Act, all in accordance with the powers granted by this ordinance in Act 197.

Section 1.271 (6) - Description of Downtown District Boundaries. The downtown district in which the authority shall exercise its powers as provided by Act 197, shall consist of the following described territory in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan subject to such changes as may hereinafter be made pursuant to this ordinance and Act 197:

An area in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, within the boundaries described as follows.

Sheriff's request delayed for audio-visual funding

The Charlevoix Board of Commissioners tabled action on a request for transfer of funds within the sheriff's budget to underwrite the cost of audio-visual equipment after it was found that Secondary Road Patrol funds, in whose budget the equipment appeared, had not been forthcoming from the state.

The statement for the equipment, purchased from Puff's Appliance, was for $5,600. A transfer of line item monies from various accounts was being requested to meet the obligation which, originally, has been budgeted against the Secondary Road Patrol monies. When it was found that these monies had not been received, the motion was withdrawn.

John Haggard argued that the vendor should not be left without payment but his argument was overruled.

The county anticipated approximately $34,000 from the state in Secondary Road Patrol funds in 1981 but received only $6,481. In 1982, $30,829 was anticipated and budgeted. To date no funds have been received from this source. The monies are usually received on a quarterly basis.

Martin Bieganowski of the Sheriff's committee was asked to check into the matter and report at the April 28 meeting.

Self sufficiency is the aim of Middle School home economics program under teacher Barb Cook

by ANNE KELLY

Barbara Cook

The basic purpose of the Middle School Home Economics program according to instructor Barb Cook, is to "help students learn to become self-sufficient young men and women." It's a practical living experience where they can apply the other subjects. There's reading for following directions and recipes, there's math for measurements.

"It's application as opposed to abstract ideas," continued Barb.

In today's society, we find a new attitude toward homemaking. Often, men as well as women assume a role in the home. Not only in single parent households is this the case, but also in situations of shared responsibilities when both parties are working outside the home. Many of Barb's students will be on their own, working or away at school in several years. "They'll need to have a basic knowledge of sewing and cooking just to get by," Barb explained.

Parents often make the mistake of not letting their children in the kitchen for fear they will make a mess or get hurt. Barb believes that "...as kids, they have to be given the opportunity to try, even if this means making a mess sometimes."

"Students are generally eager," reports Barb regarding her students attitude toward home economics, "because this class is an active, hands on experience." They are often surprised to find that they enjoy an activity involved in sewing or cooking even though they initially were hesitant to participate.

The seventh grade curriculum is mandatory for all students and includes instruction in nutrition, following recipes and learning about the equipment used in sewing and cooking. In sewing, students this year chose one: a duffle bag, gun case, backpack or tote bag as a project requirement for the course. "It was a utilitarian project, one that they didn't have to wear," explained Barb.

8th grade home economics is an elective. It instructs students in cooking, food preservation, safety and sanitation in food preparation, further nutrition, cake decorating and consumer decision making. Sewing projects this year included constructing a child's cloth activity book, making a stuffed animal, and working with knit fabric. Students are presently working on jersey T-shirts.

Barb, who has been teaching home economics at the middle school for the past 12 years, enjoys the broad spectrum of kids who find themselves in her classes. Earning her B.A. and M.A. in Home Economics from Western Michigan University, Barb substituted and-or taught in East Jordan, Charlevoix and Ellsworth before joining the Charlevoix Middle School staff in 1970. The Cook's family includes husband Norman, a teacher in the East Jordan Schools, and four children.

Spring Carnival set for Elem. School

The Charlevoix Elementary School will host its annual Spring Carnival '82 at the school Friday with a host of entertainment for everyone according to Mrs. William Roloff, general chairman.

Sponsored by the Parent Advisory Council, the event will get underway at 5:30 and continue until 8 p.m.

"We have something for everyone...food so families may enjoy a supper of fast foods, a cookie sale, soft drinks, cotton candy, plus gold fish - lots of 'em, body painting, games for every age group, books and all sorts of other entertainment which adds up to fun for the family. We even have a couple surprises"! Mrs. Roloff said.

Proceeds from the event will be applied to the purchase of supplies of equipment for the school. "We have not, at this time, decided how the proceeds will be spent but you can be assured it will be something for the children. In the past we have purchased seats for the gymnasium, playground equipment, financed field trips for the students and supported other school activities," Mrs. Roloff added.

Middle School plans spring concert

The Charlevoix Middle School Music Department will present its annual Spring Concert at the Middle School gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 22.

Featured in the concert will be the seventh and eighth grade bands appearing under the direction of Terry Isenbarger and the Middle School Chorus directed by Steven Stargardt.

The Seventh Grade Band will open the concert playing several selections including "Meadowlands" arranged by James Macbeth and "The Birth of the Blues" by Ray Henderson.

"Daybreak" by Barry Manilow and "I Enjoy Being a Girl" by Richard Rodgers will be among the selections presented by the Middle School Chorus directed by Mr. Stargardt.

The Charlevoix Eighth Grade Band will conclude the concert with the playing of several musical works including "Festival Day Overture" by Paul Thomas and "Norwegian Folk Song Suite" by Frank Erickson.

Approximately 100 young musicians will be featured in the concert which will be presented without charge.

Commissioners want to control migrants

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, at its recent meeting, approved a resolution aimed at the "clandestine invasion" of illegal aliens and those from the "southern latitudes".

The resolution supported bills presently in the House and Senate that would effectively control the influx of these people into the United States where they are a burden on the taxpayers of this country according to the resolution.

The resolution was unanimously approved and copies sent to a list of people including President Reagan, head of the Immigration Department and numerous senators and representatives.

"THANK GOD I'M A COUNTRY GIRL" sang Becky Bellairs at the annual Elementary School musical extravaganza held last week Wednesday and Thursday at the high school. The theme was country and western as the first through fifth graders danced, sang and played their parts under the direction of Mrs. Marina LaBlance.

Jazz pianist to perform at McCune

Pianist Marian McPartland is coming to Petoskey.

Sponsored by the Crooked Tree Arts Council, she will be presented in Concert in the Ross Stoakes Theatre of the Virginia M. McCune Community Arts Center, Friday, April 23rd at 8 p.m.

McPartland enjoys a secure position at the top of the music and jazz polls with her male counter-parts, George Shearing, Teddy Wilson, Andre Previn, Oscar Peterson, Joe Bushkin and other luminaries of the jazz world.

Aside from her jazz concerts as a single performer and also with her trio, McPartland appears as guest soloist with Symphony Orchestras in the United States, thus lending her talents to the field of classical music.

Book sale to be held at Middle School

The annual book sale at the Charlevoix Middle School has been scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week Mrs. Nancy Nagurka of the faculty has announced.

The sale will be open Thursday and Friday to all middle school students and Saturday will be open to the public during the morning hours Mrs. Nagurka said.

The public showing 9 a.m. until noon Saturday will provide parents with an opportunity to purchase books for younger members of the family and to assist their middle school students in the purchase of their choice of books Mrs. Nagurka continued. There will also be a collection of current books for adults.

The book sale will be held in the Middle School gymnasium all day Thursday and Friday for the benefit of students and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday for the general public.

The sale is sponsored by those teachers involved in the reading program in the middle school to encourage reading among the students.

April 12, 1982
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time in a Special Council Session with Mayor Staley presiding.

Present: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Absent: Councilman Morris.

A Public Hearing was held regarding a proposed Ordinance to create a Downtown Development Authority. Jeff VanTreese and Mike Greeley, representatives of the Downtown Merchants Assoc., explained the legal aspects of the D.D.A. and the mechanics of its implementation. They also stated that the D.D.A. is being created at this time as a means of providing parking in the downtown area and that budget restraints currently do not allow the City to finance additional parking on its own. They also explained that the funds to develop parking would come from a Tax Increment Financing plan and that the D.D.A. Board cannot act on its own but must have Council approval of all proposed projects and expenditures. Mr. VanTreese, Mr. Greeley, and the City Manager answered questions from several members of the General Public present regarding the proposed D.D.A. and its funding mechanism. Council discussed the proposed Ordinance at length and generally agreed to delete a section which would have given the D.D.A. Board the authority to levy taxes. Council also agreed to alter the boundaries of the downtown district in which the D.D.A. Board would exercise its powers by excluding properties along the north side of Park Ave. from and including Captain's Watch Condominium westward except for the City owned property where the old City water tower is located. Property on the north side of Belvedere Ave. from and including the Henry Soderberg residence eastward was also excluded.

The following Ordinance was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms.

Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Wood to approve Mayor Staley's appointment of the following persons to the Downtown Development Authority Board for the term specified:

Four year terms: Robert Lieberman and Mike Greeley
Three year terms: Frank Ochs and Dave Hand
Two year terms: Jack Uhrick and Hans Wiemer
One year term: Jim Mabee and Hugh Mason

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Council approved a request for Consumers Power Co. to locate an Emergency Warning System Pole in Michigan Beach Park, along Park Ave. near the Clinton and Sherman St. intersections.

Michael Bonello, a member of the General Public present, read a petition signed by 51 area residents expressing regret at the news of the resignation of the City Manager and recommending that the City Council not accept the resignation.

Council adjourned.

Deanne Balch, City Clerk

Kenneth A. Staley, Mayor

County board hears progress report on solid wasteplans

Solid Waste continues to be a topic discussed at every meeting of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

At the recent meeting, Larry Sullivan, county planner, reviewed for commission members the action taken at the recent planning commission meeting at which both short and long range programs were approved.

The short range plan would include the options of utilizing the Charlevoix Garbage Service landfill in Eveline Township near Ironton plus the Antrim-Kalkaska and the Otsego-Crawford landfills, both located on state lands and both operated by the counties involved. This will necessitate a mini-transfer station at Boyne City and East Jordan, a packer haul from Charlevoix plus a major transfer station located but not confined to the Charlevoix Garbage Service landfill area. Green box facilities at Boyne Valley and Melrose townships would also be retained.

The long range program will have, in addition to the above, a major transfer station that could be located at either the East Jordan area or the area of the present landfill.

The possibility of acquiring state land and opening a landfill in the county and operated by the county was discussed. However, the initial cost of constructing roads to the site that would hold up under the trucks that would be using them would be prohibitive Sullivan said. "For roads alone you would be looking at a quarter of a million dollars. Add to that the cost of purchasing equipment and readying the site and you're talking more money than you can afford" he continued.

Sullivan said he was continuing to look for the equipment that would be needed to transfer the solid waste to sites of the landfills mentioned above.

Sullivan assured the commission members he would be reporting on any major changes in the problem of solid waste.

Rec meetings

Public meetings start this week to solicit input on Charlevoix County's recreation needs. Meetings will be held at the city halls of Boyne City Tuesday night, April 20, and East Jordan, April 22.

A third meeting will be held Thursday, April 29 at the County Building Annex in Charlevoix.

Names In The News

Dohm received his wings as a radarman.

A 1972 graduate of the Charlevoix High School and a graduate of Ferris State College with a B.S. Degree in Accounting, Dohm enlisted in the U.S. Navy in June 1980 and received his first commission after attending Officers Candidate School. After completing flight training at Pensacola, Fla., he went to the Miramar Station for radar training in September. He will be stationed aboard the carrier Eoterprise in September after receiving addional training.

Navy Seaman Apprentice HEATH D. PATRIE, son of David H. Patrie of 307 Belvedere St., Charlevoix, Mich., has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Orlando, Fla.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

He joined the Navy in September 1981.

Girl Scout Leader of the Month, Jill Washburn, has long background in scouting and leadership

Jill Washburn

Jill Washburn has been named Charlevoix Girl Scout leader of the month for April. She was raised in Harbor Springs and is a high school graduate of Breighting Township, Kingsford, Michigan. She is also a graduate of Northern Michigan University. Her major was math. She taught one year in Ellsworth and was a substitute teacher in Charlevoix schools. She also taught pre-school swimming for the Charlevoix Recreation Department.

Jill was introduced to Girl Scouting at an early age. When Jill was asked how she became a scout leader, she replied, "During my years of growing, my mother, Mary Van Hoven, was always a leader, so I assumed I was going to be a leader. I have been a leader for five years and Service Team Chairman for 3 years. Also Assistant Day Camp Director for four years.

When asked what she gained out of Girl Scouting she said "You get to know your own child's friends better, as I had Kallie my youngest daughter in my troop. You also have a heek of a good time. Elaine Smith was my assistant leader for five years and a great help."

"My responsibilities as a Service Team Chairman were recruiting leaders, keeping leaders happy and following council's guide lines which are regulations set up by the council. The most important job was to make sure all girls had a good scouting experience."

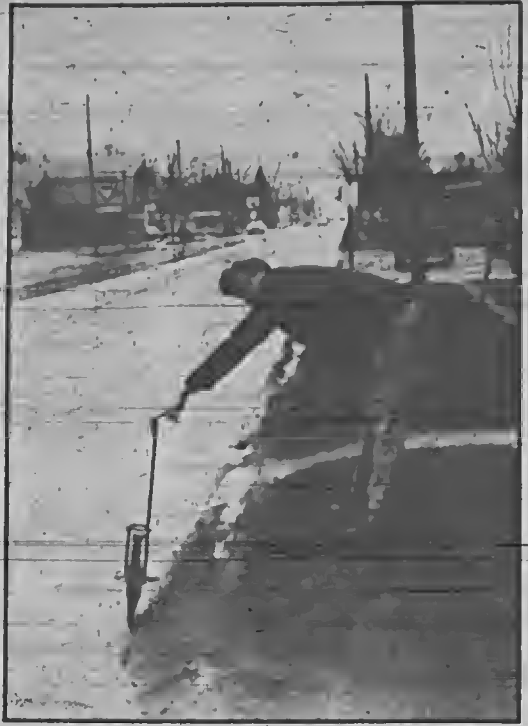
The most outstanding experience as a leader was her trip to Petoskey State Park. Everything went well including setting up tents and getting the girls organized. Then that night a storm hit. It blew all the tents into the woods leaving only one tent for 18 dripping wet girls and sleeping bags.

Jill is a mother of three girls: Kris, Kathy and Kallie. Her husband, Sam who is employed at the post office as Supervisor Postal Operator, has also been a great help to her she said.

In her spare time Jill enjoys bowling, bridge, cross country skiing and beach bumming.

She is also president of the United Methodist Women. She recently completed a course at North Central for Income Taa and works part-time at H & R Block.

Jill is retiring from Girl Scouting this year but she has reassured the other leaders she will give them a hand.



OVER 28 YEARS OF SANDING BRIDGE STREET has resulted in huge mounds of sand along some areas of the street, according to Dale Boss, shown above at the corner of Carpenter where the sand accumulation is at one of the highest levels. The actual level of the grass should be even with the curb. Starting this week, grading of the roadsides will start and the sand will be removed in preparation for Operation Petunia in which 30,000 petunias are to be planted along Charlevoix's main thoroughfare. See Fran Martin's Operation Petunia Update on page four.

Winners named in Courier Jellybean Jumble contest

Judy Wheat of Charlevoia and David Muha of Ellsworth were the lucky winners of Easter hams in the annual Courier Jellybean Jumble contest. They were two of 46 prize winners in the contest in which 22 area merchants participated.

In each of the 22 participating businesses was placed a Mason jar full of jellybeans and Easter candy. Entrants were asked to guess how many jellybeans and pieces of candy were in each jar. Working Nine to Five

by Mary Lee Huber

A SECRETARY'S PRAYER;

"Dear Lord, help me to satisfy my beloved but slightly loony and unreasonable boss. Help me to have the memory of an elephant, and to be able to do six things at one time - answer four telephones, keep the boss from throwing a lighted match in a full trash basket, and take a letter that "must go out today" and which he'll forget to sign until tomorrow." Help me keep my patience when he has me search for a report in the files that he finds later in his coat pocket. And, Lord, permit me not to destroy records that he'll want three days later, even though he's ordered me to get rid of them today. And, teach me how to say, "He's in an important conference," when he's watching a ball game on TV.

"And above all, Dear Lord, when I finally retire, grant me enough strength left in my weary bones to give the big lug one big sock right in the kisser ...."

I felt the above anonymous prayer, taken from Laugh Your Way Through Work was an appropriate way to open my first Best of the Bay column of the year, especially when this first issue is, in part, devoted to National Secretaries Week, April 18 through the 24th.

Today is National Secretaries Day, April 21, 1982. It is a day when all good bosses remember the people who are indispensable and some of the most valuable employees an individual or firm can hire. American Heritage Dictionary defines a secretary as a person employed to handle correspondence, keep files and do clerical work. But, as I travel from shop to shop and business to business I've noticed that secretaries do much more than keep files, handle correspondence, and do clerical work.

Just think about it for a moment .....

Who is the first person a customer usually sees when entering your place of business, and who politely directs them to the person they have requested to see?
Who makes your morning coffee that opens your eyes as you struggle to begin a new day?
Who handles all your incoming phone calls with a polite, "so I'm sorry, he's not in," or, "she's in a meeting right now, may I take a message", when you've really slipped out the side door to buy your morning breakfast roll at the local bakery or to take the afternoon off for a summer sail on Lake Michigan.
Who reminds you that you'll be late for an appointment if you don't stop chatting with your wife on the phone?
Who politely "puts up with" customers who are waiting to see you, while you finish balancing your checkbook?
Who helps you organize all the minute business details that bore you, such as typing letters, then filing them in triplicate, ordering pens, pencils and paper clips?
Who makes it possible for you to arrive late to work each day?
Your Secretary.

So now that you've remembered all the wonderful little things that your indispensible secretary does for you, remember that marvelous person this week with a dinner out on the company, a flower arrangement, or better yet .... remember everyday of the year to say a simple, "thank you, you're a great help, I couldn't get along without you."

In closing I'd like to remind every boss of the various thoughts that each of us have whether we are salespeople, bank tellers, writers, clerks or secretaries

The Ultimate Vacation ... A Cruise

by Bayside Travel

More and more people are referring to the ultimate vacation--as "Cruising."

Some short-sighted people attribute the increasing popularity of cruising to the popular TV show—"Love Boat." But those at Bayside Travel, and others who have real insight into travel, understand that cruises are a good buy and offer universal appeal for young and old, singles and couples.

Most people have some genuine questions about cruises such as:

I need to get the most I can for my money. Isn't cruising more expensive than other kinds of travel? On the Contrary. Cruising represents one of the best travel values available. Break down the daily cost of a cruise and compare it to what you'd spend per day on room, meals, transportation and entertainment for a similar vacation on land. All these things — and many more — are included in the price of your cruise ticket. You will also save money on your drinks and gifts for the folks back home, since these items aboard ship are sold at duty-free prices.

I'm budget conscious and would have to purchase less expensive accommodations. Won't I be treated as a second-class citizen? On a Cruise everyone eats the same meals, enjoys the same entertainment, is waited on to the same degree. The price affects only the type and location of your cabin, so select within your means and have a ball. (It is important, however, to differentiate between a cruise and a trans-Atlantic crossing. The latter often may offer two classes of service, just as air travel does.)

I live 1,000 miles from the nearest cruise port. Can I get there from here? Yes. From anywhere in North America, you are never more than a few hours from a cruise. Your travel agent can advise you about the availability of fly/cruise packages. Most often, the fly/cruise packages represent a considerable savings in airfare, and include complimentary transfers, and baggage handling between airport and pier.

I don't have a lot of fancy clothes. Won't I need a whole new wardrobe? No. Just pack as you would if you were going to any resort destination. Cruise ships are casual by day and most encourage you to do your own thing in the evening.

I think travel should be an educational experience. Since most cruise calls are brief, aren't they also superficial? They provide a capsule introduction to a place, high-lighting the best it has to offer. Shore excursions for cruise passengers focus on the most representative aspects of a culture, and direct you to the sights of greatest historical and archeological significance. It's an excellent way of determining whether you wish to return some day for a longer stay.

I like exotic, out-of-the-way places. Can I visit these aboard a cruise? Ever been to Montserrat? Or Mykonos? Or Ketchikan? Try to reach them other than on a cruise. The unique logistics of ship travel make it possible to visit areas otherwise inaccessible as vacation destinations.

I like to move around. Won't I feel confined? Contemporary cruise ships are complete floating resorts, and it takes some people two full days just to discover all the amenities. If you will test yourself with a few reflective moments at the rail of a ship at sea, you'll find the thought of "confinement" is quickly replaced by the freest feeling in the world.

Anymore questions-- don't be apprehensive-- just talk to someone whose been on a cruise, then see your travel agents, and then Bon Voyage!!

Fashion Directions For Spring/Summer '82

The Colors

Colors for Spring and Summer 1982 move in two opposite directions at once. Brights get brighter, and darks get darker, while sunbaked colors make neutrals out of almost every tone.

Colors for the season intensify, giving relief from the pronounced neutral sadness of the prior season. This does not negate the importance of the distinctive neutral story of raw silk, unfinished cottons and rustic linens, but commercially color has heightened. Harmonies of crystal clear blues and greens are followed in importance by fiery, hot reds, (a Nancy Reagan influence), oranges and spicy yellows. White is the most important mixing agent, particularly in stripes and prints with the Modern Romantic pastels and the sparkling Spinaker Brights. The Sari Deeps often touched with metal give momentum to the lush Indonesian imspired prints and nomad stripes. Eastern Darks are the new trend that will peak for summer in dramatic and exotic folkloric looks. Garden tints are the new toned down brights, while Indian Summer tones reflect hues of the sunbaked desert and offer great versatility.

Fabrics

After years of concentrating on easy care, permanent press fabrics, the inevitable backlash has occurred. The natural elements of raw silk, jute, linen, flax, hemp and cotton are back.

Linen: Perhaps the fastest growing fabric in popularity, linen leads the fashion parade in every incarnation including linen-look blends. Especially important are the lightweight handkerchief linens.

Silk: Since the opening up of the trade market with China in 1972, the amount of silk used in the United States has steadily grown. Increased availability, plus the popularity of natural fibers and interest in higher quality fabrics in general, have combined to produce what many industry observers predict will be a silk boom in the 1980's.

Cotton: Cotton continues to be important. Look for seersucker, plisse, madras and cotton blends. Poplin is dynamite. We'll be seeing more coated cottons and more fabrics in general with shine. Cotton and poly-blends in print. T-shirt fabrics are used for skirts as well as shirts. In cottons also look for twills. Oxford cloth, (sometimes blended with silk), chambray gauze and denim. Dishcloth cottons are one of the newest looks.

Country Prints: Country prints and patterns, the American Country farm life and square dances are the inspiration for printed and patterned woven fabrics. Plaids, checks, ginghams, bandana prints, tablecloth checks, and blue and white are important combinations and lot of lace and eyelet trims.

Silhouettes

Two major silhouettes will be seen for Spring/Summer '82. The first is a clean and simple

It Can Do More Things Than You've Ever Dreamed Of!

Get ahead of the birthday or holiday giving season this year with a fragrant hand crafted sachet. Any young lady from 8 to 80 will cherish your thoughtful gift if you take the time to make it yourself.

The materials needed to make sachets include small pieces of calico, gingham, silk or taffeta, narrow ribbon for ties, optional lace edging, needle, thread, pinking shears and your choice of potpourri.

Here are the instructions for making three different style sachets, each one is based on a circle, square or a rectangle.

To Make A Circle Or Square Sachet

Materials needed: 10" x 10" scrap of printed or solid color fabric, ½ yd narrow ribbon or braided cord.

Measure and mark a 9 inch diameter circle or square on the right side of the fabric. Cut edges with pinking shears. Draw an inner circle 2½ inches from edge (use the Universal Sewing Gauge as a compass). Run a row of hand stitches around marked line, pull stitches slightly, fill with potpourri. Now, pull stitches tightly and secure thread. Tie a ribbon bow around outside of sachet.

To Make Rectangle Bag Sachet

Materials needed: 6" x 8" scrap of printed or solid color fabric, ½ yd of narrow ribbon or braided cord (optional: 8 inches lace trim). Sew lace on one lengthwise edge, fold ribbon in half, pin to side edge of bag 2½ inches below top edge. Fold bag in half, stitch along side and bottom edges, catching in ribbon and pivoting at corner of bag. Turn bag to outside (use Universal Gauge to smooth out corners). Fill with potpourri and close bag with a ribbon tied bow.

line for both day and evening, featuring skirts ending anywhere from just above the knee to just above the ankle. Simply put, the classic lines.

The second is a softer, more rounded line that incorporates ethnic and Romantic influences with ruffles, gathers, and puffs.

Influences

Americana will combine with influences from around the fashion world, including lots of South of the Border looks. As fashion does follow politics, conservatism will be a key influence. Nancy Reagan's and Princess Dianas' influences will continue to grow.

WHAT IS A BOSS?..............................by Edward Cunningham

A boss is a painfully punctual creature
Who pouts when you're late punching in-
A patient, dependable, diligent teacher
Who shows you how stupid you've been
A boss is a leader who knows what it takes
To keep you alert and inspired
Who helps you avoid making costly mistakes
By vowing, "One more and you're fired!"

A boss is a booster when work is well done,
A source of warm pats and high praise
Whose generous instincts are second to none,
Until you put in for a raise.
A boss is a human who's not always right,
Who often acts crabby and cross
But, grumble and mutter however you might
A BOSS IS A BOSS IS A BOSS!

The Best of the Bay presents a salute to Charlevoix County Area secretaries from their bosses in honor of National Secretary's Week, April 19-23, 1982.

Dear Diane,

No one can replace a one of a kind.

Without question, you have the knowledge needed here. You have the understanding of the pulse of the office, the kindness when needed, and the assertiveness when necessary. No one else has the Sixth Sense to complete my unfinished thought process.

I and the entire office thank you for the privilege of working with you.

Don't ever change.

Dear Jan,

I'd like to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation for your integrity, dedication, and loyalty to the Clinic.

In the eight months you have been with us you have shown an ability to adjust to new changes and challenges and learn with minimal direction, which has been a great asset to us.

You've contributed more than your share to the Clinic.

Thank you.

Dear Kathy,

To try and list all the qualities that make you a special employee would be difficult. Your bubbly personality with your ability to maintain control in any type of situation have meant a great deal to us.

Through the years you have proven what an asset an employee can be when she is trustworthy, conscientious and loyal. A mere thank you seems so insignificant but I trust you realize what having you for an employee means.

Thank you.

The Jacket; Fashion Basic For the 80's

The jacket is fast becoming one of the most important items in any woman's wardrobe. A jacket made in a versatile style and fabric can be worn almost all year long and can make a well coordinated ensemble out of other pieces of clothing.

Jackets first began their rise to today's enormous popularity with the "working woman" look of the three-piece suit with classic, tailored jackets. As that look became less rigid, with women softening the "working" look, jackets have become softer and more detailed, too, with more dressmaker touches, variations, and softer lines that make them look good with dresses as well as skirts and pants.

Jackets are also part of the evolution of the layered look. Today, women mix and match a wardrobe of clothing that doubles as both innerwear and outerwear. A perfect travel wardrobe today includes a heavy vest, jacket, and shawl, any piece of which can be taken off or put on for weather changes.

For even the experienced homesewer, it's a good idea to take a class in making a jacket. You can learn so many sewing, fitting and tailoring techniques while making a jacket that you will gain enormous confidence, and can then go on to sew almost anything - coats, suits, outerwear and men's wear.

A good jacket-making class is really an excellent investment in your sewing skills. It gives you experience in doing things like using interfacings, linings, and choosing and using coordinated notions, trims and decorative stitches.

Jacket Styles and Proportions

The proportions and details of a jacket, whether you purchase or make it, must be matched to the wearer's figure. For instance, a woman who wants to camouflage wide hips should have a jacket hem either stop before the widest part of the hips or skip past it and be cut longer. Generally speaking, shorter jackets give a more youthful look than longer jackets.

The single breasted jacket is more slenderizing than double breasted styles, especially for large bosoms. Details such as epaulets, gathered sleeves, or padded shoulders can balance a smaller top with a wider bottom; while details such as peplums or decorative hem stitching can emphasize a smaller bottom and balance it with a larger top.

Jacket Is A Wardrobe Basic

A jacket in a versatile fabric and color can serve as the keystone for your complete wardrobe plan.

Today's jackets can be paired with shawls, vests, skirts, sweaters, evening skirts, short skirts, divided skirts, pants, knickers or walking shorts. They can be made or purchased to match or complement dresses, too.

Fashion's Big Cover-Up
The Shawl

The New York Times fashion editors call it one of the items "a woman has to have to bring her wardrobe up to date," and Women's Wear Daily labels it, "The Big Sweep" and reports that it is sweeping the fashion market for Spring and Summer on into fall.

What is it? You can call it a Sweep, a large shawl (accent on the large), an oversize muffler or a cover-up. It's a big square or rectangle made out of almost any kind of fabric, and it wraps up any ensemble, from sportswear to elegant evening wear.

The Big Sweep fits perfectly into the fashion scene for Spring/Summer because it is always voluminous. It completes the dramatic picture that starts with a big skirt and Romantic blouse, and provides contrast to a pair of flat heeled leather boots and a big wide belt.

Nothing could be more versatile, because the Big Sweep can be made out of any fabric. Crepe de chine, silk, lace, or tissue faille can be used for eveningwear. A metallic fabric adds a current touch to any outfit. For daytime, Sweeps are seen in wool challis, broadcloth, flannel, mohair, and all manner of cottons and woolens, they've even been used in ready to wear in suede and leather.

Trims are versatile, too. Braids, lengths of satin ribbon in different widths, or fringe, can be used all around the edges.

Sweeps also appeal to the craft-oriented sewer. They can be individualized with machine or hand embroidery or appliques. They can be quilted or carry a trapunto design on the back.

Taking the Sweep one step further, many women will want to make capes instead of a coat this season. Capes are appropriate in any fabric and add even more possibilities for using buttons, bows or frogs.

For homesewers, one of the advantages of the Sweep is that it can be accomplished well by sewers at any level of skill. Simple hems and trims are perfect for less advanced sewers, while the more creative and skilled can individualize it with more complicated motifs.

ALICE DUNKEL models one version of the sweeping shawl.

A MONDAY MORNING FIRE at the Charlevoix Township home of Sandra Fassett on Lake Charlevoix gutted the structure despite efforts by Charlevoix Township firemen who responded to the call. Nobody was home at the time and no injuries were reported. A neighbor reported the fire, the cause of which has not yet been determined.

Hopes for better sport fishing pinned on brown trout

by DAVE KNIGHT

If Myrl Keller has his way, you can color the future of area sportfishing brown.

Keller, supervisor of the DNR fishery station in Charlevoix, wants to supplement the dwindling lake trout as a Northwest Michigan sportfishing staple with brown trout, a species less vulnerable to commercial gillnetting and thus more apt to revive the area's ailing recreation economy.

The experiment gets underway this fall when the Department of Natural Resources is to plant 145,000 brown trout fingerlings along the Northwest Michigan shores from Petoskey to Grand Traverse Bay. This represents a dramatic increase from the 6,800 planted in the same waters last year but is still far short of Keller's original request for 300,000.

"You've got to have the numbers to start a really good fishery," said Keller. "There is no other way. We would have liked to plant 300,000 but the demand for brown trout is so heavy around the Great Lakes right now that we'll have to settle for what we can get. It is still a good start.

Forty thousand of the fingerlings will be planted in Charlevoix's Pine River channel. Another 25,000 will be planted in Little Traverse Bay near Petoskey, 40,000 in the east bay of Grand Traverse Bay and 40,000 in the west bay.

Lake trout and steelhead will still be planted but not quite as many as last year. In the stretch between Little Traverse and Grand Traverse Bays, 405,000 lake trout will be planted this fall, down from 473,000 last year, and 25,000 steelhead, down from 60,000 last year.

According to Keller, brown trout should accomodate the sport fisherman every bit as much as the laker.

"It's characteristics are very similar to the lake trout although it is less migratory and will probably stay in the general areas it is planted," said Keller. The browns swim up tributary streams and rivers to spawn but, unlike salmon, do not die after spawning.

Its suitability to the local sport fishery is also enhanced by the fact that it tends not to inhabit the same areas as commercially sought species. Whereas whitefish and lake trout are most often found in deep, colder waters, the browns prefer a warmer temperature.

Keller hopes that by not frequenting the same areas, the brown trout will avoid the gill netting that he says has decimated the lake trout population.

The brown trout, Salmo trutta, is a relative newcomer to the Great Lakes. The species was first introduced to North America in about 1883 from Germany and is still referred to as "German brown trout" in some areas. In a river environment, it appears brownish with red spots and rarely grows larger than about four pounds. In open water, however, such as Lake Michigan, the brown takes on a silvery cast and with plentiful food sources can grow up to 40 pounds.

Browns are faster growing than lakers and Keller expects to start seeing them become a major part of the fishery by the summer of 1984. He would have liked to plant yearlings (about one and a half years old) instead of fingerlings (about four to six months old) because of their better survival rate. But demand, again, has stretched available stocks thin.

Keller also noted that the brown trout is predatory and will thus do its fair share in controlling alewife and smelt populations.

Keller sees the introduction of a major brown trout fishery as crucial to Northwest Michigan's sport fishing industry. Surveys taken of fishing license buyers in the five coastal counties from Emmet to Leelanau reveal that the economic loss to the area due to the demise of the lake trout fishery by gill netting has totaled almost $2 million since 1976.

Land use plan adopted by commission

By a 5-2 vote Monday evening, the City Planning Commission "accepted as a guideline" the land use plan proposed for the city by planning consultant Ron Nino. The action came at a public hearing on the plan.

The commission's action was short of blanket adoption of the plan pending more specific site plan designs to be submitted by Nino.

The land use plan is the first phase of a Master Plan for the city being developed by Nino & Associates of Grand Blanc. It was compiled by Nino from the input of three public workshops and a community survey.

Voting in favor of the plan were commission chairman David Strawbridge, and members Walt Hufford, June Cross, Robert Miles and William Bellows. Members Barbara Fels and Clem Olach voted against it.

City council members discussed the land use plan at their work session Monday night but it does not require their approval until the whole Master Plan is completed.

The plan accepted by the commission was published in the Courier last week and can be inspected at City Hall.

City ready to accomodate cleaners and gardeners

Two chores of Spring, cleaning and gardening, are at hand and the City of Charlevoix is ready for both. A ward-by-ward trash pickup schedule has been set for spring cleaners while city-owned garden plots are now available for grow-it-yourselfers.

All rubbish to be picked up in the First Ward (north of the bridge) must be put out no later than this coming Monday, May 3. In the Second Ward (west of State St.), trash must be put out no later than Monday, May 10. In the Third Ward (east of State St.), trash must be put out no later than Monday, May 17. Any trash put out after the appropriate date designated above will not be picked up and the property owner may be cited for a violation. No regular garbage should be put out but city crews will pick up such items as old appliances, brush and tree limbs which should be cut to lengths no longer than four feet. See complete instructions on page 10.

Twenty-four foot square garden plots are now available at a cost of $5 each. There will be a limit of two per family until June 1. Any questions about either the trash pickup or garden plots should be directed to the Charlevoix City Manager's office.

Panel discussion focuses on sexual abuse of children

by ANNE KELLY

"There is no class of society more deserving of protection under the law...than children who are unable to protect themselves," emphasized Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney, Scott Beatty.

The occasion was the panel discussion segment of a recent conference sponsored by the Sexual Abuse Family Education (S.A.F.E.) committee at Boyne Mountain. The theme of the conference, "1 Out Of 5 Children Is Sexually Misused", is also a statement of an alarming statistic which the S.A.F.E. committee hopes to call to the public's attention. By providing community education, S.A.F.E.'s plan is to get at the roots of the sexual child abuse problem, through early detection, correction, and protection.

Keynote speakers for the morning session were Robin Zollar Smietanka and Gloria Gillespie, Assault Recovery Associates from St. Jospeh, Michigan. In attendance were over 200 area professionals and concerned citizens.

Included in their poignant three hour presentation was a film entitled: "Incest: The Victim Nobody Believes." In the film, three young women share their feelings regarding their personal experiences with incestuous sexual assault. The victims' stories were an illustration of several points Smietanka and Gillespie underlined in their discussion: That sexual child abuse happens within all socio-economic groups, the white, intact, middle class group being the median; that it happens to people who are vulnerable, the most vulnerable being children under age 12; and that most sexual child abuse is incestuous.

"For too long we chose not to look at this problem," commented Smietanka. "The majority of children (victims) are sexually abused by family and friends." This is incest, a broad definition of which is: "any sexual behavior between adult and child for the sexual gratification of the adult." This is not the "stranger" in the trenchcoat, lurking around school playgrounds. There are five types of incestuous behavior: 1) natural father incest, 2) stepfather incest, 3) extended family incest, which includes relatives, best friends and babysitters, 4) sibling incest which usually involves an older brother in the household, and 5) geriatric incest which includes grandparents with acccess to the children. None of these people are "strangers" to the victimized child. Rather, they are people that the child is supposed to love and trust.

The implication that men are the offenders in sexual child abuse is borne out by statistics. Men are more apt to be assaultive than women. Sexual assault for the perpetrator has to do with power and control, however. It has nothing to do with sexuality.

This point made by the speakers led to a profile of the incestuous family. The father in such a family is a real "mouse" in society, but lords over his home. He derives all his feelings of power and control at home, because he has no significant interaction with his peers or participation in community affairs. He is overly strict and does not allow his family to venture out into the community. He has a basic low self-esteem, but may or may not be alcoholic. He is usually non-violent, controlling the secrecy of the situation with threats. Later on, he is the jealous father.

The mother, on the other hand is passive. She is painfully dependent on the father emotionally and financially. She has low self-esteem and often becomes jealous of the victimized child for gaining sexual control in the family. When sexual abuse is exposed, "9 out of 10 know that incest is going on but fail to do anything about it."

Siblings of the incestuous family take one of three tacks: either they isolate themselves from the victimized child in the family, or they attempt, as ineffective as this may prove, to be protective of their brother or sister, or they may turn on each other and "do like father."

Symptoms of sexual child abuse "include physical and behavioral

Big Brothers looking for more adult matches

Because of the economic situation and the increased number of one-parent families, the demand for assistance from the Big Brothers-Big Sisters organizations have increased.

James Marshall, service coordinator of the organization, has been attending seminars and other training sessions, in an effort to learn how best to evaluate the needs, locate the troubled areas and to upgrade the services offered by Big Brothers-Big Sisters. It has also been found that child abuse is on the up-swing. All these problems result in greater demands being made on the organization a spokesman for the organization said.

"To help alleviate some of these problems, we need adults to serve as big brothers or big sisters to the children involved. If you would like to help these children, you are asked to call Mr. Marshall at 547-6314. There is also a need for board members in East Jordan and Boyne City," the spokesman said.

At a recent meeting, Marshall reported two new matches; i.e. matching adults with children.

The Big Brother-Big Sister organization of Charlevoix County recently sponsored a luncheon and bowling outing for the children and their adult matches. Marshall prepared the food for the two events, one at the American Legion Post Home and the second at the Church of God Fellowship Hall. Most of the food was donated by Oleson's Food Store and Edwards IGA. The gourps bowled at Paul Bunyan Lanes.

4-H Spring Achievement Day to be held

Boyne Falls School will be the scene this year of the Charlevoix County 4-H Spring Achievement Day evaluation and awards program. All 4-H members who have been working throughout the past winter on their 4-H projects in their various clubs are elegible to show the results on Saturday, May 1, 1982. Schedule for the day is as follows: 8:30 A.M. - building open; 10:00 - 12:30 evaluation time; 12:30 - 3:00 public viewing and preparation time for Style Show; 3:00 program and cleanup and closeup when the program is over.

Exhibits displayed traditionally consist of projects in foods, sewing, needlework, horse, crafts, and livestock. The projects may take the form of demonstration or posters, talks, photographs or written work as well as displays. The sewing members, many of them rather accomplished at their craft, will display their garments. Later in the day, at the program, these garments and other outfits assembled by members will be modeled. All will be judged on modeling skill at that time.

Crafts are a popular item at Spring Achievement. Some clubs do crafts as a part of the overall winter program while others are strictly craft clubs. If you come to see the 4-H projects you will see macrame, Christmas crafts, useful items for the home and simple projects for little hands.

3:00 P.M. will mark the beginning of the Style Show and afternoon program. The Style Show is divided into age categories labeled Young Models, Junior Models, and Senior Models. Three judges will determine winners in each category. Between parts of this event entertainment will be offered, slides of the events of the past year will be shown and those working on Achievement Day, leaders and their clubs and others will be recognized. The afternoon will be capped with the awards. Some will win blue ribbons and some will get red. A few will receive gold for having the best of a certain category, also trip awards for scholarships toward 4-H events in the coming year.

Reflections on Leadermete

Leadermete is a statewide 4-H conference held at Kellogg Center on the MSU campus. Every year, at the end of winter, individuals interested in 4-H and helping young kids and teenagers, get together to share their ideas. Leadermete isn't just for 4-H Leaders and teen leaders. Teachers, principals, pastors and any other people who are interested are welcome to participate in the conference.

Several class choices are offered. Two, for example, have been Recognizing and Coping with Stress, and The 4-H Performing Arts Troupe, which is still fairly new.

"I've been down to Leadermete twice now," says local 4-Her Jean Stolt. "The first time was two years ago when I was on the State 4-H Council. I really enjoyed the experience then and I'm glad I got the chance to go again. It is beneficial in one's role as a leader or helper to the 4-H members and their projects."

Charlevoix County residents will be hearing more about 4-H Leadermete for 1983 and people interested in 4-H, whether you are now involved or not, are welcome.

"There's a lot of enthusiasm created," says Jean, "with that many positive people all in one spot and you want to go right home and put your new ideas into effect when everything is over."

A grader removed several truckloads of sand and salt impregnated soil from the roadside.

Operation Petunia Update by Fran Martin

Actual work begins; graders prepare roadside

The first major phase of Project: Petunia was completed in record time Thursday and Friday with the entire four miles from Mercer Blvd. to M-66 readied for planting Dale Boss who supervised the project reports.

In all 200 truck loads or an estimated 1,600 cubic yards of soil and sod was removed from the area between the curb and the sidewalk on both sides of the highway to prepare for the planting Boss said.

Rather than dispose of this in some other manner, it was utilized as fill at Mt. McSauba and around the clubhouse addition now under construction, low spots at the golf course which required fill and at the airport. The use of the soil and sod removed along the route resulted in a savings of an estimated $9,600 to the city if you priced the debris at a "depression price" which Boss said would be a low $6.00 per yard.

The debris was hauled by two 15 yard dump trucks and drivers donated by Charlevoix Garbage Co. owned by Dawson Way and Tri-City Asphalt Co. owned by Russell Brown and Larry Martin plus two city-owned trucks and drivers from the city used when the other trucks were unable to handle the loads Boss said.

In addition to those, C.H. Smith Co. owned by Clarence H. Smith and Mark Manthei of Manthel Development Co. contributed end loaders and drivers and the city loaned its end loader and a driver when needed.

Three volunteers, Robert Sarasin, Scott Wells and Robert Clark, on shovels, contributed two days to the project while others assisted with traffic control. Patricia Ranger, Sherry Sheldon, Gene Steele, Alvin Ranger and Bruce MacArthur of the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful board of directors, Carolyn Klooster, Don Couse, Kyla Bremmyer and Nancy Wood.

"We also had the full cooperation of the Charlevoix Police Department when we really needed them and the Charlevoix Water Utility crew when two unmarked water mains to residences along the route were broken" Boss said.

"Even hot coffee was supplied to the workers during the two-day period by Jack Uhrick of the Lodge who delivered it to the various work sites," Boss noted.

"All I can say is Volunteers! We couldn't accomplish much without them. It will be the community spirit and the volunteers who will make Project: Petunia a success" Boss commented as he listed all those who have been a part of the project to date.

In conclusion Boss said "Please don't tell us how bad everything looks. We know it does. Just remember that everything has to look bad before it is beautiful!"

BMX racing to start May 1 at Charlevoix Township track

The Charlevoix Township BMX Track will open it's racing season Saturday May 1. This is just the first of 10 races to be held throughout the summer.

All races run on the Charlevoix Township track and on other tracks in the surrounding area are sanctioned by the American Bicycle Association (ABA). The ABA provides the rules and regulations, point tabulation and insurance.

Anyone interested in BMX racing can call Paul Arnold at 547-4686 or Dan Miller at the Ben Franklin Store or at 547-2068 after 6 p.m.

There are age categories from under 5 to over 35 and both male and female classes. The track is located in the Charlevoix Township Park on Waller Road.

Registration will begin at 1 p.m. with racing to start at 3 p.m.

Report by county probation office reflects increases in almost all areas of service

by FRAN MARTIN

A report made recently by Kenneth A. Mulka, Probation-Parole Agent for the Circuit Court in Charlevoix County, reflects an increase in most aspects involving probation services in Charlevoix County.

However, it was pointed out that the drug investigation initiated by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department on August 20 accounted for the major increase.

The number of pre-sentence referrals in 1981 nearly doubled over those of the previous year, the report revealed. In 1981, 125 persons, 115 males and 10 females, were included on the list as compared to 68 in 1980. Of the total, 49 were drug related with the majority of those the result of the August 20 drug bust. It was esplained that several of those referred for investigation had more than one felony charge against them. The second major felony was related to breaking and entering. There were 34 in this catagory which included charges of breaking and entering (22), breaking and entering an occupied dwelling (7), attempted breaking and entering (3) and entering without breaking (2). Of the total, five were sentenced to prison for breaking and entering an occupied dwelling and one for breaking and entering.

Other offenses were embezzlement (2), grand larceny (1), larceny from a motor vehicle (3), unlawfully driving away an automobile (4) and possession of metallic knuckles (1).

Larceny of livestock (1), larceny from a boat (2), felonious assault (4), larceny from a building (10), fraudulent use of a credit card (1), no account checks or non-sufficient fund checks (1), resisting arrest and obstructing a police officer (2) and unlawful use of an automobile (1).

On the 117 convicted, eight received prisons terms. No one involved in the drug-related felonies was convicted.

There were five misdemeanor convictions with one receiving a prison-jail sentence. This included aggravated assault (1), attempting to accost and solicit a minor child (1) and simple assault (3).

In all there were 113 dispositions including eight who were sent to prison; three to jail; 40 placed on probation; 49 given delayed sentences and 13 given Youthful Trainee status.

Molka said that on prison commitments, there were seven people but eight charges. Under probation or delayed disposition, there were four people who had two charges each but only one disposition.

This compared with 67 dispositions in 1980.

Of the five people charged with misdemeanors, one was sentenced to jail and four placed on probation.

The report reveals further that 208 persons were under supervision of the probation agent during 1981. Of this number 63 probationers were under supervision on Jan. 1, 1981; 135 were placed under supervision or returned to supervision during the year and supervision was provided by other counties for 10 probationers for a total of 208 as compared with 148 in 1980.

A total of 110 were removed from probation during the year. This included 40 who were discharged from probation; six who were discharged without improvement; three who abaconded; eigth violators who were sentenced to prison or jail and 53 who were transferred out of the county and dual supervision.

Ninety-eight persons were under supervision as the year ended on Dec. 31, 1981.

Collections for the year totaled only $6,701 as compared to $6,261 in 1980 when there were 67 felony convictions and $8,921 in 1979 when there were 64. Of the total collected in 1981, $1,800 was in fines which go to the State Library Fund, $1,970 in costs which go to the county's general fund and $2,931 which was restitution to injured parties.

The Circuit Court Judge is Martin Breighner.

Mulka explained that it is his duty as Circuit Court Probation Agent to provide pre-sentence investigations on all felony and misdemeanor convictions when ordered. This requires complete background information on offenders including his version as well as the official version of the offense, previous trouble and his personal history which involves such information as family background, education, employment record, military service record, economic situation and other pertinent information. This information is utilized by the Court to assist in imposing a suitable sentence.

The probation agent also provides supervision for the Court of those individuals granted probation and also cases transferred to this area from other jurisdictions. Supervision is also provided for those individuals under delayed sentence or the Youthful Training Act.

Martin wins Spring Talent Show

A near-capacity crowd gathered at the Charlevoix High School gymnasium recently for a Spring Talent Show sponsored by the Senior Class at the high school.

There were 19 entries in the show ranging from young musicians and vocalists to numerous high school-age entries and severl adult groups.

Dale Martin with his musical spoons won first place with a fine reception by the audience. Shawn McLelland with a humorous reading entitled "Tonails" placed second and Mariko Regler who sang "Happy Talk" was third.

Kelly Mathews was Master of Ceremonies. Beth Ford was the coordinator for the event.

Judges were Charles Stevens of Petoskey who is with the "Young Americans", Phil Loomis, public relations director for Consumers Power Co., Bill Vogel of Radio Station WVOY-KHQ, Ms. Betty Bartlett until recently with a Pennsylvania university and Fran Martin.

The winners received plaques made and contributed by Mrs. Vernon Mathews, Jr.

Knight on the Town

The joy of house hunting

by Dave Knight

Buying one's first house is a complicated experience wherever one lives. But in Charlevoix, I am finding out, it is especially so. In addition to all the normal things to think about such as heating costs and taxes, there are some other important considerations unique to the community.

If you buy on the North Side, you are tagged as a newcomer.

If you buy on the South Side, you are immediately a townie.

The answer to this dilemma, I think, is to buy a houseboat in Round Lake. But then you are a boater.

Don't buy at all and you are doomed to be a fudgie forever.

If you buy a small house and have short hair, the neighbors will think you are in the Coast Guard. If you buy a small house and have long hair, they will think you work at Castle Farms.

Buy in the township and you get your own fire department but don't bother the city police about a loose dog; that's the sheriff's turf.

Buy a condo and get a view of the water. This is an exceptionally good investment right now because soon it will be the only way to get a view of the water.

There is always "country" life for those with a pioneering spirit, love of privacy, a ton of firewood and a four-wheel drive.

Fixing up old houses can be very profitable in Charlevoix since there is such a strong appreciation of local history within the community. Trouble is, when you get done adding aluminum siding, active solar panels, redwood deck and passive solar greenhouse, there is little resemblance to the original structure.

A redecorator can also go the nautical route, a local favorite. Some pilings tied together with heavy hemp lines and placed on either side of the driveway is a good start. Put a ceramic seagull on one of them and you've upped the property value another grand.

Clockwise

Not so foolish

by Bob Clock

A FRIEND STOPPED at the office the other day to discuss a number of things, among them the war now in progress between Great Britain and Argentina over the Falkland Islands.

"Those British!" she exclaimed. "If it weren't for their foolish national pride, there wouldn't be any trouble."

Of course, she is right. Britain could very well have shrugged her shoulders after her little islands in the South Atlantic were seized by Argentina, forfeited her claim to same and extended her best wishes to the 1,800 British subjects who call the Falkland Islands home. It would have been a clean, easy break and nary a drop of blood would have been shed.

Fortunately, Britain is made of sterner stuff. She — among all nations — realizes that the dictators of the world must never be appeased. She also realizes that to do anything less than to stand and fight not only would diminish her stature in the eyes of the rest of the world but would compromise her historic role as a champion of human rights and human liberty.

Looking at videocasts today of Britons gathered outside Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's residence at No. 10 Downing St., or in the vicinity of the Parliament Buildings, or outside Buckingham Palace, one is reminded that these are the sons and daughters of those doughty souls who carried on so cheerfully day after day, month after month during the "Battle of Britain." They aren't about to knuckle under to a two-bit dictator — as Argentina must now realize.

Foolish national pride? I don't think there is anything foolish about it.

WHAT BOTHERS me is how the Organization of American States could have the audacity to brand Great Britain as an aggressor for fighting for land which has been a part of the British Empire for almost 150 years. Argentinians claims the Falklands originally were granted to them by the Spanish crown — but the islands are populated solely by British subjects and have been for seven generations.

To attempt to make the ancient claim stick, particularly after the passage of so many years, simply doesn't make sense.

It's possible, of course, that the word "aggressor" has acquired a new meaning over the years. Aggressors used to be the bullies of the world, not the fellows who defended themselves and their property against unlawful seizure.

THE ONLY SOLUTION short of all-out war that I can see in the Falkland Islands impasse is for Argentina to pull out and for Britain to grant independence to the islanders, as the United Nations recommended many years ago.

Is a nation of only 1,800 men, women and children even feasible in the age of superpowers? I think so. Everyone has a soft spot for the little fellow and the underdog.

Letters: Gretchen draws responses

Facts are off

To the Editor,
Dear Gretchen,

You will have to excuse Dad as he has got his facts muddled up. President Reagan is not the enemy. He is the one who wants you to grow up without war. You are too young to understand a system called communism which has enslaved over half of the human race and murdered countless millions of other human beings. I am positive if you had a choice of living in a free Americca or behind some Iron or Bamboo Curtain, you would pick America every time.

Behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains you have no freedoms whatsoever. For the awful crime of wanting to raise your children to trust in God, many people spend years in prison. Freedom is costly but worth everything it takes to keep it.

I am sure that your dad must understand that many of us served our country against enemies just as treacherous as the communists. Our country wasn't prepared properly so, the enemy sneak attacked us and caused a lot of damage. Being stronger than your enemy makes war less likely. Finally, I believe Dad and his friends should direct their efforts for peace against the Soviet Union and get them to stop exporting revolutions and murder all over the globe.

Thank You,
Robert L. Olson

War's no good

To Miss Gretchen Knight:

Thanks for writing to us in your Dad's column, the other day. You say that as a baby girl at the age of five and a half months you trust your Dad, and that like other babies, you are a trusting person.

Your Dad tells you that Jonathan Schell's book, "The Fate of the Earth", is an important book. My brother sent me a copy of Schell's book for my birthday, and it arrived just a few days ago. I've not had time to read it yet, but if it deals with the dangers of nuclear war like people say that it does, than I agree with your Dad that it is high time to say aloud that nuclear war isn't good for people - and especially for small girls who want to grow up to be adults.

Please write again, in your Dad's column, from time to time.

Austin Regier

Policy is wrong

The only peace ever achieved by armed world conflict is registered in the size of the cemeteries. The big stick diplomacy as applied to present nuclear arms policy is another form of over educated stupidity. There is a real need for a world wide citizens support for a mutual sharing of world resources and control over what ever is necessary to stop the proliferation of nuclear arms. This could be started through the United Nations before the nuclear big stick gets too big to carry and ends only in world distruction.

signs as well as direct or indirect comments made by the child," according to a long list of "red flags" to look for in determining the possibility of sexual abuse. Physical signs may be obvious like "hickeys" on the neck and arms, difficulty in sitting due to irritation, pain or injury to the genital areas, or the occurance of venereal disease in the young child. But they may also be subtle. Nightmares, day-dreaming, frequent vomiting are other signs which may or may not be indicative of sexual abuse. Certain symptoms can be developmental or peculiar to a particular child or situation, but experts in the field advise concerned adults to be suspicious of unusual circumstances.

A child's behavior patterns may also become affected in the event of sexual abuse. He may arrive at school early and not leave until late, he may show excessive fear of adults, or show signs of sexual promiscuity. He-she may run away from home or resort to alcohol or drugs. An observant parent or teacher should take it upon themselves to investigate with caution but persistance when their instincts tell them that "something is not right."

There are several things parents and the concerned community can do to reduce the incidence of sexual child abuse.

1) Give children proper information about their bodily rights. The child who says "no" is the child who may tell.

2) Teach children the correct terminology for their genital parts so that if they are ever sexually abuse, they will be able to identify the problem.

3) Don't leave children unsupervised for long periods of time.

Mrs. Ray Wood to head C.W.C.

Mrs. Ray Wood was re-elected president of the Charlevoix Women's Club at the annual luncheon meeting held recently at Leutheuser's restaurant.

Other officers are Mrs. Gerald Muma, first vice president; Mrs. Burce Bartlett, second vice president; Mrs. E.H. Leedy, third vice president; Mrs. Robert Murray, recording secretary; Mrs. Arthur Stoel, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Martin, treasurer.

The annual report revealed that during the year the club had contributed a total of $800 to the following organizations: Charlevoix Public Library, McCune Arts Center of Petoskey, Charlevoix Historical Society, Campus Life, Billboards for Wahsington, American Peace Academy, Charlevoix Area Hospital, Women's Resource Center of Petoskey, CHIP Counselling Center, Charlevoix County Humane Society, Ground Zero, Little Traverse International League for Peace and Freedom, and Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc.

The CHICO Fund, a separate entity designated to assist Indian students of the community with specific needs, contributed funds for a band instrument, emergency funds for college entrance and for medical needs of Indian children. With outstanding bills, the exact amount is not known at this time, Mrs. Wood said.

Plans were made for the annual book sale conducted during the second weekend in August for the benefit of the CHICO Fund. The event is held at the Charlevoix Public Library.

Also on the agenda at the meeting were plans for the annual Senior Girls Tea honoring the members of the graduating class and their mothers. The event will be held at the Charlevoix Yacht Club, as in the past, on Saturday, May 15. All senior girls and their mothers will receive invitations to the annual event. Club members wishing to contribute time and-or materials are asked to contact Mrs. Wood or Mrs. Murray, co-chairpersons of the event hosted by the club.

Mrs. Charles Duerr outlined the plans for "Ground Zero" and urged all members to attend the special events planned for "Ground Zero" week.

On behalf of the club, Mrs. Wood thanked Mrs. Clifford Biddick, Sr., for her service as the club's recording secretary for the past year.

Hospital pays debt of gratitude to Guild

The Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild was the focus of the hospital's gratitude last week during National Volunteer Week, as the hospital administration thanked Guild members for the years of service to the hospital.

Hospital Administrator Richard Krueger met with Guild President Joanna Gunn and Guild Treasurer Eleonore Schults to review the varied services the Guild has provided the hospital since its founding in 1954.

Noting that during the past seven years, alone, the Guild has donated in excess of $50,000 to the hospital, Krueger said, "The work of the Guild has meant much more than this financial support shows, and this financial support has been invaluable."

Pointing out that Guild Volunteers give innumerable hours working on the nursing floors, helping patients, delivering mail and lunch trays, assisting the nursing staff and providing an extra measure of caring, the Administrator said, "It is almost impossible to measure the impact of the Guild.

"Guild members who participate in the hospital life also speak out in the community about Charlevoix Area Hospital, in a positive way. They provide helpful information to those who don't know about our hospital and Guild members play an important role in communicating between the hospital and the community.

Hospital Controller William Jackson noted that the extra things Guild volunteers provide hospital patients often mean patients leave with a special feeling about the hospital. Jackson referred to the Christmas stockings provided all newborns during the holidays, which are made by members of the Guild, as are special tray favors during other holidays.

The Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild, which recently dropped the term "women's guild" is actively seeking more members to volunteer to work either in the Showcase Gift Shop or on nursing floors. Mrs. Gunn emphasized the Guild seeks men as well as women to volunteer. The Guild now has some 200 active members.

The membership also supports an annual scholarship for people entering the health-care field.

Money raising activities to support Guild donations include the Showcase Gift Shop and patient television rentals.

All the funds the Guild raises are returned to the hospital, either for specific equipment purchases or donations to the general fund. Among the equipment the Guild has purchased for the hospital are electric beds, a variety of furnishings, a newborn isolette, and new televisions for patient rooms.

During the hospital's fund raising for the new wing and renovations the Guild pledged $15,000 to be given over five years. Today that pledge is paid in full, having been completed in three years.

Administrator Krueger, in recognizing the years of volunteer service by the Guild, restated that the Guild volunteers "have played an important role in establishing Charlevoix Area Hospital's reputation as a hospital where patients receive personalized care."

Engagement

Lori Schorsch and Wayne Eskew

Schorsch-Eskew

Rev. and Mrs. Don Schorsch and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Eskew of Huron, South Dakota, have announced the engagement of their children, Lori Schorsch and and Wayne Eskew. Wayne is a 1980 graduate of Huron High School. Lori graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1979.

Wayne and Lori are both students at North Central Bible College in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Lori has one year left to complete a degree in Behavioral Science. Wayne, who is majoring in Pastoral Theology, completes that program in two more years.

The wedding will be held June 19, 1982.

Van Greene helps students explore local heritage

by ANNE KELLY

Van Greene works with one of his students.

"It's hard to explain to kids what it was like to live in the pioneer days of our country," Van Green, Charlevoix Middle School Social Studies teacher commented. The student lounge was humming with sounds of a 7th grade class at work on various handicraft projects depicting early Michigan history.

"If the people couldn't find it, make it or grow it; they didn't have it. That's a difficult concept for kids who can walk downtown and purchase anything they might want or need."

The room was getting foot-deep in wood shavings from projects taking shape under the hands of novice whittlers. From chunks of soft wood and a little skill with a jack-knife there appeared whirlygigs, spoons, boomergangs and ducks.

"It took a lot of work to do simple little things that they could do with their hands," continued Greene. He took a minute to point out some gentler creations in the process of completion: quilting, crocheting, knitting, beadwork, rug-braiding – something for every hand and interest. He showed me a fur-headed ceremonial drumstick made by an Indian student in another class. We talked a little about the way kids imaginations often suffer due to the instant gratification of T.V. It was easy to see how a "hands on" experience like this unit can stimulate student's interests.

"I enjoy teaching Michigan history very much," Greene said of his 7th grade 2nd semester coursework. He feels that we who live here often take our area for granted. Kids really don't know very much about their state on the whole. But when a town's population increases from 3,000 to 15,000 in the summertime, it tells us that someone is appreciating what we often take for granted. Van Greene hopes to teach his students to become acquainted with Michigan, its history and its geography. A culminating unit in the spring will involve the students planning hypothetical trips around the state to points of Michigan history. This unit will hopefully give them some grasp of maps, and the time and distances involved.

Van has 22 years of teaching experience to offer his Middle School students. He has taught High School and Middle School Biology, Phys. Ed. and Social Studies as well as coached just about every sport most of that time around the state. Holding a B.A. in Phys. Ed. with minors in Biology and Social Studies from Alma College, Van has taken coursework from Taft Junior College in California, Iowa State and Michigan State. He joined the Charlevoix Middle School staff in 1974.

Van is a regional M.E.A. representative for Charlevoix teachers. In his spare time he enjoys his family and the great outdoors, golfing, fishing and hunting.

Forensics students to hold 'Dinner Theatre'

The Charlevoix High School Forensics students will present a Dinner Theatre at the high school cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

The dinner will be prepared by Edward Adams, chef of the popular dinner cruise ship, the Bay Queen, and his staff. The menu will feature French onion soup, chicken divan and sirloin sizzler steak, rice, broccoli with wine sauce, strawberry shortcake and a choice of beverage. The cafeteria will be converted into a replica of Bay Queen dining room for the occasion.

The program that will follow the dinner will feature favorites of both the performers and, hopefully, the audience with selections from "Fiddler on the Roof", "My Fair Lady", "Oklahoma!", and "I Do, I Do" and the newer tunes from "The Fantastics", "Grease" and "Jesus Christ Superstar" to name a few. A special segment will feature the younger students as "The Kids" in numbers from "Charlie Brown", "Annie", and "The Sound of Music".

The goal of the Forensic team is to make this a major project for the year and cover, monitarily, the regional and state competition expenses which drains the coffers.

Space for the dinner theatre is limited so all tickets must be sold prior to the event on Friday. Tickets for the dinner and theatre are $10 and are available from any member of the speech department or Norman Carlson who is coordinating the ticket sales. Tickets will be available at the door only if they all have not been sold prior to April 30.

Camp Daggett applications

Applications are available for Camp Daggett in all elementary and middle schools in Emmet and Charlevoix counties. There will be five one week camping sessions this year. These dates will be June 25-July 3; July 25-July 31; August 1-August 7; August 8-August 14; August 15-August 21. The single two week session is from July 11-July 24. Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District has scheduled their special session during the week of July 5-July 9. Information about this session may be received from Tom Caldwell in Charlevois at 547-9947.

Camp Daggett was established in 1925 as a camp primarily for boys and girls of the local school areas. Located on Walloon Lake, the camp has expanded over the years from a few tents to newly constructed cabins handling 100 campers whose home addresses encompass many states, and has become co-ed.

A non-profit camp, Camp Daggett is run by a board of trustees consisting of members of service clubs in Emmet and Charlevoix counties, with representatives from Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary, Business and Professional Women, Jaycees and Zonta clubs. Additional information may be requested from members of these organizations, or you may call Ed Shanahan in Charlevoix at 547-2115.

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team split with East Jordan taking the first game 11-3 and dripping the second 2-0 on Thursday. The following day the Rayders lost to Central Lake 15-12.

At East Jordan, Mike Loper allowed only one hit as the Rayders collected 12 off Kevin Mayhew.

Craig Klooster had three hits in three times at bat including a double for Charlevoix while Loper had a double, Jim Buchanan and Jon Supernaw had two hits each and Scott Kelly, Gary Drury, Jon Spieles and Jeff Trimper had one each. Rich Raymond had East Jordan's lone hit.

In the second game, however, the tables were turned as East Jordan collected two hits off Craig Klooster who started and Chris Putman who relieved him in the third inning. Buchanan and Ken Speigl had two hits each off Kevin Russell but were unable to score. Russell had a single and Raymond a double for the victors.

On Friday, the team traveled to Central Lake where the Trojans collected 12 hits off Scott Kelly for a 15-12 win.

Mike Staph allowed only four hits for the victors.

Charlevoix took an early 3-0 lead only to have the Trojans tie the score 3-3 in the third. The Rayders went ahead 5-3 in the fourth inning but Central Lake again tied the score 5-5 in the fifth. Charlevoix had a big sixth inning to go ahead 12-5 in their half of the inning with Central Lake picking up four runs in the last half of the inning to trim the margin to 12-9.

As the Trojans came to bat in the last of the sixth they put the game on ice with six runs.

Staph had three hits including a home run, Cass Kucharek had two hits including a home run, Mark Kolwick; Terry Clark and Dale Watson had two hits each and Kurt McDowell a single.

Buchanan and Kelly had doubles and Speigl and Spelles singles for the Rayders.

Charlevoix is scheduled to host Onaway Thursday, play at Petoskey Saturday, and entertain Rogers City Monday.

Spring tryouts set for Major and Senior Little League divisions

The Major and the Senior League divisions of the Little League program will conduct their annual spring try-outs within the week Dr. Donald Trimper, Little League president, has announced.

The Major League division try-outs will be held at the Major League field on West Carpenter at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 1.

Candidates for the Senior League team will report to the Senior League field on Grant St. south of the Charlevoix county jail for try-outs at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 4.

SPLITS CONVERTED: Carolyn Olinger 5-7, Katie Wade 5-6, Mary O'Brien 3-10 (2) Jean Stowe 2-7, Jackie Nosowsky 3-10, Robin Cox 5-6.

The Charlevoix girls softball team opened its season by taking a double-header from Central Lake by scores of 6-0 and 23-12 Friday.

The team will host Cheboygan Catholic Wednesday, Harbor Springs on Monday and Kalkaska on the following Wednesday.

Coach Mary Lieberman said the girls played well for a young inexperienced team. She mentioned, particularly, their base running especially that of Meg Fowler, a freshman.

Rhonda Buchanan on the mound for Charlevoix allowed only one hit in the first game by Laura Shafer.

Meanwhile, Holly Taber had a double and Buchanan and Colleen LaBlance singles off the losing pitcher Tracy Johnson.

Taber started for Charlevoix in the second game but was relieved by Buchanan in the first inning. They allowed a total on only three hits while Charlevoix colleced 10 and a host of stolen bases to take the game by a 23-12 score.

Bridget Noirot accounted for three hits, Fowler two and Buchanan, LaBlance, Kim Bolduc, Sue Raginia and Angie McClanaghan one each for Charlevoix.

Pam Ellison, Koni Hyble and Bonnie Iser had singles for the Trojans.

Trackmen win at Kalkaska...

The Charlevoix Rayder track team piled up an impressive 123½ points to win a triangular meet at Kalkaska Thursday.

Cadillac placed second with 89½ points and the host team scored 32 points.

Charlevoix is scheduled to host Cheboygan Tuesday and a meet with area school participating on Thursday. On May 1 the team will travel to the Posen Relays and on Monday the Rayders will be at Onaway with Rogers City.

In the meet at Kalkaska, Mark Beaudoin set a new school record for the discus, bettering his former record by 10'3" for a new record of 149'9½".

The Rayders took firsts in 14 of the 16 events with George Smith winning both the high and low hurdles; Scott Shepherd won the long jump and the 100 M. dash and was a member of the winning 800 and 400 M. relay teams; Van Sloan won the 400 M. dash and was a member of the 800 M. and the mile relay teams.

Other first place winners were Bill Ranger in the pole vault, marking the first time in a number of years that the Rayders have had a competitor in this event; Ross Carey, shot put; Larry Lemerand, high jump; Bill Taylor in the mile and Jim Landon in the half mile.

The following are point winners for Charlevoix. Pole Vault: 1. Ranger; 5. Ron Sharrow. Height: 10'. Shot: 1. Carey; 2. Mark Ooatmeyer; 3. Beaudoin. Distance: 47'9¼". High Jump: 1. Lemerand; 3. Charlevoix (Louiselle, Buday, D. Sloan, V. Sloan) Time: 3:36.7.

...Are third at Chip Relays

The Charlevoix Rayder track team collected 25 points and placed third among 35 Class C schools at the Chip Relays at Central Michigan University Saturday according to Coach Hal Evans.

Flint Hamady topped the Class C list with 46 points. Detroit Country placed second with 41 points.

Three Rayders placed third in field events, Larry Lemerand in the high jump, Ross Carey in the shot and Mark Beaudoin in the discus.

Scott Shepherd came in fourth in the 100 M. dash; George Smith sixth in both the low hurdles and the high hurdles and Bill Taylor seventh in the 1500 M. race.

In the relays a team composed of Doug Sloan, Tim Louiselle, Shepherd and Van Sloan placed second in the sprint medley relay; the mile relay team of Jim Martin, Dave Buday, D. Sloan and V. Sloan placed third and sixth in the middle-distance relay with a team of Jim Landon, Martin, Doug Drenth and Ron Way.

Medals were awarded to winners among the top five in each event.

HOMES FOR SALE 154

PIONEER HOME FOR SALE IN CHARLEVOIX THE BEAUTIFUL

Have you ever had a dream of owning a well built, solid, warm home and still enjoy the finest the North has to offer.

What we have is just that. Our family home just turned 99 years young, and will give at least that many more enjoyable years of comfort to some deserving family that likes old fashion quality and charm. The abstract states that at the time of construction it was necessary to place a $46 mortgage on it. We are sorry but a century of inflation along with all the modern improvements including wall to wall carpeting, full insulation, economical natural gas heating system and water heater, new kitchen cabinets, attached garage has raised the price. But the price is right. Due to the recession it is priced about $9,999 less than it would have been a year ago. Just $32,999 with old fashioned owner financing on land contract at 11%. How can you go wrong?

R.E. Olds who summered here many years always said the secret to success is to do exactly opposite what everyone else is doing and that means Buy Now. The old Boss home is located at 319 Mason St. 132 feet out the front door is the Mayor's neighborhood grocery and 275 feet out the back door is the beautiful sandy beach of Lake Michigan. 2 blocks from Post Office and 3 from downtown yacht basin. The old girl is clean as a whistle, neat as a pin and ready to move into.

Charlevoix Council Minutes

April 17, 1982
10:00 A.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time in a Special Council Session called for the purpose of discussing the City Manager's position: Mayor Staley presided.

Present: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, and Block. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Mayor Staley opened the meeting by asking for comments from the General Public present regarding the present situation in the City created by the resignation of Robert Hunt, City Manager. Several individuals expressed a desire for the Council and the Manager to resolve their differences and pointed out specific areas where they felt the relationship between the Council and the Manager could be improved. One individual stated that Mr. Hunt had expressed a desire to leave City employment and urged that his resignation be accepted.

At the request of Mr. Hunt, Mayor Staley asked for a motion to adjourn the Council to a Closed Session.

Moved by Councilmen Timms, and supported by Councilman Wood to honor the request of the City Manager to adjourn to a Closed Session under the Open Meetings Act, for the purpose of discussing the City Manager's position.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, and Block. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Council Adjourned.

Deanne Balch, City Clerk

Kenneth A. Staley, Mayor

CHARLIE MORRIS, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Morris of Charlevoix and a senior at Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan won the "Craig Trophy" - a permanent trophy given to the highest scoring wrestler of the season. He also received trophies for best record, most first take downs, most team points. This was Charlie's second year in the sport of wrestling. Last year he won quickest pin (under 10 seconds) and the "grappler award". During the fall sports program he participated as an offensive and defensive tackle. He received the Pete Slader Award for football, another trophy kept permanently in the school athletic building, which goes to "the athlete who best exemplifies attitude of dedication and giving of self to others."

He is a resident advisor for underclass high school boys at Marquis Hall. He also participated in coaching the middle grade boys in wrestling at Brookside School, a division of the Cranbrook.

4)Be aware of the physical and behavioral signs of sexual child abuse.

5)Be suspicious but not paranoid. Follow your instincts.

6)Make use of "hot line" numbers where help is available day and night. In our area call 24-hour HOTLINE – child abuse Protective Services – 347-1700 or 24-hour HOTLINE – Women's Resource Center – 347-0082.

7)Report all cases of sesual child abuse as mandated by the Child Protection law of the State of Michigan.

Available statistics do not tell the entire story, Ms. Gillespie cautioned. "People who are involved in sexual child assault do not readily talk about it."

In Charlevoix County, 30 cases of sexual child abuse were identified last year. In Berrion County, where Smietanka and Gillespie have worked for the past seven years towards community awareness and co-operation, 40 cases per month are reported. Their program includes education in the schools and community, and a "networking" of supportive community agencies to relieve the caseload and pool resources. As a result of their efforts the reporting of incidences of suspected or obvious sexual child abuse went up 70 percent.

The S.A.F.E. committee was initiated and organized here through the combined efforts of several concerned professionals under the leadership of Lucia Kadzielski, M.S.W., A.C.S.W., of East Jordan Counseling Center, and Jan Biddick M.S.W., A.C.S.W., Home-School Counselor at Boyne City Elementary school. Ms. Kadzielski strongly believes that "this is a community problem..and that one day does not take care of the personal and professional obligation." Jan Biddick, using the "1 our of 5" national statistic as a point of reference, reasoned that "out of our total school population in the Charlevoix-Emmet District, 1,894 are being sexually misused."

Along with the other nine members of the S.A.F.E. committee, Kadzielski and Bidddick are convinced that early education in the schools is a goal of paramount value.

Sexual child abuse is one of the most devastating things that can happen to a child whether it involves fondling, or actually leads to intercourse. Direct results are a negative self image, extreme feelings of guilt and devastated lives. Incestuous sexual assault is "like being raped on a weekly basis," according to Ms. Smietanka. It totally destroys trust in the people the child feels he ought to love.

Children have a right to feel good at home, to feel good about themselves and their bodies. They need to know that there can be many problems within a family and tht sexual abuse is one of them; that it's not BAD to have a problem, it only means somebody needs help. He needs to know that there are appropriate and inappropriate ways of touching; that children have the right to say "no" to any touch which disturbs them. They need to know that there are people to whom they can turn for help who will believe them. (A child never lies about sexual child abuse.)

Further recommendations for community action by the S.A.F.E. Task Force will be discussed at a subsequent meeting at Char-Em Service Center on Wednesday, May 19th, at 3:30 p.m. Members of the community are urged to attend.

Suggested readings on the subject recommended by the speakers: "Daddy's Girl" by Charolette Allen; "Father's Days" by Katharine Brady; and "Betrayal of Innocence" by Susan Forward M.S.W.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX COUNCIL MINUTES

April 19, 1982
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Staley presiding.

Present: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Block to approve the Minutes of the April 12, 1982 special Council meeting as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was unanimously approved by voice vote.

Mayor Staley pointed out that the Minutes of the April 5, 1982 regular Council meeting should be corrected to show that Councilman Morris was absent for the roll call following the Board of Appeals meeting. The Minutes of the April 5, 1982 meeting were approved as corrected.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Wood that a Public Hearing be held at 8:00 P.M. on May 17, 1982 regarding a proposed Ordinance to provide for a development plan and a tax increment financing plan for the Charlevoix Downtown development area and, that a Public Hearing shall also be held on this date and time regarding a specific tax increment financing plan and development plan for the Downtown Development Authority's proposed purchase and development of the Newman property on Mason St. for construction of a parking lot.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Block to accept the low bid of $79,024.34 as submitted by Manthei Construction Co. for lengthening runway B-26 at the Municipal Airport by 1,000 ft., said bid amount to be reconsidered pending possible amendment of the project scope to include a taxiway.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Wood to award a contract for construction engineering for the Municipal Airport Project to Granger Engineering at a cost not to exceed $8,974.00, said amount to be reconsidered pending possible amendment of the project scope.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms to amend the project scope of the Municipal Airport Project to include construction of a taxiway and to permit appropriate amendments to the construction and engineering contract for said construction in a total amount not to exceed the project budget when added to existing obligations.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Council generally agreed to cease all snow removal on the turf runway at the Municipal Airport upon completion of the proposed taxiway.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to adopt the following fee schedules to become effective on May 1, 1982.

(See fee schedule elsewhere in this publication.)

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Block that the City reserve both sides of one dock at the City Marina for short term rental between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. as requested by the Lake Charlevoix Property Owners Association with a maximum stay of 2 hours during this period at a rate of $1.00 per hour and the overnight rate of said dock to be set at 75% of the normal 24 hour rate.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Council briefly discussed two separate proposals regarding City participation in a wood and/or waste fueled electric generating plant and directed the City Manager to report back to them on a meeting he will be attending on this subject.

Representatives of the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization reported on the status of their project to plant 30,000 petunias in the City and requested the use of an additional City truck, if necessary. The City Manager suggested they be allowed a maximum of two City trucks for two days. Council generally agreed with the Manager's recommendation.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to approve a request as submitted by the American Legion to hold a Farmers Market each Saturday throughout the Summer at their property on Garfield St. subject to the following conditions:

1. Only local farm produce will be permitted.
2. Farmers must sell their own goods and shall not engage persons other than members of the family to sell for them.
3. Farmers may not sell any produce other than that which they produce themselves.
4. No meat, including fish or fowl, may be sold.
5. Permission is granted on a trial basis, not to exceed one year, and may be revoked upon reconsideration by the City Council.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms to approve a contract between the City and the Charlevoix County Drain Commissioner to govern design, construction, operation, maintenance, and ownership of the proposed Prospect St. and State St. stormsewers, including a "hold harmless" provision, and further, to authorize the City Manager and the City Attorney to affect changes to the contract prior to execution which are not substantial in nature without further Council review.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Wood to approve the following petition:

PETITION

TO: Drain Commissioner of the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan

The undersigned, being a municipal corporation of the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, hereby petitions for the making of drainage improvements necessary because of the inadequacy of existing drainage service in certain areas of the City of Charlevoix (the "City"), the general description, location and route of said drainage improvements being as set out in Exhibit A attached hereto and made a part hereof.

Petitioner further states that said drainage improvements are vitally necessary to preserve and protect the public health of this public corporation; that said improvements will serve only areas located entirely within the corporate limits of the City; and that the public corporation signing this petition will be subject to assessments to pay the cost thereof.

This petition is filed pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 20, Act 40, Public Acts of Michigan, 1956, as amended (the "Drain Code").

Attached to this petition is a certified copy of a resolution duly adopted by the City Council of the City of Charlevoix authorizing the affixing of the signatures of its Mayor and Clerk to the petition on its behalf.

By Kenneth A. Staley, Mayor
By Deanne Balch, City Clerk
Date: __________, 1982

EXHIBIT A

Clean out, relocate, widen, deepen, straighten, extend, tile and otherwise improve, add or connect branches thereto, and construct and improve culverts and bridges, as necessary for the following drains:

Prospect Street Drain

Beginning on and along Prospect Street from Round Lake to and including the intersection with Petoskey Avenue.

State Street Drain

Beginning at, and along Antrim Street from Round Lake to and including its intersection with State Street, and along State Street to a point approximately 425 feet south of State Street's intersection with Carpenter Street.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The following Resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Wood.

Resolution No. 82-4-1

WHEREAS, there are certain areas within the City where drainage is now inadequate and it is immediately necessary for the public health in order to provide adequate drainage to make certain drainage improvements, and

WHEREAS, said proposed drainage improvements, the general description, location and route thereof being as set out in Exhibit A attached hereto and made a part hereof, will serve only areas located entirely within the corporate limits of the City; and

WHEREAS, in the opinion of this City Council said drainage improvements are vitally necessary for the public health and the entire cost thereof should be assessed against public corporations for benefits to the public health and for drainage of highways, and

WHEREAS, Chapter 20 of Act 40, Public Acts of Michigan, 1956, as amended (the Drain Code of 1956) provides a feasible and legal method of financing the cost of said drainage improvements where the same are necessary for the public health; and

WHEREAS, said Chapter 20 of the Drain Code (Sec. 486) also provides as follows, to wit:

> "Sec. 486. This chapter shall be be applicable (1) to any county drain located, or proposed to be located, entirely within the limits of a single city, village or township, (2) to any county drain located in more than 1 city, village or township but which serves or will serve only an area located entirely within the limits of a single city, village or township so that no other city, village or township will be subject to assessment to pay the cost thereof, or (3) to several drains, including drains located, established and constructed by a county drain commissioner or drainage board, by a city, village or township, whether or not the several drains are interconnected, which several drains serve only areas located entirely within the limits of a single city, village or township, if the city, village or township shall consent thereto by resolution adopted by its governing body. In such case any petition required to be filed hereunder shall be sufficient if signed by such city, village or township only."

WHEREAS, said drainage improvements being necessary for the public health, the cost thereof can and should be assessed against public corporations as defined and authorized by said Chapter 20 of the Drain Code;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. This City Council, for and on behalf of the City, does hereby consent to and approve the making and financing of the drainage improvements as described generally in the preamble hereto, pursuant to and in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 20 of Act 40, Public Acts of Michigan, 1956, as amended (the Drain Code).

2. This City Council does hereby determine and declare that said drainage improvements as described generally in the preamble hereto are vitally necessary to preserve and protect the public health.

3. The Mayor and City Clerk are hereby authorized and directed to sign for and on behalf of the City the attached petition directed to the Drain Commissioner of the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, requesting the making of the drainage improvements as generally described in the preamble hereto, pursuant to and in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 20 of Act 40, Public Acts of Michigan, 1956, as amended.

4. In the event the improvements herein authorized to be petitioned for are for any reason not financed or constructed pursuant to the petition duly filed, the City shall assume and pay all costs incurred by the Statutory Drainage Board in acting upon said petition, pursuant to the requirements of law.

5. All resolutions and parts of resolutions insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this resolution be and the same hereby are rescinded.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Block, to set the salary of Fire Chief John Martin at $18,500 per year plus overtime for station manning work performed in excess of an average 56 hour work week with additional compensation for ambulance runs while not on duty and other employment guidelines as determined by the City Manager.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Block that the City write off bad debts in the amount of $1,128.77 as recommended by the City Clerk.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to hold a Closed Council Session at 5:00 p.m. on April 21, 1982 as requested by the City Manager for the purpose of discussing his position and pending resignation.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Council discussed the Downtown Development Authority and their proposed tax increment financing mechanism with City officials and several members of the General Public present. The City Attorney was directed to research the possibility of either amending the D.D.A. Ordinance or establishing contracts with the other taxing units to place a "cap" on dollar amounts available to the D.D.A. and to control the multiplicity of projects.

Council recessed for a brief period.

The City Manager advised Council that the Spring Clean-up Campaign in the City has been modified to specify one cut-off date in each ward when all rubbish must be put out. Councilwoman Roloff stated that the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization had offered to assist in the Campaign.

Council agreed to meet with representatives of the State Dept. of Health and District Health personnel at 7:30 p.m. on May 3, 1982, to discuss the City's TCE water contamination problem.

The City Manager urged Councilmembers and their constituents to attend a Public Hearing being held by the City Planning Commission on April 26, 1982 regarding a proposed land use map for the City as prepared by Ron Nino, City Planning Consultant.

Council postponed discussion of the City Attorney's contract until the Committee of the Whole work session scheduled for April 26, 1982.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms to amend the UDAG grant application for the Weathervane Terrace as set down in the City Manager's Report to the Council dated April 16, 1982, with the exception that the amount of the grant be set at $230,000 and the amount of Industrial Revenue Bonds be set not to exceed $970,000.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The City Manager advised Council that John C. Burns, MAI, of Traverse City has been contracted to prepare appraisals on the City owned property at 204 State St. and the Newman property at 107 Mason St. at a total cost not to exceed $500.

Mayor Staley suggested postponing construction of that portion of the City's stormsewer which will involve tearing up roads until September. At the recommendation of the City Manager, it was generally agreed to leave the construction schedule open at this time as such action may have an adverse affect on the bids for the project.

The City Manager advised Council that replacement of the deteriorated sidewalk at the City Marina has been delayed due to possible ground freezing problems which could jeopardize construction. He also stated that the City stormsewer project may run under the sidewalk scheduled to be replaced and it would therefore be desirable to postpone the sidewalk project until that section of the stormsewer is in place.

The City Manager advised Council that the City will be advertising for bids for one new City police car and a boring machine.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Porter to hold a Public Hearing at 8:00 p.m. on May 3, 1982, regarding a proposed amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance to rezone the Wayside Motel property from R-1 to C-1.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The Council having examined bills totaling $97,848.34 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amount.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Council Adjourned.

K.C.s collect over $800

The Father Pierre Charlevoix Council of the Michigan Knights of Columbus collected $808.93 in its recent two-day Tootsie Roll drive to assist the mentally handicapped, Jack Gebott, Grand Knight of the local council, has announced.

Eighty per cent of the net income from the donations is retained by the local council for distribution to area groups and agencies dedicated to aiding the mentally handicapped. The remainder is forwarded to the state council of the Knights of Columbus to meet expenses of the program and to make donations in behalf of the 68,000 Knights of Michigan.

Locally, the Charlevoix House and Bergmann Center will receive contributions from the drive during which people are asked to donate money to the mentally handicapped and were given a Tootsie Roll in appreciation of the gift. Charlevoix House, a residence foster home for the mentally handicapped, will receive $345.95 and Bergmann Center, a sheltered workshop for the mentally handicapped, $230.63, which represents 80 per cent of total collected less expenses.

Gebott thanked all those who contributed time and money to the success of this year's Tootsie Roll drive.

"I know that the benefacting agencies are grateful for the generosity of so many people. Through the gifts of the contributors, many mentally handicapped persons will have services and equipment available to make their lives more rewarding," Gebott added.

Names In The News

Airman NANCY R. ANDERSON, daughter of Raymond E. and Gloria J. Anderson of Boyne City, Mich., has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft pneudraulic repair course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Graduates of the course learned how to repair aircraft pneumatic and hydraulic units, and earned credits toward an associate degree an applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Anderson will now serve at Reese Air Force Base, Texas, with the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron.

She is a 1976 graduate of Boyne City High School

Kristy Mathews, left, an Alma College sophomore from Charlevoix, has received her second President's Cup recognition for having the highest academic average in her class at Alma. This year, Kristy alone has maintained the highest-academic-average distinction she shared with seven classmates as a freshman last year. She was presented the cup by Alma President Oscar E. Remic at Alma's 1982 Honors Convocation on April 7.

The cup was Kristy's to keep until after a luncheon for students and others receiving special awards at the Honors Convocation. Then the cup – inscribed with Kristy's name – was returned to President Remick for permanent display in a Reid-Knox Administration Building display case. Students earning President's Cup honors receive a certificate acknowledging their accomplishment.

Kristy, a 1980 graduate of Charlevoix High School, is the daughter of Vernon and Andrea Mathews, R-2 Box 95B, Charlevoix.

Marine Pfc. DARRELL M. SLOUGH, son of Beverly Levitski of 311 Belvedere, Charlevoix, Mich., has completed the Basic Warehousing Course.

The four-week course was conducted at Marine Corps Logistics Base, Barstow, Calif.

During the first week, students received an introduction to all aspects of sopply operations. They studied receiving, issuing, inventorying, and storage of supplies.

The second and third weeks were devoted to practical application of their classroom instruction during supervised, on-th-job training in an operating warehouse. The final week was spent learning to operate material handling equipment including forklifts and tow-tractors.

A 1979 graduate of Durand Area High School, Durand, Mich., he joined the Marine Corps in August 1981.

GREGORY J. WOJAN of Charlevoix, was recently inducted into the Ferris State College Beta Mu Chapter of the Rho Chi Honor Society.

Rho Chi, a pharmacy honor society, recognizes academic excellence and professional conduct among pharmacy students. Men and women ranking in the highest twenty percent of the class and having obtained a scholastic average equivalent to the second-highest letter grade are eligible for election after having completed seven semesters or ten quarters of scholastic work applicable toward the degree granted by their school of pharmacy.

Wojan, is the son of Phyliss Wojan, 216 Stover Rd.

Kindergarten sign-ups way down

Only 73 children were registered during the annual two-day Kindergarten Round-up at the Charlevoix Elementary School last week—Ralph Raymer, school principal, reports.

Mrs. Geraldine Brady, school nurse who assisted with registrations, said of the marked decrease "I know there are many more children out there who will be eligible for kindergarten in September than were registered. I think it was just a matter of people failing to respond to the announcement that children were to be registered at this time."

Mr. Raymer said that during the registration period last spring, only 66 children were registered. However, on the first day of school in September 100 children showed up.

He added that it is important that children be registered so plans can be made for teachers and supplies. "If we are to have 22 fewer students than the 100 we now have, it could mean having one less class in September. Therefore it is important that if you have a child who will be five years old by September 1 and thus eligible to begin school you should call the Elementary school at 547-6583 and make an appointment to register him (or her)."

Hunt will stay on as city manager after all

by DAVE KNIGHT

Charlevoix will still have a city manager come Thursday following Robert Hunt's announcement Monday night that he will not resign the post as previously planned.

Hunt's change of heart followed unanimous approval by the City Council of a four-page policy statement on personnel management clarifying and strengthening the city manager's position. The policy statement was the result of lengthy joint discussions held between Hunt and the council last week.

Though other factors were involved, it was a dispute over hiring practices which arose during the recent search for a new fire chief that prompted Hunt to announce on April 6 that he would resign effective May 6, this Thursday.

"I have matured a lot as a city manager," said Hunt, "But I regret the price the council and the public has had to pay."

Hunt, 27, is the fourth city manager to hold the post in as many years under the current charter. He assumed the job in October, 1981.

In the personnel guidelines adopted Monday, the council reaffirmed its responsibility for overall policy direction while directing the city manager to carry out the day-to-day administration of that policy such as "hiring, firing, motivating, promoting, demoting, compensating and training employees."

Capsulized portions of the policy statement include the following:

-Vacancies to be filled from outside the work force will be filled on the basis of merit with criteria set in advance. Local candidates will be preferred to non-local when qualifications are equal.

-Department heads will be developed into a management team to address administrative needs.

-Clear standards will be set for city employees with specific disciplinary measures also set for unacceptable performance. Employees will be encouraged to upgrade their skills toward potential job advancement.

-The city manager shall supervise all city employees accept the City Clerk and City Attorney offices. The positions of City Assessor, City Treasurer, Police Chief and Fire Chief, however, may only be appointed and removed by action of the council. Terminations of other department heads will be discussed with council in advance.

-The mayor and council will will refrain from directly intervening in or publicly influencing any personnel matter other than the appointment and termination of the City Treasurer, City Assessor, Police Chief or Fire Chief. All union matters other than overall negotiation strategy will be handled completely by the City Manager.

-Salaries and job descriptions shall be recommended to the council by the City Manager who may also eliminate positions, lay off personnel or reduce work hours as deemed neccessary. Such actions shall be notified to the council in advance and can be overridden by the council.

-For the positions of treasurer, assessor, police chief and fire chief, the council may require a specific number of candidates from the City Manager in the appointment process. The mayor and council shall not alter the criteria or selection process to affect the outcome.

City Attorney Michael Gibbons, in a letter accompanying the policy statement, assured council members that the statement was legally sound under the city charter but emphasized its gravity.

"The general thrust of the policy statement, if implemented, will over the long term profoundly change the historical relationship between the governing body of this community and its Manager," wrote Gibbons.

Said Mayor Kenneth Staley following adoption of the policy and the withdrawal of Hunt's resignation, "I look forward to a much improved and progressive Charlevoix."

Class of 1982 names best scholastic achievers

by DAVE KNIGHT

They are athletes, artists, musicians, orators, scientists, movers and shakers...and scholars all.

Fifteen Charlevoix High School seniors have been named to the top ten percent of their class on the basis of their cumulative grade point average over four years of high school

Two of the 15, Mariko Regier and Martha Staley, achieved a perfect 4.0 grade point average - straight A's - and have been named co-valedictorians of the Class of 1982. David Staublin is salutatorian.

The top ten percent are listed here by ranking with their grade point average included:

MARIKO REGIER, (4.0), is the daughter of Austin and Hinako Regier, 1115 Grant St. She has been named a recipient of a $1,000 National Merit Scholarship, is a University of Michigan Alumni Scholar and was second runner-up in the Michigan Junior Miss pageant after winning local competition. She has studied piano on scholarship at Bayview, has won six CHS scholastic achievement awards and has participated successfully in debate competition. Mariko plans to attend the University of Michigan with no specific plans for a major yet.

MARTHA STALEY, (4.0), is the daughter of Kenneth and Arlene Staley, 401 Antrim. She has served as president of the UMC District Council on Youth Ministries and secretary of the West Michigan Conference UMC Council on Youth Ministries. Martha is a National Honor Society member and has won a Board of Control scholarship from Michigan Technological University where she will enroll this fall to study electrical engineering. She has also won numerous awards and trophies in forensics.

DAVID R. STAUBLIN, (3.857), is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Staublin, 111 Prospect. He served three years on Student Council and was vice president his senior year. He participated in band for four years achieving District Honors Band status for three years and State Honors Band for two. A member of the National Honor Society, David also participated in golf, forensics, French Club, was drum major of the band and has played in several community orchestras. He also attended Michigan Boys State. He plans to study mechanical engineering at Michigan Technological University this fall.

DAVID BUDAY, (3.769), is the son of Edward and Joan Buday, 104 Robinson. He was president of his freshman class, vice president of Student Council as a junior and president of both the council and the National Honor Society his senior year. He played football, basketball and ran track on the varsity levels and received Honorable Mention on the conference MVP team his sophomore and junior years. He also participated in forensics and French Club. David plans to attend Aquinas College in a pre-law program.

D. SCOTT KELLY, (3.757), is the son of Don and Lorraine Kelly, Stover Rd. As an athlete, he won varsity letters four times in baseball, three times in football and twice in basketball as well as making All-Conference in baseball and football. A member of the National Honor Society, he has also served on the Student Council, attended Boys State and participated in wrestling. Scott plans to major in computer programming and business administration at a college yet to be selected.

Report in, legislation moving on consolidation

by DAVE KNIGHT

Progress on the matter of city-township consolidation unfolded on two fronts last week.

A special committee assigned to investigate the ramifications of a consolidation of the City of Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township finished its business and issued a report while legislation enabling equal representation on a charter commission advanced to the floor of the State Senate.

Among the findings of the ad hoc study committee appointed in March were that consolidation would mean a higher operating millage rate for township residents but potentially lower utility costs.

The committee was comprised of three representatives each from the city and township. Appointed to represent the city were John Campbell, Michael Greeley and City Council member Robert Timms while township representatives included Township Board member Donald Smith, David Herboldsheimer and Bernice Goss.

In a copy of the committee's report obtained by the Courier, it is stated that the city's assets of $4,887,249 are roughly five times those of the township which are valued at $1,041,371. The city's tax base, however, at about $52 million, is only 1.37 times that of the township which is estimated at $38 million. The city's population is 3,296 compared to the township's 983.

With a combined tax base, the report suggests, "the millage could be equalized to seven mills for operating, which is a drop of 3.5 mills in the city...and an addition of five mills in the township." Two mills for debt retirement (now for the waste water treatment plant and later for the new water tower) would also be added until 1994.

Comparison of electric rates showed the city's charges to be substantially lower than those in the township which is served by Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Company. According to the report, for an average home using 562 kilowatt-hours a month the monthly bill is

Big Rock hearing may be postponed

by TOM DAMMANN

A request is being filed to postpone until fall the public hearing on Consumers Power Company's request for federal permission to increase the number of spent fuel assemblies in the spent fuel pool at its Big Rock nuclear plant.

The scheduled dates for the hearing are June 7-20.

The Courier learned that last week the staff of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) Atomic Safety and Licensing Board had decided to seek a ten-week delay of the hearing because it needed time to review seismic evaluations of Big Rock.

According to the information received from the staff, the staff had disagreed with some of the calculations used by Consumers Power Company's engineers. Since these are basic to determining the precautions that must be taken for the safety of the reactor, the spent fuel pool and the overhead crane used in loading and off-loading the reactor vessel, the staff felt more time was needed to make its own analysis.

But on Monday morning the staff changed its mind, according to its attorney Janice Moore.

In a telephone interview, Miss Moore revealed her staff would not seek the postponement.

However, in another telephone interview, Herbert Semmel, professor at Antioch College of Law in Washington, D.C., said he will file immediately a motion for postponement.

Semmel, who heads a team of law students representing a group of intervenors who are protesting the spent fuel expansion, said, "We don't think the staff has enough time to complete its studies. We are opposed to splitting the hearing and it is understood by all parties that one of the intervenors cannot be present at any hearings this summer because of the nature of his business. So we will ask for a postponement until fall."

Meanwhile, the Courier has learned that the three-member panel of judges has raised questions

Charlevoix Yesterday

The Resort Special of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway was long an important factor in the lives of Charlevoix residents. It arrived in Charlevoix every Saturday morning during the summer months with passengers from Detroit and Chicago and other out-state areas. Many of the passengers were husband and fathers of families who came to Charlevoix to spend the entire summer while the men commuted every weekend. This picture shows the Resort Special stopped at the Belvedere Club Station. The train also stopped at the regular Charlevoix Station at the foot of Dixon Avenue.

Creative writing students from Interlochen to visit here

Among those who will visit Charlevoix as part of the Interlochen creative writing workshop are, front row left to right, Lynne Ahl, Helen Wuscher and Deidre Kovac; in back are Aaron Shohct, Lenore Hammers, Bonnie Nevel, Chad Atkins and instructor Nick Bozanic.

Interlochen Arts Academy's creative writing students are bringing the intimate world of poetry and short stories to Charlevoix's Middle and High Schools on the afternoon of May 6. This Charlevoi's performance is part of a five-day Michigan tour which is supported through a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts' "Outreach: Show-On-The-Road" program and the Crooked Tree Arts Council.

The tour includes stops in the upper peninsula, the Petoskey and Charlevoix areas and Alpena.

In addition to a reading of their works, the Interlochen artists will offer a workshop in creative writing, designed for students currently enrolled in the fourth through twelfth grades.

Interlochen's creative writing program was established in 1975 with a grant from the Ford Foundation. The goal of the program is to help young writers develop their ability to communicate personal experience and understanding. Workshops and individual critiques provide students with an opportunity to acquire critical skills and to extend their talents.

Students are given the opportunity to work with many established poets and authors, such as Robert Zinober, Judith Minty, Etheridge Knight, Mark Strand, Robert Bly, William Stafford and Donald Hall.

This years students enrolled in Interlochen's creative writing program captured several prestigious awards. Three young writers were finalists in the national Arts Recognition and Talent Search (ARTS) competition. And Academy students won first prizes in the Wayne State Manuscript Day and the Eastern Michigan University Writer's Conference.

For more information regarding the creative writing performance contact Anne Kelly at 547-9776.

March of Dimes Walkamerica set for May 22

Walkamerica, the March of Dimes walkathon fundraiser that involves people of all ages is scheduled locally for Saturday, May 22. Walkers will take off from two locations - Petoskey High School and the city golf course in Charlevoix. They will both walk 17½ miles or 28 kilometers to Bay Shore and back.

Participants should be sponsored - with sponsors pledging a certain amount of money for each kilometer walked. Some businesses in the area are participating as a team, wearing an identifying T-shirt or hat. Checkpoints along the way will provide snacks.

Sponsor sheets are available at Charlevoix Creations in Oleson's shopping center and at the City Clerk's office. Petoskey walkers can pick up forms at Petoskey City Hall, the high school or at the 7-Eleven store. Trophies and prized to be awarded will be announced in the near future. The Walkathon, scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. with registration beginning at 8:30 a.m. will benefit children born with birth defects, as well as helping to provide training for personnel working in the Neo-natal units of local hospitals.

For more information, contact Chief Krause in Petoskey, 347-7474 or the March of Dimes office, 547-5877, in Charlevoix.

Murray farm is included on 100-year list

Thirty-six farms in twenty-three Michigan counties were certified as centennial farms in April, Secretary of State Richard H. Austin announced last week.

Included is the farm of John W. and Nelda Murray in Hayes Township which was first established on January 14, 1882, by John's great grandfather Thomas H. Murray who bought the land from the federal government.

A centennial farm is one which has been in continuous possession of the same family for 100 years or more, must contain a minimum of 10 acres with an estimated sales of $50 or, if less than 10 acres, gross sales of $250. Only land and not buildings is considered in qualifications.

More that 4,000 Michigan farms have been certified as centennial farms since the program was inaugurated in 1948, Austin said.

Certificates to owners are provided by the Michigan History Division of the Department of State. Markers are provided by the Detroit Edison and Consumers Power companies.

Davis rep office hours

Congressman Bob Davis' District Representative Charles P. Goddeyne will be in Charlevoix County on Wednesday May 5; at the county courthouse, law library in Charlevoix for office hours from 10:00 - 11:30 am; and lunch with the senior nutrition program at the Charlevoix High School from 1:00 - 2:00 p.m.

Health fairs scheduled for area hospitals

Three health fairs are coming to northern Michigan in celebration of National Hospital Week, May 10 through 14. The fairs carry out the Hospital Week theme: "You Have a Friend".

Charlevoix Area Hospital, Otsego Memorial Hospital, Gaylord, and the health care professional of Boyne City have collaborated to bring the health fairs to each community.

The purpose of the health fairs, each free to the public, is "to help people assess their own health, better understand how to maintain good health, and gain a perspective on health care facilities and agencies in each area," according to Diane Charlebois, Charlevoix Area Hospital dietician, member of the Health Education Committee which has spearheaded the organization of all three fairs.

"While there will be balloons, clowns and refreshments,;; the organizers say, "the purpose is health."

At each location, the events, displays and opportunities to meet with health care professionals will vary, but the theme is the same — bringing a better understanding of preventive medicine to the people of the area.

The Health Fair at Otsego Memorial Hospital will be held May 11, from 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m., at the hospital.

In Boyne City, the health fair, at the City Hall Auditorium, May 13, will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The Charlevoix Area Hospital Health Fair, May 12, from 2:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. will be held in the lower level of the hospital's new wing.

The fairs at Charlevoix Area Hospital and Otsego Memorial will be the most elaborate, including a variety of informative booths, and some health testing.

Charlevoix Area Hospital's health fair will include blood pressure testing, blood typing, hemoglobin testing for anemia, a "health hazard profile", the Lions Club vision and hearing screening, information on preventive dentistry and booths sponsored by many health agencies.

The American Cancer Society, the American Diabetes Association, Planned Parenthood, Hospice, Reach for Recovery, the Michigan Heart Association and the Organ Procurement Agency or Michigan will have representatives on hand with literature and information.

The Charlevois County Sheriff's Department will have representatives at the fair to talk crime prevention, rape prevention and poison control. A CHIP Counseling Center staff member will speak on substance abuse and mental health. The County Health Department and Department of Social Services will have people at the fair to provide information on both agency's services to the public. Jane Sooy of the Studio of Body Works will have a booth where she will talk about exercises for relaxation.

Each booth will be separate and people who attend the fairs may select among those that interest them or visit each.

All activities, information and testing will be offered free of charge.

There will be clowns and balloons to entertain children and refreshments will be served, at the Charlevoix Health Fair.

The Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild has volunteered their services to assist with registration.

The three health fairs are conceived as a serious attempt to better acquaint the general public of the health care facilities and agencies in their communities.

The Health Fairs, it is hoped, will help people become more aware of their own health habits and how they can take an active part in maintaining their own good health.

Middle School industrial arts students recognized at Mancelona fair

Twenty-two of the 25 Charlevois Middle School Industrial Arts students who entered their work in the Middle School Division of the Region 14-15 Industrial Arts Fair held at Mancelona recently received recognition for their work their instructor, Jerry Puhl, has announced.

Two entries received first place honors and were entered in the State Industrial Arts Fair held in Grand Rapids last weekend. They were Bob Waun who won a blue ribbon with his checkerboard in woodworking class and John Loder whose machined hammer with turned plastic handle also won him top honors. Both are eighth grade students.

Among the other entries one received a third place; three a fourth; three a fifth place; four a sixth place and nine received honorable mention. All but four were entered in the woodworking division.

They are: Dennis Curtis, third place for a woodcarving of a bird; Brad Louiselle, carved bead; Neil Britton, pump lamp; Nick Swanson, checker board, fourth place.

Richard Thayer, walnut carved bird; John Loder, a carved face; Scott Crandell, fos head, fifth place; Pat Gibbons, a carved shark; Andy Couture, a carved bull; Jeff Holm, a carved dinosaur; Tim Wieland, a cane, sixth place.

Those who received honorable mention were Jeff Engler, Brian Hribek, Carl Rothenberger, Dan Kelly, bowls and Alan Geer and Mike Lent, carved fish in the woodworking division; Lawrence Radle, Richie Thayer and Ray Hahn, stove tools, metal work division.

The Charlevoix Middle School Industrial Arts students are pictured with their projects that won them recognition in the Region 14-15 Industrial Arts Fair at Mancelona recently where they competed with several hundred students from throughout the north in the Junior High Division of the Fair.

Fourth row: Ken Carson, Denny Curtis, Kevin Pearsall, Lawrence Radle.

All seven high school entries also awarded

Seven Charlevoix High School Industrial Arts students were entered in the Region 14-15 Industrial Arts Fair at Mancelona recently and all seven received recognition for their entries their instructor John Mills said.

Two received first place ratings and were entered in the State Fair held at Grand Rapids over the weekend. They were Scott Louiselle whose Civil War cannon, made in metal work class, warranted a blue ribbon and Steve Rozema whose house plans also received a first place.

Steve Cooper, Pat Rhine and Greg Andrick received third place recognition and Mike Baer a fourth place rating for their house plans. Ron Sharrow received honorable mention for a barrel wood stove made in metal work class.

Knight on the Town

Hats off

by Dave Knight

'Twas not an easy thing for our City Council to do Monday. But then, nothing lately seems to be easy at City Hall.

The new personnel policy they adopted will seem to some to be nothing less than an abdication of power. Indeed it represents one of the strongest endorsements of the manager-council form of government by any council since the new charter was passed.

Any council person will probably agree that the decision to relinquish responsibilities traditionally assumed by the council for decades was not an easy decision. But what was the alternative? A charter with no meaning and a useless city manager.

The council's affirmation of their committment to the charter -and to the best interests of the city- should be applauded. They deserve much credit for charting a positive, although difficult, course through some very troubled waters.

Clockwise

Perfect solution

by Bob Clock

Joe Smith, who graduates next month from Charlevoix High School, has a perfect solution to the Falkland Islands crisis.

Since both the British and the Argentinians are soccer nuts, Joe suggests having the two sides pick teams and decide the fate of the islands through a soccer game — winner taks all.

Of course with such high stakes, the game would be the biggest sporting event of the decade and would have to be played on neutral territory, either in Africa or Asia, because the Americas and Europe are too emotionally involved.

It's exciting just imagining the excitement such a match would generate around the world.

After coming up with such a brilliant idea, Joe should definitely plan on a career in the diplomatic corps...but I understand he's going into the army instead. Which may not be too far from the mark, depending on where they send him...

BARNARD GRANGE held its first Heritage Night Saturday, with more than 60 members, past members and friends sitting down to a pot-luck supper.

The program consisted of stories and yarns and the passing around of newsstories and pictures that had to do with the early days of Barnard Grange.

Of course, many remembered moving the Grange hall across Barnard Road in the early 1960s to the site of the former Barnard School. But most of the recollections centered around the troubles old timers had getting to and from Grange meetings in winter via horse and cutter. It wasn't always easy, but they seldom missed a meeting. Bill Parsons of Norwood told how his dad built a covered sleigh with a stove aboard to make the trip more pleasant in the days before the roads were plowed.

Master Bill Stevens noted that members still contend with foul weather to attend Grange functions, particularly during the winter just ended.

Heritage Night was attended by state Master Roland Winters and his wife from Marshall, Mich., who were on Grange business in the area.

At the end of the recollections, Jasper and His Tag-Alongs tuned up for round and square dancing.

THE ANNUAL city pick-up is under way — but scavengers are busy so I doubt that there will be much left for city crews to haul away.

Which is just fine, because I hate to see my precious junk go to the dump.

Take broken chairs, for example. We had a slew of them this year because I have been setting them aside hoping to repair them. But finally I owned up to the fact that I probably will never get around to fashioning new rungs or re-gluing shaky joints. So out they went to the curbstone.

But my chairs didn't stay there long after the scavengers moved in. With any luck, I'll be able to pick them up at yard sales in a month or so, all nicely mended.

MONDAY, MAY 3, 1982, won't soon be forgotten by the young people of Charlevoix. That's the day city's first McDonald's restaurant opened its doors. I haven't had a chance to visit the new restaurant yet — but the staff tells me it's super. It will be nice to have a McDonald's handy when you suffer a Big Mac attack.

The nicest thing about the new restaurant is that is will be staffed almost exclusively by local young people — some of whom have found the job market terribly lean over the winter.

McDonald's is a welcome addition to Charlevoix.

SANDRA L. MILLER, (3.725), is the daughter of James and Dorothy Miller, 800 Dixon Ave. She has served three years on Student Council, one as secretary, and is the treasurer of the National Honor Society. She has participated in band, ski team, on which she lettered all four years, and the flag corps. Sandra plans to attend Aquinas College in Grand Rapids in the fall.

BILL RANGER, (3.722), is the son of Alvin and Patsy Ranger, Pleasant St. As a concurrent enrollee at NCMC, he achieved a perfect 4.0 grade average. He has participated in Student Council, National Honor Society and Boy Scouts. He lettered two years in football, for which team he was captain as a sophomore, three years in track and four years in ski team. Bill has earned chemistry and industrial arts awards and plans to major in pre-med at the University of Michigan where he has been accepted into the Honors Program.

RANDY SCHNACKENBERG, (3.692), is the son of Richard and Leola Schnackenberg, Rt. 1. He has participated in football, track, marching band and symphonic band. Randy was a National Merit Scholarship semi-finalist. He plans to attend Michigan State University with no definite plans for a major.

PATRICIA MORGAN, (3.675), is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Morgan, Norwood Rd. She has been a cheerleader for three years and has won cheerleading awards as well as participating in ninth grade basketball and four years of gymnastics. She will be attending Central Michigan University to study fashion design and merchandising.

PATRICIA A. COOK, (3.667), is the daughter of Norman and Barbara Cook, 520 Meadowlane. She has served as freshman class treasurer, sophomore class president and junior class secretary as well as participating in French Club, debate, cross country, track and Flag Corps. She has played in the marching and symphonic bands and has won solo and ensemble awards as a flutist. She is also a member of the National Honor Society and was a varsity cheerleader her senior year. Patricia plans to major in elementary education at Central Michigan University.

GAIL M. SCHARENBROCH, (3.657), is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert W. Scharenbroch, 905 May St. She received Scholastic Achievement Awards for both semesters in ninth and tenth grades and also one in eleventh and twelfth grades. She plans to attend Northwestern Michigan College and study food technology en route to owning her own catering business.

WILLIAM H. HORTON, (3.632), is the son of Howard and Rosemary Horton, 311 W. Hurlbut. He has been a four-year participant in marching and symphonic bands and was named to Honors Band as well. He plans to enroll this fall in the University of Michigan College of Engineering where he will study computer engineering.

KATHLEEN CLOCK, (3.619), is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Clock, 207 E. Dixon. A member of the Student Council and the National Honor Society, she also was secretary of the French Club, was a member of the Spanish Club and a member of 4-H. As a forensics participant she placed third at the District level in extemporaneous speaking. She intends to enroll at NCMC before pursuing a dual major in foreign languages and economics at a four year college.

KELLY JO MATHEWS, (3.579), is the daughter of Vernon and Andrea Mathews, Ferry Ave. She has participated in drama, forensics, French Club, cheerleading, debate, Girls State and Campus Life. She has served as a class officer and as talent show chairman and master of ceremonies. She has won several drama and forensics awards as well as Scholastic Achievement Awards. In June she will enroll at Petoskey Beauty Academy where she will study until fall when she plans to enroll at Southeastern Academy in Florida to become a travel guide.

SCOTT BOOCHER, (3.575), is the son of James E. and Martha Boocher, 101 Maple St. He plans to study computer science and business next fall at the DeVry Institute of Technology in Phoenix, Arizona.

Letters: Kindness was appreciated

To the Editor:

To our many friends in the Charlevoix area...the Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township fire departments...the churches...our neighbors in Marion Township...and to all of the many individuals who provided aid, comfort and concern at the time of our fire, our grateful thanks. We appreciate your acts of kindness and love.

Operation Petunia Update by Fron Mortin

Block captains named

To facilitate Operation: Petunia, block captains have been named from among volunteers according to Bruce MacArthur, co-chairman with Dale Boss, of the program.

Clarence Goldstick will head the north side contingent whose area extends from Mercer Blvd. to the Highway Bridge. His captains will be Ty Clinger, Doris Lundteigen, Don Meggison, Herb Dishong, John Dixon, Frank Zednicek, Rick Lobenherz, and Hagen Manker.

On the south side Ray Carr will serve as the coordinator. To date Jack Gebott, Frank Hamilton; Jacquie Merta and Craig Wise have been named as block captains with others to be announced. This area extends from Antrim Street south to M-66.

The big problem that now faces the committee is obtaining the 600 volunteers to plant the petunias. MacArthur will be announcing shortly where you may sign up to volunteer for this project which comes under the heading of "31 on 31" which, in the language of the layman, means that each flat of petunias will cover 31 feet along US 31. It will be necessary to obtain the 600 volunteers to accomplish this feat on Saturday, May 22, Community Pride Day, of Michigan Week.

In the interim, a crew of volunteers from the Employment Training Program through the cooperation of the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services will be completing the preliminary work of preparing the planting areas.

Because the initial work of grading the area and preparing the planting ditches were completed ahead of schedule, plans are now afoot to start the hydroseeding of the area between the petunia ditch and the sidewalk so there will be a fine show of new grass when Pride Day arrives.

Special attention is called to the Charlevoix Garden Club, Edwards IGA and Mrs. Kit Carson who, for years, have been planting flowers along the highway and elswhere to beautify the community. The Garden Club, particularly, has several areas in its care. Before the islands were removed from State Street the city also had plantings in them as a beautification project.

Response to "Breakfast with Dale Boss" sponsored by Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc., was excellent with more than 50 civic minded persons responding to the invitation to attend the breakfast at Leutheuser's and hear about Project Petunia, MacArthur reported.

"Everyone was surprised and delighted in the interest shown in this project by so many" he said.

Attention is being called to the annual luncheon at the Grey Gables Inn that will kick off Michigan Week. The Lions Club, which hosts the event, will be extending invitations to all clubs and organizations in the community to send representatives to the luncheon meeting which will be held at 12:15 p.m. Monday, May 10.

For all volunteers who participate in the planting of the petunias on May 22 there will be a Swiss Steak dinner in East Park. There will be more about that in coming news stories.

Spent fuel hearing may be postponed concerning the embrittlement of the reactor vessel itself.

"We received a routine notice from the utility (Consumers Power) about the heat temperatures set for the reactor which made us wonder how the life of the reactor vessel might be affected," Judge Peter B. Bloch, panel chairman, explained to a telephone interviewer Monday.

He implied that if there is any danger of the vessel's life being shortened, there is no further need for hearings on the spent fuel expansion because the plant might be shut down permanently.

"Some of the questions we have asked have been answered," Judge Bloch said, "But we won't make a decision until all of our questions have been answered."

Embrittlement of the metal in the reactor is caused by neutron bombardment. Each metal reacts differently with copper being a little more vulnerable. There are copper valves in the reactor vessel.

To prevent embrittlement the reactor is run at higher temperatures to prevent rupturing when it is cooled after shutdown.

"From our point of view the situation at Big Rock is further endangered because the hot core could not be removed from the reactor if neccessary, because there is no longer room to store all of it in the pool," observed Christa Maria, intervenor in the litigation over expansion of spent fuel storage.

According to Jan Strasma, NRC spokesman in the Chicago regional office, this is an operational or business risk; not a safety risk. He said the NRC staff members involved feel that in the long term it may be neccessary to shut down Big Rock earlier than the year 2000 when its license expires.

"But they see no great problem in the immediate future," Strasma told a reporter on the phone Monday afternoon.

On April 23, 1979 Consumers asked the NRC to amend its license to enable it to increase the number of spent fuel bundles it can store in the pool from 193 to 441 by redesigning, refabricating and rearranging the racks.

A month later, Christa Maria, Jim Mills and Joanne Bier of Charlevoix and John O'Neill of Glenn Lake were allowed to enter the case as intervenors opposing the request. Litigation has continued ever since in preparation for the public hearing.

Consolidation report completed

$31.30 for a city resident, $44.70 for a Top O' Michigan customer and $37.93 for a customer outside the city buying city power.

The report also points out, however, that the process of changing township customers from Top O' Michigan to city power may entail some complication since Top O' Michigan owns all the lines and equipment in the township and "would not readily relinquish its customers."

Water rates compare as follows: the average use of 4,000 gallons a month now cost $5.38 for a city resident, $5.60 for a township resident and $10.76 for a user of city water located outside the city.

In the category of sewer rates, city residents are generally charged less than half than those living outside the city. For a monthly water usage of 4,000 gallons, the bill inside the city is $14.53 while outside the city it is $29.24.

The report also acknowledges that certain sectors of the township, such as the southeast corner, Boulder Park and Pine Point, are in need of sewers while the city's relatively new sewage treatment plant is currently running far below an efficient level of use, as low as 30 percent of capacity during winter months.

Discussion was also held by the committee on combination of city and township fire departments and recreation programs. Though several suggestions in these areas were recorded in the report, apparently no clear consensus was reached on specific monetary advantages or disadvantages.

As of last weekend, the committee's report had not been officially submitted to or endorsed by either the City Council or the Township Board.

On the legislative front, State Senate Bill 769 allowing equal representation of city and township on a charter commission moved out of committee following an April 28 hearing. The bill, introduced by Sen. Mitch Irwin and pushed by Mayor Kenneth Staley who testified at the hearing, is expected to be taken up on the Senate floor next week.

Pending Senate action, a companion bill, H.B. 5593 introduced by Rep. Ralph Ostling, may be taken up in the House of Representatives as early as mid-May. Under present law, charter commission appointments are based on population, a system that would give the city seven members to the township's two.

Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. James Potter

Thorp-Potter

Pamela Sue Thorp became the bride of James Archio Potter in a double ring service solemnized at the Barnard Methodist Church on April 24.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thorp and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Potter. Both families are from Charlevoix.

The Rev. David Willett of Hart officiated at the ceremony in the presence of 50 guests before an altar graced with arrangements of white mums and pink and white azaleas. Mrs. Brendan LaBlance, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding march and recessional.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a gown of white satin and lace for her wedding. Lace appliques accented the bodice, sweetheart neckline and long chiffon sleeves of the gown which featured a full skirt. Her veil fell from her lace trimmed picture hat. She carried a bouquet of white mums, yellow roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Jeffrey Thorp, as her sister-in-law's matron of honor, wore a gown of teal blue polyester and white picture hat. Her colonial bouquet was of matching blue carnations and white mums centered with yellow roses.

John Kersaan of Jenison assisted the bridegroom as best man. Jeffrey Coen and Jerry VanStedum, brothers-in-law of the bridegroom, were ushers.

A reception for 150 guests followed at the American Legion post home. Assisting were Mrs. Louis McKenzie and Mrs. Larry Fink.

The couple will be at home at RR 1 Box 227, Charlevoix, where the bridegroom operates a dairy farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter hosted a rehearsal dinner at their home on Friday evening.

Garden Club members will learn how to build garden pools at next meeting

The May 11 meeting of the Charlevoix Garden Club, to be held at the home of Mrs. David Fowler, will be a guest meeting. It will also be a breakfast meeting scheduled for 10 a.m.

"Deep Reflections", a program on garden pools, will be presented by Ralph McRae whose garden was visited last summer. He will offer suggestions on the construction of such a pool.

The club has also offered some gardening hints for the forthcoming season. Among them is one suggested by the Plant Doctor, Cynthia Westcott, Ph.D., who advises Brown Bag gardening: i.e., using a brown grocery bag when removing a diseased plant or flower from your garden. She suggests you keep grocer's bags on hand for such use. Place the diseased plant or flower in the bag rather than carrying it through the garden to the trash where they should be burned. Diseased plants or flowers can infect health plants.

She also advises that you not allow tulips to get to the gray mold stage. Fading flowers should be trimmed and placed in a paper bag.

It is also suggested that you weed by hand and cautiously during hot dry weather because distrubing the soil will loosen the plant roots or cause them to dry out. In fact, it is better not to weed in dry weather.

To mulch plants in the shade use half-decayed leaves; for sunny plants use growing grasses and-or soft grass clippings and for rock plants use store chips or mosses.

Legion to hold luncheon

The American Legion Auxiliary will host a Salad-Casserole luncheon at the American Legion post home Wednesday, May 5.

Serving of a wide choice of salads, hot casseroles and desserts and a choice of beverage will be from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Donations will be $2.50 for adults; $2.25 for senior citizens and $1.25 for children five to 12 years.

Mrs. Ray Wood and Mrs. William Farkas are co-chairpersons of the event. Mrs. Bertha Starnamen, Mrs. George Lochner and Mrs. Clarence Goldstick were named to the calling committee.

TEN AMERICAN FLAGS, one for each troop, have been donated to the Charlevoix Girl Scouts by the V.F.W. Auxiliary Post No. 1153. Presenting one of them to Girl Scout leader Carolyn Olinger, left, last week was V.F.W. Auxiliary president Mrs. Joseph Seidel. The flags were donated in commemmeration of Americanism Loyalty Day which was observed Saturday, May 1.

Engagement

Karrilee Moerland

Moerland-Lott

Mr. and Mrs. I. Lee Moerland have announced the engagement of their daughter, Karrilee, to Walter D. Lott of East Lansing.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Lott, also of East Lansing.

The bride-elect is a 1980 graduate of the Charlevoix High School and attended Eastern Michigan University. Her fiance is presently attending Lansing Community College and plans to re-enlist in the U.S. Navy.

An August 14 wedding is being planned.

Rayders sweep two twinbills; bow to Petoskey

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team racked up two double-header wins over Grayling and Onaway to bring their season record to 6-1 as of Friday.

The Rayders had won over Grayling 14-2 and 7-0 on Tuesday and over Onaway 5-1 and 13-4 on Thursday.

Charlevoix will host the Soo Thursday and play at Gaylord Thursday. Both games are scheduled for 4 p.m.

Mike Loper allowed only one hit as the Rayders defeated Grayling 14-2 in the first game of a double header. Charlevoix had 10 hits off D'Amour.

Gary Drury had three hits including two home runs, Scott Kelly, two three-run hits, Jon Supernaw a double and Jim Buchanan, Ken Speigl, Craig Klooster and Loper singles. D'Amour had the Vikings' lone hit.

In the second game, Kelly was the winning pitcher and Cross the loser.

Buchanan had two of the Rayders' seven hits while S.J. Greenway had a double and Speigl, Drury, Jon Spieles and Kurt Puffpaff singles.

Hall had a single and Raneman a two-base hit for Grayling.

In their games with Onaway here Thursday, Kurt Puffpaff and Chris Putman were the winning pitchers. Puffpaff allowed two hits while the Rayders collected four off Larson.

Buchanan had two hits including a home run, Spiegl and Klooster had one each. J. Szymoniak and S. Szymoniak accounted for Onaway's two hits.

Both Putman and Curtis allowed five hits as the Rayders won the second game 13-4.

Drury and Thad Morgan had home runs and Kelly, Speigl and Spieles singles, Larson had a home run and McDonald, Horrocks, Kubacki and S. Szymoniak singles for Onaway.

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team dropped two games to Petoskey Saturday by scores of 7-6 and 3-1.

Petoskey scored seven unearned runs in the first game of the double-header on eight errors by the Rayders to win by a one-run margin. Faust, the winning pitcher, allowed 10 runs but Charlevoix was able to capitalize on only six, Mike Loper allowed five runs.

Steve Mindel, had two hits and Chilcott, Paulus, Schueb and Haase one each. Scott Kelly had two including a home run, Jon Speiles, a home run, Jon Supernaw, a double, Gary Drury, three hits, Loper, two, and Buchanan, one.

In the second game, Petoskey scored three runs and the defended their lead as Charlevoix collected six hits off the winning pitcher, Alton, but lacked the strength to bring their players home.

Alton doubled in the second, Mindel singled to bring him home and Paulus brought Mindel home with a home run to give the Northmen the winning runs. Chilcott scored the team's fourth run. Jeff Greene had two hits while Spieles, Thad Morgan, Jeff Kelly and Buchanan, a pinch hitter, each had singles.

Trackmen win E.J. Invitation

High school's building trades program finishing up latest home project

by ANNE KELLY

Above is the high school building trades class with instructors Carl Price, far left, and David Anderson, far right. The house, shown below, is located on Old U.S. 31 S.

The Charlevoix High School Building Trades Program under the direction of instructors of David Anderson adn Carl Price is winding up another year and the completion of another house. This year's home is an attractive three bedroom, two bath model, which has utilized passive solar energy cocepts in its location on the lot and in the placement of large thermopane windows on its southern exposure. Located on Old U.S. 31 highway, the ranch home offers a two car garage, spacious living area and a full basement. It has been completely constructed from foundation up by the class. Only the digging for the foundation was contracted.

"We try to get them involved in every area of construction," explained Anderson as his students went about their tasks. "From laying the cement blocks in the foundation to the finishing and cabinetry work--they do it all."

Perfection is something the two instructors aim for.

"It's not like in classwork, where if they don't turn in an assignment, they still may get by," Anderson continued. He explained that in house construction every aspect is important if a prospective buyer is to be pleased. Students are graded on charts listing all the skills and jobs they are required to perform. Attendance and citizenship as well as adeptness are part of the total evaluation.

An example of a job students must learn to do and do right is dry-walling. Anderson pointed out the living room walls. One section had taken students three weeks to finish until it had passed inspection. Another, was accomplished in three days.

"They learn by experience," both Anderson and Price agree. When it comes to electrical and plumbing, all students either participate in or are responsible for observing techniques employed. As the house progresses they are assigned in pairs to a single room where they must be completely in charge. This experience gives the kids an all around facility with various skills and requires co-operation in getting the job done.

There are currently 19 students participating in the building trades program who work either three hours in the morning or two hours in the afternoon depending on their schedules. The Art class has offered their expertise in interior decorating, Anderson reports. Two of Mercedes Mather's students picked out floor coverings, light fixtures and color schemes throughout the home. Another high school teacher, Jim Jinsky is helping to draw up plans for next year's house.

It has always been a pressure situation to complete a house in a year, so Anderson and Price have recently received permission from the Board of Education to begin digging the basement of next year's house this spring. Perhaps this will alleviate the time factor of rushing to get closed in before winter hits.

How does Anderson feel each year as he faces the prospect of building a house from scratch with a crew of novice construction workers? "Enthusiastic," he says. He is classified as a "paraprofessional" with the school system. This means that his backlog of experience in carpentry and construction work has qualified him for the job. Anderson worked under former instructor John Mills for six years before taking charge of the program in 1980. Prior to that, he spent several years in housing construction and some 5½ years with the Detroit Board of Education, as a carpenter.

Carl Price, is a licensed builder who worked with various construction firms before going into business for himself. He also joined the school Building Trades Program two years ago.

If you're wondering what the track record is for houses built by the program over the years, you might check with someone presently residing in Hampton Village, as about half of the homes in that area were constructed by Charlevoix students enrolled in the Building Trades Program.

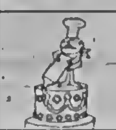
Engagement

Slater-Tollas

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Slater of Paramus, New Jersey have announced the engagement of their daughter, Terry Slater of Lansing, to Daniel Tollas, also of Lansing, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Tollas of Charlevoix.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Michigan State University. Her fiance attended the Cleveland Institute of Art and currently teaches art at Lansing Community College.

A June 27, 1982 wedding date has been set at Tamcrest Country Club in Alpine, New Jersey.



Wedding

Wolgamott-Kain

The All Faith Chapel in Traverse City was the scene of the April 17 marriage of Barbara Wolgamott, formerly of Charlevoix, and Glenn Kain, formerly of Niles and now of Traverse City.

The 6 p.m. wedding was performed by Rev. Doten. Matron of honor was Laura Teeple of Traverse City and best man was Jerry Hendges of Traverse City. The bride was given away by her son, Gordy Wolgamott, Jr., of Charlevoix. Ushers were Michael Pearsall of Charlevoix and James Balfour of Traverse City.

The bride wore a Guessesak dress of light print and carried a single rose with a ribbon. The reception was held at J.R.R.'s Warehouse in Traverse City.

An open house at the couple's home was hosted by Frank and Betsy Wells of Traverse City, formerly of Petoskey.

The couple is at home at 3329 Silverlake Rd., Traverse City.

Obituaries

MILDRED K. BROWN

Funeral services for Mrs. Mildred K. Brown, 73, who died April 29 at Pontiac General Hospital, were held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. David W. Yingling of the United Methodist Church officiated. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Born in Bellaire Jan. 18, 1909, the former Mildred K. Best moved to East Jordan as a child. She was graduated from the East Jordan high school and attended the Bronson Hospital School of Nursing. She came to Charlevoix in 1929 and the same year was married to Lars Petersen at Kalkaska. They always made their home here. He died in 1943. At Muskegon in 1957 she was married to Floyd Brown who preceded her in death in 1968. She had been employed on the nursing staff at the Charlevoix Area Hospital and more recently at the office of Dr. G.B. Saltonstall prior to her retirement in 1973. She was a member of the United Methodist Church and the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild.

She is survived by two sons, William P. of Tampa, Fla. and Larry R. of Milford; three grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a brother, Delvin Best of Dearborn and one sister, Mrs. Howard (Dorothy) Bayliss of Charlevoix.

The family suggests memorials to the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

VIRGINIA N. ALDERTON

A memorial service for Mrs. George (Virginia N.) Alderton, 78, who died February 13 at Tarpon Springs, Fla., will be held at Christ Episcopal Church at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Rev. Roger Ames will officiate.

Mrs. Alderton, the former Virginia N. Dickson-Green was born in Grand Rapids. Following her marriage to Mr. Alderton, sports editor of the Lansing State Journal for many years, they made their home in Lansing and later on Holy Island. More recently they lived in Traverse City and Tarpon Springs.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, Dickson W. of East Jordan; 11 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Ellsworth Bike-A-Thon set

May 15 is the big day for participants in this year's St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-A-Thon in Ellsworth. Participation is open to everyone - preschoolers to senior citizens. While the majority of the participants will be riding bikes, the "Bike-A-Thon" is also open to people riding big wheels, walking, skating, whatever! The route is in Forest Hill Subdivision, a half mile flat course.

Riders are now asking neighbors, friends, and relatives to back their efforts by pledging a contribution for each mile they ride, or an amount for the total ride.

The money the riders earn will help to continue St. Jude's life-saving study of childhood cancer. St. Jude's is non-sectarion, non-discriminatory, and completely free of charge to all patients.

In order to make the Bike-A-Thon successful riders and sponsors are needed. Rider sponsor sheets are available at the Ellsworth Post Office and Shooks Market. If you wish to sponsor a rider but haven't been asked please call 588-6378.

Reising receives Army award

Mark A. Reising of Charlevoix, Mich., is one of 300 ROTC cadets nationwide to receive the 1982 George C. Marshall Award.

This award, presented annually to the outstanding cadet of Army ROTC detachments at colleges and universities throughout the United States, is the highest honor any Army ROTC cadet can receive.

Cadet Reising, 21, son of Marilyn J. Reising, Route 2, Box 118-B, Charlevoix and Paul J. Reising, 686 Wembley Court, Ann Arbor, received personal congratulations from Army Chief of Staff Fen. E.C. Meyer for being the selectee from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

"I'm honored to win this award," Resing said.

In addition to attending the award conference in Lexington, VA., April 13-16, each cadet was presented an award certificate and an authorized three-volume biography of Marshall. Marshall is best remembered for his leadership as Army chief of staff in World War II and for his sponsorship of the European Recovery Act (Marshall Plan) while secretary of state from 1947 to 1949.

The conference included seminars on notional security issoes and featured distinguished leaders of the Army both past and present. Participants also learned the role Marshall played in the history of the nation.

By assembling these students from all over the nation, the Marshall Foundation gave nationwide recognition to their preeminence among their fellow cadets.

A 1978 graduate of Birmingham Brother Rice High School, Birmingham, Mich., Reising is a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity and the Golden Key Honorary Society.

United Way funds allocated

The board of directors of the Charlevoix United Way met last week to allot funds collected in the local United Way drive. A total of $17,900 was available for distribution by the board following the door-to-door, business, industrial, professional and summer resident drives conducted last autumn and winter.

Representatives of the participating agencies met individually with the board over a two-meeting session the previous week to present their funding requests for the coming year.

Agencies to benefit from the United Way and the amount they will receive are as follows: Girl Scouts, $1,200; Salvation Army, $800; CHIP Counseling Center, $1,600; Area Mental Health, $750; Red Cross, $1,450; Charlevoix Recreation Department - McSauba Day Camp, $1,000; Planned Parenthood, $1,500; Womens Resource Center, $1,000; Boy Scouts, $1,200; Bergmann Center, $2,500; Big Brothers - Big Sisters, $1,600; Michigan United Way, $2,300.

According to board secretary Edna DeMitchell, checks to participating agencies should be in the mail within the next week or two.

World history now required at high school

by PEG OHLE

"With the world as small as it is today, students should have an idea where countries are, who their leaders are, the type of governmental system they have, and whether they are allies or enemies of the United States."

This is the explanation given by Charlevoix High School history teacher Dennis Van Guilder for adding World History to the list of subjects required for graduation.

World History was a required subject for a period of time once before but became an elective back in the 1960's when student turmoil brought about many changes in school curricula, Van Guilder pointed out. Presently, two classes a year are taught to ninth graders at Charlevoix High School. This means that approximately only one-third of the grade are taking the course.

Plans for next year call for including World History as a required curse in the ninth grade curriculum. Five classes will be taught – two by Van Guilder and three by K. Dale Burge. Those who transfer from another school or who for some other reason do not take the course in the ninth grade will have to take it later to qualify for graduation.

The movement to make World History a required subject at Charlevoix High School came from several sources, according to Van Guilder. The North Central School Accreditation Committee as far back as 1978 indicated that Charlevoix High School was weak in Social Studies and recommended more courses. ACT test scores of Charlevoix students showed good math and reading skills but a deficit in Social Studies knowledge. Finally, the Social Studies Department, the Counseling Department, and the Administration all agreed that the addition of a required World History course would build up the curriculum.

A new textbook will be used in the course. It is called "Human Heritage – a World History", published last December. Chapter headings are self-explantory: "Pre-Historic Times", "River Valley Civilization", "Ideas and Armies", "Greeks-Romans", "Early Middle Ages", "Flowering of the East", "Age of Feudalism", "Late Middle Ages", "Beginning of Modern Times", "The Changing World", "Nations and Empires", and "Twentieth Century".

The description of the course as contained in the curriculum booklet is straightforward:

"World History is the study of mankind and the development of the world's major culture areas up through the Age of Exploration (circa 1650). It is designed for any student who is interested in the past, not only for itself, but because each generation views the past and the present in terms of its own problems, needs, and aspirations. If a student wishes to know who he is, he must search for his identity in the past we well as in the present. This course of World History aids in that search, and it begins to answer such perplexing questions as: 'Who am I'? 'Where am I going', etc."

Van Guilder says the course will stress geography through the use of maps of countries. It will also include studies of major cities, agriculture and industry, climate and other environmental features.

But most of all, we will emphasize people and we can't study people without knowing their environment. People are the products of their environment," Van Guilder added.

The course will begin with a discussion of how man got here. The theory of creationism as well as evolution will be discussed, leaving it up to the student to decide which theory he prefers to believe.

As he has in the past, Van Guilder will require three different reports from his World History students. First will be a written historical report on a topic the student has chosen and Van Guilder has approved – perhaps something like "The History of Torture" or "The History of Clothing". Following that, the student will be asked to give an oral presentation to the class on his report topic. And, finally, the student will devise a "hands-on visual aid" to enrich his project – such as a model of a castle or a model of a pyramid which can be opened to show the burial chambers.

Van Guilder says they will try to set aside a "World History Room" at the school where all five classes will be taught. "In this way, we can put up all the maps and displays and posters we want and leave them up all the time."

He is enthusiastic about the new World History classes and what they will mean to future graduates of Charlevoix High School. Right now, the major interest in World History at the school is the Falkland Islands, according to one teen-age observer. He seems to understand that little wars sometimes escalate into large wars that call for the drafting of young men.

What do 30,000 petunias look like? Operation Petunia organizers found out last week when they visited Renolda Greenhouse in Harbor Springs, above, where the petunias to be planted along Hwy. 31 in Charlevoix are now being readied.

Petunias are ready and waiting; now all that's needed are 600 volunteers

by FRAN MARTIN

A field of color...apple blossom, deep pink, purple, white and red...was the sight that met the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful members when they visited the Renolda Greenhouse at Harbor Springs recently to check on the 600 flats of petunias to be planted on Pride Day, May 22.

Plans have already been completed for the arrival of the colorful blossoms to be delivered to 12 different sites in the community on May 21 in preparation for the planting project the following day.

Meanwhile, an SOS has been sent out, asking for 600 volunteers to plant the petunias along both sides of US 31 from Mercer Blvd. on the north to M-66 on the south. The planting project has been dubbed "31 on 31"...or 31 feet of plantings to be done along US 31 by each volunteer.

If you are a member of a local club or organization of any kind, check with your president for all orgainized groups in the community are being asked to supply a list of volunteers for the Pride Day planting. Or, if you are a free lance planter, contact Bruce MacArthur or Dale Boss and sign up.

"Dale has even the planting planned down to a point where there will be someone to mark the holes for planting and all the workers need do is place the plants in the hole and mound the soil around them. We may have to re-evaluage the time schedule because the planting may move along faster than we had anticipated," MacArthur said.

In the interim, the Charlevoix Lions Club headed by Gene Steele and the Kiwanis Club with Jim Corbin as president have mailed invitations to every organized group in the community to attend the annual luncheon at the Grey Gables Inn at noon Monday to kick-off Michigan Week. the luncheon is designed to "Say Yes to Michigan" and "Yes" to Charlevoix the Beautiful. Dave Phillips, Michigan Week chairman, and MacArthur of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful have joined in issuing an invitation to all orgainzations to join in the luncheon that is saying "Yes to Michigan", "Yes" to Charlevoix. Mrs. Robert Tollas will sing at the luncheon.

Following the luncheon Monday, all eyes will focus on "Project Petunia" which will be brought to a climax on Pride Day Sturday.

Volunteers are still being sought to plant the petunias. "If I may paraphrase the axiom 'The more the merrier' I would say 'The more the easier'...for with more people the job will be made easier for everyone" MacArthur said in asking for volunteers.

A swiss steak picnic in East Park following the planting of the petunias will give everyone an opportunity to relate their experiences and join in celebrating the completion of a job...an almost unsurmountable job...well done.

Board upholds athlete suspensions by coaches

At its regular meeting Monday, May 3, the Charlevoix Board of Education, following a two hour, 45 minute executive session, voted unanimously to uphold the decision of the high school coaches in following the school's athletic code and suspending two students from athletic teams. The decision followed lengthy discussion behind closed doors from 7:45 to 10:30 p.m. during which Kevin Harty of Thrun Maatsch & Nordberg, school attorneys of Lansing, conducted two hearings involving the parents of the students who were represented by local attorney Roy C. Hayes. The unnamed students were among six who have been suspended for the remainder of the year for violating the high school's athletic code. Witnesses at the session included athletic director Dale Burge and several coaches. It was not known this week whether the parties involved are planning further action.

The school board also acted last week to reschedule its May 17 meeting to May 24 in order to allow the board to meet jointly with the City Council to discuss the tax increment financing plan proposed by the Downtown Development Authority.

Big Rock hearing will not be postponed: NRC

by TOM DAMMANN

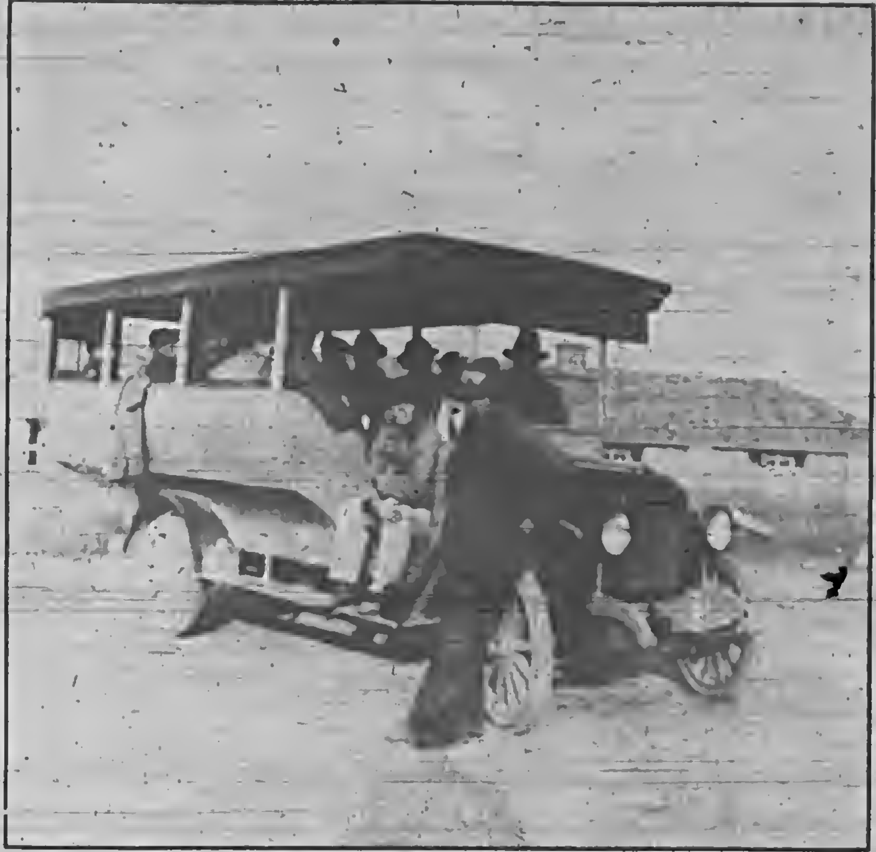
The public hearings on Consumers Power Company's request for permission to increase the number of spent fuel assemblies it may store in the Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant spent fuel pool will be held as scheduled June 7-16, in Petoskey.

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) Atomic Safety and Licensing Board denied a motion Thursday for indefinite postponment.

The motion had been filed by a group of intervenors who are protesting the proposed expansion of safety grounds.

The intervenors – Christa Maria, Joanne Bier, Jim Mills of Charlevoix, and John O'Neill of Glenn Lake – moved for the delay in order to get scientists to testify next fall who are not free this June and to provide more time for the NRC to re-evaluate seismic calculations bearing on the safety of Big Rock's operation.

Originally the NRC staff had planned to move for postponment because it said it needed 10 weeks to complete these studies. But then last Monday it changed its mind, according to staff attorney Janice Moore, so the intervenors moved for the delay.



Charlevoix Yesterday

When the Loeb Farm buildings were being constructed during 1918 and 1919, workers who lived in Charlevoix were transported to work in a bus. Horace R. Fowler, local taxi and bus owner, is shown here with a load of construction workers. Their fares were paid by Loeb Farms.

Historical Society hears history of Bay Shore

Mrs. Betty Zipp presented an interesting history of Bay Shore, located in the northwestern corner of Charlevoix county, at a recent meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society.

The community, like so many early settlements, had a variety of names before it became Bay Shore. It was first known as Triple Rock and later became Rocky Beach and Bayside before the early settlers finally adopted the name of Bay Shore.

Mrs. Zipp found, in researching the history of the community, that the first abstracts were dated in 1875.

The Mormons were among the first settlers and chose the high bluffs overlooking Little Traverse Bay as the site of their settlement. By the time the Chicago and West Michigan railroad through Bay Shore was constructed in 1891 the abandoned Mormon house was operated as a boarding house for the workmen on the railroad by Mrs. Truman (Sarah Jane) Case.

A limestone deposit was found in the area and this, along with lumbering, became the community's first industries. The limestone kiln was located approximately 2½ miles west of Bay Shore at a site then known as Superior. The foundation of the plant can still be seen. In the early days, the limestone was hauled aboard a freighter, the Friant, which also carried passengers. The limestone was loaded from a large dock which was destroyed in a storm in 1896 and never rebuilt. After that it was hauled by rail and a spur was built to the plant site in the early 1900's.

A cooper's shop to build barrels was built nearby. Six coopers built barrels from fourfoot pieces of wood. There were two coopers to a kiln with each making about six barrels an hour or about 50 per day. They furnished their own tools and recieved a $1.00 a day for their labor or about four cents per barrel.

In 1890 the Bay Shore Limestone Company constructed a company store at the present site of the community. It also housed the company's offices and the post office. The second floor of the building featured a hall that was the meeting place for the people of the community. A sawmill was built in 1892.

When rural delivery came into being, the mail was delivered by horse and buggy by Tom Copping. A.G. Tillotson maintained a store and post office at Bay Shore for many years.

The first church, a Presbyterian church, was constructed in the community (date unknown) and destroyed by fire in 1922. The present church which replaced it was brought from Harbor Springs, piece by piece. The church was served by pastors of neighboring churches in Petoskey, Harbor Springs and Boyne City. The St. Francis Solanus Catholic Church was constructed in 1896 as an Indian mission and still serves the community. Priests from St. Francis Xavier church in Petoskey serve the church as pastors.

There was once a large Indian population in the community and many of the men were employed by the limestone company. Today there are only two families of native Americans in Bay Shore, the Smiths and the Willises. The Greensky Hill Methodist church hs served the native Americans in the area for many years.

KHQ to construct new FM tower

New Broadcasting Corporation, owners of KHQ FM, Charlevoix-Petoskey, have announced plans to construct the area's largest FM tower. The station currently serves all or part of a twenty county area of northwest lower and eastern upper Michigan.

New's President Tim Moore explained the large construction project: "Since FM transmission is really a line-of-sight proposition, an area behind a hill such as the US 31 route along Little Traverse Bay near the old Petoskey Penn Dixie plant toward the city limits, connot directly be "seen" from the FM antenna site and there is usually interference. Our greatly increased height will fill any of those pockets. Secondarily, we feel that the Federal Communications Commission will soon impose a "cap" on FM facilities; and stations will be locked in at their present height and power. Since KHQ has 100,000 watts already, it makes sense that we maximize our facilities while the FCC is encouraging full FM Development."

The new tower will be the tallest commercial FM tower in northwest Michigan, standing just under 1,000 feet above average terrain upon completion. It will be constructed just north of the present KHQ tower site near East Jordan. The interference-free signal from KHQ will be expanded to cover an additional 70,000 persons. Permission has been granted by both the Federal Aviation Administration and the Federal Communications Commission for the tower construction which is expected to begin within the next 30 days pending official FCC written approval.

Evacuation info sought

In order to update the evacuation plan for Charlevoix County, the sheriff's office requests that any resident residing within five miles of Big Rock Nuclear Plant who for any reason would not have transportation out of the area in the event of an emergency to contact the sheriff's office at 547-9062 and have their name placed on a special evacuation list to be kept at the sheriff's office and office emergency services.

If any citizen has any questions regarding this request or procedure, please contact Sheriff Lasater or Emergency Services Director, Earl Muma.

Michigan's Energy Costs . . .
Lower than most large U.S. cities

A recent survey has discovered some reassuring news for Michigan residents beleaguered by rising energy costs.

Few areas of the United States have escaped the sting that inflation and natural gas deregulation have dealt heating and electric bills. But the survey indicates that many Michigan residents have been hit less hard than persons living in other parts of the country.

The survey studied electric and gas bills in America's 25 largest cities. On separate lists, the survey ranked gas and electric service in the cities from cheapest to most expensive.

Only two cities—Memphis and Indianapolis—showed up among the cheapest cities for both gas and electric service. Not even Sunbelt cities like Houston, Phoenix and New Orleans could make that claim. The bills were based on consumption of 500 kilowatthours of electricity and 100 ccf of gas.

How does Michigan stack up? Consumers Power Company compared its bills for identical consumption with bills in America's 25 largest cities. The result: the company's bills, like those in Memphis and Indianapolis, are among the cheapest for both gas and electric service.

The comparison shows that the company's customers are paying less for comparable usage than residents in many other parts of the country. The survey comes at a time when growing concern about energy prices has turned things like insulation, weatherstripping and home energy analysis into household words.

The nation has been buffeted by an inflation rate that has pushed the Consumer Price Index up 135 percent since 1970. Prices have escalated for almost everything including clothing, food, homes, electricity and heating fuels. In fact, it would take $2.34 today to match $1 worth of 1970 buying power.

Consumers Power Company's electric rates have increased more slowly than the Consumer Price Index. Still, inflation has taken a heavy toll.

For example, a typical residential electric customer of Consumers Power Company using 500 kilowatthours paid an average of $12.12 a month in 1970. Any electric customer can tell you he is paying much more than that in 1982 dollars. Restating today's bill in 1970 dollars shows the reason is inflation. If inflation could be eliminated, under our current rate structure an average monthly electric bill for 500 kilowatthours would only be $12.50 or $11.37 today, depending on the customer's lifeline rate.

Without inflation, the price of electricity has remained virtually unchanged for the last 12 years.

The four canoes given to Charlevoix Boy Scout Troop 11 were initiated when the members of the troop and their adult advisors enjoyed their first camp-out of 1982 along the Manistee River west of Grayling. Here John Houting (left), Assistant Scout Master, Brian Phillips, Matt Dixon and Bob Norman, Patrol Leader, put one of the canoes in the water for the first time.

Scouts try out new canoes at season's first camp-out

The four canoes given to Charlevoix Boy Scout Troop 11 got their first work-out recently during the troop's first camp-out of the season.

The event was a canoe trip several miles down the Manistee River west of Grayling near the river's head waters. The river empties into Lake Michigan.

The troop with their Scoutmaster, Louis Edwards, and his assistant, John Houting, left Friday, set up camp along the river and prepared for the canoe trip. Saturday morning they transported the canoes up stream and, without capsizing one canoe, paddled several miles down the river. The canoes were then placed on their specially-built carrier (designed and constructed by Doug Bergmann) and returned to camp.

Camp outs, besides being fun, are designed to help Scouts complete work on their projects.

Scouts making the trip were: Fox Patrol, Bob Norman, Patrol Leader, Richie Thayer, Brian Phillips, Harold Chase and Scott Novotny and the Owl Patrol, Tim Salmonson, Patrol Leader, Matt Dixon, John Norman, Mike Smith, Chad DeVries and Brian Kerr.

Also accompaning the troop were Jim Smith, Richard Wurst and Gerald Zeitler of the Leadership Corps, Gerald Chase, Terry Salmonson and David Novotny.

Each canoe, besides carring the Boy Scout insignia with the troop number on its bow, carries a name of those organizations which donated the canoes to the troop, the Charlevoix Lions and Kiwanis Clubs, which gave one canoe, Round Lake Lodge No. 293, I.O.O.F., Charlevoix Volunteer Firemen and Local 480, United Cement Lime and Gypsum Workers International Union at the Medusa Cement Co. The canoes were purchased at cost from Northwest Marine in Charlevoix. The paddles were donated by James Foster of Conway, Ark.

Aspirin not always the answer says hospital staffer

Publicity linking aspirin given to children with the flu and chicken pox, and subsequent cases of Reyes Syndrome has many parents asking, "What do you do when your child has a fever?"

Recently a Charlevoix Area Hospital staff physician discussed current thinking on treatment of children's fevers and possible links between aspirin and Reyes Syndrome.

"We advise that no fever be treated up to 100 or 101 degrees," the physician said, speaking for the Family Practitioners on the staff.

"But," he added, "if a child is feeling or appearing very ill, contact your physician immediately."

"For low grade fevers, associated with cold symptoms and flu, we recommend no medication," the Family Practioner said.

Giving a child aspirin to lower the fever less than 101 degrees, may actually prolong the illness, the physician suggested.

"The best temperature for a virus or bacteria to reproduce is normal body temperature," he pointed out. "When the body temperature is raised, it's the body's self-protecting mechanism to ward off infection."

Instead of medications to lower a fever, less than 101 degrees, physicians at Charlevoix Area Hospital urge bed rest and lots of clear liquids.

If the fever climbs beyond 101, if there is repeated vomiting, or if the fever continues past 36 to 48 hours, a physician should be consulted, the staff agrees.

Turning to the question of a linkage between aspirin and Reyes Syndrome, the physician reported that The American Academy of Pediatrics "has recently published a position paper recommending that aspirin or salicylate (asprin) containing medications not be given children with the flu or chicken pox because of a possible causal relationship to Reyes Syndrome."

The doctor said there is much debate on the issue of whether aspirin actually causes the Reyes Syndrome or if Reyes Syndrome causes changes in a victim's liver that makes him incapable of breaking down aspirin. He explained that while the question is unresolved, current evidence warrants caution.

Thus physicians and the State Department of Public Health warn parents not to give aspirin to children with flu, chicken pox or colds.

But, according to the doctors, this does not mean switching to acetaminophens, such as Tylenol, or throwing out the aspirin.

"Aspirin is an important medication in a family's medicine cabinet," the doctor said.

"Aspirin should be judiciously and appropriately used. If a parent has a question regarding the use of aspirin, he or she should call a doctor," he continued.

Acetaminophens, such as Tylenol, have come to increased popularity with the questions raised about aspirin. However, acetaminophens are not the wonder drug some people have come to think, he pointed out. "They can be highly toxic. It is easy to overdose with them," he warned.

Acetaminophen overdose can be dangerous to both kidneys and liver, medical researchers have found, the doctor reported.

"When would acetaminophens be preferred over aspirin?" the physician was asked.

"Acetaminophens would be the drug of choice when a child with the flu or chicken pox has a temperature over 102 and a physician has recommended their use," he answered.

For common pain, aspirin remains the drug of choice, the doctor said. However, he added, people with such problems as peptic ulcers should consult their physician before taking aspirin. Other medication may be recommended.

Aspirin and acetaminophens have two qualities in common, the doctor outlined. Both fight fever and pain. But only aspirin and an anti-inflammatory quality. So, for some problems, such as a sprain, aspirin is the preferred medidation.

Warning again about over medicating, with either aspirin or acetaminphens, the physician reiterated, the thinking today is caution.

"People tend to over medicate when other therapies would be more helpful, such as rest and fluids for a cold, bed rest for a headache or elevation of a sprain.

"People over medicate in an attempt to continue normal day to day activities," he observed.

For parents concerned about spring colds and flu, the doctor restated: "No fever should be medicated under 100 or 101, without consulting a physician. Bed rest and fluids are the best medication, along with the body's normal defense of raising the body temperature to fight a virus. If the condition continues past 36 to 48 hours, call your physician."

Headlee to speak here

Gubernatorial candidate Richard Headlee will appear in Charlevoix, Wednesday, May 19 to address the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors. According to Bill Carey, who has recently been named Charlevoix County coordinator of the Headlee campaign, the meeting will be held at the Grey Gables. Cocktails will be served at 5:30 p.m. followed by dinner and, later, Headlee's address to the realtor association. The public is invited to hear Headlee; anyone wishing to make reservations or obtain more information may contact any realtor in the Antrim-Charlevoix area or contact Carey at Colwell & Company in Charlevoix.

Knight on the Town

Kicking around a good idea

by Dave Knight

Soccer has been called by many the sport of the Eighties. Though it has never quite generated the enthusiasm in the United States that it has worldwide - to the chagrin of promoters and professional team owners - there is evidence of the growing popularity of soccer in many areas of the country.

Pro soccer teams in St. Louis, Minneapolis and Chicago, for instance, have been known to outdraw other more established pro sports franchises regularly, a fact that may be attributable as much to the ineptness of the other pro teams in those cities as to the quality of the soccer played.

Now organized soccer is coming to Charlevoix.

For some years, youth soccer has been played in Charlevoix under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix County Youth Activities Program. With soccer programs in the other areas of the county to mind, however, county rec director Mike Davis found himself spread much too thin, in terms of both time and budget, to devote the attention neccessary to develop a good program in any one community.

The adult soccer team in town plays in a loosely organized, roughhouse regional loop called the Northern Lates Soccer League stretching from Alpena to Northport and Mackinac Island to Cadillac. Again, the team so far has existed almost solely through the efforts of one individual, Mike Bonar.

Enter the Charlevoix Area Soccer Association, (C.A.S.A.).

At a recent meeting of coaches, players, parents and other interested parties, formative plans were made to set up an organizational framework encompassing all soccer programs in the greater Charlevoix area. Such an organization, it was suggested, would be responsible for securing coaches and referees as well as providing the neccessary training for same.

C.A.S.A. would be set up similarly to Little League baseball with local businesses as team sponsors and volunteers handling the coaching and refereeing chores for the youth leagues. Note to potential sponsors: this is the bargain basement of sport when it comes to neccessary equipment. All that is really needed to play is a ball and uniforms consist of T-shirts.

There would probably be three age brackets of youth soccer intitially, nine and under, 12 and under and 15 and under. By the time players who are developing skills at an early age reach high school, it is hoped, there may be enough interest to pursue club status at that level, too.

This is a great sport for kids. It stresses top physical

Clockwise

Ode to recession

by Bob Clock

AS MICHIGAN wrestles with its latest round of financial problems, solace of a sort comes from Ralph Hamilton of Charlevoix.

A friend in Florida sent Hamilton a newspaper clipping delineating in verse the state of Michigan's finances in 1909. Here it is:

Michigan, My Michigan — 1981

Your treasury is broke once more,
Michigan, my Michigan.
The wolf again is at your door,
Michigan, my Michigan.
No cash in sight your bills to pay,
To borrow some, you have no way.
Would you were spared this evil day!
Michigan, my Michigan.

What of your boasted native wealth?
Michigan, my Michigan.
It slipped away from you by stealth,
Michigan, my Michigan.
You let men strip your forests great;
Your mines went too, sad to relate;
You gave away your rich estate,
Michigan, my Michigan.

Now that you're broke, what will you do?
Michigan, my Michigan.
Will sons you've staked help see you through?
Michigan, my Michigan.
However much for help you yearned,
The patriotic fires that burned,
Alas, to ashes all have turned.
Michigan, my Michigan.

You'll find you have ungrateful sons,
Michigan, my Michigan,
Who will not help you meet your duns,
Michigan, my Michigan.
Your treasury should overflow;
Must you unto the poor house go?
Despite your pride, I fear 'tis so,
Michigan, my Michigan.

AFTER 73 YEARS, Michigan's financial plight has not changed markedly. The governor is hot on the trail of an income tax increase that will see us through until the fall election, but the needed votes keep eluding him.

Barring some kind of a miracle by Tuesday morning, Michigan is about to enjoy the distinction of having the lowest bond rating of all 50 states.

The auto industry — traditionally the backbone of Michigan's industrial might — is on the ropes and has been for the past year.

University of Michigan economists scan the heavens in vain for signs that the economic firestorm may soon abate.

But Hamilton remains optimistic about Michigan's future.

"It seems we have come back from 1909 and can come back from 1982," he writes.

BUT WHEN and if Michigan does recover, I wonder if our profligate lawmakers will have learned their lesson. Or will it be more of same: Tax, tax, tax and spend, spend, spend until we are back in the same old rut.

Now, of course, is an excellent time to clean house and pare back the bureaucracy to a manageable size before starting fresh. But there are few signs that this is happening — or is even about to happen — in Lansing.

Letters: Dear Sen. Riegle...

Suggestions

To the Honorable Donald Riegle
United State Senate

I received two different "Reports to Michigan" on April 19 and 22, respectively. In the first you are very anxious to protect senior citizens, and I note you will fight vigorously against any reduction in medicare and social security coverage. Would you consider a limitation of 1,000 times the contribution the individual made? Be careful, because the majority of the recipients would fall into that category. I agree it's distasteful to consider any form of restrictions; but where is the money going to come from?

I note you've saved the energy assistance program, adding $123,000,000 thereto; hwere is the money going to come from?

You're trying to get the law involved in telephone rates; good, then we will be able to stand in line for our phone calls just as we did when you had the law involved in gasoline pricing.

Your second newsletter assures farmers of your assistance in a sugar stabilization program, and you believe that the levels of support for feed grains and milk aren't fair and don't reflect the rising costs of production. Where is the money going to come from? (How come you object to tobacco subsidies but favor dairy subsidies? Could it be because tobacco isn't grown by your voters?)

You're favoring stronger disaster assistance. Where is the money going to come from?

Dear Senator, please give us an opportunity to work and earn, pay reasonable taxes, save and donate to the charities of our choice to help take care of our fellow man on our own wiothout direction from big brother in Washington. Get the Government out of the market; end not only the tabacco subsidy that you object to buit also the dairy and all other agricultural subsidies. If you do this, you can quit worrying about the indexing of retirement benefits to inflation, as inflation will become insignificant.

Thank you for your consideration.
J.T. Barnes

A thank-you

To the Editor:

The Charlevoix High School Speech team would like to thank all parents, friends and businesses that supported us in our attempt at providing the community with our version of a Dinner Theater. We thoroughly enjoyed serving and entertaining those who attended and are hopeful that we provided them with a rewarding experience.

We especially would like to thank Mr. Edward Adams, chef of the Bay Queen, and his staff for making the dinner portion of the evening so easy for us. Their expertise in the kitchen made it so much easier in the dining room and left us free to concentrate on the show.

Also without a group of supportive businesses the evening would not have been possible from the very start. We, thus, would also like to thank The Clothing Company, Medusa, Dairy Queen, Crown Drug, Hufford Industry, Carlson Plumbing and Heating, Charlevoix County State Bank, Ski & Shore, Gwen's Harbor View, Charlevois Properties, Inc., The Appletree, Wharf Side Market, Sears Catalog Merchants, Orange Blossom Lane and North Star Motel.

Again, we would like to thank those who helped us. It was a challenge and an experience well worth our time and effort.

Springtime is heartworm time

Submitted by Dr. David F. Norton, D.V.M.

In springtime, dog lovers turn to affairs of the heartworm. Heartworm disease continues to be a problem in Michigan dogs according to the Michigan Veterinary Medical Association. Dogs are infected when bitten by mosquitoes carring immature stages of the parasite and these larval stages travel through the bloodstream to the heart where they develop into adult heartworms. Early symptoms of the disease include decreased stamina and tolerance for exercise, shortness of breath, and cough. It takes about six months from the time the dog is bitten by an infected mosquito until your veterinarian can detect the disease with a blood test.

Spring is the ideal testing period for Michigan dogs as the long winter with no mosquito exposura ensures that testing covers all of the previous exposure period—that is, the past mosquito season. Testing can be done at your veterinarian's office and involves taking a small blood sample. Dogs with negative tests can be placed on preventive medication during the ensuing mosquito season. Medication is given once daily and is supplied in liquid, conventional tablet, or chewable tablet form.

In you have preventive medication left from the previous year, do not administer it without first obtaining a blood test since infected dogs may have a fatal reaction if given the preventive medication. Do not assume that because you used the medication last year your dog does not have the disease. Veterinarians have found people frequently "miss" doses and often stop giving the medication too early in the fall. Preventive medication should be used until December 1 or 60 days after the last mosquito exposure.

Other reasons that dogs may develop heartworm even though preventive medication was given include starting the preventive medication too late in the summer, using outdated medication, or improper dosing due to changes in the dog's weight.

Even if you do not use the preventive medication, have your dog tested since most infections can be successfully treated with early detection.

Dennis Priess and Diane Boss

Boss-Priess

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Boss of North Point have announced the engagement of their daughter, Diane Boss, to Dennis Priess, son of Rev. and Mrs. E. Priess of Booneville, Missouri. The bride-to-be is a graduate of Michigan State University and currently teaches kindergarten at the Charlevoix Elementary School. Her fiance is also a graduate of Michigan State University and is employed by Northern Michigan Substance Abuse Services, Inc.

A July 31, 1982 outdoor wedding is planned at the home of the bride's parents.

Donald E. Gillespie and Judy K. Bauman

Bauman-Gillespie

Mr. and Mrs. John Bauman of Boyne City announce the engagement of their daughter, Judy Kay, to Donald E. Gillespie of Sault Ste. Marie. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gillespie of Boyne Falls.

The bride-elect is a student at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey and is employed as an insurance agent with the John Best Agency in Charlevoix. Her fiance is a student at Lake Superior State College and is employed as an instructor at the Hiawatha Home in Sault Ste. Marie.

No date has been set for the wedding, but it will take place at St. Mathews Catholic Church in Boyne City.

Field Day to be mini-Olympics

Plans for a special Field Day to be held at Kipke Field at 12:30 p.m. Friday, May 21, have been announced by Bruce Bargmann speaking in behalf of the sponsors, Charlevoix Lodge No. 228, F & AM, Round Lake Lodge No. 293, I.O.O.F., and the Father Pierre Charlevoix Council of the Knights of Columbus.

Participants in the Field Day will be the mentally and physically handicapped of the Charlevois-Emmet Intermediate School District and the clients at Bergmann Center in Charlevoix County and Little Traverse Enterprizes in Emmet County.

In announcing the plans Bergmann said "You might call the Field Day a mini-special olympics. Only a few qualify for the Special Olympics. With our own special Field Day everyone can participate. We estimate there will be about 120 students and clients involved".

The Field Day will feature both field and track events.

A full afternoon and evening has been planned. Following the Field Day, there will be a dinner for all the participants at the Charlevoix High School Cafeteria. This will be followed by a dance at the American Legion Post Home with music for dancing by Jasper and his Tag-alongs who are contributing their services for the event.

A Sportsmanship Award, a traveling trophy contributed by Gordon Neff, will be awarded at the dinner.

Past High Priestesses to meet

The Past High Priestesses and Watchmen of the Shepherds Club, seventeen members in all, met at Duffy's recently for their luncheon meeting.

Mrs. Harold Hamlin of Walloon Lake will host the next meeting, scheduled for 1 p.m. May 26 at the March Inn at Walloon Lake.

At the recent meeting the new president, Mrs. Jaunita Erber of Boyne City assumed her duties from the retiring president, Mrs. Ray Wood of Charlevoix.

At the business session, Mrs. Hamlin volunteered to make the new robe for the Watchman of the Shepherd with the club underwriting the cost of the material. Mrs. John Borton of Wolverine presented the Secretary's and treasurer's reports.

At the auction held during the meeting, Mrs. Virgil McClure of Boyne City won the gift, a "Best of Helpful Gifts" book. Mystery gifts were won by Mrs. Marie Nyman of Petoskey and Ashton Hayes, also of Petoskey.

Flea Market will benefit Humane Society

The Charlevoix County Humane Society will host a Flea Market at Captain's Corner at US 31 and M-88 Saturday and Sunday, May 22 and 23.

Any individual or organization wishing a stall at the Flea Market to be held in the store building at Captain's Corners is asked to call the coordinator, Linda Snyder, at 536-2129 or write to her at Box 270, East Jordan 49727. Interested persons can also call 547-9711. Those persons requesting stalls must furnish their own tables and other equipment.

The hours will be from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 22, and 12 noon to 4 p.m. Sunday.

The Humane Society will conduct a Flea Market of its own for the benefit of the organization. A bake sale and White Elephant Sale will also be conducted. Anyone wishing to donate items for the flea market or white elephant sale or baked goods for the bake sale may call either of the numbers listed above.

Sign-up times have been set for youth soccer teams in Charlevoix. The actual season for the teams, however, will not get underway until August. Those who have played before are asked to report to the lobby of Department of Social Services building on Hwy 66 South between 7 and 8:30 p.m. Monday, May 24. Those who have not played before are to sign up at the same time and place on Thursday, May 27.

Softball team splits with H.S.

The Charlevoix softball team split with Harbor Springs and defeated Kalkaska twice in action last week before participating in the annual Central Lake tournament.

In the meeting with Harbor Springs, Charlevoix won the first game 14-3 and dropped the second 3-0 while in the Kalkaska game Charlevoix won 16-1 and 11-3.

This week will find the team at Cheboygan Catholic Wednesday, at East Jordan Friday and hosting Petoskey on Monday.

Rhonda Buchanan allowed only five hits in the first game with Harbor as her team, with the same number of hits, came through with 14 runs. Harbor brought in only three. Becky Sikora was on the mound for Harbor.

Buchanan had two hits and Kim Bolduc, Bridget Noirot and Sue Raginia one each for the victors. Sue Ballou had a double and a single, Kris Kalapos a double and Sue Bartlett and Amy Dickson singles.

In the second game won by Harbor by a score of 3-0, Ballou allowed three hits by Meg Fowler, Buchanan and Colleen LaBlance. The team, however, failed to capitalize and was blanked. Ballou had one hit and Bartlett two singles. Holly Taber was the losing pitcher.

The games with Kalkaska went only five innings as Charlevoix brought home 18 runners to one for Kalkaska in the first game behind the pitching of Buchanan and 11 to 3 for the visitors in the second game pitched by Bolduc who was on the mound for the first time. Debbie Maxon was the losing pitcher in both games allowing 11 hits in the first game and 13 in the second.

Bolduc had a triple and a double, Noirot and Laura Kemp doubles, Fowler and Buchanan two singles each and LaBlance, Taber and Raginia one each. Laura Hall had the visitor's single hit.

In the second game Charlevoix scored 11 runs on 13 hits by Taber, Bolduc and Raginia who had a double and a single each, LaBlance and Angie McClanaghan who each had two singles, Kemp a double and Noirot and Fowler one single each. Karla Woodin had her team's only hit.

Girls win Central Lake tournament

The Charlevoix girls softball team defeated Central Lake 3-2 in the finals of the Central Lake Invitational double elimination tournament Saturday to take the tournament.

Charlevoix was one of five teams in the annual tournament.

In the finals, Rhonda Buchanan pitched the team to victory allowing only three hits. Tracy Johnson, the losing pitcher allowed two hits.

Colleen LaBlance and Bridget Noirot accounted for Charlevoix's two hits. Yvonne Young had a double and a single and Pam Ellis a single for the losers.

Charlevoix got to the finals by defeating Kalkaska 22-1 in the first game of the tournament. Holly Taber pitched a no-hitter and also hit four singles in the game. Laura Kemp had a double and two singles; Meg Fowler and Buchanan each had three singles; Kim Bolduc had two singles and LaBlance, Noirot, Sue Raginia and Angie McClanaghan had one each. Debbie Maxon was the losing pitcher.

Central Lake then defeated Ellsworth 18-6 to go against Charlevoix in the winner's bracket. Charlevoix scored 17 runs on eight hits with Buchanan on the mound. She allowed one hit by Beth Iser.

LaBlance had a home run and a double, Noirot a triple, Kemp a double and Fowler and Buchanan two singles each. Johnson, the losing pitcher, gave up one hit.

Ellsworth eliminated Kalkaska 13-5 and was then defeated by Central Lake by a score of 9-6 before the Trojans advancing through the loser's bracket to meet Charlevoix in the finals.

Charlevoix will be at Cheboygan Catholic Wednesday and at East Jordan Friday and will host Petoskey Monday.

All-Sports Banquet is this Thursday

Charlevoix High School Senior athletes and their parents will be honored Thursday at the annual Senior All-Sports Banquet to be held at the high school cafeteria under the sponsorship of the Sports Boosters.

The athletes in the Junior Class will attend as guests of the Seniors.

Because the Rayder baseball team has a double-header scheduled, the event will not begin until 7:30 p.m. with the punch bowl and dinner being served at 8 p.m.

Del Terrill, former Rayder coach and retired school superintendent, will be the guest speaker.

Charles Bentley, assistant football coach and high school counselor, will serve as master of ceremonies. He will introduce Dale Burge, Athletic Director, who will introduce the coaches who in turn, will speak briefly and introduce the athletes. The Rev. Glenn Britton will give the invocation.

Mrs. William Tillen and Mrs. Vane H. Smith are co-chairpersons of the event. Mrs. Leroy Buchanan is charge of the menu; Mrs. Conrad Klooster, Jr., the food prepartation; Mrs. Condit Drury, the decorations and Dr. Donald Trimper, president of the Sports Boosters, and Mrs. Trimper are in charge of program and publicity.

Twelve sophomore athletes will serve the dinner.

Trackmen win Traverse Relays

The Charlevoix Rayder track team racked up its most impressive victory of the season Monday, winning the Traverse City Relays with 94 points to top the 13 Class C-D teams in the meet.

Boyne City placed second with 60 points followed by the Traverse City Sophs with 52; Houghton Lake with 48 points; Benzie Central with 46; East Jordan and Saginaw with 30 points each; Kingsley, 20; Traverse City St. Francis, 16; Suttons Bay and Saginaw Arthur Hill, 12 each; Traverse City Freshmen and Glen Lake, 0.

In winning the meet, Charlevoix set five new meet records, winning the two mile relay with a team of Bill Dohm, Doug Drenth, Ron Way and Jim Landson in a record time of 8:30.02; the sprint relay in a record time of 2:31.62 with a team of Jim Martin, Tim Louiselle, Scott Shepherd and Van Sloan; the distance medley in 11:26.9 with Dohm running the 800 M. lap, Doug Sloan, the 400, Tunison the 1200 and Taylor the 1600 lap and the mile relay in 3:30.70 with Martin, D. Sloan, Louiselle and V. Sloan. The latter is also a new school record for Charlevoix.

The fifth record set was in the dual shot put with Ross Carey and Mark Oostmeyer throwing the shot a combined total of 96'5½". Carey's throw was 50'11" and Oostmeyer's 45'7½".

Charlevoix will be at Harbor Tuesday and at Boyne City Wednesday, will host Elk Rapids Friday and play at Glen Lake Saturday.

Girls second in triple track meet

The Charlevoix girls track team scored 26½ points in a track meet which was won by Rogers City 108 points. Onaway had 21½ points.

Hudak of Rogers City won the discus and the shot put plus the hurdles top the winners.

Charlevoix won five second places and six fourth places in the meet.

Charlevoix will travel to the Rogers City relays on May 18.

Posting points for Charlevoix were the following: 880 yard relay team (Lynda Ciuk, Carrie Richardson, Alida Ford, Lisa Pischner); 440 yard relay team (Ciuk, Richardson, Ford, Pischner); 220 yard low hurdles: Tessa Culver; 880 yard run: Dianna Loder and the mile relay team (Mary Plagge, Kathi Dohm, Lisa Pischner, Cheryl Aull) second places.

High jump: Nancy Herriman tied with an Onaway contestant; 110 yard low hurdles: Ciuk; 100 yard run, Richardson; mile: Lisa Hilton; 440 yard run: Plagge and two Mile: Lorraine Schultz, fourth places.

Girls win six events against Petoskey

The Charlevoix girls track team made its best showing this season in a meet with Petoskey here Thursday.

Sue Greenway crosses the finish line.

While Petoskey did win the meet by a score of 74 to 49, Charlevoix won six track events to overcome a 33 to three lead the visitors had at the end of the field events.

"Our girls showed up well in the track events. That is where we beat them" Coach Dennis VanGuilder said of the meet.

In the field events, Charlevoix's only points were won by Sue Greenway who had a third in the discus; Nancy Herriman a third in the high jump and Cheryl Aull a third in the long jump.

Poppy sale days set by mayor's hand

Charlevoix Mayor Kenneth Staley signed a proclamation this week endorsing the annual Veterans of Foreign Wars Buddy Poppy sale and establishing the sale dates on May 20, 21 and 22.

The proclamation reads, in part, "I, Kenneth A. Staley...do hereby urge the citizens of this community to recognize the merits of this cause by contributing generously to its support through the purchase of Buddy Poppies on the day set aside for the distribution of these symbols of appreciation for the sacrifices of our honored dead."

Proceeds from the poppies, which have been sold traditionally by the V.F.W. since 1922, are used exclusively to assist diabled and needy veterans and the widows and children of deceased veterans.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX COUNCIL MINUTES

May 3, 1982
8:50 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Staley presiding.

Present: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Porter, and Timms. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Timms to approve the Minutes of the April 17, 1982 special meeting as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was approved by voice vote.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Timms to approve the Minutes of the April 19, 1982 regular meeting as presented in writing, and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was approved by voice vote.

Council adjourned to the Board of Appeals.

Following the Board of Appeals meeting, roll call of the Council was again taken with Councilman Morris being the only member absent.

A Public Hearing was held regarding a proposed Amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance to rezone the property at 801 Petoskey Ave., the Wayside Motel, from R-1 to C-1 as requested by Gregory Bryan, Rental Manager of the property. Several residents from the area of the proposed rezoning expressed concern that undesirable businesses could locate there under C-1 zoning and requested that the matter be delayed until the City Master Plan is complete. Mr. Bryan stated that he has no specific plans to change the present use of the property but that any addition to the present use or sale of the property could be accomplished easier with the C-1 zoning.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms to table consideration of an Amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance to rezone the property at 801 Petoskey Ave. from R-1 to C-1 pending adoption of the development regulations for that section of the City as to be included in the City Master Plan.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Porter, and Timms. Nays: Councilwoman Roloff. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Porter to approve the following policy statement regarding personnel management of City employees.

Policy Statement
PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT

I. PURPOSE

The City of Charlevoix is being challenged, by a variety of forces, to develop a leaner, more productive work force, which can find more economical ways to get its job done without sacrificing the high quality of services Charlevoix residents enjoy. The City is committed to maintaining a dedicated and motivated work force while developing the staff's technical and professional standards as the principal means of meeting this challenge.

This policy statement establishes a framework which the Mayor, City Council, and City Manager will use in addressing personnel matters within the City government.

II. ROLES

The Council-Manager plan, under which Charlevoix operates, places the Mayor and Council in the role of establishing overall City policy direction. City staff is appointed to administer and execute day to day operations. The Manager is responsible for supervising these operations and providing general administrative direction.

With regard to City personnel, it is the Council's responsibility to establish overall guidelines governing the City's approach to personnel matters. The Manager's role is to put these guidelines into the day-to-day practice of hiring, firing, motivating, promoting, demoting, compensating, and training individual employees.

III. GENERAL GUIDELINES

The City Council hereby establishes the following personnel guidelines. The City Manager will respect these guidelines in administering personnel matters on a day-to-day basis.

Employee Development. The City will motivate and train existing employees to become more productive and proficient in their current jobs. Where appropriate, the City will encourage employees to develop new skills which might lead to job advancement. Where appropriate, the City will cross train employees to cover temporary vacancies on related jobs.

Attrition Management. The City will evaluate alternatives to filling positions which become vacant, as a means to reduce costs. These alternatives may include changes in work routines, job descriptions, work hours, or scope of services. They may include combining positions or reassigning work or personnel from one department to another.

Recruitment. When vacancies must be filled from outside the ranks of the existing work force, the City will recruit and hire the most qualified candidates for the job, based strictly upon merit. Merit selection implies that anyone may apply, and that candidates are evaluated fairly by their prospective supervisors or other impartial party, based upon job related criteria established in advance. Local recruitment is sufficient for clerical positions, lower level technical positions, and all part time or temporary positions. A larger recruitment area may be required for more highly skilled positions. Where local and non-local candidates are being considered which have equal or nearly equivalent qualifications, the local candidate will be preferred.

Performance Standards and Evaluations. The City will establish clear standards for employee performance, and encourage employees to maintain these standards through ongoing communication with supervisors, performance evaluations, and where necessary, disciplinary procedures, demotion, or termination.

Longevity. The City will ensure the longevity of loyal and hard working City employees which have provided many years of faithful service to the community.

Management. The City will develop senior department heads as a management team which can work with the City Manager in addressing overall City administrative needs and assist the Mayor and City Council in policy development.

Planning. The City will develop a strategic approach to personnel administration which diagnosis long term problems, anticipates future needs, and develops a stable framework for addressing these problems and needs in an orderly fashion.

Progressive Discipline. The City will develop and institute a progressive discipline program which relates unacceptable employee conduct or performance to specific disciplinary measures.

Unions. The City will develop a co-operative relationship with collective bargaining units and their representatives, which establishes a clear understanding of the proper roles for both unions and management.

IV. PROCEDURES

The City Manager is accountable to the Mayor and City Council for the fair and efficient execution of these guidelines, as well as the overall performance of City government. In order to maintain this accountability, the City Manager must be given the responsibility to administer personnel matters without direct City Council intervention.

The following procedures shall govern personnel practices in the City:

The City manager shall maintain direct, day to day supervision over all city employees, with the exception of the City Clerk and City Attorney offices. Supervision includes the power to hire, fire, motivate, discipline, evaluate, promote, demote, and train employees, subject to established personnel guidelines, union contracts, and generally accepted personnel practices, provided, however that the City Assessor, City Treasurer, Police Chief, and Fire Chief may only be appointed and removed by action of the City Council.

The City Manager will keep the Mayor and City Council informed regarding the status of all major personnel actions relating to department head positions. Department Head terminations shall be discussed with the Mayor and City Council members in advance. Information on personnel actions relating to non-department head positions will be provided on an as-requested basis.

The Mayor and City Council are encouraged to express their opinion and/or concerns on any personnel matter to the City Manager in private. The Mayor and City Council, individually or as a body, will refrain from directly intervening in or publicly influencing any personnel matter other than the appointment and termination of the City Treasurer, City Assessor, Police Chief, or Fire Chief. All union matters, other then overall negotiation strategy, will be handled completely by the City Manager.

The City Manager shall be responsible for co-ordinating the work of the City Clerk and City Attorney offices with other activities of the City staff, Mayor, and City Council.

The City Manager shall recommend, and the City Council shall consider, and as it deems appropriate approve, the salaries or salary ranges, and fringe benefits, of all full time permanent City employees. Salaries shall be based strictly upon objective criteria relating to union contracts, market conditions, job specifications, and employee qualifications. The City Manager may establish salaries for temporary, seasonal, or part time personnel, except Department Heads, subject to general personnel and budgetary guidelines and union contracts.

The City Council shall exercise the exclusive power to create positions of employment. The City manager shall recommend, and the City Council shall consider, as it deems appropriate approve, general job descriptions and terms and conditions of employment for department head positions. The City Manager may establish job descriptions and terms and conditions of employment for other personnel subject to general personnel and budgetary guidelines and union contracts.

The City Manager may eliminate positions, lay-off personnel, or reduce work hours, as deemed necessary to maintain a balanced budget, improve efficiency, or accomplish other administrative objectives, subject to general personnel guidelines or union contracts. The City Manager shall notify the Mayor and City Council of such plans in advance, and the City Council may, by majority vote, override such proposals.

The City Council shall maintain final appointment authority over the City Treasurer, City Assessor, Police Chief, and Fire Chief. The City Council shall delegate responsibility for administering the appointment process for these positions to the City Manager. The City Council may require the City Manager to submit a specific number of candidates for consideration for any of these positions. The City Manager will be responsible for objectively evaluating the relative merits of candidates for these positions. Other impartial parties may assist the City Manager in this process as deemed appropriate by the City Council. The Mayor and City Council will be provided with objective evaluation material on the final candidate(s). The Mayor and City Council members shall strive to keep an open mind regarding the appointment of candidates until this evaluation material is received. The Mayor and City Council shall not alter the selection criteria or process in an effort to affect the outcome. All persons and parties involved in the selection or appointment process shall keep strictly confidential all materials and comments pertaining to the relative evaluation of candidates. The Mayor and City Council shall decline participation in the selection process where one or more of the final candidates is a close friend, relative, employee, supervisor, or business associate of the Mayor or City Council member, or where participation in the selection process might otherwise present the appearance of a conflict of interest.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Porter and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Robert Hunt, City Manager, withdrew his resignation as submitted to Councilmembers on April 6, 1982.

Bruce McArthur of the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization gave an update on that organization's Operation Petunia project in the City.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Block to reschedule the regular Council meeting of May 17, 1982 at 8:00 P.M. to May 24, 1982 at 8:00 P.M. as it has been determined that a quorum of the City Council cannot be present on May 17, 1982 to transact City business.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Porter and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Block to hold a Public Hearing at 8:00 P.M. on May 24, 1982 regarding proposed amendments to the City Sign Ordinance as recommended by the City Planning Commission.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Porter and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Mayor Staley reported that Senator Irwin's consolidation bill which would permit the appointment of an equal number of members of both the City and Township to a consolidated Charter Commission has been reported to the full Senate.

The City Attorney reported on the status of an Ordinance Violation Notice regarding removal of a fire damaged structure on Carpenter Ave.

The Council having examined bills totaling $228,458.62 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Porter that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amount.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Porter and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Council adjourned.

BOARD OF APPEALS

The Board of Appeals convened with Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Porter and Timms present. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The Board of Appeals discussed a request as submitted by the Charlevoix Housing Commission to split a lot on the north side of Carpenter Ave. to allow the Housing Commission to create an access to their property at 210 W. Garfield from a 66 ft. strip on the western side of the Carpenter Ave. lot which they have purchased from Debby McDowall. Bruce Reinhart, an adjoining property owner, protested the split on the grounds that the 66 ft. strip adjoins his property and the Housing Commission's survey of the strip indicates their ownership of approximately 3 ft. 7 in. of Mr. Reinhart's property as shown on his own survey.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Block to approve the lot split as requested by the Charlevoix Housing Commission with the contingency that Mr. Reinhart, adjoining property owner, will not lose any of his property.

Motion was denied by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, and Timms. Nays: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, and Porter. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Wood that the Charlevoix Housing Commission's request to split 66 ft. off a lot on the north side of Carpenter Ave. for use as an access be approved, provided the Housing Commission and Bruce Reinhart, adjoining property owner, can mutually agree to a property boundary.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Porter and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The Board of Appeals Adjourned.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. James Marshall

Gannaway-Marshall

Linda Jean Gannaway became the bride of James William Marshall III on Saturday afternoon, April 24, at the Trenton Hills United Brethern Church in Adrian.

Both young people have been making their homes in Lansing, where the bride is a sales consultant for Weight Loss Clinic and the bridegroom is an account executive for the Michigan Press Association. He is a 1975 graduate of Charlevoix High School. Both are Central Michigan University graduates.

The Reverend Robert Swoveland performed the ceremony, assisted by the Reverend Matthew Floding.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gannaway of Adrian and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Marshall II of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Matthew (Marcia) Floding of Minneapolis served her sister as matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Richard (Debbie) Lewis of Pontiac, sister of the bridegroom, Barbara MacDonald of Petoskey, and Jennifer Nichols of Adrian.

David S. Marshall of Midland served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were James B. Sundberg of Ann Arbor, Chris D. Begrow of East Lansing, and Steven Fitzgerald of Waterford.

A reception in the fellowship hall of the church followed the wedding ceremony. After a wedding trip to the Smokey Mountains National Park, the new Mr. and Mrs. Marshall are at home in East Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Greg S. Hughes

Burkey-Hughes

Laurie Annette Burkey became the wife of Greg S. Hughes at an evening wedding Saturday, May 1 at the Community Church of God in Charlevoix. She is the daughter of Mrs. Joan Burkey of Charlevoix and Robert Burkey of Florida. He is the son of Mrs. Kathy Miles of Potterville and Herman Hughes of Lansing.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Pastor Walter Hastings and was attended by 110 guests. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Greg Burkey, wore a dress of Chantilly lace with satin trim. The veil was finger tip length made of tulle complimented with a juliet cap. Her flowers were a mixture of white baby roses and tiny white mums.

The matron of honor was Vicky Thorpe, a friend of the bride, and Jennifer Burkey, sister of the bride, was a bridesmaid. They wore floor length dresses were light blue pleated lace and carried white daisies with blue ribbon interwoven. The flower girl, Michelle Hughes, wore a white dress with pale blue polka dots made by the sister of the bride. Jason Hughes was ring bearer.

Best man was Greg Hamp and Mark Koontz was groomsman. Ushers were Jimmy Novotny and Glen Moblo. A reception hosted by the bride's mother was held at Duffy's of Charlevoix with Chris Towsley and Margaret Singer helping to cut the cake. A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's father at the Grey Gables.

Following a Florida honeymoon, the couple will be at home at Rt. 2, Birchwood Farms, Charlevoix.

High school band does well in state competition

The Charlevoix High School Symphonic band, directed by Terry Isenbarger, received a II Division rating at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Festival at Lansing Saturday.

II marked the first time the band had qualified for state competition in more than four years.

Isenbarger said the 58-piece band had received straight IIs in concert and a I in sight reading.

Their selections were "Belle of Chicago", march by Sousa, the Prelude from the First Act of Verdi's "LaTraviata" and "Imperatrix" by Reed.

Rivalry building for walk-a-thon

The good-natured rivalry that marked the 1981 March of Dimes Walk-a-thon is already building between Charlevoix and Petoskey as certain "athletes" begin training for the 1982 event, due to take place Saturday, May 22.

A 25-kilometer course has been laid out. Charlevoix walkers begin at the city golf course, behind Duffy's, proceed to Bay Shore, and return to the starting point.

Petoskey walkers start at their high school tennis courts, proceed along U.S. 31 to Bay Shore and back.

Checkpoints along the way will allow walkers to check in, rest, and renew their energy with nutritious snacks.

In Charlevoix, sponsor sheets are available at Charlevoix Creations, located in Oleson's shopping center, or at the City Clerk's office. The walkers will then get as many sponsors as they can to pledge a certain amount for each kilometer walked.

Proceeds will be used to continue the work of the March of Dimes in the local area. For more information, call March of Dimes office, 547-5877.

Senior citizens to be honored

Senior Citizens living in the Charlevoix School District will be honored at the annual Senior Citizens dinner to be held at the V.F.W. post bo[illegible] at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Hosting the event will be the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, and Charlevoix Post No. 1153, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Happy Hour will begin at 5:30 p.m. The roast beef dinner will follow at 6:30 p.m.

Senior citizens living within the Charlevoix School district are invited to the annual dinner which will be climaxed with a dance with music for dancing by the Four-Fifths band.

Piano scholarship offered

Crooked Tree Arts Council of Emmet and Charlevoix Counties is offering a piano scholarship to the Bay View Conservatory of Music for the summer session of 1982. These auditions are open to high school students in Emmet and Charlevoix Counties. Auditions will be held on Monday, May 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the McCune Arts Center of Petoskey. Requirements for the audition are as follows: one major scale and its relative minor (memorized); a short technical exercise or etude (may be read); a composition from the Baroque or Classical Era (memorized); a composition from the Romantic or Modern Era (memorized). For more information concerning auditions contact June Zoerhof, 347-6497.

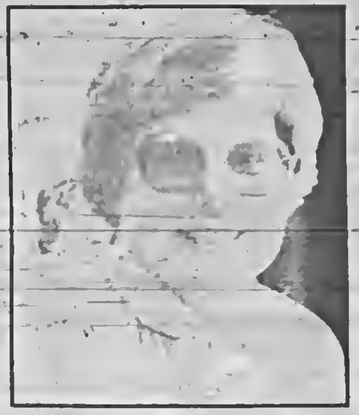
Dorothy Miller gets parents into the act

by ANNE KELLV

Teacher Feature



Dorothy Miller

The philosophy of a co-op nursery is unique in that it allows parents to actually participate in their child's preschool education. Parents, on a rotating basis, assist in the preparation for and the supervision of each nursery session.

Charlevoix Co-op Nursery teacher, Dorothy Miller, explained the benefits of the co-op situation:

"Parents benefit by their involvement in the program, in meeting other parents, and seeing their own children in relation to others of the same age."

The child, on the other hand, feels good about having his parent take a turn at school. Mom or Dad is there to share in his enthusiasm and experience his activities and friendships at school first hand. For some children, this time alone with his parent is special. It is perhaps the only opportunity he has to have Mom or Dad all to himself.

For Dorothy, who has been teaching co-op nursery in Charlevoix for the past ten years, every year and every session brings with it something new. A graduate of Adrian College in Elementary Education, she has accumulated the additional hours necessary to be certified in Early Childhood Education through Central Michigan University. This certification has become a mandatory requirement for nursery school teachers in recent years. Before assuming her position with the Charlevoix co-op nursery school, Dorothy's teaching experience included teaching fourth grade and substitute teaching in Ludington, Michigan.

Describing her years as a nursery school teacher, Dorothy points out that she has undergone a growth process right along with the school. Co-op nursery began in 1970 through the efforts of a few parents who felt that their children needed more than neighborhood play group situations. They initiated the steps necessary to organize into a non-profit co-op nursery and eventually joined both state and regional chapters of the Council of Co-op Nurseries (M.C.C.M. and N.M.C.C.N.). When Dorothy became a co-op leader in 1972, classes were held in the basement of the Charlevoix Public Library. For the past several years, the school has been fortunate to occupy a classroom at the elementary school. Here children are oriented into the larger world of grade school, have a classroom atmosphere furnished with all the trappings of nursery school, and are able to use the gym, playground and attend plays and other school-wide programs.

Dorothy believes that co-op nursery has been successful due to the continued efforts and participation of parents on their children's behalf. She is delighted to see more and more fathers taking part in nursery sessions and activities. Another plus, in her opinion, is the nursery's relatively new mixed age group sessions. These classes combine 3,4, and 5 year olds in a "family situation", where children can naturally learn from one another. Special needs of youngsters are often diagnosed early as a result of participation in the nursery program. Sometimes parents aren't aware of those needs until they see their child in a group situation. Dorothy occasionally refers students so that they may receive special help from the Intermediate School district or other social service agencies.

But probably the most rewarding aspects of her job, Dorothy explained, is that of helping the kids and their parents realize that preschoolers are capable of doing many things, that they are in fact significant little people.

Dorothy and her husband, Jim, have three daughters. As a family, they enjoy sailing, skiing and participating in church activities.

Saturday is Petunia Day!

by FRAN MARTIN

Saturday will be PRIDE DAY throughout the state of Michigan but in Charlevoix it will be PLANT PETUNIA DAY!

After months of planning and preparation Operation: Petunia will be climaxed with the planting of 30,000 petunia plants along a four-mile stretch of US 31 for the purpose of making Charlevoix even more beautiful.

The Performing Arts students at the Charlevoix High School were out all last weekend recruiting volunteers to plant the colorful blossoms by offering tickets to the Swiss Steak luncheon in East Park at noon and an Evening of Entertainment at the high school location as an inticement. For those not desirious of digging in the dirt they offered the tickets for sale. Burce MacArthur, who with Dale Boss, is the promoter of Project: Petunia felt certain the students would accomplish their goal: 600 volunteers.

However, if you have not been contacted and want to be a part of this venture, you may register anytime after 8 a.m. Saturday with Doris Lundteigen at Duffy's on the North Side or with Shirley Roloff at Harbor Industries on the South Side. Should you be some place in between, contact your block captain who can be identified by his-her pith helmet.

If you're not needed at a given spot, you won't have to be concerned about getting from here to there. Ann Henricksen of Bay Queen operation has arranged for the Bay Queen Trolley to transport workers to points where they are needed on Saturday.

In an operation as big as Operation: Petunia, traffic control could be a problem. However, this is being managed by the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club under the direction of E.D. "Pat" Hawley.

Preparations have also been completed for a swiss steak dinner. Mrs. Herbert (Bev) Boss is in charge and has her corps of workers assembled with assurance that the tasty luncheon that will include swiss steak, mashed potatoes, gravy and all the fixins will be in readiness at the appointed hour in East Park. For non-workers, there'll be tickets on sale for $5.00.

With a few hints from Warren Duplessis, petunia grower extraordinaire, the beds for the petunia were fertilized early this week with liquid fertilizer supplied by Tom Wieland and then roto-tilled to assure the soil would supply the necessary nutrients to support the plants.

Then there is the question: To pinch or not to pinch. The Renoldo Nursery spokesman said that the plants Keep Charlevoix Beautiful is getting will not need to be pinched at this time. However, should property owners along the route care to tend the flowers, the dead flowers may be pinched. Pinchers, however, are asked to make sure they are pinching the dead blossoms rather than those about to bloom. "At one point they look much alike" the spokesman warned.

There'll also be prizes for property owners whose petunias are outstanding; for people who are the oldest, the youngest, those who travel the greatst distance (Neil and Sally Soumela of Rochester have informed MacArthur they will be eligible for this prize) and all sorts of other prizes.

Among the planters on Saturday will be one of the community's most ardent gardeners and flower growers, Mrs. AnnaBelle Webb, who can be identified by her little red wagon in which she will be pulling her flats of petunias.

Charlevoix kicked off Michigan Week Monday with a joint meeting of the Charlevoix Lions and Kiwanis clubs with representatives of all other organizations and clubs as guests at the meeting. Mrs. Fran Tollas and the Performing Arts group from the Charlevoix High School entertained those gathered for the special Michigan Week luncheon.

Pride Day with the planting of the petunias and a picnic luncheon in the park will top it off...Perfect proof that people working together can bring off anything...even something as seemingly impossssible as Project: Petunia founded during the blizzards of the winter of 1982.

Medusa to shut down May 29

With almost every storage silo in their entire Great Lakes system full and the demand for cement at a virtual standstill, the Medusa Cement Company has decided to shut down operations at the Charlevoix plant May 29 for an indefinite period.

"This is a direct result of current economic conditions and lack of sales," said plant manager Thomas Thimm last week, "We would hope to begin shipping again as soon as inventories can be decreased."

The shutdown will require the layoff of "a number of hourly workers" according to Thimm but exactly how many of the 137 emplyees will be affected has not yet been determined.

The length of the shutdown is also up in the air.

"We hope that the market will show some signs of turning around by mid-summer," said Thimm, "But we have no way of knowing if and when it will happen. It could be a matter of weeks or it could be months."

Board approves June ballot

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its regular meeting Monday night, gave its approval to the election resolution for the June 14 School Election.

The resolution spelled out the issues that will appear on the ballots at that time. Voters will be asked to approve a renewal of 15.25 mills for one year for operation of the school; a renewal of .5 mill for five years for the Charlevoix public library and .9 mill for two years to underwrite the cost of a new roof and necessary insulation and repairs to the roof at the high school. The present roof has been on the school since it was constructed in 1960. The .9 mill would replace the 1.0 mill for five years for renovation of the middle school which expired in 1981.

The debt retirement mill and which has been trimmed to 1.25 mills to meet debt retirement obligations will bring the total voted millage to 17.9 mills, 1.1 mill less than was levied in 1981.

Two names as candidates for four-year terms on the Board of Education will also appear on the ballot. They are Ardeth M. Wieland and Elaine Martin Buddle, incumbents who are candidates for re-election.

The board also directed Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren to contract through the Char-Em Intermediate School District for transportation, special education and vocational education for the 1982-83 school year.

The Downtown Development Authority was discussed as the board determined what action it would take at the open meeting regarding the issue to be held at the Council meeting May 24. The Charlevoix School District will oppose the issue because, as a result of the type of financing proposed, the school district stands to lose tax monies from the area included in the development.

The board also heard a report from Yvonne Wendt on the recent trip to Quebec by the French Club; a report on the Professional Studies Committee by Mrs. Buddle; the Library Committee by Doris Pearl and the recommendation by the Tax Advisory Committee by Mrs. Wieland.

The board adjourned to executive session to discuss negotiations.

County board races shape up

by PEG OHLE

As of last Friday, only two present members of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners had indicated they would not be candidates for re-election this year.

John Haggard, who is a candidate for the State Senate, will relinquish his job, as will Ira L. (Bob) Davis of Horton Bay, who is retiring.

With the number of Commissioners being reduced from 15 to six, several incumbents will be running against each other in newly-formed Districts.

District No. 1, made up of Hayes, Bay, Evangeline, and Melrose Townships, by losing Haggard and Davis, has only one candidate to date -- Incumbent Larry D. Matthew, who lives in Melrose Township. Matthew, a Republican, has filed his petitions.

District No. 2, made up of Chandler, Hudson, Boyne Valley, Wilson, and eastern Eveline Townships, will find incumbents Ralph Harmon of Boyne Valley, a Democrat, and Martin Biegnowski of Wilson, a Republican, running against each other and anyone else who may file. Both Harmon and Biegnowski have filed their petitions.

District No. 3, made up of Boyne City, apparently will have a crowded ballot. Incumbent Marvin Loding has filed his petitions, incumbents Oral Sutliff and Casimir Toton are expected to file, and a newcomer, William Undeghill, has filed his petitions. All are Republicans.

District No. 4, made up of the City of East Jordan and South Arm Township, also has three incumbents. Thomas Breakey of East Jordan has already filed his petitions, Keith Annear, also of East Jordan, plans to do so, and Delbert Ingalls of South Arm is still making up his mind. All are Republicans.

District No. 5, made up of western Eveline Township (west of Peninsula Road), and Marion, Norwood, Charlevoix, St. James, and Peaine Townships, has two new candidates. William Sherman and Don Smith, both of Charlevoix Township, have filed their petitions as Republicans. Clyde Cunningham, present chairman of the Board of Commissioners, lives in Marion Township and intends to file as a Republican also.

District No. 6, comprised of the City of Charlevoix, has three incumbents, all Republicans. I. Lee Moerland and Oscar W. Ward have already filed their petitions, while Donald B. Meggison is still considering the matter.

All six Districts mentioned above will have one Commissioner on the new County Board. The deadline for filing petitions to appear on the August 10 Primary ballot is June 1. Petition forms may be obtained from the office of the Charlevoix County Clerk in Charlevoix.

The numbers of signatures needed for petitions in each District are.

District No. 1 – 12 minimum and 49 maxiumum; District No. 2 – 10 minimum and 39 maximum, District No. 3 – 10 minimum and 40 maximum; District No. 4 – 11 minimum and 43 maximum, District No. 5 – 14 minimum and 55 maximum; District No 6 – 16 minimum and 62 maximum.

Phillips' dream: dining by the Ol' Mill Stream

by PEG OHLE

A longtime Charlevoix restauranteur is planning a project he calls "the dream of a lifetime".

Last week, David Phillips received zoning approval from Hayes Township officials for a Planned Unit Development (PUD) to include a "Turn of the Century Mill Restaurant".

The development will be on the Charlevoix-Boyne City Road on property that is now part of Windmill Farms.

With the thought of taking diners back in time, Phillips' plans call for such nostalgic features as stables, vegetable gardens, a carriage house, a colonial bridge, ponds and a working water wheel.

The restaurant will be located in the 95-year old farmhouse now on the property. There will be three dining rooms, each with a separate decor - a stained glass room, a room with French windows overlooking the water wheel and a less formal room with copper hood and fireplace.

The menus will feature American meals with seasonal foods. Diners will be driven in a carriage from the parking lot around a circular drive to the house where they will be greeted by a host in the gracious manner of yesteryear, according to Phillips.

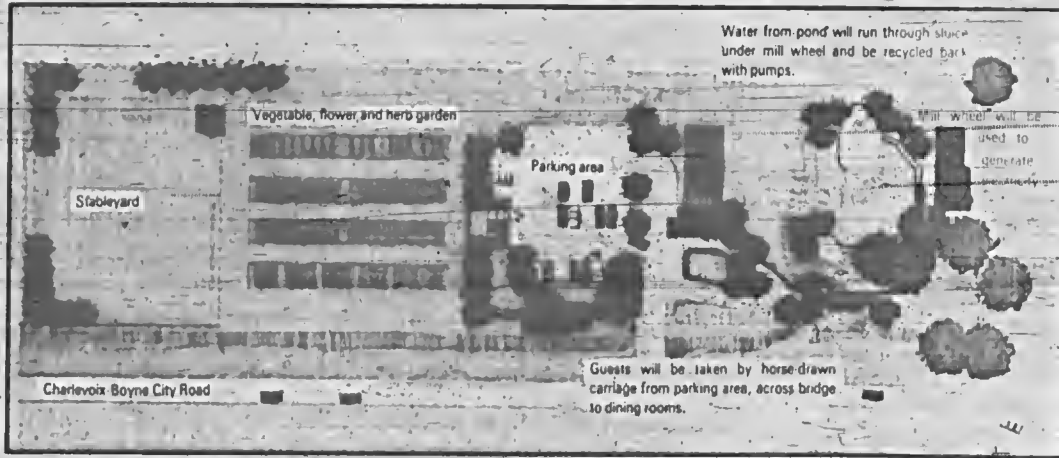
The whole development will be professionally landscaped and a burm will surround the restaurant area.

Phillips is the former owner of the Grey Gables Inn and is presently managing the restaurant while new owners Peter and Diane Pace learn the business. Because of his connection with the Grey Gables, Phillips will not open the mill restaurant for at least two years.

"After ten years of operating it, the Grey Gables is my true love. I am still working hard there helping Pete Pace and the new management," Phillips told the Courier. He does not think his new restaurant will compete directly with the Grey Gables, especially since the mill restaurant will be open only on weekends during the winter.

Gayle Phillips will assist her husband with the mill restaurant as she has with Grey Gables in the past. Later on, son Brian who is now 12 and daughter Amy who is eight also plan to get into the act.

Phillips' plans were designed by John Campbell of Site Planning Development and John Hess, former county planner.



Water from pond will run through sluice under mill wheel and be recycled back with pumps.
Vegetable, flower and herb garden
Parking area
Stableyard
Mill wheel will be used to generate
Guests will be taken by horse-drawn carriage from parking area, across bridge to dining rooms.

Art Fair displays best works of area student artists

by SARA GAY DAMMANN

Realistic, abstract, pen and ink, cut paper, sculpture, weaving, watercolor – a range of techniques was represented at the Charlevoix Schools Art Show last week in the elementary school.

Students from elementary, middle and high school displayed samples of their year's achievements in art.

The show, which focussed entirely on the children's art work, was set up as a serious show according to the three art teachers who coordinated the show. Art from various grade levels was mixed. Different styles were deliberately hung next to each other to provide contrast, to make each piece stand out, the teachers observed.

Commenting on the work of her 570 students in the elementary program, Art teacher Beth McGraw pointed out, "Not everything goes up on the walls. I'm selective and the children must work toward goals of craftmanship and design."

Finishing a work and presenting it properly was an important part of preparing for the art show, the students learned.

High school and middle achool art students demonstrated the variety of techniques being taught at those levels. Quality of presentation also played a major role in determining what pieces were displayed at the show.

Roxy Loding, Middle School Art teacher explained that drawing skills had been emphasized during the first semester of art while the second semester introduced students to sculpture and other techniques, "building on the students skills, introducing new facets."

High School participants included several outstanding young artists whose work drew considerable comment. Jeff Kelly, a recipient of tha Waterfront Art Fair Scholarship two years ago, held a one-man show of his work in the entrance hall to the show.

"In advanced art we are asking for a degree of professionalism in the finished product," Marty Mathers commented.

The teachers set up a "Masterpiece Display" area at the entrance of the elementary school building, featuring the painting, pottery and sculptures of professional artists Russell and Sue Bolt of Charlevois.

"This was part of our effort to upgrade the qoality of the show," Mrs. Loding said.

"The show case was an example for the students. It pointed out that people do make a living from art," Beth McGraw added. "It's not just something to do in school."

Rivalries are strong in Walk-A-Thon

WALKAMERICA, the March of Dimes walkathon planned for Saturday, May 22nd, is shaping up as a real challenge between Charlevois and Petoskeyites. The two contingents scheduled to start off at 9 a.m. from the Charlevois city golf course behind Duffy's and the Petoskey High School tennis courts will both march along U.S. 31, meeting at Bay Shore. As a matter of civic pride, both cities are aiming at setting records for highest number of walkers and amount of money raised.

Kay Coulter of Petoskey, holder of the traveling Battered Boot trophy awarded in the 1981 walkathon for most money raised by an adult walker, is determined to win again this year so that she can keep the trophy.

Identical prizes of Atari video games will be awarded to the youngster under the age of 18 from each city who brings in the most money in sponsorships. In addition, there will be a drawing for additional prizes for the walkers.

The March of Dimes and Operation Petunia organizers in Charlevoix have worked out an arrangement whereby volunteers can be involved in both projects. Contact Doris Landteigen, 547-2482, or Marion Parker, 547-5877. In Petoskey, call Chief Krause, 347-7474.

Sponsor sheets are still available in various locations, including the City Clerk's office in Charlevois and the Police Department in Petoskey.

National Honor Society inducts ten

Ten students were inducted into the Charlevoix High School chapter of the National Honor Society at an impressive installation ceremony at the high school cafeteria Friday.

Membership in the chapter is based on Scholarship, Service, Leadership and Character. Sophomore, junior and senior students are eligible for membership and are elected to membership by a chapter council composed of the principal, faculty advisor, and panel of no less than five teachers, Glen Taylor, faculty advisor said.

New members are Colleen Bartley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bartley; Dan Buday, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Buday; Bonnie Bergmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bergmann; Rhonda Buchanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Buchanan; Andre Fiedler, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Fiedler; Laurie Finck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Finck; Gary Garner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garner; Karyn Mayhew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mayhew; Debra Seelye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Seelye; Amy sell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sell.

David Buday, president of the Charlevois High School Chapter, officiated at the installation of new members.

Officers of the chapter for 1982-83 are: Alan Bergmann, president; Michael R. Martin, vice president; Kelly Thompson, secretary, and Linda Joy, treasurer.

C.H.S. band, choir present spring concert

The Charlevoix High School Symphonic Band and the High School Choir will present their annual Spring concert at the high school gymnasium at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The band will be directed by Terry Isenbarger and the choir by Steven Stargardt.

The choir will sing several numbers including "Alleulia" by Harris; "Fame" by Michael Gore; "I Know Where I'm Goin'" arranged by Zanielli and "Ease on Down the Road" from the Broadway musical "The Wiz" by Charlie Smalls.

Among the selections by the Symphonic Band will be "The Belle of Chicago" march by John Phillip Sousa; "Aria and Fugue" by Handel; highlights from the musical "Camelot" by Lerner and Loewe; "Odyssey" by Jay Chattaway and a collection of old favorites from the big band era entitled "Big Band Bash".

Special recognition will be given to the graduating senior members of the band. The John Phillip Sousa Award will also be presented.

Fashion show planned

Area 22 Michigan Association of Extension Homemaker Clubs will present an International Fashion Show at the McCune Art Center in Petoskey on Thursday, May 27, 1982 at 6:30-8:30 P.M. Tickets are available at the door. Donations will be accepted for Michigan State University College Week for Women scholarships.

Names In The News

Aquinas College of Grand Rapids, Michigan, has named 248 studeots to its 1981-82 Dean's List. Among them is SUSANNE L. GREENE, a senior from Charlevoix. The Dean's List honors those full-time students who possess an overall grade point average of at least 3.5 for the second semester of the previous academic year and the first semester of the current academic year.

Sherryl Bergmann, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bergmann will graduate from Butterworth Hospital School of Nursing in Grand Rapids on Friday, May 28, 1982 at 8:00 p.m. Sherry will receive her diploma from Mr. Donald Walchenbach, President of Butterworth Hospital, and her pin from Ms. Margaret Palermo, Director of the School of Nursing. After graduation, Sherry will be employed by Borgess Medical Center in Kalamazoo.

How to lose 101 pounds in a year? Eat right, says Vanderwall

When Tom Vanderwall looked across the dials on the hospital scales and grinned broadly at Dietitian Diane Charlebois, they shared a smile of success – 101 pounds of success.

For Vanderwall, East Jordan Funeral Home Director, the success means a new outlook on life.

To the Charlevoix Area Hospital Dietitian who helped him design the diet that saw him lose 101 pounds in less than a year, the success is further proof that the best path to weight loss is careful adherence to a balanced diet.

Ms. Charlebois, an advocate of good nutrition, worries about people who struggle with fad diets, endangering their health and usually not losing weight with any permanence.

Vanderwall and Charlebois discussed their year-long association recently.

"About a year ago, when I got on the scales, I could see 300 pounds coming at me on the dial. It scared me," Vanderwall recalled, saying that for the past several years he'd tried various methods of losing weight, with little success.

Vanderwall sought the advice of a Charlevoix Area Staff physician who referred him, in turn, to the hospital dietitian. The three worked as a team.

"Diane set me up on a 1200 calorie diet. The thing I liked about it was she wasn't rigid. She designed a diet that met my needs," Vanderwall described.

The physician, he said, instituted a program of weekly weigh-ins, at the doctor's office. Vanderwall and the doctor made a deal: If Vanderwall met his weekly weight loss goal he was not charged for an office call. If he did not meet the goal he paid the fee.

The three agree, it was the team work, that gained success.

Dietitian Charlebois, who counsels many people, with different dietary needs, analysed Vanderwalf'a habits. She learned he was a juck food-addict, constantly munching potato chips and pretzels hidden in file cabinets in his office.

The dietitian convinced Vanderwall to swear off junk food. Then she arranged a diet heavy on fruits and vegetables with a large dinner as a nightly reward for good eating habits all day.

Vanderwall bought a grill to cook steaks or shrimp, almost every evening. He was allowed a baked potato as well as more vegetables.

"It sounds expensive," the tall thin young man laughed, "but our grocery bill went way down when I gave up junk food, despite the steaks and shrimp."

He laughs, but recalls with sadness the pain and embarassment of growing up fat.

Last year he found himself worrying about his weight more than ever. He was approaching 30. His blood pressure was high and as a funeral director he was reading "obesity" as a cause of death on too many death certificates. He sought help.

It was not easy to walk into Charlevois Area Hospital and discuss his problems with the dietitian.

"I was embarrassed. But Diane was nice about it. And the diet she set up was designed for me and my needs. It was customized," he remembers.

Ms. Charlebois offers dietary counseling to many people, on recommendation of their physician. Customizing diets is her approach. People come to her not just to lose weight, but for advice on diets for a variety of medical needs – diabetics, heart patients, high blood pressure patients, even aspiring athletes.

For some, a one-time visit with the dietitian is all that's required. For others, more frequent visits are necessary so the patient may learn about their condition and good nutrition. In all cases, these patients, like Vanderwall, come on a physicians advice.

Frequently, hospitalized patients are referred to the dietitian. Before they leave the hospital they are provided printed dietary plans specific to their needs. Educating patients about their condition and proper diet is a major portion of the dietitian's daily job, as well as overseeing food preparation for the hospital.

It's not often that success is as stunning as a young man losing 101 pounds, but both patient and dietitian, is this case, are extremely proud.

As for Vanderwall, whose blood pressure is now at the level of an healthy athelete's, and who is anticipating buying his first bathing suit in fifteen years, so he can teach his children to swim, there's nothing like this kind of success.

Charlevoix Area Hospital dietician Diane Charlebois looks approvingly at the tale of the scale as does Tom Vanderwall who lost, through a medically planned diet, a total of 101 pounds in a year.

Opinion

Knight on the Town

Ozzy

by Dave Knight

Not since King Strang introduced polygamy and bloomers to Beaver Island has a visitor to the area created such a moralistic stir.

Rock musician Ozzy Osborne is coming to town with an act that many area people think needs a good spring cleaning. Osborne opens the summer concert season at Castle Farms Music Theatre on May 30.

Osborne's material is relatively obscure. Musically, it's loud, pulsating, highly produced and mostly forgettable as is a lot of contemporary rock music. His roots are with Black Sabbath, a heavy metal group that attracted a cult following in the Seventies.

Musical tastes aside, however, it's Ozzy's medium that seems to be his strongest message. Street talk, fueled by a spate of letters to the editor in the Petoskey News-Review and an enigmatic radio ad, has it that, in his act, Osborne bites the heads off live doves, blows up sheep and features poppies in an unprintable audience participation gimmick.

Further, it is said he worships Satan, a claim he is not very quick to deny judging from some of his lyrics, album covers and promotional material.

If nothing else, booking Osborne is a curious scheduling move for an outfit purportedly trying to soften its image.

"We are not going to be just a rock and roll theater any more," said Castle Farms owner Art Reibel last October. "By providing a more comfortable atmosphere for people and bringing in top names in country and western and popular music, we plan to provide a high quality source of entertainment for the area."

Although a schedule for upcoming concerts has not been released, mentions have been made of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and Willy Nelson as possible dates this summer. In an unprecedented act of wholesomeness, the Castle has even proposed doing a benefit for the Young Americans.

But first, ladies and gentlemen, Ozzy Osborne!

Does he really do what everybody says he does? Free Press reporter Bruce Britt covered his concert a few months ago in Detroit and said last week, in a telephone interview, that Osbourne's controversial bite does not live up to his bark.

"Ozzy is a rough act, no doubt about it. I don't envy his audience at all," said Britt, "But he didn't do anything to any live animals on stage." What he did do, according to Britt, was munch on a dead bat thrown onto the stage by a concertgoer who had evidently already had supper.

For that bit of effect, Osborne paid a painful price; a series of rabies shots. Chances are that Ozzy has since become a little more selective in his eating habits.

"It's all hype," says Britt of the wild rumors that invariably precede an Osborne concert, "Fifteen minutes after his concert in Detroit was over, the crowd was still standing, waiting for something to happen. It naver did."

The trouble with pinning a "truth in advertising" rap on Osborne is that he never really says he is going to do all these gross things. He hints that he might: Using a tactic pioneered by H.H. Barnum, his local radio advertising claims that the end of his Castle Farms act is too bizarre to be aired.

Like Barnum, Osborne's success depends on a high gullibility quotient; if suckers are truly born as often as Barnum said, Ozzy is assured of an audience for a long time to come.

Perhaps more troubling to many area people is his reported religious - or anti-religious - persuasion. His dedication to Satan, some say, is evident in all his major works and pervades his entire act.

Community concern over this has been voiced in many quarters, but none more surprising than that hotbed of rock and roll, Charlevoix High School. While discussing the situation in senior English Monday, some students got upset enough to start a city-wide petition asking that Osborne be banned from the Castle stage. They gathered 102 signatures just that afternoon and nobody they approached, students or adults, turned them down.

"We object to the subliminal messages of devil worship in his music," said Margo Smith, one of the petitioners, "I only know of a couple of kids here at high school who have said they are going to the Osborne concert."

If there is a Courage of Conviction award at graduation, these kids should get it. Imagine. Teenagers standing up and willing to be counted for what they believe. Somehow I feel a lot better about that generation now.

The issue of censorship remains, however.

Like him or not, by that sometimes hard to swallow quirk of the American way, Osborne has a right to perform as long as he doesn't break any laws.

How can there be artistic freedom when there is no art, you say? Remember; that's been said about a lot of free spirits over the years.

Legislating taste never works. Ask a Russian. The best way to send Ozzy a message is to not pay to see him. If he wants to eat dead bats, let him do it in the privacy of an empty theater.

I think the novelty will wear off in a short hurry.

Letters: Thanks for the coverage

Dear Editor:

We would like to thank Anne Kelly and the Charlevoix Courier for your coverage of the SAFE Committee and its Conference at Boyne Mountain.

The topic of child sexual abuse has long been one of which few people were willing to recognize as a problem in Northern Michigan. The SAFE (Sexual Abuse Family Education) Committee, a group of professionals from the human services field, was formed to provide education to the community on child sexual abuse. Membership in the SAFE Committee is not restricted. We gladly welcome all who are interested to the next SAFE Committee meeting on Wednesday, May 19th at 3:30 p.m. at the Char-Em Intermediate Service Center in Charlevoix. If any interested person wishes more information and cannot attend this meeting, please feel free to contact any SAFE member.

The response received to the Conference and the objectives of SAFE have been positive. The SAFE Committee looks forward to continued cooperation with the Charlevoix Courier.

Sincerely,
The SAFE Committee

Clockwise

Tax increase now?

by Bob Clock

ABSOLUTELY the last thing Michigan needs in these perilous times is a tax increase — but that is precisely what we are going to get.

Last week, after a series of heart-warming "no" votes, our state senators could no longer stand the pressure from the governor's office and voted a 20 per cent increase in the state income tax, retroactive to April 1 and effective for six months, ending just before the fall elections.

Since few businesses have the stomach for socking their employees with a retroactive tax, the state says it will wait for the April and early May installments until early next year, when it will wring the money out of your hide at income tax filing time.

I tell you, those people in Lansing are all heart.

What bothers me most about the income tax hike is that Michigan has missed a splendid opportunity to whittle down the size of state government to within manageable limits. The padded staffs, the excessive perks, the bloated salaries of petty functionaries all could have been trimmed back using our present economic duress as an excuse. No one would have blinked an eye.

Then all of our elected representatives would have been expected to take a solemn oath on a stack of tax receipts that they are dedicated to the concept of a lean, taut government that will never again spend a penny of the public purse wantonly or capriciously.

Gov. Milliken probably wouldn't have been able to squeeze the needed votes for the tax increase out of the Michigan Senate if it hadn't been for the threat of a lower credit rating when Michigan goes — hat in hand — to the New York lending institutions to borrow money.

Moody's — one of the top credit rating concerns in the country — had threatened to lower Michigan's rating because of our financial difficulties and Milliken insisted the rating could be saved if Michigan levied more taxes.

So the Senate was led down the garden path and dutifully passed the tax increase. The next day Moody's went right ahead and lowered Michigan's credit rating to rock bottom. As a result, we are stuck with both higher taxes and lousy credit.

What Michigan needs, of course, is to have the auto companies cut the price of their products in half to get the state moving again. But that isn't about to happen in the foreseeable future.

AFTER ONE of the worst winters in modern history, it is surprising how swiftly spring has arrived.

Our backyard garden is already planted — tomatoes and all — and activity at the city gardens should reach fever pitch this week.

Of course, we need rain desperately, but the weather has been ideal for outdoor work.

Snowbirds still in Florida are advised to hurry home. They're missing the best part of the year.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Michael W. Mol

Wolf-Mol

Kristine Wolf of Higgins Lake and Michael W. Mol of Prudenville exchanged their wedding vows in a double ring ceremony solemnized Saturday, May 1, at the Markey Baptist Church at Higgins Lake.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard O. Wolf of Roseville and Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Mol of Charlevoix.

The Rev. James Kent officiated at the service before an altar graced with arrangements of coral and white gladioli. Diane Case, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding march and recessional and, with Steven Oppy, guitarist, accompanied the soloist, Daniel Little.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. For her wedding she selected an ivory satin gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, a fitted bodice accented with lace and seedpearls and a full skirt with a chapel length train. A Juliet cap secured her fingertip veil of bridal illusion edged with lace. She carried a bouquet of fresh and silk coral roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath.

Sandra Dacsayi and Kim Purvis served as honor attendants and Shari Mol of Charlevoix as bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of peach polyester styled with tulip sleeves. They carried bouquets of silk assorted flowers.

Terry L. Mol of Midland served as his borther's best man. Donald G. Mol of Charlevoix, brother of the bridegoom, and Gary Wolf of Roseville, brother af the bride, were groomsmen and seated the guests.

A dinner reception, hosted by the bride's parents followed at the Holiday Inn at Houghton Lake.

After a wedding trip to Freeport in the Grand Bahamas, the couple will live at Prudenville.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Michigan with a degree in Wildlife Biology and is employed at the Roscommon State Bank. The bridegroom, a graduate of Lake Superior State College with a degree in Criminal Justice, is a Conservation Officer with the Department of Natural Resources of the State of Michigan.

Engagement

Tami J. Mann

Mann-Duree

The engagement has been announced of Tami J. Mann of Charlevoix to James E. Duree, also of Charlevoix. She is the daughter of Ed and Judy Mann, Rt. 2, Novotny Rd. and he is the son of Don and Clara Parsell, 1409 Bridge St.

The bride-to-be has attended Northern Michigan University and Ferris State College. she is currently employed as a cashier at Glen's Market in Charlevoix. The prospective groom is employed at the Medusa Cement Company.

An August 7, 1982 wedding is planned.

Christine Ann Carey

Carey-Carter

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Carey of Charlevoix have announced the engagement of their daughter, Christine Ann, of Cincinnati, Ohio, to Dennis D. Carter, also of Cincinnati.

Christine is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and Ferris State College and is currently employed in the Marketing Department of the Cincinnati Reds.

Carter is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and is presently a lay-pastor at Elmwood-Carthage Presbyterian Church. A July 31, 1982 wedding is planned at College Hill Presbyterian Church in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carlson

Miller-Carlson

Susan Miller and Jack Carlson were married Saturday evening, May 1, in a candlelight service at the Charlevoix Community Reformed Church.

Approximately 250 guests witnessed the double-ring ceremony performed by the Reverend Larry Grooters.

The bride is the daughter of Michael Miller of Charlevoix and Mrs. Terry Reid of Gastonia, North Carolina. Both parents escorted her down the aisle. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Carlson of Charlevoix.

For her wedding, the bride wore a long ivory satin blouson gown with lace insets at the neck and wrists. She carried an ivory candle.

Nanci Miller served her sister as maid of honor, with Kim Schnackenberg, Pam Hankins, Alison Smith, and Sara Dickinson serving as bridesmaids. Miss Miller wore a floor-length gown of apricot satin and the bridesmaids wore floor-length gowns of copper satin. They all carried ivory candles.

Junior attendants were Michelle Carlson, sister of the bridegroom; Marcy and Monica Holton, cousins of the bridegroom; and Daniel, Scott, and James Rainey, stepbrothers of the bride.

Norman Carlson, Jr. served his brother as best man, with John Grooters, Pat Camilleri, and Kirk Heckendorn serving as groomsmen. Steve McGoire, cousin of the bridegroom, was a junior groomsman. Mark Drenth, Kurt Williams, Jeff Peters, and Kenneth Otmanowski seated the guests.

Following the ceremony, a reception, hosted by the newlyweds' families, was held at the American Legion Hall. Robert and Maxine Drenth assisted with the arrangements. Mr. and Mrs. Reid hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Yellow Submarine on Friday evening.

The newlyweds will spend the summer in Gastonia but will return to Western Michigan University in the fall.

Legion Auxiliary planning for Memorial Day parade

Plans for the Memorial Day parade were made at a recent meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary held at the post home following the monthly potluck supper held in cooperation with the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion.

Auxiliary members will march in the annual parade scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. Monday, May 31, at State St. and Park Ave. Those members unable to walk the distance will ride in a vehicle donated by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bosa. Members will meet at the V.F.W. post home for refreshments following the parade.

Plans were also made for the June 1 potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. with post members. Separate meetings of the two organizations will follow.

Mrs. George Lochner, 1982 Poppy Sales chairperson, reminded members of Poppy Days May 21-22 and asked that all members aid in selling the poppies made by disabled veterans. Proceeds are used for service work for veterans and their families.

Mrs. Josephine Bindi, Community Service chairman, reported that 18 get-well cards and a sympathy card had been mailed to members.

Members also volunteered to make cakes for the annual Senior Citizens dinner hosted by the American Legion and V.F.W. posts and their Auxiliaries. This year the dinner was held at the V.F.W. Post Home.

Mrs. Ivy Woodcock was welcomed as a new member.

Battle with weeds can be won early in season

The gardener's biggest problem is usually not bugs, plant diseases or weather. It's weeds. And the best time to deal with weeds is early, while they're still small.

In fact, start a year ahead to prepare your garden spot for crops, and you can eliminate a lot of weeds before you plant your first seeds..

Lee Taylor, Michigan State University Extension horticulturist, advises removing sod and working the soil regularly, starting the summer before you want to garden. Removing sod or smothering it with plastic, old carpet scraps or sheets of cardboard eliminates bothersome grasses. Then tilling occasionally destroys weeds that have sprouted and brings up weed seeds buried in the soil. After these germinate, till again. Eventually you will have reduced the supply of weed seeds in the soil.

Plant seeds or transplants in freshly prepared soil, Taylor advises. This gives seeds at least an equal chance against weeds and puts off the need to weed for a while.

Mulch over freshly weeded soil, too, he adds. Mulching tends to be more effective in preventing weed growth than in smothering existing weeds.

The first green carpet of annual weed seedlings usually appears in the garden in June, Taylor observes. Attack these weeds while they're still in the seedling stage, scraping them off at soil level. If you do this on a hot, sunny day, the sun should kill the plants for you.

It's important to scrape the weeds rather than chop them off, Taylor notes. Chopping or working the soil in any way brings weed seeds to the surface where they can germinate.

The longer you let weeds grow, the more time and effort it will take to get rid of them, Taylor points out. As they get larger, you will probably have to resort to hand pulling them. Do this on a hot, sunny day after rain or irrigation has softened the soil. Weeds will be easier to pull then, there'll be less chance of disturbing the roots of desirable plants, and the sun will kill the weeds you've pulled. If pulled on a cool day or in the evening, or before a rain, weeds may reroot; so remove them from the garden then.

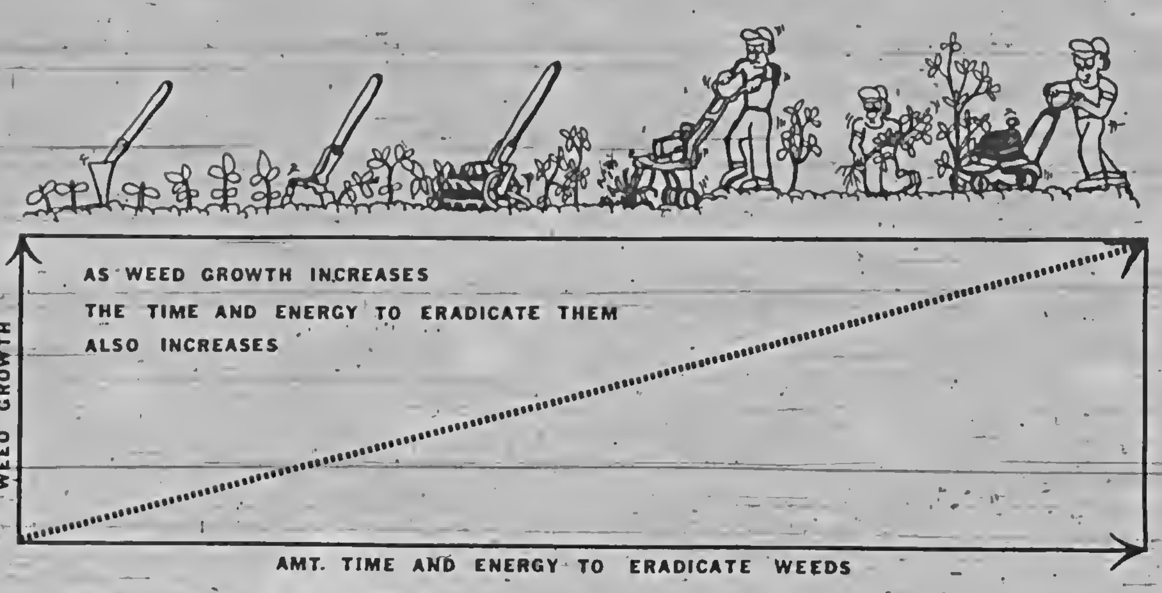
Some common garden weeds are edible, Taylor notes. Harvest lamb's quarters, purslane and others while young — most wild greens get bitter with age.

In a large garden, or in a small one where weeds have gained a foothold, you may have to resort to mechanical cultivation to control weeds. Rotary hoes, wheel hoes and powered garden tillers will do a good job between rows, but hand tools or hand pulling may still be necessary close to crops.

To halt a weed takeover you may even use your lawn mower. Close mowing between the rows on a hot, sunny day will set weeds back and maybe even kill them. It will at least give you a chance to employ mulches or hand cultivation to regain control.

If you choose to use mulches, be aware that straw, hay and lawn clippings can contain large numbers of weed seeds. Using any organic mulch — including these materials and shredded leaves, bark, sawdust, pine needles and ground corncobs — may tie up soil nitrogen until the materials decompose. Taylor recommends fertilizing around July 1, and possibly once or twice after that, to make sure plants are well supplied with nitrogen.

Chemical weed control with herbicides is generally not recommended for the home garden, he says. Though herbicides are available for use around almost any crop, the wide variety of crops in the home garden make it impossible to use just one chemical. And the chances of damage from drifting spray or movement of chemicals through the soil would outweigh the potential benefits.



Specialists answer some frequently asked May gardening questions

Garden Q. & A.

As the outdoor gardening season gets into full swing, the vegetable gardening questions begin to pile up. Extension specialists at Michigan State University answer some timely queries:

Q. I've been hearing a lot lately about raised beds for gardening. Are there any particular advantages to them?

A. If your yard is composed largely of subsoil from your basement or drainage is very poor; or if you have trouble getting up and down or bending over to work in the garden, a raised bed may be the only way to make gardening possible and productive. If there isn't a special reason to construct one, you may decide that the time and effort required aren't worth it.

The easiest type of raised bed to make is simply a ridge of soil. It will flatten out somewhat as the summer rains beat on it, of course. Therefore, most gardeners place cement block or treated lumber retaining walls around their beds. These keep the soil, plants and seeds where you want them. If you decide to make a raised bed, be sure to make it narrow enough that you can reach to the center from both sides. Note, too, that a raised bed garden tends to dry out faster than a conventional garden, especially if it's intensively planted.

Q. Can I start broccoli, cauliflower and other plants for a fall harvest outside in the garden instead of indoors under lights?

A. Yes. Sow seeds in a freshly prepared seedbed around the last of May or first of June. Thin plants to stand 2 to 3 inches apart when they start crowding or touch one another. This will give them room to grow until you're ready to transplants them into an area recently vacated by early planted peas or greens.

Q. Can I still plant tomato seeds for plants to transplant into the garden?

A. You can, but any plants started from seed in May will not start producing until late in the summer. This would give you a late crop for storing or preserving, but if you want tomatoes earlier, you'd better buy some plants.

Q. What is perlite? Why is it added to potting soil?

A. Perlite is an aluminum-silica rock of volcanic origin. When heated to about 1,800 degrees F, the grains puff up to 13 times their initial volume. The material is sterile, with a pH of 7.0-7.5. The small, white granules are added to soil for houseplants or bedding plants to improve aeration and drainage.

Q. When can I start harvesting asparagus from an established bed?

A. When it starts producing spears.

Q. Why does my neighbor say I shouldn't plant my pumpkins next to my squash?

A. Probably because your neighbor believes that cross-pollination between the pumpkins and squash will cause the fruits to be neither pumpkins nor squash but some sort of combination of the two. You don't need to worry about this happening. Though these and other closely related crops may cross-pollinate, only the seeds of this year's fruit will be affected. If you planted those seeds next year, the fruits of those plants produced might indeed resemble a half-squash, half-pumpkin.

Even without cross-pollination, saving seed from your garden crops can give you unexpected results. Most of today's top garden varieties are hybrids – varieties produced by careful crossing of two or more varieties to get a certain set of desirable traits. These hybrid varieties do not "breed true" – that is, their seed will not produce plants like the parent plants.

Q. Can I use sawdust from pines and other evergreens to acidify soil for rhododendrons?

A. Though the pine sawdust is slightly acidic, you would still have to add sulfur to the soil to make it acid enough for rhododendrons, blueberries and other crops that require acid soil. Remember, when using sawdust to increase organic matter in the soil, you will probably have to add some nitrogen, also, to make up for the nitrogen that will be tied up by soil bacteria as they break down the sawdust.

Q. I have an apple tree in my yard that is several years old but has never borne any fruit to speak of. Now I hear that it needs another variety present for pollination. Is there any way I can provide for its pollination needs without planting a tree and waiting for it to get big enough to flower?

A. Find out what variety you have and then fine someone who has trees of a suitable pollinating variety. Place a few small flowering branches taken from the other variety in a pail of water near your tree when it's in bloom. Bees visiting the branches will carry pollen from the branches to the flowers in your apple tree.

Rayder runners keep rolling; win Soo Invitational easily

The Charlevoix Rayders racked up 146½ points at the Soo Wednesday to win the Class C-D Soo Invitational meet sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

One meet official told Assistant Coach Wally Drenth, who had taken the team to the meet, that he had never seen a team take the Soo meet by such a big margin.

Boyne City placed second with 68 points among the 13 teams in the C-D class.

The Rayders took seven first places in the meet and compensated with a host of lesser places.

George Smith took first in the 110 high hurdles with a time of 16.53 after running in the slow qualifying heat.

Scott Shepherd was second in the 100 M. dash; John Tunison was second; Bill Dohm fourth and Lee Allard fifth in the 1600 M. run.

The 800 M. Relay team of Van Sloan, Tim Louiselle, Doug Sloan and Shepherd placed first with a time of 1:35.20; Van Sloan placed first, Doug Sloan second and Jim Martin third in the 400 M. dash. The winning time was :51.8.

The 400 M. Relay team of Tim Krueger, Mark Beaudoin, Dave Buday, and Louiselle came in fourth.

Jim Landon came in first; Doug Drenth third and Ron Way sixth in the 800 M. run with a time of 2:05.45.

Krueger came in first in the 200 M. run with a time of 24.04.

Bill Taylor took first and Matt Peterson third in the 3200 M. run with a time of 10:11.1

The Charlevoix 1600 M. Relay team of Martin, D. Sloan, Louiselle and V. Sloan captured first place with a time of 3:42.91.

Ross Carey with a toss of 49'11" took the shot put with Mark Oostmeyer in fifth and Beaudoin in sixth.

In the discus, Carey was second and Beaudoin third; Tony Starr was third and Larry Lemerand tied for sixth in the high jump; Shepherd placed second and V. Sloan fourth in the long jump.

Batsmen take five

The Charlevoix Rayders scored five victories last week but dropped the big one, 10-1 to Rogers City on Thursday.

On Saturday, the Rayders took two from Onaway by scores of 4-2 and 7-0; on Thursday they took a second game from Rogers City by an 8-7 score on a home run by Ken Spiegl and on Tuesday a doubleheader from Gaylord by scores of 12-1 and 19-3.

Tennis team wins first

A 4-3 victory over Boyne City highlighted the week for the Charlevoix Rayder tennis team for it marked their first successful outing of the current season.

"It was what we needed" Coach Carolyn Ubrick said of the victory.

In other matches played during the week, Charlevoix lost to Harbor Springs by a score of 6-1 and to Elk Rapids by a 5-2 margin.

In the match with Boyne City, the Rayder's singles won their matches for the win. Jeff Morgridge defeated Chris Kuhn 6-3, 6-1; Pete Cockfield won over Martin Newman 7-5, 6-3; Lisa Hoffman dropped her first set to Mitch Kruzel 2-6 then went on to take the match 6-1, 6-3; Andy Schaefer downed Sue Toffolo 6-1, 6-4.

The doubles did not fare as well as Mark Hodgson and Lisa Sisley lost to Tom Rickard and Bob Musser 6-2, 6-0; Greg Janz and Matt Landon lost to Jim Lindsay and S. Rickard 6-4, 6-3 and Sandy Miller and Heidi Sell lost to Tom Belanger and Andy Cosler 6-0, 6-1.

Girls make best showing yet

The Charlevoix girls track team made its best showing on the cinders this season last week when they piled up six first places for a total of 54 points against the winner, Petoskey, and Boyne City with 17 points.

The team will be at the Rogers City Relays Tuesday, at the Regional Class C meet at Traverse City Saturday and the Petoskey Relays the following Tuesday.

880 yd. run: 2. Molly Bolduc.

220 yd. run: 3. Loder.

Mile Relay: 2. Charlevoix (Cheryl Aull, Plagge, Pischner, Dohm).

Softball team is 13-2 on year

The Charlevoix Rayder softball team brought their record to 13-2 at week's end after defeating East Jordan 15-0 and 16-4 on Friday, Cheboygan Catholic 21-4 and 27-1 on Wednesday and Gaylord 9-7 while losing the opener 10-7 on Monday.

The team has a busy week ahead of them with games at Kalkaska Thursday, Central Lake here Friday and a return game with Petoskey Tuesday.

Holly Taber pitched a one-hit game against East Jordan with Deanne Skrocki, who allowed six hits, taking the loss. Meg Fowler and Rhonda Buchanan had two hits each and Bridget Noirot and Laura Kemp one each for Charlevoix with Tinea Thomas collecting East Jordan's single hit.

Kim Bolduc held East Jordan to three hits in the second game as Rayder hitters collected 13 and scored 18 runs. Donna Schroeder was the losing pitcher.

Taber had two singles, Laura Kemp two singles and two doubles and Fowler, Buchanan, Noirot, Bolduc, Wendy Olinger, Yolanda Chippewa and Amy Sell singles. Lorie Kraemer had two singles and Schroeder one for the losers.

In the team's 21-4 win over Cheboygan Catholic, Bolduc started and was relieved in the bottom of the third by Taber. The pair shut out Cheboygan Catholic. Karen Korte allowed 17 hits. Noirot had three; Fowler a double and two singles; Buchanan, Colleen LaBlance, Angie McClanaghan, and Sue Raginia, two singles each; Bolduc a triple; Kemp a double and Taber a single.

In the second game Taber was the winning pitcher, allowing five hits. Sally Neumann allowed 17. LaBlance accounted for five, Raginia three, Kemp two, Bolduc and Buchanan, doubles. Cindi Bauers, Korte, Neumann, Karen Doyle and Ann Swidorek had one each for Cheboygan.

Kathy Malone handed the Rayders their only loss of the week by a 10-7 score. Buchanan, the losing pitcher, allowed seven hits.

Malone had a triple and a double, Kelly Johnston two singles, Mary Mueller a single and a double, Debbie Bennett and Brenda Campbell, singles.

For Charlevoix Noirot had a triple, Taber a double and a single, Raginia, McClanaghan and Buchanan singles.

In the second game each team had seven hits. Taber was on the mound for Charlevoix and Campbell for Gaylord.

Norm Perkins helps open life's doors for handicapped students

by ANNE KELLY

After 13 years spent with the Intermediate School district, Norm Perkins still maintains enthusiasm for his work with children who have special needs and their parents.

"One of the favorite parts of my job," Norm stated, "is helping parents through that crisis they almost invariably face when they have a handicapped child."

Learning Disability, he explained, is called the "hidden handicap." It is diagnosed when a child who ought to be doing well or performing well in school is not. In recent years there has been a lot more understanding of Learning Disabilities on the part of parents and educators. Sometimes parents actually experience relief when they find that their child, who has been having problems, is diagnosed as having this problem. They seem better able to cope with and accept the limitation of a motor or perceptual disability than with vague and negative reports from school, such as "Your child is disruptive," or "He has a bad attitude and doesn't want to learn."

Norm has been working in the area of Learning Disabilities for the last 7 years. His present job entails the evaluation of youngsters suspected of having a handicap in the category of Learning Disability. It also involves the re-evaluation of clients to assure that they still meet the criteria for eligibility.

Norm's territory includes Central Lake, Ellsworth, East Jordan, Charlevoix and Beaver Island. He serves as consultant to teachers and parents recommending teaching strategies and materials used in teaching mainstreamed youngsters (those who have special needs but who attend regular class sessions). In this capacity Norm works as part of an inter-disciplinary team made up of a psychologist, a social worker, a speech therapist and himself, the diagnostic consultant on this team. His work finds him dealing with outside agencies, pediatricians and quite regularly with the Child Guidance clinic in Traverse City.

Norm Perkins

The students he works with may be on the elementary, middle or high school level. Not all Learning Disabilities are discovered in the pre-school years.

Graduating from Eastern Michigan University with a degree in Speech Pathology Norm subsequently received his M.A. from Eastern in Speech Pathology with a major emphasis in language acquisition. Further course work out of Michigan State University qualifies him in the area of Learning Disabilities. Norm reports having done a stint in the Army, having gone to pharmacy school and working for Monsanto Laboratories before deciding upon his career as a special education teacher.

Enjoying his work is part of a busy life for Norm, who serves as supervisor of Central Lake Township and enjoys outdoor activities with his family. He and his wife, Vicky, and two children make their home in Central Lake where they are restoring a century old home. A highlight of his leisure is motorcycle touring. Last year Norm and his 11 year old son embarked on a 4000 mile motorcycle trip to Nova Scotia and back through the New England States.

City of Charlevoix Council Minutes

May 10, 1982
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time in a Special Council Session with Mayor Staley presiding. The meeting was called by Mayor Staley to consider bids for one police vehicle and to consider awarding a contract for a power supply study.

Present: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Timms, and Roloff. Absent: Councilmembers Morris and Porter.

Council discussed the following bids as submitted by Erber Auto Co. for one (1) 1982 police vehicle:

MAKE	MODEL	NET PRICE WITH TRADE-IN
Ford	LTD, 4 dr.	$6,990.00 ($700 rebate included)
Ford	Fairmont Futura, 4 dr.	$6,950.00 (Rebate not available)

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Block to accept the bid of $6,990.00 as submitted by Erber Auto Co. for one (1) 1982 Ford LTD 4 dr. police vehicle.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Timms, and Roloff. Nays: None. Absent: Councilmembers Morris and Porter.

Richard Gorman, Executive Director of the Michigan Public Power Agency (MPPA), spoke to the Council regarding the possibility of the City buying into the Detroit Edison Belle River Power Plant through the MPPA. He also presented a written report of the 1981 operating statistics for Consumers Power Company's Campbell Power Plant, Unit 3, in which the City, through the MPPA, has already purchased two megawatts of power. Mr. Gorman recommended that the City contract for a power supply/demand study regarding the proposed purchase into the Belle River Plant in order to determine the amount of power the City should purchase, the advantages or disadvantages of participating in that particular plant, and the economical feasibility of the purchase.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Wood to award a contract for a Power Supply/Demand Study to Daverman Associates, Inc. at a cost of $7,000.00.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Timms, and Roloff. Nays: None. Absent: Councilmembers Morris, and Porter.

Council adjourned.

Dept. of Social Services reports burgeoning budget to county board

by PEG OHLE

With receipts amounting to $1,709,664.51 and disbursements amounting to $1,614,530.97 in 1981, the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services is definitely big business.

The Department's annual report, submitted to the County Board of Commissioners last week by Director Richard Tillen, divides its receipts into three different categories: from County funds, $222,929.23; from collections, $1,285,001.47; and from State reimbursements, $152,040.56.

The two largest collections, which came from several sources, were for Grandvue Medical Care Facility in the amount of $1,115,804.45 and for Grandvue Residential Care Facility in the amount of $145,557.47.

In the State reimbursement column, the largest amounts were $13,231 for early payment General Assistance, $33,366 for early payment Aid to Dependent Children, $66,029.39 for the Emergency Needs Program, and $33,316.07 for Emergency Energy Assistance.

Large disbursement amounts included $12,820 for early payment General Assistance, $36,355.50 for early payment Aid to Dependent Children, $68,599.49 for Emergency Needs Program, $31,223.37 for Emergency Energy Assistance, $15,277.30 for administrative costs, $1,166,651.75 for the Grandvue Medical Care Facility, $180,282.56 for the Grandvue Residential Care Facility, and $51,829 for capital outlay at Grandvue.

The Grandvue facilities were supported largely by funds from the following sources:

$310,655.83 from private funds for patient services, $48,365.98 from Medicare, $680,521 from Medicaid and General Assistance, $150,326.01 from a Medicaid supplemental fund, $32,303.07 from CETA (labor), $49,121.68 from the County Board (based on a per patient formula), and $21,244.62 from miscellaneous sources.

A statistical report shows that the Medical Care Facility had 95.4 percent occupancy during 1981 and the Residential Care Facility had 90.1 percent occupancy. The youngest person in Medical Care was a 44-year-old multiple sclerosis patient and the youngest person in Residential Care was 61 years old. The oldest person in Medical Care was 98 years old and the oldest in Residential Care was 95 years old. Ninety persons were admitted to the Medical Care Facility and 21 were admitted to the Residential Care Facility during the year.

The average cash basis cost per patient day at the Medical Care Facility was $44.39 and at the Residential Care Facility it was $20.35.

Statistics for the Department of Social Services outside of Grandvue also provide some interesting facts:

The staff consists of the equivalent of 28 and a half full-time State Civil Service employees. During the year, 8,369 persons logged in to see one of the employees. There were 4,846 Assistance Payments applications.

Following the 1981 cuts in Social Services programs, the local Department had an average of 1,098 ongoing cases. These included 323 Aid to Dependent Children (of which 84 were employed), 96 General Assistance, 262 Medicaid, 170 Non-Public Assistance Food Stamps, and 247 Supplemental Security Income. Each case worker averaged 129 ongoing cases.

In the Children's Service Program, the Department of Social Services received 62 commitments of children from Probate Court because of neglect and delinquency. It supervised 19 Children's Foster Care Homes. It received 102 Children's Protective Services referrals, of which 64 were substantiated. It processed 32 adoption referrals. It provided Emergency Shelter Homes for 45 children for an average stay of 14 days. It carried 108 ongoing Children's cases plus 24 Protective Services cases.

In the Adult Services Program, the Department received 19 Adult Protective Services referrals, of which 11 were substantiated. It supervised 16 Adult Foster Care Homes with 61 clients. It handled 59 Basic Adult Cases and provided home help to 60 clients. It provided employment and training for 290 employable adults. It made 110 Comprehensive Community Care Assessments for Grandvue, Adult Foster Care, and Adult Home Help.

In the Family Services Program, the Department supervised 56 Day Care Homes with 79 Day Care Aides and from 43 to 81 participants. It paid out $64,676.30 for Day Care. It assisted with the screening and diagnostic testing of 245 children.

In the Volunteer Services Program, 102 volunteers provided 2,637 hours of time to help 657 people.

They served as tutors, youth companions, transportation drivers and attendants, parent aides, contact persons, helping hands, and in many other capacities.

Burlews' new shop.

A new wooden sign by master craftsman Bruce Janssen hangs over the storefront at 110 Mason Street, where Paul and Katie Burlew have opened their gift shop called "Accents by Burlew Enterprises".

The Burlews, who moved to Charlevoix from California last year, have been in the mail order business, selling their handcrafted line of felt items. They will now be selling these items at retail and have added several other lines.

They have a line of California greeting cards depicting artwork by such Hollywood actors as Jonathan Winters, Carroll O'Connor, Henry Fonda, and Peggy Lee. Proceeds from the sale of these cards go to an animal care organization called "Actors and Others for Animals".

Another line of cards depicts monsters of all types with appropriate greetings. A line of note paper is decorated with faces of favorite actors.

Local artisans will be represented by the woodworkings of Res Supernaw and the woodcarvings of Gordon Neff.

Cindy Martin is G.S. Leader of the Month

Cindy Martin

Cindy Martin has been named Charlevoix Girl Scout Leader of the Month for May.

Cindy is a co-leader of Brownie Troop 261 and assists leader Debbie Sutherland. She became interested in scouting when her daughter Aimee became a scout.

Cindy wanted to help but was not sure she wanted an entire troop of her own at the time. Now, however, she has decided to assume the leadership of her own troop and will make that step this fall.

Says Cindy, "I think scouting is a learning experience for all involved. I would like these girls, from what we as leaders teach them, to carry something with them in their future lives; to help them be better persons. I am new to Charlevoix but through scouting I have met some wonderful people and no longer feel like a stranger."

In her spare time, Cindy plays baseball and does crafts and sewing. But her favorite hobby is collecting junk!

She is the mother of three children and her husband, Pat, is a self-employed welder.

Said Girl Scout publicity chairman Carolyn Olinger, "We are looking forward to a great future in scouting with Cindy."

V.F.W. to hold annual installation of officers

Charlevoix Post No. 1153, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and its Auxiliary will hold a joint installation of officers at the V.F.W. Post Home at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 20, members were advised at a recent meeting.

Entertainment will follow. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Albert Russell and Mrs. Melvin Plum assisted by Mrs. John Curtis and Mrs. Larry Finck. The latter inducted as a member recently.

At the same meeting, delegates were elected to the V.F.W. Department Convention to be held in Grand Rapids June 24-27. They are Mrs. Joseph Seidel, Mrs. Kenneth Staley, Mrs. James Whitley and Mrs. Clarence Goldstick. Alternates are Mrs. Albert Russell, Mrs. Plum and Mrs. Curtis.

All members were asked to march in the Memorial Day parade Monday, May 31. The parade will be organized at the usual site at Park Ave. and State St. at 10 a.m. Following the parade American Legion and V.F.W. members as well as Auxiliary members will meet at the V.F.W. home for refreshments. For members unable to march, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Boss will furnish transportation.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Seidel reported on the recent district meeting held at Kalkaska whose V.F.W. post is observing its fiftieth anniversary. Approximately 300 members from throughout the district were in attendance.

Mrs. Seidel reminded members of Poppy Days May 20-22 and asked all members to aid in selling the poppies with proceeds being used for service to local veterans and their families; to aid disabled veterans and their families and help support the V.F.W. Children's Home at Eaton Rapids. Approximately one percent is allocated for this purpose.

Mrs. Kenneth Staley advised that a Cancer Grant had been received by one of the members and also that cancer insurance had been paid for the member's hospitalization. Auxiliary members are covered by the insurance as part of their membership. The local Auxiliary continues to save green sales slips from Glen's Market which are redeemed and the funds donated to the V.F.W. Cancer Research Program.

Mrs. Goldstick reported that 30 members attended the recent Loyalty Day potluck supper for post and auxiliary members.

Members made cakes and assisted with the recent dinner at the V.F.W. post home honoring the Senior Citizens of the Community. More than 200 senior citizens attended the event. The dinner is hosted annually by the V.F.W. and the American Legion.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at 8 p.m. June 3 at the V.F.W. post home.

Hunt to hold office hours in each ward

Charlevoix City Manager Robert Hunt has announced that he will be setting up office hours in each of the city's three wards to make it easier for residents to meet with him and express their concerns.

The first session will be on Wednesday, May 26 in the Third Ward. On that day, Hunt will be at the American Legion Hall from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Any Third Ward residents with problems, suggestions or concerns regarding city government are invited to stop in.

Office hours for the Second Ward are tentatively set for June and in the First Ward, July. Times and locations for those wards have yet to be announced.

One of the primary purposes for the ward office hours, said Hunt, was "to get to know folks" and to make time available for them to express their ideas on city government.

Kristin Gilmore was one of the younger petunia planters on hand for Saturday's event.

All 30,000 petunias planted in short order

A blooming success!

by DAVE KNIGHT

"A lot of Charlevoix people with big hearts helped paint the town with petunias."

So said organizer Dale Boss Saturday after about 500 local residents turned out to take part in "Operation Petunia", the unique beautification project in which 30,000 petunias were planted along both sides of Hwy. 31 for almost its entire two-mile stretch through the city.

Planting started almost as soon as the flats of flowers were placed along the curbs at 7 a.m. Volunteers completed the task amazingly by 10:06 a.m. when Mrs. Joyce Totten planted the last petunia in front of Olesons grocery store.

As work progressed quickly on the north side, teams of planters were transported by Bay Queen trolley to the south side areas in need of reinforcements. Correct spacing of the flowers was made easy by custom made templates from the workbench of Clarence Goldstick.

Another planter with ingenuity was Frank Zednicek who devised a tool with which he could plant petunias without bending over.

Kiwanians directed traffic through town which was channeled by highway markers from four into two lanes along the planting route.

Watering of the flowers was handled by Fire Chief John Martin who, with four volunteers, used the department's tanker to pour 4,000 gallons of water onto the flower beds.

Following the planting, about 400 participants and well-wishers attended a picnic lunch in East Park coordinated by Alvin Ranger. Entertainment lined up by Earl Parrault included the Keelhaulers and the Charlevoix High School Performing Arts students.

Said Bruce MacArthur, president of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, the sponsoring organization, "The whole project has been a great success."

Busy as beavers, hundreds of petunia planters such as those shown above on the north side went to work early and were finished in a couple hours.

As groups of volunteers finished one area, they were transported to another by the Bay Queen trolley.

TIF plan for parking lot doesn't make it

by DAVE KNIGHT

Charlevoix's fledgling Downtown Development Authority (DDA) received a setback Monday night when the City Council rejected the group's plan to finance a downtown parking lot through tax increment financing.

By a 3-2 vote the council effectively postponed for this year any project using tax increment finance funding since the deadline for approval of such financing is the end of May.

The DDA had proposed to purchase property belonging to Drew Young located next to the Post Office, demolish the existing vacant house and create a parking lot on the site.

According to DDA spokesman Michael Greeley, co-owner of the Wharfside Market, the project was tentatively budgeted at $95,000 though negotiations had not been completed with Young on a purchase price.

Opposition to the tax increment financing (TIF) plan was registered by officials from the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners and the Charlevoix Board of Education.

Under tax increment financing, revenue is accumulated by taking the assessed valuation of the TIF district - in this case the area within the DDA boundaries - and dedicating any increase in tax revenue for a ten-year period in the district toward the stated project.

School board member Kenneth Boss presented the council Monday night with a resolution passed by the board opposing the plan. Boss explained that since the Charlevoix School District was an "out of formula" district that receives no substantial state aid, there was no way the district could be reimbursed by the state for funds lost to the DDA.

Boss also pointed out that, under the state law defining its options, the DDA had six other means to finance downtown parking. In its resolution, in fact, the school board "encourages downtown development under any other means of financing."

Using a tentative ten-year budget of $93,138, the DDA projected that the school district would face a cost of $8,763 the first year, $10,486 the second year and $4,352 annually in years three through ten for a total cost over ten years of $54,065.

Greeley pointed out that the cost to the schools represented less than a quarter of one percent of the school district budget for the first year and diminished in percentage of total budget in following years.

Said Greeley, "We're not talking about a whole lot of dollars."

Other sample costs in the first year included $624 to the Char-Em District, $1,404 to the county and $4,210 to the city.

Char-Em superintendent James Shepard also opposed the plan at the council meeting saying, "Improvements under this type of financing should be revenue producing and self-supporting."

He voiced concern over the precedent that would be set for other governmental units in the Char-Em district.

"Such action taken by one municipality places a tax burden on all the other units in the district," said Shepard, "We strongly urge you (the council) to seek other methods of financing."

A compromise similar to that reached in Harbor Springs recently between that community's DDA, its school district and Emmet County, was not able to be reached in Charlevoix. Said Greeley, "We thought we had an agreement with the school board and the county but we did not."

Opposition among council members centered on the projected DDA budget. Council members James Block and Ray Wood both expressed dissatisfaction at the proposed $59,000 purchase price of the property saying the figure was way too high.

Council member Shirley Roloff's concern was over the lack of a spending limit built into the TIF plan. "Why can't we put a lid on it?" she said.

Support came from council member Jeffrey Porter who said, "It (tax increment financing) is a fair way of solving the problem. The budget is modest and perhaps too modest. I would rather see the property paid off as soon as possible instead of dragging it out over ten years."

Retail Merchants Association president Linda Mason refuted claims that the downtown was not in need of the program saying, "The downtown has been decaying over the past four or five years. It is the focal point of the community and if people driving through don't like what they see, they simply won't stop."

To the alternative of special tax assessments for downtown parking, Greeley said, "We as businessmen have enough problems with taxes in this state without the extra burden of a special assessment."

Voting against the TIF ordinance were Roloff, Wood and Block while Robert Timms and Porter cast the two supporting votes.

Religious community responds to Osbourne

by DAVE KNIGHT

Counter offensives have been launched in the controversy surrounding rock musician Ozzy Osbourne's May 30 concert at Castle Farms Music Theatre.

Prompted by rumors that Osbourne features the mutilation of animals and Satanic worship in his act, at least two major response activities have been scheduled this week by religious organizations.

In another development, Stroh's Brewery has withdrawn its association with the Osbourne concert after receiving a number of letters and phone calls protesting Osbourne's alleged onstage antics.

Stroh's is a co-sponsor of the entire 1982 summer concert series at Castle Farms but company spokesmen have indicated that the company will remove its name from any material promoting the Osbourne concert because of the public outcry.

At an unprecedented joint meeting of the Charlevoix County Ministerial Association and the Petoskey Area Ministerial Association in Horton Bay last Thursday, over 40 area clergymen agreed to submit a letter of disapproval to concert promoters and also to sponsor a rally to be held Tuesday evening in Petoskey.

Said Austin Regier, former pastor of the Charlevoix United Methodist Church, of the Thursday meeting, "I've been here over seven years and I've never seen a turnout like this."

The meeting was chaired by Larry Staton and Michael Mitchell, presidents respectively of the Petoskey area and Charlevoix County associations. Participants wrestled first with a stronger resolution seeking the cancellation of the Osbourne concert but eventually agreed to limit their response to a letter drafted by the two presidents registering the group's disapproval.

In the letter sent to Pyramid Productions, promoters of the concert, Mitchell and Staton write, "...We are opposed to Ozzy Osbourne's alleged inhumane and hideous actions performed on stage and his alleged encouragement of participation in such actions on the part of his audience. Furthermore, as churches uniting, we are vitally concerned with the Satanic content of the musical lyrics which blatantly abuse our moral consciousness and the subliminal messages employed which violate our basic human rights."

Other activities discussed at the Thursday meeting included the actual witnessing by members of the clergy of Osbourne's act at Castle Farms and the holding of a prayer meeting outside the perimeter of the concert grounds.

The primary emphasis, however, will be on a special presentation scheduled for Tuesday night at the Petoskey High School gym by Battle Creek minister Michael Mills. Mills has developed a multi-media presentation entitled "Hidden and Satanic Messages in Rock Music? You Decide!"

According to Mills, several rock music compositions, when played backward, reveal subliminal messages exhorting the devil.

In a separate response, the Charlevoix Ministerial Association is planning a prayer-fast for 8 p.m. this Friday at the Christ Episcopal Church.

Weather doesn't improve slump

The hoped-for good building weather has arrived in Charlevoix County, but as of last week there were no signs of a construction upturn.

During the first four-and-half months of the year, permits for building only 22 new houses in the County were processed by the County Department of Building Inspection. Included in the 22 were 11 permits for Senior Citizens houses in Boyne City which were started last year but held up for final approval on energy code specifications.

Permits for all types of construction in the County numbered 104 at the end of April, with estimated construction costs amounting to $2,039,250. Among these permits is one for a large recreation building at the Lake Louise Christian Association camp in Hudson Township and numerous addition and remodeling projects for both residential and commercial buildings.

County parks budget

The Charlevoix County Parks & Recreation Commission hopes to receive $23,400 for 1983 operations.

A preliminary budget in that amount was approved by the Commission at its April meeting. Budget figures are:

Wages, Philo Sumner, $8,000; wages, labor, $2,500; postage, $100; printing and binding, $100; other supplies, $2,000; contractual services, $600; telephone, $350; advertising, $100; utilities, $4,000; building repairs, $1,000; repairs and improvements, $3,000; Commission expense, $1,500; miscellaneous, refunds, $150.

In addition, the Commission is asking $1,000 in capital outlay for two file cabinets and equipment and an Army surplus truck.

Wrong party!

It would have been bad enough if the Courier had simply mis-spelled his name, but putting him into the wrong political party was too much for Oscar W. Ward. Two weeks ago we reported he was a candidate for re-election to the County Board of Commissioners on the Republican ticket. Everyone knows that Ward is a Democrat, even though he once attended a Republican picnic and walked off with a door prize.

Charlevoix Post No. 1153, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and its Ladies Auxiliary held a joint installation at the post home recently.

Kenneth A. Staley, Past Post Commander, was the installing officer for the post and Mrs. Harley Warner presided at the installation of the Auxiliary officers.

Mrs. Joseph Seidel, Sr., was installed as president; Mrs. Albert Russell, Senior Vice President; Mrs. Robert Rajewski, Junior Vice President; Mrs. Kenneth Staley, secretary; Mrs. Angela Borths, Chaplain; Mrs. Clarence Goldstick, conductress; Mrs. Keith Wagner, guard; Mrs. Thomas Hodgkinson, Mrs. Ivan Phillips and Mrs. Donald White, trustee; Mrs. White, patriotic instructor.

Appointed as color bearers were Mrs. Hodgkinson, Mrs. John Curtis, Mrs. Larry Finck and Mrs. Gertrude Holt; Mrs. James Whitley was named American flag bearer and Mrs. Phillips, Auxiliary banner bearer.

Installed as officers of the post were Clement Olach, Post Commander; Burr Blanchard, Senior Vice Commander; Robert Rajewski, Junior Vice Commander; F. Joseph Seidel, Chaplain; Clarence Rabach, Quartermaster; Clarence Goldstick, Adjutant; Albert Russell, Sergeant-at-Arms; Edwin "Pete" Zeitler, Goldstick and Donald White, Trustees.

Appointive officers will be named by the Post Command and Auxiliary at a later date.

Mrs. Seidel as president in 1981-82 was presented with a Past President's pin and Donald White, Retiring Post Commander, with a Past Post Commander's pin. Mrs. Goldstick received a special award from the State Auxiliary Membership chairman, Elizabeth Oven, for having recruited seven new Auxiliary members during the past year.

Thirty-five members were present for the installation ceremony.

Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Melvin Plum, Mrs. Finck and Mrs. Curtis served refreshments following the close of the impressive ceremony.

The next meetings of the post are scheduled for May 25 and June 8. The Auxiliary will meet June 3. All members are urged to attend and visitors are welcome.

Members of both organizations are urged to participate in the Memorial Day Parade.

No-till planting to be tried out in Charlevoix area experiment

by PEG OHLE

Approximately 200 acres of rural Charlevoix farmland will be turned into no-till corn fields this year in a project to illustrate the feasibility of no-till planting.

The farmland is located in an area covered with cigar-shaped hills known geologically as "drumlins". It is land that has been tilled in the past by standard moldboard plowing, a practice which has caused critical erosion and resultant loss of fertile top soils.

This Agricultural Conservation Project is being coordinated by the Soil Conservation Service, the County Extension Service, and the Soil Conservation District. A local farmer has donated a corn planter which has been modified for no-till planting. The County Extension Director and the District Conservationist will work along with the corn growers during the actual application of herbicides and during the complete planting operation on a one-to-one basis.

A news release from the Soil Conservation Service states that the Service believes no-till planting, minimum tillage, residue management, and maintaining adequate cover are viable methods of farming.

"We expect the demonstration of these practices to lead to the purchase of additional no-till planters and increased no-till acreage in the future as producers learn the methodology for carrying out these cost-effective conservation practices," the release explains.

To this end, the Soil Conservation Services of Charlevoix and Emmet Counties have applied to the United States Department of Agriculture for $27,450 to cover the cost of treating approximately 2,800 acres of farmland in the two counties for no-till practices.

The request for funds is now under consideration in Washington, according to Helen Dietz of the Charlevoix County Soil Conservation Service.

Some CETA jobs to be available this summer

A number of young people ages 16 to 21 who come from low income families will once again have an opportunity for summer work under the CETA Summer Youth Employment and Training Programs.

Although funds for the programs have been cut, there will be some jobs available, according to Dan Kluzinski, who is in charge of administering the program in the Regional Office in Traverse City.

As in past years, there will be a residential work camp on Beaver Island for two five-week sessions. Young people will live and work on the Island Mondays through Fridays and be paid $3.35 an hour. The work will be mostly outdoors – building a log cabin, laying out nature trails, maintaining buildings, etc. There will also be some academic work, including field biology and remedial reading and math where needed.

Another program provides jobs working for public agencies such as schools, hospitals, cities, the County, and similar sites. An attempt is made to match workers' skills and interests with the jobs, Kluzinski said.

Locally, the programs are under the direction of Nancy Miller at the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, phone 547-5121.

Memorial Garden gets spruced up

The Memorial Garden established and maintained by the Charlevoix Area Garden Club underwent some spring cleanup last week.

Site Planning & Development put in a fresh layer of chips and made some plans for extending the area.

The garden, located on the islands of Mercer Boulevard at the east end of Dixon Avenue, was established by the Club in 1977, at which time the City Council, by resolution, added the islands to the City Park System. Modification can come only through a public hearing.

Shrubs and trees of this garden are made possible through contributions from the public. Many of them are memorial contributions, including memorials to Frank Webb, John Uhrick, Joseph Uhrick, Daniel Schoelberger, Elsie and Edward Clagett, Arlo Wickersham, Harley and Mildred Ochs, Curtis Burlin, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Francis, Hobert Olach, Raymond Close, Hubert and Mildred Paddock, Doris Ochs, Mrs. H. H. Yoder, Kenneth McLean, Irene Young, Anthony Stabnick, Albert Sutton, Marian Purdy, Trina Nelson, Frank Novotny, Edward Golden, Gordon Freedman, Mabel Cromwell, Mrs. May Smith, Ida Edwards, Floyd Martin, Floyd Chamberlain, George Cook, Jerrine Durni, and Tony Olszewski.

The Memorial Garden will be extended as funds become available. Anyone interested in contributing to a living memorial may do so by either picking up an envelope at the Winchester Funeral Home or by contacting Mrs. Robert Close, 201 Cherry Street, 547-9863.

Fairport services the HJEMKOMST

by TOM DAMMANN

LORAN C, a long range navigation system by which a boater can pinpoint his location within a quarter of a mile, will assist the crew of the HJEMKOMST, a replica of an ancient Viking Dragon ship, in a manner the earlier Vikings might think magic.

If truth be known, many a present day sailor might agree.

The Loran equipment was to be installed this week at Sault Ste. Marie when the canoe-like 76 foot long vessel with its square sail arrived there from Duluth, Minn., on the first leg of its 4,000 mile voyage to Norway.

A week ago Saturday two members of the 13 person crew, Tom Asp and Dennis Morken, both electrical engineers, came to Charlevoix overland to pick up the equipment and receive instructions on its installation and use from Frank North, an electronic engineer at Fairport Marine Electronics Marina.

Fairport is one of the few marine establishments on the Great Lakes which promotes, installs and services LORAN C navigational instruments. It is, in fact, the only full time exclusive marine electronics marina in northern Michigan.

It is the distributor for SRD (Smoller Research and Development Corp., Campbell, Calif.). The two HJEMKOMST crewmen had made contact with Fairport through one of its agents, the Range Corp. in Marquette. Fairport and SRD became sponsors of the venture, selling the basic equipment at cost and furnishing the crew with hours of instructions as well as necessary ancillary equipment. In return the crew will supply Fairport with readings and other operational technical information from the North Atlantic.

The current recession doesn't seem to have affected Fairport's business.

"We weren't sure how seriously our customers are affected by the bad economic times, but our business is fine, every bit as good as last year," says David H. Patrie, Fairport General Manager. "We have our fingers crossed. But it seems that people still want to take their vacations. It's been like a zoo around here for the past month."

Fairport's specialists sell and install radar equipment, radio telephones, automatic pilots, fish finders, and depth indicators. Prices range from a few hundred dollars to the thousands.

Patrie explains that Fairport's customers are owners of large yachts, both power and sail.

"The small boat industry is the one that is really suffering," he observes.

Aside from the yachting customers, regular users of Fairport services include the ferries which serve Mackinac Island.

This past winter Fairport personnel put on demonstrations and workshops for powerboat squadrons, yacht clubs and conventions in Toledo, Ohio, Saginaw, Bay City and Marquette.

In 1956 the property which is now Fairport, was purchased by David's father, Geoffrey A. Patrie, now 91, who made it into a small marina. He took in a partner who had a TV service and was an ham radio operator, so it was natural to specialize in marine electronics.

David, who had become an electronics specialist in Milwaukee moved to Charlevoix in 1962 and joined his father. It is one of four such marinas in the state, two of the others in the Detroit area, with the other in Holland.

In 1979 the family sold Fairport to Donald H. Perrey of Fort Wayne, Ind., who kept David on as general manager. Perrey keeps his beautiful ketch "Someday" at Fairport, where it is frequently used for demonstration. Perrey also maintains a vacation home on Lake Charlevoix and an apartment at Fairport.

THE HEALTH FAIR held recently at the Charlevoix Area Hospital attracted over 150 people who visited booths featuring blood pressure testing, as shown above, hemoglobin testing and information on preventive medicine. Lending a carnival atmosphere to the fair were clowns Jan Ballard, below left, and Diane Charlebois, both of the hospital staff. Participants were also offered literature and information from such organizations as the Cancer Society and Heart Association. At the entrance to the fair, the Lions Club vision and hearing screening trailer offered free tests. The Health Fair was part of Charlevoix Area Hospital's series of programs for the public in preventive medicine and health awareness.

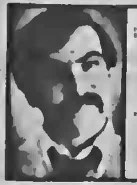
Opinion



Knight on the Town

You steer, I'll drive

by Dave Knight

Question: What has four arms, four eyes, two heads and three legs?

Answer: The Oscar Stroud-Dale Boss driving team.

It figures that whenever you put the horse sense of a Dutchman together with some strong German determination, you're going to get done what has to be done.

That was the case a couple weeks ago when Oscar had a little accident.

Seems he was on his rounds driving north on Petoskey Ave. when he passed Dale going the other way. In the brief moment he took to wave, he was distracted just enough not to see the Michigan Bell service vehicle parked alongside the road.

"Reach out, reach out and touch someone!"

Oscar followed the phone company's advice a might too literally and touched their truck in no uncertain terms.

Dale saw what happened and returned to the scene.

The front end of the Stroudmobile was crumpled but Oscar remained in the driver's seat. That did not seem unusual at first since Oscar characteristically likes to do as much business without getting out of the car as possible.

But this time he didn't have much choice.

"Can't move the leg," be told Dale.

The two of them surmised the situation. Oscar had to go to the hospital. The car was driveable. But his right ankle was in bad shape and he couldn't work the pedals.

Other, less resourceful souls would have probably called for an ambulance. But not Dale and Oscar. Besides, how would it look for the township supervisor to ride in a city ambulance?

Dale simply climbed in next to Oscar, put his left foot on the brake and his right on the accelerator, and, with Oscar doing the steering, the two proceeded calmly to Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Oscar may have been the first car accident victim to drive himself to the emergency room.

As it turned out, Oscar did indeed break his ankle and is now getting around in a cast. Rumor has it that only after refusing to work on his ankle in the front seat did doctors finally persuade Oscar to get out of the car.

But even in the emergency room he was heard giving orders to the township crew as well as a few nurses.

The moral of the story: Don't enter the three-legged race if Dale Boss and Oscar Stroud show up next to you at the starting line.

Clockwise

Congrats - Town looks great!

by Bob Clock

THE GREAT Petunia Planting adventure is over, and the old town has never looked lovelier.

Congratulations to Dale and Marilyn Boss, Bruce and Barbara MacArthur and all of the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful committee for having the foresight to imagine what Charlevoix would look like with petunias planted on both sides of U.S.-31 from city limits to city limits — and then make it happen.

I'll have to admit to being full of trepidation from the start. I envisioned an all-day rain on Saturday. Or no one showing up to help plant. Or the American Allergy Society reporting late Friday afternoon that 95 percent of all American fudgies are allergic to petunia pollen.

But none of it happened. Workers showed up in droves and if you didn't get out early Saturday you missed all the excitement.

Of course, there are still worries for us worry-warts. What if no one waters the little fellows? Or what if some little old lady gets bowled over by a bread truck trying to pinch back the dead blossoms? Or, horror of horrors, what if it turns out that South American killer bees dote on petunia blossoms?

But never mind. The petunias are planted and they look real nice. Someone downtown the other day remarked that planting petunias in Charlevoix is something akin to gilding lilies. But sometimes lilies can use a little gilding.

IT IS HARD to believe in these balmy days of late spring that a full-fledged war is under way in the wintry landscape of the Falkland Islands.

The news from the war zone is devastating. Loss of lives reportedly is heavy on both sides; the loss of ships and aircraft is crippling. One fourth of the Argentine air force allegedly has been shot down or destroyed on the ground.

Hindsight is wonderful, but it is becoming more and more obvious that Argentina would never have invaded the Falklands if it had realized Great Britain would not relinquish the islands without a fight.

Since a negotiated settlement appears out of the question at this point, all we can hope for is a rapid military solution with a minimum loss of life. The possibility a prolonged campaign over the dreary Antarctic winter is unthinkable.

BEAVER ISLAND'S five high school graduates will have a bonafide celebrity as a speaker at Friday's commencement exercises. He is Brooks Patterson, Oakland County Prosecutor, who is a candidate for governor on the Republican ticket in the August primary.

Patterson will fly to the island Friday afternoon and the welcoming committee is planning an island tour prior to the commencement festivities.

Although the island normally votes in the Democratic column, Patterson is assured of a warm welcome, regardless of his party colors. The islanders would have it no other way.

Letters: More on Ozzy

Attack on our morality

To the Editor:

As residents of the city and county of Charlevoix, we were appalled to learn that Castle Farms has engaged Ozzy Osbourne for a concert May 30th, 1982.

Many residents of Charlevoix have been endeavoring to beautify Charlevoix through a City Planning Commission and numerous committees. Issues and commitments have ranged from sign ordinances to petunia planting. Outward appearance has been our prime concern. What about internal conscience?

Ozzy Osbourne, a previous member of the group Black Sabbath, indulges in satanic ritualistic entertainment on stage at the expense of live animals. Quality of entertainment at Castle Farms seems to be continually deteriorating.

Petoskey residents can boast of the Virginia McCune Arts Center and the people it attracts. Can Charlevoix residents boast of the Castle Farms recently booked entertainer, Ozzy Osbourne, and the type of people he attracts?

Our hope is that area residents will exert their influence to force Castle Farms' local owner and promoters to be more representative of Charlevoix residents - show taste, integrity, and ethics in who they employ as entertainers.

The Ozzy Osbourne concert is an attack on the morality of this community. Indifference or silence by the community to this type of entertainment can only be construed as approval.

Spiritual battle being waged

To the Editor:

At our monthly meeting on Thursday, May 13, the Charlevoix Ministerial Association discussed at length the upcoming concert scheduled for May 30 at Castle Farms featuring rock singer Ozzie Osbourne. We wish to go on record as a group of ministers deploring this type of entertainment with attempts to undercut the foundations of Christianity and glorify the occult and the forces of evil. Furthermore, we abhore the alleged violence to animals, or its use as a publicity gimmick to sell tickets, even if such violence does not actually occur.

In our opinion, this type of entertainment violates the standards of decency and ethics of our community and culture. We therefore strongly protest Ozzie Osbourne's coming and a continuation of entertainment of this type being scheduled for the months ahead.

We find this to be a good example of the spiritual warfare which is going on around us and pervades our society today. Such events often become the occasion to involve our young people in the excessive use of drugs, alcohol, or permissive sex. We applaud the individual efforts of many of our young people to expose the evils of this kind of life-style, as well as the immediate dangers of the Ozzie Osbourne concert.

Spiritual battles must be fought with Spiritual weapons. Therefor, we are calling the Charlevoix Christian community to a day of fasting and prayer on Friday, May 28. We ask all concerned Christian teenagers and parents to join together in a united service of prayer, regarding the upcoming concert on May 28 at 8:00 p.m., with Christ Episcopal Church, corner of Clinton and State Streets, serving as host congregation.

Respectfully submitted,

Caring helpers spell relief

To the Editor:

Our son, Robert, was injured in your first BMX race of the season at the Charlevoix track this year. I had some frightening moments of terror while he lay motionless on the track. I don't know who the nurses and gentlemen were that appeared like magic to assist my son, but I would like to thank them for their quick action and concern.

I can't tell you how relieved I felt to see their kind faces and confident nature. The arrival of the ambulance confirmed their concern. The assistants were knowledgeable, efficient, and kind, only outdone by the professionalism and care that we had at the Petoskey Hospital. Robert is fine and anxious to race again, our thanks to all of you.

Sincerely,
Bob and Joanne Dunstone

Anniversaries

Mr. and Mrs. Sims J. Baker

Bakers cite Golden Ann.

Mr. and Mrs. Sims J. Baker will observe their golden anniversary on Friday, May 28.

The couple will observe the anniversary at an Open House to be held at the American Legion Post Home Saturday, May 29, hosted by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Pischner of Belmont and their grandchildren. Friends are invited to greet the couple from 2 until 4 p.m.

Mr. Baker and the former Helen E. Richardson were married May 28, 1932, the day before her birthday anniversary. They were married at Petoskey at the home of the Rev. George Weaver, a missionary to the area whom Mr. Baker had known since he had organized a Sunday School at the Burgess School in Hayes Township when Mr. Baker was a boy. The Rev. Mr. Weaver became known as the "marrin' minister", having performed 4,000 ceremonies during his tenure as a missionary.

The couple spent their first year at Empire before returning here to live. Mr. Baker was in charge of maintenance at the Charlevoix Area Hospital for eight years and at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility for 16 years before retiring in 1974 because of ill health.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker are members of the United Methodist Church and Charlevoix Rebekah Lodge No. 293. He is also a member of Round Lake Lodge No. 293, I.O.O.F.

Both are serious gardeners and raise all their vegetables and berries as well as flowers in a garden at their home at 309 Mason St. She knits as a hobby. He is an ardent cribbage player and for many years was secretary of the annual Oddfellow-Masons cribbage tournament.

Mr. Baker was born in Hayes Township and Mrs. Baker in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Mayne

Maynes wed 50 years

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Mayne will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary at an open house at St. Mary's School Hall Sunday, May 30. The couple will greet friends from 2 until 4 p.m.

Hosting the open house will be their sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Roberta) Albright of San Diego, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Russell (Lynette) Holtz of Troy. The couple also have four grandchildren.

Mr. Mayne and the former Catherine Smith were married at St. Mary's Church May 30, 1932 by the Rev. E.F. Neobecker, now of Weidman. They have always made their home here except for spending the winter months in Florida since their retirment.

Both are graduates of the Charlevoix High School. Mr. Mayne also graduated from the Charlevoix County Normal School and taught at the Barnard School for two years. He was employed in the gasoline business at the W.H. Wallace Co. and later at other service stations in the area. From 1948 until 1970 when he retired he was Charlevoix City Clerk. Mrs. Mayne was employed at the Charlevoix County State Bank for 17 years prior to her retirement in 1970.

Both are members of St. Mary's Church.

Mr. Mayne was born in Norwood Township and Mrs. Mayne in Charlevoix.

Eleven new Y.D.P. cases logged

The Youth Diversionary Program administered by the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services received 11 new cases during the first quarter of 1982 to add to its ongoing caseload of 20.

Three of the referrals were for incorrigable behavior, two were runaways, one was charged with breaking and entering, three involved parent and child conflict, and two were for petty theft.

Three of the referrals came from the Boyne City schools, two from the Charlevoix schools, two from Probate Court, one from Protective Services, two from the City of East Jordan, and one from the Boyne City Police Department.

The Youth Diversionary Program is funded by Charlevoix County in the amount of $17,042 for the current year. All of its work is focused on diverting pre-delinquents and first offenders from the juvenile justice system. Ray Lavoie, a former teacher, is the case worker.

Dance Slimnastics to offer summer series

Dance Slimnastics, Ltd., a nationally-recognized aerobic fitness club, will offer area residents the opportunity to shape up for summer in a four-week series of aerobic dance classes scheduled to begin in Charlevoix the week of May 24.

The new summer session, titled "Bandstand Boogie," will give fitness-minded individuals the chance to work out aerobically as many times per week as desired.

Under the club's unique Open Class Policy, members can attend class as many times per week as desired. The class fee covers the cost of two one-hour sessions per week. Participants may also attend an unlimited number of additional class sessions at no extra cost.

A non-competitive spirit prevails, and class members are encouraged to dance at a level that is comfortable.

The easily-learned routines are set to a variety of musical tempos. During the "Bandstand Boogie" series, for example, students will scamper through a polka, bounce to a disco beat, and gyrate to rock.

Students need no previous dance or athletic experience to enjoy the session. There is a special program for everyone wishing to develop aerobic conditioning. Dance Slimnastics, Ltd. offers programs for women, men, children and handicapped persons.

A Charlevoix class will begin Tuesday May 25 at 4:30 pm at the Charlevoix Elementary School. Come to the first class free or call 377-7363 evenings for more information.

All-Sports banquet honors C.H.S. senior athletes

The Senior athletes at the Charlevoix High School, both boys and girls, were honored recently at the third annual All-Sports banquet sponsored by the Charlevoix Sports Boosters.

Guests at the banquet were parents of the seniors, junior athletes and members of the coaching staff and their mates.

Delbert R. Terrill, former Rayder coach and retired school administrator, was the guest speaker. He addressed his remarks to the students stating the "athletics embrace the total person." He also called attention to the comaraderie that is so much a part of sports, the foundation for lifelong frienships and happy memories.

"You should be proud to wear the Charlevoix "C" he said as he enlarged upon the Varsity "C" found on the school's plaque. "It stands for character, couragn, confidence, cooperation and championship. Without the first four you cannot have championship" he advised the young athletes. "Charlevoix, however, is known as the city of champions. We may not have won titles every year but you have shown the qualities of champions by representing Charlevoix as you have. The things you have learned by being a member of a Rayder team are qualities that will be a part of you all through life." He concluded by saying "The community owes a total commitment to the athletic program of the school."

Coaches wern then introduced by Charles Bentley, master of ceremonies. Each of the following coaches introduced the seniors on the teams they coached: Don Carey, football; Peter Spieles, Cross Country and Baseball; Mary Lieberman, Girls Volleyball and Softball; Carolyn Uhrick, Tennis; Mercedes Mathers, Skiing; Marcia Trimper, Cheerleading; Greg Bryan, Wrestling; Hal Evans, Track; Glen Taylor, Golf; David Smith, Basketball; Henry Wagner, Girls' Basketball and Dennis VanGuilder, Girls' Track. The trainers, Joe Smith and Patrick avery, were introduced hy Mr. Bentley.

A special award was made to Dr. Donald Trimper who has headed the Sports Boosters for the past two years. The presentation was made hy Dale Burge, Athletic Director, who also presented plaques bearing the name of the athlete, the year, and the sport(s) in which each had participated to all seniors.

The audience was also advised of the new trophy case in the gym lobby purchased by the Sports Boosters.

A plaque bearing the names of Jim and Faye Alger who had headed the Sports Boosters in its early days will be placed in the case in recognition of their dedication to the group, Bentley added.

Mrs. Richard Tillen and Mrs. Vane H. Smith were co-chairmen of the banquet. They were assisted by mothers of senior athletes and other volunteers. Sophomore athletes served the banquet.

Rayder batsmen advance

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team defeated visiting Elk Rapids hy a score of 14-1 to advance to the second pre-district game against East Jordan to be played here later this week.

Coach Pete Spieles said the date will be determined early this week. The winner of the sscond pre-district game will advance to the regional tournament at Grayling next month.

In the game here Saturday, Elk Rapids opened the game with a home run by the pitcher, Schuler. "At that point, we all began to wonder what we'd run into. We hadn't anticipated anytbing like tbat" Coach Spieles said. As it turned out, that was the Elks lone run in the entire game.

At the bottom of the first inning, Jim Buchanan singled and advanced to second base when Jon Spieles got on with a walk. Jon Supernaw came up to hat, hit a home run and the Rayders went ahead 3-1 and wern never beaded agsin.

Buchanan had three rnns in the game including a homer, Scott Kelly had a home run, Supernaw had two hits including his first inning homer and Mike Loper had a single.

Greiner had Elk Rapids' second hit in the game.

Catcher Jon Supernaw puts on the tag.

The Charlevoix Rayders had five games last week and came away with three victories including a 5-1 win over Petoskey and an 11-10 win over Rogers City to move them into first place in Michigan-Huron Conference standings. The third victory was a 14-4 win over Central Lake Friday.

The Rayders were at the Soo Monday for a game that will determine the team's final standing in the league.

In the Petoskey game, Mike Loper allowed five hits while Petoskey's Faust gave up four.

Gary Drury had three hits including a home run in the first. Jon Supernaw, Jon Spieles and Loper had singles.

Walker had two hits and Paulus, Haase and Faust one each.

In the second game, Hichman gave up only three hits by Drury, Scott Kelly and Supernaw.

Chris Putman started for Charlevoix, Spieles took over the mound in the third and Kelly and Ken Spiegl saw action in the fifth.

Walker, Baerwolf and Paulus had singles, Nelson and Alton two each and Schuch three singles.

In the crucial game with Rogers City Thursday, Charlevoix was trailing when Kelly hit a home run with a man on to score the points that resulted in the tight victory in the seventh inning.

Loper was the winning pitcher, Kurt Puffpaff also saw action.

Scott Wagner started and was relieved by Urban in the seventh, for Petoskey.

Kelly had two hits including the winning homn run, Buchanan had two hits inclnding a double, Drury had two home runs, Loper and Jeff Greene had two singles each.

For the Hnrons, Grulke, Rascb and Schaedig had two hits each, Karston, Urban and Kartman singles and Maketti a home run.

Urhan startsd for Rogers City and was relieved in thn fifth hy Metz who got credit for the win as the Hurons won 2-1.

Brent Cole, a fresbman, gave up seven hits.

Buchanan, Drury, S.J. Greenway and Supernaw had one hit each.

Grulke had two hits and Rasch, Urban, Schaedig, Sorgfrel and Bede one each.

In the game with Central Lake, Greene received credit for the 14-4 win with Putman and Spieles in relief. Cheney was the losing pitcher. He gave up 10 hits also.

Drury accounted for three hits including two home runs, Buchanan, Kelly, Spieles, Supernaw, Spelgl, Putman and Jeff Trimper had one each.

Kass Kucharek had three bits including a home run, Kotwick a home run, Payton and Karl Kucharek two each and Watson and Cary one hit each.

Kurt Puffpaff fires from the mound.

Charlevoix track team wins Regional while coach becomes a father

The Charlevoix Rayder track team topped off last week's events by capturing the Class C Regional Track title Saturday with 100 1-3 points some 15 1-3 points ahead of the next highest scorer, Benzie Central, with 85 points.

Wally Drentb, assistaet coach, who had taken the team to the meet, said he was very pleased with the team's performaece. "A couple of the boys had been ill and were dissatisfied with their own performances but on the whole I thought the boys did very well" be said.

Coach Hal Evans who was at the hospital with his wife, Mary Ann, during the hirth of their first cbild, a son, Halbert Knapp III, was almost as elated about the team as be was with his first horn who weighed in at seven pounds 13 ounces.

Evans went on to say that he has worked with some of his team members for six years (at the middle school and now at the high school level) and has found them a pleasure to he with and a pleasure to coach. They have developed well and I am sure they will do their hest at the state meet two weeks from now."

He concluded hy saying "It was a neat day for me!"

The Rayders will be represented at the state in seven events including three field and four track events.

The field events will be the discus in which Mark Beaudoin placed second and Ross Carey third. Both will go to the state hecause they threw the discus the qualifying distance.

In the other events only the first and second place winners qualify for state competition.

Scott Shepherd placed first in the long jump with a distance of 20'6½" and Carey in the shot put with a put of 52'7".

Tennis team takes six matches at Regional

The Charlevoix Rayder tennis team won six matches at the Class C-D regional meet at Traverse City but failed to qualify anyone for state competition Coach Carolyn Uhrick reports.

The regional competition closed out the team's schedule for the season.

Jeff Morgridge defeated Mike Savage of Leelanau 6-7, 7-1, 8-6 in the first match before losing to Matt Sutherland of Glen Lake 6-3, 6-1.

In the second singles, Pete Cockfield won over Chris Neumann of Boyne City 7-6, 6-3 and Scott Clous of Elk Rapids, to whom he had lost twice during the season by scores of 6-3, 6-3 and advanced to the semi-finals where he lost to Craig Cherne of Northport 6-2, 6-0.

Lisa Hoffman defeated Stephanie Chambers of Leland 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 and Robb Menzie of Harbor Springs 7-5, 6-4 before losing to Rich Stowe of Northport 6-1, 6-0 in the semi-finals.

Andy Sheafer defeated Mike Taylor of Frankfort 6-3, 6-1 before losing to Jerome Porter of Northport 6-1, 6-3.

In the doubles, all three were eliminated in the first round of play. Mark Hodgson and Lisa Staley lost to Jim Ennis and Mike Wanacott of Elk Rapids 6-4, 6-4; Greg Janz and Matt Landon to Jeff Medicine and Charles O'Neil of Harbor Springs 6-1, 6-4 and Sandy Miller and Lisa Mosher to Mary Miugeak and Brenda Newberry of Elk Rapids 6-4, 6-2.

Seniors on the team are Morgridge, Hoffman, Staley, Miller and Sheafer.

Softball team beats C. Lake, bows to Petoskey

The Charlevoix girls softball team posted a 6-0 win over Central Lake here Friday but earlier in the week had dropped two to Petoskey by scores of 10-8 and 14-2.

In Friday's game both Rhonda Buchanan of the Rayder squad and Tracy Johnson of the Trojans allowed seven hits each.

Charlevoix hitters, however, were able to capitalize on their efforts. Colleen LaBlance had three singles and Meg Fowler, Kim Bolduc and Laura Kemp, one each.

Bonnie Iser had three hits, Penny Carpenter a double and Laura Shaefer, Kool Hybl and Sharon Thier singles for Central Lake.

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix dropped two games to Petoskey. In the first game, Buchanan allowed eight hits while Charlevoix colleted only four, a double and a single by Bolduc and singles by LaBlance and Fowler.

Monica Malec, on the mound for Petoskey, allowed four hits.

Lisa Wilson had three singles, Robin Elder a home run and Patti Strobel, Cheryl Sieradzki, Lauri Washburn and Kris Kogel singles for the victors.

Holly Taber, pitching the second game, gave up 11 hits. Kelly Parsley gave up five.

Angie McClanaghan had a double and Buchanan, Taber, Kemp, Sue Raginia had singles for the Rayders.

Estelle Atchison had three singles, Kris Ronon, a double, Wilson a double and a single, Kargol, Stroble, Becky Fellig, Parsley and Malec singles.

The team will be at Petoskey Tuesday and play its second pre-district game with Elk Rapids later this week.

Wallops Kalkaska in tourney

The Charlevoix Rayder Softball team came through its first pre-district game with flying colors, winning by a 23-0 score over Kalkaska.

The team will advance to a second pre-district game here later this week (the date is yet to be determined) against Elk Rapids.

Elk Rapids drew a first round bye so this will be the Elks first appearance in pre-district play. The winner of this game will travel to the regional tournament at Houghton Lake June 4.

In Thursday's game, the Charlevoixans were in control all the way, allowing only two hits while collecting 13.

Rhonda Buchanan was on the mound for Charlevoix and Lori Hall pitched for Kalkaska.

Chalking up hits for Charlevoix were Meg Fowler, Buchanan, Bridget Noirot, Kim Bolduc, and Sue Raginia who had two singles each; Holly Taber, a triple and Colleen LaBlance and Angie McClanaghan, singles.

Chris Martindale and Debbie Maxson had Kalkaska's hits.

Plans finalized for Memorial Day parade

Charlevoix will pay tribute to its war dead on Memorial Day at a formal program at Brookside cemetery at approximately 10:45 p.m. arranged by Charlevoix Post No. 1153, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion.

The traditional Memorial Day parade at 10 p.m. through the business district with stops at the U.S. Submariners of World War II Memorial and at Veterans Park will precede the program at Brookside cemetery.

Col. Thomas M. Hamlin, U.S. Marine Corps, presently stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill., will return to his native Charlevoix to deliver the Memorial Day address. Col. Hamlin is the son of Mrs. Charles Hamlin and the late Mr. Hamlin and a veteran of 20 years in the U.S. Marine Corps.

The program at Brookside cemetery will open with selections by the Charlevoix High School Band under the direction of Terry Isenbarger.

Clement Olach, as Master of Ceremonies, will lead the Pledge of Allegiance after which David Buday, Charlevoix High School student, will speak briefly.

Following Col. Hamlin's address, there will be a floral presentation by Don White, Post Commander of the V.F.W. Post, and Louis McKenzie, Post Commander of the American Legion Post; a salute by the firing squad; taps by Thomas Graf and Treasure Drost of the band and the National Anthem by the band. The flag, which has been at half-mast will then be placed at full mast.

The Rev. David W. Yingling of the United Methodist Church will give the invocation and the Rev. Walter Hastings of the Community Church of God the benediction.

The parade participants will assemble at State Street and Park Avenue at 9:30 a.m. and the parade will begin at 10 a.m. sharp with Clifton Sundberg as parade marshall.

The colors and the firing squad composed of V.F.W. and American Legion members will be followed by members of the two organizations and their auxillaries, the Charlevoix High School Band and its director, Mr. Isenbarger, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts and Brownies, other participants, bicyclists and horsemen.

The parade will halt briefly while wreaths are place at the Submariners memorial in East Park, the Veterans Memorial at Bridge Street and Belvedere by Benjamin S. Gill representing the Submariners and Post Commanders White and McKenzie. Auxiliary members will place wreaths on the waters of Round Lake. A 21 volley salute will be fired, taps will be sounded, flags will be raised to full staff and the band will play the National Anthem.

The parade will then continue to Brookside cemetery.

A car will be made available to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Boss for those veteans and auxillary members unable to walk in the parade.

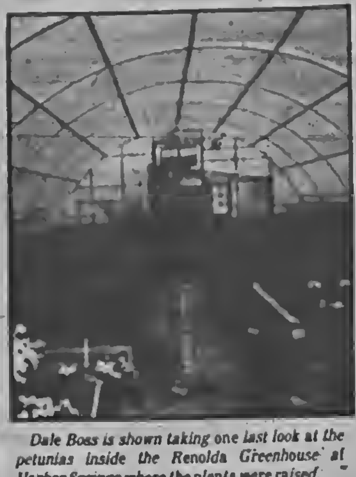
All veterans are urged to participate in the parade whether members of veteran groups or not.

Post Commander McKenzie said that new flags had been purchased and placed at the graves of veterans in all area cemeteries.

Following the program V.F.W. and American Legion members as well as members of the two auxiliaries will meet at the V.F.W. post home for refreshments.

Operation Petunia Communications

Shirley Roloff, left, and Marilyn Boss manned "Petunia Central" at the south entrance to town where many volunteers signed up for duty.



Dale Boss is shown taking one last look at the petunias inside the Renolds Greenhouse at Harbor Springs where the plants were raised.

Girl Scout Troop 261 were among the many youngsters who helped with the project.

Flats by the truckload were distributed along the route such as these being delivered by garden tractor.

More on Blue Tongue

by PEG OHLE

Several staff members of the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) are conferring this week in Lansing with nationally known authorities on the animal disease Blue Tongue to determine what, if any, danger the disease may present to the goats, sheep, cattle, and deer of the State.

At a recent meeting of area farmers in Boyne City called by the Charlevoix County Extension Service, two MDA representatives, Dr. Charles Cole and Norman Brown, reported on the testing for Blue Tongue they had been doing, and announced this week's meeting.

Fear that Blue Tongue brought into the State with Angora goats might spread to other ruminants has heightened within the past year because of the increasing number of imports.

Angora goats have been imported into Michigan for nine or ten years, according to Dr. Cole, but an influx began in 1980. Prior to July 1, 1981, no tests for Blue Tongue were required for importing Angora goats, although most of the goats are brought in from western Texas, where the incidence of Blue Tongue is high.

With all the fury, however, Dr. Cole noted that there were only 61 flocks (four or more) of Angora goats in the State, with a total goat population of between 3,100 and 3,400.

At the time of the Boyne City meeting, the MDA had tested 3,094 Angora goats and had not found a single clinical symptom of Blue Tongue. Fifty-three dairy goats running with Angoras were also tested, with negative results. Several herds of cattle on farms with Angora goats also showed negative results. Even the deer tested by the Department of Natural Resources showed negative results.

Brown said this seems to lead to the conclusion that the vector which carries Blue Tongue does not thrive in Michigan and therefore the disease is not being spread.

Results of all the State's testing as well as knowledge gleaned from hearing the experience of others will play a part in deciding if Blue Tongued testing is an economic factor.

News from this week's conference in Lansing will be released to the public within ten days.

Seeking members for City Band

A meeting of all persons interested in playing in the Charlevoix City Band this summer will be held at the Charlevoix High School Band Room on May St., 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 2, Terry Isenbarger, director of the band, has announced.

The Charlevoix City Band is a performing organization made up of instrumentalists from Charlevoix and the surrounding area communities. The band presents weekly concerts in Charlevoix's East Park from mid-June through July. Anyone in the area who plays a band instrument and who is out of high school is invited to come and play with the band.

The first meeting on June 2 is not a rehearsal but an organizational meeting to decide on rehearsal times and other pertinent details.

Persons who are interested in playing in the City Band but who is unable to attend the initial meeting is asked to call Mr. Isenbarger at 547-2882

Headlee brings campaign to Charlevoix

by DAVE KNIGHT

Republican candidate for governor Richard H. Headlee brought his pro-business message to Charlevoix last week when he appeared Wednesday before the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors and the Charlevoix County Republican Party.

In a brief interview at the Courier office, Headlee pinned Michigan's current economic crisis squarely on the state's giving private business the cold shoulder.

Salvation, he said, will lie in the private sector, not the public one.

"Never in history has government been able to turn things around in times of economic trouble," said Headlee, "It has always been up to private business."

And the major problem in Michigan, he continued, is that private business is not given the latitude it needs to do the job.

"We have to create an environment conducive to the entrepreneurial spirit," he said.

Headlee, president and chief executive officer of the Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company, announced his candidacy in February. He is considered by most political analysts to be one of the top three Republican candidates with Lt. Gov. James Brickley and Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson.

A successful businessman himself, Headlee thinks the State of Michigan could use some good business sense in Lansing.

"On a scale of one to ten, (Gov.) Bill Milliken is a 'ten' as a nice guy," said Headlee, "But as a financial manager he's a 'two'."

'Robin Hood Caper' about to happen in Ellsworth

By ELIZABETH HUMPHREY

Time is growing short. The "Robin Hood Caper" is about to happen. Every Monday and Tuesday evening, pistols are fired in the Township Hall Community Center in Ellsworth as local "elderly" citizens act like Con artists banding together to outwit a mayor as crooked as Boss Hogg. (Those "elderly" criminals are a group to watch out for!)

A sneak peek reveals one of the supposedly reformed criminals posing as a man of the cloth, a "Rev. Jason Bosley". Bosley, Flora Langley, crooked Mayor Ratner, and a smoking pistol make one hot scene – and roof-raising comedy.

Much in evidence is the director, Ellen Addington, whose enthusiasm and boundless energy spark the whole production!

This delightful play, written by Fred Carmichael, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Hall in Ellsworth on Friday and Saturday evenings, May 28 and 29.

The cast includes Artie Parisot and Brenda Bruce (Friday night only), Elizabeth Humphrey and Pat Nelson (Saturday night only), Jan Bolser, Bob Purdy, Tex Drenth, Al Anderson, Art Drenth, George Drenth, Gail Rubingh, and Gene Drenth.

Admission will be $2 for adults and $1.50 for Senior Citizens and children.

A spaghetti supper will be served by the Ellsworth Lions Club on Friday only from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the lower level of the hall. $3 will buy all the spaghetti you can eat plus other godies.

Munchies, sweets, and good things to drink will be offered by the Ellsworth High School Junior class at both performances.

Mr. Kunde died at the Charlevoix Area Hospital shortly after he was admitted following an apparent heart attack at his home in Banks Township.

Born at Fowlerville Feb. 18, 1931, Mr. Kunde graduated from the Fowlerville high school and attended Michigan State University. He was married to the former Mary Jean Lillywhite Aug. 24, 1959, at Fowlerville where they lived until moving to Ellsworth in 1969. A tool maker by trade, he founded and operated the Progressive Machine Specialities Shop at his farm in the Pleasant Hill area. He was a member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in East Jordan, the Lions Club and was district chairman of the Lions Club District 11 E 2. He was also active in civic affairs.

He is survived by his wife; a son, Terry, of Ellsworth; a daughter, Kathy, of Boyne City; one grandchild and his mother, Mrs. Pauline Bessert of Saginaw.

The family suggests memorials to the Evangelical Church in East Jordan.

The Hastings Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

HAROLD BLAIN

A former Charlevoix resident, Harold Blain, 74, of Grand Rapids died at St. Mary's Hospital there on May 17. He was buried May 20 in Star Township Cemetery in Alba.

Mr. Blain was born in Alba February 18, 1908 and lived in Charlevoix from 1932 to 1953. Later he lived in the Chippewa Lake area before moving to Grand Rapids in 1975.

In 1937, Mr. Blain married the former Garnet Kane of Charlevoix. They were divorced in 1953. She survives him as do five sons: Bill, Phoenix, Arizona, Jim, Tucumcari, New Mexico, Melvin, Port Huron, Harold II, Grand Rapids, and Leslie, Kittery, Maine; two daughters, Mrs. Glenn (Marilyn) Boddy, Lexington, and Jessie Kittridge, Port Huron; one brother, Albert, Grand Rapids; three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Browand, Big Rapids, Mrs. Muriel Lancaster, Hastings, and Mrs. Florence Wilson, Roodhouse, Illinois; 12 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren and nieces and nephews.

Names In The News

MIKE CUSTER, a junior from Charlevoix, will represent Adrian College at the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division III golf tournament May 18-21. The 72-hole tournament will be played at Reid Memorial Park Golf Course in Springfield, Ohio.

Custer qualified for the 120-man field as the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association's most valuable golfer in the fall of 1981. A two-time all-MIAA golfer, Custer averaged 77.9 strokes per round in seven league meets.

The field of competitors includes several teams and fewer individual qualifiers. Wittenburg University serves as host of the national event. The par-72, 6,757-yard Reid Park North Golf Course has a rating of 71.8.

"I'm excited about Mike's chances," said Adrian director of athletics for men and golf coach Gregg Arbaugh. "He has been playing well this spring and has credentials to finish among the leaders."

Mike, a business major, is the son of Dr. Harry and Dorothy Custer of Charlevoix.

Hope College junior Lynne DeMoor, right, of Charlevoix was the sixth flight state champion in the SMAIAW tennis tournament played this past weekend in Adrian.

DeMoor and her Hope College teammate advance to the Midwest Regional tournament to be played this weekend at Principia College in Illinois.

DeMoor has posted an excellent 15-4 singles record this season and with doubles partners is 12-5.

Hope was co-champions of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association. The team won the Great Lakes Colleges Association tournament and finished tt-t in dual meets.

Lynne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald DeMoor, Pa Ba Shan Lane, Charlevoix. She is a biology major at Hope.

Charlevoix resident BRENDA BOSS was one of 13 students at Anderson College to be accepted into the Center for Public Service.

As a member of the Center, Boss will have the opportunity to work with a professional in the field of her major and will have several other opportunities to gain valuable professional experience.

On campus, she is also a member of Adelph Philos, a women's social club; a resident assistant for upper class women and a student associate.

She is a graduate of Charlevoix High School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Boss, 203 Alice Street.

BOWLING CHAMPS of the Friday Night Ladies League were members of the V.I.P. team including, left to right, Mary Moore, Sherry Withers and Lyddy Morrison. Missing is Diana Parsel. The team will now go to the Champion of Champions tournament in Traverse City. Taking second place was Hoskins II and third, Kentucky Fried Chicken, both of which will also participate in the tournament.

GARY L. MACK, above, has been appointed Dock Master at the city marina for the 1982 season. Mack, 28, is a graduate of Michigan State University and has taken several graduate level courses in business-related areas. A native of Owosso, Mack served for two years in 1977-78 as Harbor Master for the Department of Natural Resources at Hammond Bay south of Cheboygan. He also was director-counselor in 1980-81 of a federal education program in Onaway. Mack is now on duty at the city docks under the direction of Charlevoix Police Chief Jack Mol.

Char-Em to sponsor workshops on gifted students

On Thursday, June 17th, the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District Committee on Gifted, Talented and Creative Youth is sponsoring two workshops at the Petoskey High School. These "Good Apple Workshops" are designed to build awareness and give insite into the nature and needs of Gifted and Talented Youth. Parents, educators and interested citizens are welcome to attend either or both sessions.

The first session, "What to Do with the Gifted Few", is of primary importance to regular classroom teachers. It is scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to noon in the Petoskey High School Library. Such topics as development of higher mental processes and instilling responsibility for learning will be presented.

The second session, "Pruning for Blooming", is scheduled from 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. in the Petoskey High School Auditorium. This session will impart a better understanding of what it means to be growing up as a gifted child. Some concerns such as motivating children with high abilities and encouraging self-directed behavior will be addressed.

There is no registration fee, but those attending the morning session are asked to R.S.V.P. to Carrie, at the I.S.D. office, 547-9947.

EYE ......Is Everywhere!

Spring Fever — the strain that makes Charlevoians want to party non-stop — has hit! After our long-hard Northern Michigan Winter, (with four weekends of blizzard, and snowed-in conditions), the Annual Charlevoix Chamber Spring Dinner-Dance was a welcome relief to the "drearys" that have been floating around town. Obviously social calendars were free as a majority of business people, doctors, dentists, lawyers, plumbers, politicians, authors and salespeople turned out for the kick-off to summer.

New this year, the band, Alpha, from downstate Flint, offered Waltzes, foxtrots and best of all, strains of popular upbeat music that everyone enjoyed dancing to. As the evening "glows" emerged talented dancers, individually displayed their techniques surrounded by a circle of hand-clapping, foot-stomping friends. The alligator was back, along with variations of the hula, and of course Dave Knights' rendition of a footstomping parody. All in all, the over 190 guests in attendance enjoyed what has become a Northern Michigan Spring tradition. Here is just a sampling.

Summertime's Symbol of Success .... The Tan

Each summer, multitudes of sun-seekers gather outdoors from dawn till dusk in their never ending quest for summertime's symbol of success... The Tan.

And, of course, each year those same people are bombarded with scientific and medical evidence indicating the dangers of such radiation soaks. Nevertheless, we still do it and chances are, we will continue to do as long as the sun keeps shining!

Therefore, a better understanding of how the sun works and a few precautionary notes will enable us to minimize some harmful effects of the one activity we seem to enjoy so enthusiastically.

The sun exposes us to a wide range of radiation — from gamma rays that have the shortest wavelengths, to long-wave radio frequencies. If we were exposed directly to this entire electromagnetic spectrum, we would die. But the earth's ozone layer provides us with a protective filter from some of the radiation. The ozone layer is a thin layer of gas that lies about 15 miles above the earth's surface. It permits the less harmful long-wave radiation to reach the earth, but filters out a substantial amount of the hazardous short-wave ultraviolet radiation. While the ozone layer does a remarkable job in its filtering, not all of the harmful rays are screened out.

The slight amount of radiant energy that does reach the earth causes almost all of the sun's harmful effects. These dangerous rays are invisible and practically undetectable by humans. The heat from the burns on your body is the only indication of the presence of these rays.

On cloudy days, 80 percent of the ultra-violet rays are still able to get through; while the visible, less harmful long-wave rays are blocked out. This is why we seem to burn more easily on cloudy days. We are deceived into believing that the sun is not out doing any damage. You don't feel any heat or see any visible brightness that is so apparent on hot, clear days. But, you are absorbing almost as much radiation on a cloudy day as you do on a cloudless summer day!

So, if you must continue to seek the perfect tan, be aware of the process that takes place during tanning (or, more specifically — burning) and protect your body.

Summer Drinks That Are Light & Easy

Watching our diets has become a year-round occupation. Unfortunately, in the summer, dieting often becomes more difficult because of the great temptation to cool off with fattening ice cream cones and other high calorie treats.

But there's help in sight for those of us who adore cooling off with freezer desserts and drinks the Cranberry Volcano, a fruity sherbet sundae with only 150 calories.

There's also Summer Fun, a tall, fruity drink with only 56 calories — a blend of cranberry juice cocktail, grapefruit juice and fresh strawberries.

CRANBERRY VOLCANO

6 ounces Ocean Spray low calorie cranberry juice.

1 round slice of pineapple (canned)

¼ cup scoop orange sherbet

Sprinkling of coconut on top.

Combine ingredients in order, above in sundae glass. Use pineapple slice horizontally to support sherbet Sprinkle coconut on top Serve immediately Makes a single serving of 150 calories

SUMMER FUN

1 ounce fresh strawberries.

2½ ounces Ocean Spray cranberry juice

2½ ounces Ocean Spray Indian River grapefruit juice

1 cup crushed ice

Put all ingredients in blender and blend until ice is smooth. Garnish with a fresh strawberry. Makes one serving of 56 calories.

Dine on the waterfront overlooking the Yacht Harbor.

Featuring Fresh Seafood, Veal dishes, Tenderloin of Beef and Continental Entrees.

Metelasse, Foulard and Honan ... The Woven Strands of Silk

by MaryLee Huber

In April's issue of The Best of The Bay, I reported on fashion directions for Spring and Summer '82. Special attention was given to fabrics; "after years of concentrating on easy care, permanent press fabrics, the inevitable back lash has occurred. The natural elements of silk, jute, linen, flax, hemp, and cotton are back."

However, if you're anything like me, a salesperson can inform you that this Agalys, Foulard or Moire, is an especially beautiful fabric, woven with up-most care. Blankly, I'll look at them and lamely agree. So, I thought later, just what is Agalys, Foulard, or Moire. Yes, of course, they are all gorgeous fabrics woven from Linen, and silk, but what does each name indicate? To devote my column to the various qualities and weaves of all the natural fibers would be next to impossible so I settled on silk, because according to American Silk Mills, which has the only silk spinning and weaving mill in the U.S., there is currently a terrific demand for silk. The company has reported that production has quadrupled in less than three years because of today's silk consciousness.

After considerable research and a little help from area fabric shops I have organized a glossary of silk terms and a brief history to go along with it. So next time a salesperson proudly announces that, "this special blouse is fashioned from Metelasse, or Honan", you'll know that Matelasse is a patterned silk of various weights with a quilted or bubbled surface created in weaving, and that Honan is a medium to light weight silk with a crisp hand and low luster woven of Tussah (wild) silk.

Origin of Silk

Silk has, of course, been around for a long time--over 4,000 years. Legend has it that Si-Ling, a little Chinese princess, was playing one day with a small white cocoon produced by little worms. She accidentally dropped one in her teacup and discovered that fine thread-like filaments began to unwind from the cocoon. Soon the Chinese were twisting these filaments into yarn and weaving the most luxurious fabrics imaginable.

Silk is a natural fiber that may be woven or knitted into a number of different fabrics, either pure silk or blended with other fibers, both natural and man-made. The following glossary describes some of the silk fabrics that are frequently used today

A Glossary Of Silk Terms

Broadcloth – Medium to lightweight plain silk cloth with a soft "hand" and subtle luster. Solid colors or printed. Uses: blouses, dresses, linings, accessories. Light-colored solids are handwashable

Brocade -- A large family of silks with the design woven into the fabric. Light to heavy weights, solid or multi-colored. Uses: apparel, accessories, neckwear, decorative. Dry clean.

Charmeuse -- Fine, very soft satin-faced silk crepe with a lustrous surface and beautiful "drape". Uses: evening clothes, blouses, intimate apparel, Dry clean.

Chiffon – A weightless, very transparent silk in a plain weave. Solid or printed. Uses: late day and evening wear, bridal apparel, blouses, accessories. Dry clean.

Crepe – A variety of fabrics and weights, usually woven with highly twisted yarn (referred to as crepe-twisted) creating a springy, often crinkled surface. Drapes beautifully. Uses: all areas of apparel, especially dressy clothes. Dry clean.

Crepe De Chine – A fine, lightweight silk crepe with a smooth, lustrous surface and soft "drape". Solid or printed. Uses; dresses, evening wear, blouses, scarfs, fine linings. Light-colored solids are handwashable.

Faille -- Fine ribbed silk from medium to tissue weights. Can be soft or crisp in hand. Solid or printed. Uses: dresses, evening wear, linings, accessories. Dry clean.

Foulard -- Lightweight, soft silk twill with a pronounced diagonal rib. Usually printed. Uses: dresses, robes, neckwear, accessories. Dry clean.

Gauze – A variety of silks from very sheer to heavy, usually an open-weave. Gauze weaves are made by twisting or twining the lengthwise threads (warp) around the crosswise threads (weft) in continuous "figure eight" patterns. This prevents very open weaves from shifting or snagging. Dry clean.

Georgette – A lightweight semi-sheer crepe fabric with a grainy surface; drapes beautifully and resists wrinkles. Solid or printed. Uses: blouses, dresses, evening wear. Dry clean.

Honan – A medium to lightweight silk with a crisp hand and low luster woven of tussah (wild) silk. Often brilliantly colored or iridescent. Uses: dresses, blouses, evening wear. Light-colored solids are handwashable.

Lame – Any silk fabric interwoven with metallic threads either plain or fancy. Uses: dresses clothes evening wear, accessories. Dry clean.

Silk Linen – Silk fabric in any weight (tissue to suiting) with a surface that resembles true flax linen. Light-colored lightweight solids are handwashable.

Marquisette -- A very sheer light crisp silk in a gauze weave, usually plain. Uses: dressy clothes, evening wear, bridal, blouses, decorative.

Matelasse – Patterned silks of various weights with a quilted or bubbled surface created in the weaving. Uses. dressy clothes, evening wear, accessories, decorative. Dry clean.

Moire -- Any weight silk having a wavy or "watered" effect embossed on the surface. Used on faille, taffeta and grosgrain. Uses: apparel, trims, accessories, decorative. Dry clean.

Noil Silk – Any fabric using "noil" yarn from the inner part of the silk cocoon. This yarn is shredded, combed and spun much like cotton thread. Noil fabrics are very soft, slightly nubby and have a cotton-like appearance. They are not as expensive as and have a sportier look than most silk fabrics. Uses: sportswear, day dresses.

Pongee – A soft, lightweight silk of tussah (wild) silk with a plain, lightly textured surface. Solid or printed, often in the natural creme or tan. Uses: all apparel, accessories, decorative. Light-colored solids handwashable.

Raw Silk – Often confused with wild or tussah silk. Any silk fabric or silk yarn prior to the removal of the natural gum by boiling. In other words, unfinished goods (referred to in the textile industry as "gray goods"). Few uses in the raw silk state since people can be allergic to it in this form.

Satin – A wide range of silks of a special weave that creates a lustrous or shiny surface

Test Your Artistic Talent — Try Painting This Summer

Summertime is the time to begin a new hobby; and painting is increasing tremendously in popularity. Approximately 30 million Americans are involved in some type of painting or drawing activity during their free time.

Painting can be the perfect way to re-discover the beauty of your environment and provides cooling relaxation during those hot, summery days.

If you've never considered painting as a hobby, perhaps it was because you've never thought of yourself as artistically talented. As many experts will tell you, art skill is not necessarily a prerequisite to beginning painting.

Many amateurs have been pleasantly surprised to see their skills developing over time. Often, amateurs can sell their paintings or exhibit their work in local art fairs.

Summer art classes are offered almost everywhere. Some places to begin are college and university extension courses, park and recreation departments, and private teachers listed in art stores and community advertisements.

Art classes will provide you with basic understanding of composition, perspective and proportion. Some classes begin in charcoal drawing and move on to painting and paint-blending techniques later.

Landscapes are the most popular subjects among amateur artists, with some students painting indoors from photos, and others staying outside and capturing the actual scene.

Although your initial paint purchases may be somewhat expensive, the paints you do buy will last quite a while.

One expert recommends buying only earth tones in the beginning, since these are the least costly and will still create beautiful pictures.

The enjoyment you get from painting will last a lifetime. Many older Americans, as well as younger people are just now discovering the fascination in painting and plan to pursue it for years to come.

See You At The Fair

by Bayside Travel

We recall that last year in one of our travel articles, we ended a list of suggested travel locations with the flip phrase "but you can always wait until next year for the World's Fair at Knoxville, Tennessee." Well, next year has arrived and that "flip" attitude has changed to one of excitement and genuine admiration.

Let us share with you some information concerning the 1982 World's Fair.

The Fair

All the attractions of a great international exposition are present. "Energy Turns the World" is the theme of the 1982 World's Fair. Impressive displays of creative energy demonstrate the genius and talent of artists, inventors, developers, and researchers from a multitude of nations. Some seventeen nations are participating in this fair with exhibits that attempt to respond to the globel challenge of limited energy resources.

These displays have been labeled as producing one of the most relevant and intellectual world expositions ever assembled. Be advised that this World's Fair is not just a temporary Disney World in Tennessee -- it's an opportunity to view some sophisticated and serious exhibits which could be a view into the future of energy production.

Entertainment

No don't think there isn't any "Disney World" fun—there are acres of amusement park rides and games. The World's Fair has a funtime entertainment park to please kids of all ages. The outdoor amphitheatic on the fair grounds will host celebrities in concert or special shows. There will be performances by the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra. Drama, ballet, bluegrass, and musical comedies are being presented at the eight live theatres throughout the duration of the fair.

Location

It will be "fair" weather in Knoxville from May to October, 1982. Knoxville is located in a mountain valley and all seasons including summer and autumn are mild and enjoyable – great for fair attending! It is a city of great beauty, history, and warm, hospitable people. In all directions the scenery is abundant. Knoxville is less than an hour's drive southeast of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, America's most visited National Park. The Cumberland Mountains are an hour's drive to the northwest.

Knoxville was the first capital of the Southwest Territory, and the area is rich in history, culture, and folklore. The Cherokee Indians were first and then in the late 1700's the pioneers came over the mountains including the famous Daniel Boone. Delightful mountain crafts are still practiced here.

Visitors should relive some of the colorful past by taking a walking tour of the city. The past lives on in Knoxville's architective, antiques, arts, crafts, and music.

This 1982 World's Fair combined with it's location offers the traveler a unique opportunity – a variety for every interest in the blending of the old with the excitement of the new. Knoxville combined with the 1982 World's Fair -- provides an experience alive with the present, a city rich in tradition, and genuinely hospitable – See you at the Fair!

Surah -- A soft, lightweight silk twill (diagonal ribs), usually printed. Uses: dresses, blouses, neckwear, accessories. Light-colored silks handwashable..

Taffeta – Plain-weave silks with soft luster and very crisp hand. Light to heavy weights. Often iridescent. Uses: evening wear, accessories, decorative. Dry clean.

Tussah – Yarn produced from wild silkworms and usually coarser, crisper and natural colored and opposed to "cultivated" silk. Tussah is often incorrectly called "raw silk". Tussah yarns are used in shantungs, pongees, honans, silk linensn, rough textured suttings. Tussah refers to the yarn and is not a specific fabric.

Twill – A type of weave with a fine-to-prondunced diagonal rib. Twill is a family of weaves, not a specific fiber and includes surah, foulard, serge, cavalry and gabardine types.

Velvet -- A large family of textiles with a soft, thick woven pile which is made up of hundreds of tiny tufts woven into the fabric. Among the types of velvets -chiffon-weight, Lyons (lightweight and lustrous), uncut (looped pile, like terrycloth), brocaded (figured or patterned) and panne (pile completely flatened in one direction; shiny, almost metallic appearance). Dry clean.

NOTE: As to care directions (hand wash versus dry clean), the instructions refer to most fabrics of that type. However, there are exceptions. To determine handwashability, snip off a piece of the fabric and hand-wash using a neutral soap. If in doubt, dry clean.

Hearing starts Monday on Big Rock spent fuel pool

By TOM DAMMANN

Consumers Power Company's request to modify the spent fuel pool at Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant will be considered by the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) in an evidentiary hearing held at Boyne Mt. Lodge, Boyne Falls, June 7 (next Monday) to June 15.

Consumer's request to increase the number of spent fuel assemblies in the spent fuel pool is opposed by some area residents who contend that this will endanger the public health and safety of the region.

In NRC official language, "the general purpose of the hearing is to receive evidence on all issues that have been admitted to this hearing, concerning the appropriateness of licensing Consumers Power Company to modify Big Rock Point's spent fuel pool to accomodate more spent fuel."

However, the board is excluding evidence, at this hearing, concerning whether or not there are abnormal soil conditions affecting the analysis whether an earthquake would cripple the over head crane. The crane is used to load and offload fuel assemblies into and from the reactor vessel.

"That one safety issue will be considered only after the NRC's staff completes its study of the issue," the official notice says.

June 25 has now been set for the hearing on this question.

Ordinary hours of the hearing will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. subject to periodic recesses and to extension of hours in order to complete the hearing during the scheduled time period, with Saturday and evening sessions added, if necessary, according to the announcement.

"Members of the public who are not parties to the proceeding are invited to submit written limited appearance statements and to make brief (5 minute) oral presentations to the Board," the notice states. These are to be limited to safety and environmental issues and persons who wish to appear should write the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, attention: Docketing and Service Branch, Washington, D.C. 20555. Refer to Docket No. 50-155 and indicate which evenings, June 7-11, will be inconvenient.

On April 23, 1979, Consumers asked the NRC to amend its license to allow the increase of the number of spent fuel bundles it can store from 193 to 441 by redesigning and rearranging the storage racks which are placed in the spent fuel pool.

A month later, Christa Maria, Jim Mills and Joanne Bier of Charlevoix and John O'Neill of Glen Lake were allowed to enter the case as intervenors.

In the ensuing three years the intervenors, utility and NRC staff have been involved in tortuous litigation over which issues raised by the intervenors would be admitted at the hearing.

Among those which will be argued are:

"The ability of the pool to withstand potentially higher temperatures and consequent stress due to additional fuel, which the intervenors contend could contribute to the possibility of a self-sustained nuclear reaction, or meltdown; the effects of an earthquake; protection of workers during installation of the spent fuel assemblies racks; quality assurance in regard to the spent fuel pool; crash of an airplane on the facility; evacuation and emergency

Guest speaker for the program at the cemetary was U.S. Marine Col. Thomas M. Hamlin, above, a Charlevoix native and career officer in the Marines.

Hamlin praised the legacy passed on by America's fallen heros saying, "The two most valuable gifts one generation can give another are peace and freedom."

Others featured in the program were Charlevoix High School senior David Buday, Pastors David Yingling and Walter Hastings and master of ceremonies Clem Olach.

Political Districts finally straightened out

by PEG OHLE

After much political maneuvering, the word is out: Charlevoix County is part of the 11th Congressional District, the 37th State Senatorial District, and the 103rd State House of Representatives District.

The 11th and 37th have been "home" to Charlevoix County for some time, but in recent years the County has been split between the 103rd and 106th House Districts. While the western part of the County, including the cities of Charlevoix and East Jordan, has been the 103rd District, the western half, including Boyne City, has been in the 106th District.

Boundary lines for the 11th Congressional District have not effectively changed. However, the 37th Senatorial District has "moved west", as it were. It is now made up of Grand Traverse, Antrim, Otsego, Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan, Mackinaw, Chippewa, Luce, Schoolcraft, and Delta Counties. Grand Traverse (which includes Traverse City) was formerly in the 36th Congressional District. Also new in the 37th District is the City of Escanaba in Delta County, which was previously part of the 38th Senatorial District.

Leaving the 37th District are the counties of Crawford, Oscoda, Alcona, part of Iosco, Alpena, Montmorency, and Presque Isle.

The 103rd House District includes, in addition to Charlevoix County, Antrim, Otsego, Crawford, Roscommon, and Oscoda Counties.

The re-districting was brought about by the population shifts revealed in the 1980 census.

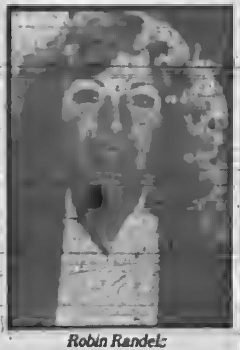
Charlevoix is presently represented in Congress by Republican Robert W. Davis of Marquette, in the State Senate by Democrat Mitch Irwin of Sault Ste. Marie, and in the State House by Ralph Ostling of Roscommon.

Both Davis and Ostling have announced their candidacy for re-election this year. As of last Saturday, Irwin had not been heard from. However, three Republicans, Steve Andrews of Wolverine, John Haggard of Charlevoix, and John Anderson of Traverse City are seeking Irwin's Senatorial seat.

Andrews is in his second term as Representative in the State House from the 106th District; Haggard is a member of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners and a plumbing contractor; Anderson is president and general manager of Radio Station WCCW.

Robin Randels is new Courier Ad Manager

Joining the Charlevoix Courier staff this week as its new advertising manager is Robin Randels. Robin has been in display advertising sales for the past two years at the Petoskey News-Review and was employed in a similar position before that at the Harbor Light weekly paper in Harbor Springs. A native of Flint, Robin graduated from Michigan State University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Communications and Advertising. She has worked in the state capitol in Lansing in constituent relations and also has experience managing a womens fashion store in Flint. Since moving to Northern Michigan three years ago Robin has become an avid skier and outdoors enthusiast. She was recently married to Peter Randels who is employed at State Bank & Trust of Petoskey.



Robin Randels

Says Robin, "I am looking forward to meeting and working with the Courier's advertisers and providing them with the same great service to which they have been accustomed. I have always loved Charlevoix and I'm real excited to have a chance to get to know the community better."

Robin replaces former Courier advertising manager Mary Lee Huber who recently resigned to go into private business.

Revamped Weathervane to open for summer season

by DAVE KNIGHT

One of Charlevoix's most distinctive landmarks, the Weathervane Restaurant, will soon be reopening for business under the guidance of a new management team.

Venture Management, a four-member group including Alyce Lesser, Greg and Lindy Smith and Hoot Rudolph, announced last week that an agreement had been reached with the Weathervane's owners Mr. and Mrs. Rowe Balmer to operate the restaurant for at least the upcoming summer and fall seasons.

Plagued by financial problems, the Earl Young-style complex overlooking the Pine River channel closed this past winter and remains on the selling block despite the involvement of the new managers.

In fact, one of the primary reasons for opening the restaurant, said Mrs. Smith, is to enhance its saleability. Both Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Lesser are on the sales staff of Ski & Shore Real Estate of Charlevoix and have been actively trying to negotiate the sale of the Weathervane.

"We also felt that it was important to the community to have the Weathervane open," said Mrs. Smith, "Charlevoix really needs a dining facility like the Weathervane during the summer season."

She added that to have the Weathervane closed during the tourist season would be a poor reflection on the general economic health of the area.

Several changes in decor and menu are planned.

According to Mrs. Smith, the Weathervane will be fashioned after a sophisticated "pub-bistro" and will feature a moderately priced menu based on "the way people are eating today; light, simple and very good."

Included on the luncheon menu will be omlets, quiches, salads, croissants, homemade breads and desserts, lox and bagels and other specialty items. Sandwiches and light snacks will be served in the main bar area until late in the evening.

A full dinner menu will be featured in the evening with seafood, steaks and other favorites plus appetizers such as escargot and oysters.

Daily breakfast and Sonday brunch will be offered starting in July. The new managers are also in the process of arranging for live entertainment. They are planning to feature local talent in the dining room and bar in an easy listening format with no loud rock music or dancing.

The downstairs bar will be converted into a game room.

Under the direction of well known area chef Hoot Rudolph, the Weathervane will also cater private parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, owners of the Bahnhof ski shops, and Mrs. Lesser plan to lend their business management expertise to the operation while Rudolph brings an extensive background in food preparation and handling.

About 45 jobs have been created by the reopening; many of them for young people. Top priority, said Mrs. Smith, is being given to local applicants.

The new managers hope to have the bar open this weekend and the dining room open by June 10. Under the agreement announced last week, Venture Management will operate the restaurant until October with an option to extend the arrangement at that time.

Local medical personnel trained to handle radiation injuries

Physicians and nurses from Charlevoix and Petoskey joined others from around the Midwest this week in a training course in handling radiation injuries.

Contamination from or exposure to radiation can occur in a medical facility, at a university research laboratory, with industrial radiography, from a transportation accident involving radioactive material or at a nuclear power plant.

In the two-day course sponsored by Consumers Power Company, physicians and nurses reviewed the classification, characteristics, and treatment and consequences of radiation injuries.

"We feel it would be beneficial if a medical person who might be called upon to respond to a radiation injury has a thorough briefing on the subject", Roger W. Sinderman, director of radiological services at Consumers Power, said. "For that reason, we brought together a faculty of experts who covered the entire range of radiation effects and treatment".

Topics discussed included the sources and effects of low-and high-level radiatioo, history of radiation accidents, hospital preplanning to handle accidents, dose assessments, decontamination, delayed effects of exposure aod emergency medical planning.

The program – held May 25 and 26 at South Haven – was primarily for physicians who have some familiarity with radiation and nuclear power. Sinderman said that nurses with advanced skills and health physics personnel also attended.

Among those on hand were Dr. Alan C. Tressler, M.D., radiologist, and Dr. L.T. Kosnik, Pb.D., radiological physicist, at Northern Michigan Hospital, Inc., and Mary Ann Cox, in-service coordinator, Josie Young, energency room supervisor, and Joyce Chellis, staff ourse, all of the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

"The nuclear industry is in a unique position of performing daily monitoring of employees for exposure to radiation," Sinderman said. "This is not necessarily the case in thousand of other industrial plants, where high risks of exposure to chemicals and other agents may occur.

"As a result of the extensive monitoring, there is great understanding of radiation and its effects on workers. This course was organized so that medical personnel are kept up to date on advancements in ao already well-researched field."

Course faculty included Dr. David Drum, radiation safety officer and associate professor of radiology at Harvard Medical School; Dr. Fred Mettler of the Cancer Research and Treatment Center in Albuquerque, N.M.; Dr. Eugene Saeoger, director of the radioisotope laboratory at the University of Cincinnati Medical School; Wayne McKenna, Chief of emergeocy medical services for the Michigan Department of Public Health, and others traioed in radiology and health physics.

New filing deadline set

Charlevoix County Clerk Jane Brannon was advised last week that the deadline for filing petitions for local offices had been extended from June 1 to June 8.

This means that candidates for the County Board of Commissioners and City Councils have until next Tuesday to complete the filing procedure.

Previously, the deadline for filing petitions for state aod federal offices had been extended to June 6.

Seek to put tax reform on November general ballot

by PEG OHLE

There's a grass roots movement afoot to get a tax reform proposition on the November General Election ballot.

The Michigan Townships Association (MTA) is backing a petition drive to amend the Michigan constitution to permit removing a major portion of school operations taxes from homesteads and farms and replacing them with a ooe percent increase in sales taxes earmarked for schools.

Petitions being circulated by members of the MTA explain the proposition in capsule form:

1. Exempts 100 percent of all school operating taxes on resident homesteads for persons 62 years of age or older.

2. Exempts 75 percent of school operating taxes on resident homesteads with a cap of $1,800 and resident farms with a cap of $2,500, indexed annually based on the growth of resideotial and agricultural assessments.

3. Guarantees local control by local school boards.

4. Re-imburses each school district 100 percent for any loss due to the exemptions.

5. Permits assessment of agriculture and forestry properties on use.

6. Holds business and industry harmless from aoy tax to replace the costs due to the exemptions above and the one percent sales tax.

7. Provides a one percent sales tax which is earmarked for local schools.

Computations show that local school operating taxes currently constitute nearly 57.3 percent of the average tax bill, which would mean a saving of about 43 percent for the average homeowner. The saving on a $70,000 home assessed at $35,000 would be $787.50 in a school district levying 30 mills, or $1,050 for a senior citizen.

If present state equalization trends continue, and if average school operating millage continues to rise as it has the last two years, the total property tax reduction under the MTA proposal would be about $1.635 million in its first year of implementation.

Replacement revenue would come from revocation of circuit-breaker savings (automatic) – $460 million; one-cent sales tax (mandated) – $504.8 million; one-cent use tax (not mandated) – $66.4 million; one percent income tax (not mandated) - - $603.1 million, for a total of $1,634.3 million.

Briefly, the MTA proposal, properly implemented, would shift a major portion of the support individual homeowners and resident farmers now provide for schools from property tax to sales and probably income taxes.

"It leaves fewer questions unanswered and causes fewer potential problems than any other proposal of this type that has yet been placed before the voters. If other types of taxes are really regarded as preferable to property taxes, this proposal deserves serious consideration," states Gene Caesar, education specialist in Lansing.

The proposition also has the backing of Governor William G. Milliken.

No more spring pick-ups by city

Any city residents still busy with spring cleaning are advised that the days for free city trash pick-up are over for this season.

According to City Manager Robert Hunt, maoy residents are continuing to pile grass, brush and other refuse on curbsides and in traveled portions of city streets.

Unless arrangements are made for collection by private contractor, said Hunt, those leaving refuse oo public right-of-ways are in possible violation of the city littering ordinance.

In a written explanation of city policy that is being distributed this week, Hunt points out that "...It is illegal to deposit most forms of junk, debris, grass piles, leaf piles, furniture or appliances in public areas are in the exterior portions of private premises. As a practical matter, the City enforces this Code when any such material is placed within the public right-of-ways, unless it is done in conjunction with the spring clean-up program, the fall leaf pick-up or a specially scheduled private refuse pick-up."

In past years, city crews were able to make random pick-ups of curbside refuse. Budget trimmiog efforts at City Hall have made such non-scheduled pick-ups impossible, however, and now city crews will pick up refuse only during scheduled clean-up programs in the spring and fall.

Penalties for violation of the littering ordinance vary with the nature of the violation but can result in a $100 fine and-or a jail sentence of up to 90 days.

Residents notified of a potential violation have five calendar days to remove the refuse in question.

Coleman winners

The recipients of the annual S.E. "Irish" Coleman Award given annually to two seniors on the basis of athletic and academic accomplishments have been named by Gene Steele, left, president of the Charlevoix Lions Club.

They are Colleen LaBlance, center, who participated in volleyball and softball and David Buday, right, who has been on the football, basketball and track teams. Both plan to continue their education.

The award is given in memory of Coach Coleman, a member of the Lions Club, who coached track at the Charlevoix High School for more than 30 years prior to his retirement in 1962 because of failing health.

Knight on the Town

Welcome back

by Dave Knight

At some point over the foggy weekend in Charlevoix, summer officially began.

Just when is a matter of conjecture.

It may have been the second the first little white plastic knife was plunged into a pound of peanut butter fudge being carried out of Murdick's.

Then again it may have been the moment the first curse was uttered by a driver stopped - with stationwagon full of whining children, grumpy spouse and sick dog - at the upraised Pine River drawbridge while a 22-foot day boat gunned its five horse Evinrude from across Round Lake to make the bridge while traffic backed up out of the valley.

Summer may have come with the first penny tossed into the East Park trout pond.

If not, it was officially here when the first pair of sunglasses went overboard into the lake.

Could it have been the instant the first hot dog fell into the sand?

No, it must have been the appearance on Bridge St. of the first crocheted Budweiser hat.

Whatever the precise moment, Summer snuck into town sometime between Friday and Monday for a three-month gig and none too soon for many area merchants still paying January's heating bill.

To those faithful Summer citizens returning to the heaven they left last September, we bid a warm welcome back. Notice anything different?

We've been busy the past few months. Charlevoix the Beautiful is now Charlevoix the Petuniaful for one thing. Tied in with that successful project are the new red and white Charlevoix license plates you'll see on many local vehicles. The plates can still be purchased at several local outlets.

McDonalds and 7-Eleven set up shop over the winter but not before they agreed to put up wooden signs instead of plastic neon ones. We knew you'd appreciate that.

There are plenty more new shops around town worth exploring and, yes, more new condos going up.

While some sights and sounds (a trolley bell!) may be new this season, most of what you remember about Summer in Charlevoix will be the same; plenty of sun, sand and clear blue water.

Welcome Summer!

Glad to have you back.

'Hometown'

A poem by Frank Kubicek

There is a little city fair to see,
On the shore of Lake Michigan, it be.
It's Charlevoix the Beautiful

What, for a weary traveler, makes his day?
Flowers! which line the busiest way.
In Charlevoix the Beautiful

Stately maples line the streets,
The restaurants about in gourmet treats.
In Charlevoix the Beautiful

In it's air, of polution, there is none,
Enjoyed is that by everyone.
At Charlevoix the Beautiful

Kept are lawns with loving care,
To be seen all over everywhere.
In Charlevoix the Beautiful

The harbor hosts the finest ships,
Make they use of numerous slips.
In Charlevoix the Beautiful

Streams run clear, cold and pure,
Bathing beaches breathe alure.
In Charlevoix the Beautiful

No other abode, it's citizens seek,
Proudly of their hometown speak,
Of Charlevoix the Beautiful

The staff of The Fireside Inn which numbers approximately 18 (winter) also get Big Mac attacks and therefore welcome the addition to our community. However in reference to your recent column, we would like you to be advised that our staff is also relatively young, many being either currently or recently students of Charlevoix High. Therefore come up and see us some time too!!

Clockwise

Optimism

by Bob Clock

WHAT KIND OF a summer are we going to have?

Ask any Charlevoix businessman, and you'll run into a lot of hedging. No one likes to come right out and say: "Hey, we're going to have a regular barn-burner." Most of us are too superstitious, I guess, to tempt the Fates.

But I'd like to go out on a limb and predict that our summer season will be better than anyone would reasonably anticipate — given the dreadful state of the national and Michigan economies.

Tourists aplenty already are showing up downtown, and highway traffic throughout the area is growing in volume every day.

Downtown business places that have been shuttered all winter are reopening and the Bay Queen appears ready for another prosperous season.

Perhaps things won't be quite what they were last year, but they won't be all that bad, either.

At least that's the concensus among those of us who are willing to take a flyer.

WHO WAS THE oldest rider in the St. Jude's Hospital bike-a-thon last Saturday?

Shirley Breeze thinks it may have been her husband, Al.

Although she didn't reveal Breezy's age, Mrs. Breeze claims her husband didn't learn to ride a bicycle until he was 55.

"When he was a kid he was too busy practicing the piano to learn how to ride a bike," she explained.

Al, of course, has been a mainstay at the Grey Gables piano bar for years, and years, and years and years...

SPEAKING OF GROWING old, who has more fun than the folks at Pine River Place?

Following the Memorial Day parade, PRP residents had themselves a picnic.

Bulletin boards at the senior citizen housing hall carry notices of a number of different events every week, ranging from potluck suppers in the lounge to musical programs by various school and church groups.

PRP recently acquired a new table shuffleboard game for the lounge, a nice complement to the pool table which raised a few eyebrows when it was first installed this winter.

All in all, PRP is something Charlevoix has needed for years — but we just didn't know how to go about getting it until Ralph McRae and his colleagues picked up the ball and ran with it.

THE PETUNIAS have survived their first week and are looking good. They certainly made good use of Friday's rain, despite daily watering by the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful Committee.

THE CHARLEVOIX High School graduates will receive diplomas Sunday were members of the first kindergarten class at the "new" Elementary School on Division Street in 1969. Where have the years gone?

Billboard project sends a message to Washington

by MARGARET DUERR

"Mr. Speaker:

This week, throughout the city of Washington, billboards bearing a simple, yet irrefutable message will be appearing on rooftops, at busy intersections and near shopping malls. In pastoral hues of green and brown – across a backdrop of earthlings holding hands in mutual dependence – the billboards carry an urgent plea for the exercise of common sense here in Congress and across the city at the White House. The message – eloquent in its simplicity – reads, 'Hear Us: Nuclear War Hurts Too Much'. This billboard campaign is not the product of a radical underground movement, nor is it the fashioning of a wealthy social activists; rather, the campaign was designed and paid for by hundreds of families in Michigan - families legitimately frightened by the madness of the nuclear arms race and the breakneck speed with which we approach the brink of nuclear war."

These are the opening remarks of a speech made by Michigan 3rd District Congressman Howard Wolpe to the House of Representatives on May 5. His remarks were timed to coincide with the appearance of 17 billboards in the Washington, D.C. area. The billboards will be on display for all of May with some of them continuing through June. One of the 17 carries the imprint "Paid for by People of NW Lower Michigan", the result of contributions from 32 people or groups in the Charlevoix-Petoskey area.

A Charlevoix native, Carrie Duerr Venema originated the idea of raising money to "send" billboards to Washington with an anti nuclear-war message. She has just returned from a week's visit to the nation's capitol where she saw all 17 signs. With Congressman Wolpe she participated in a television interview in front of one of the billboards on Pennsylvania Avenue. The interview was carried by 2 southern Michigan channels. She has also been interviewed on National Public Radio program "All Things Considered". She says that stories about the billboards have appeared in the N.Y. Times and the Washington Post. She is still overwhelmed by the generous response to the Billboards to Washington campaign, and by the national attention her effort has received.

Congressman Wolpe is one of 170 co-sponsors of a House bill calling for a nuclear weapons freeze. In his closing remarks to the House he said, "The choice between continuing the nuclear arms race and pursuing a bilateral nuclear weapons freeze is a simple matter – as simple as the choice between life and death. Hundreds of families in Michigan know that, and they want us to know it as well. In the interest of life and all creation, we must hear them: Nuclear war hurts too much."

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Muma

Michael-Muma

Sally Elizabeth Michael and Ralph J. Muma were married Saturday evening, May 21, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. John R. Michael of Charlevoix, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Muma, also of Charlevoix.

The Reverend R. Dale Magoon performed the double-ring marriage rites before approximately 200 guests.

For the occasion, the church altar was decorated with chrysanthemums, statice, and candelabra.

The bride walked down the aisle in a gown of ivory bridal mist fabric with a Queen Ann neckline. The skirt formed an apron effect with accents of lace. Chantilly lace sleeves, an Empire waist, and Chapel train completed the gown. The Juliet cap was accented with pearls and the short veil was trimmed with matching lace.

The bridal bouquet was fashioned of white roses centered with a Catalaya orchid, and stephanotis and ivy.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael gave their daughter in marriage. Julie Michael of Norwich, Connecticut, a sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Another sister, Lisa, was a bridesmaid, as were Kim King, Lynn Blanchard, and Terry Diaz of Dallas, a cousin of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore lavender qiana gowns with lace bodices and long, full sleeves of matching lace. They carried bouquets of purple statice, stephanotis, and ivy.

David Muma of Grand Rapids, a cousin of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

Frank Muma of Dallas served as best man, with Chris Michael, brother of the bride, and Greg Mort serving as groomsmen. Steve Michael, another brother of the bride, and Bill Bellows of North Carolina served as ushers.

Mrs. John Lignell supplied organ music for the ceremony and Dr. John Lignell was soloist.

The bride's mother was attired in a long grey A-line gown with mini print jacket of blue and grey tones. The bridegroom's mother wore a long gown of plum chiffon over taffeta.

The bride's parewnts hosted a dinner reception at the American Legion Hall following the services. Mrs. Fritz Puffpaff and Deb Puffpaff helped greet the guests, and Mrs. John Postovit, aunt of the bride assisted with the cake.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner on Friday evening at the Grey Gables Inn.

Guests came from North Carolina, Grand Rapids, Farmington, and Windsor and Toronto, Ontario to attend the wedding.

The newlyweds will be at home in Dallas, where the bridegroom is employed as a private investigator.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Sussman

Hollow-Sussman

Bouquets of spring flowers adorned the altar of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix on May 22 for the wedding of Karen Diane Hollow and Robert Mark Sussman.

The afternoon double-ring ceremony was performed by Father R. Dale Magoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Hollow of Charlevoix and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Stanley Sussman of Petoskey. Both young people have been living in West St. Paul, Minnesota, where they are employed, she as a registered nurse at the University of Minnesota Hospital and Clinics, and he as a service technician at Marlin Marine.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white chiffon full-length gown with Chapel train, high neckline, and natural waist-length bodice. The bodice and long sleeves were fashioned of lace and the train was trimmed with lace. The veil was also Chapel-length, nylon tulle, trimmed with flowers.

Deborah Hollow, the bride's older sister, served as maid of honor, and two younger sisters, Lori and Michele, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of pink taffeta with ballerina-length skirts with cumberbunds, white lace bodices, and long sleeves. They carried small bouquets of spring flowers.

Lisa Michalczuk, a cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a pink taffeta floor-length dress with a white lace pinafore.

David Switzer was the groom's best man, while Douglas Krussel and Grant Martinchek were groomsmen. Mark Hollow, the bride's brother, and Rick Fowler helped to seat the guests.

Music for the ceremony was provided by organist Marina LaBlance and vocalist Marcia Fuller, sister of the bridegroom.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the Harbour Inn in Harbor Springs. The rehearsal dinner was held the previous evening at Duffy's in Charlevoix.

The newlyweds postponed their wedding trip until next winter. They are now at home in West St. Paul.

Bible Questions Answers

We believe that there is a real need for some kind of space in the Charlevoix Courier where people can write in with their questions about God, Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, The Bible, Divine Healing, Deliverance, Faith, Gifts of the Holy Spirit, etc. etc. ... a kind of column where you can ask all of the things you've always wanted to know, and have been afraid to ask!

Now, we know that some questions would be of a personal nature, and so you wouldn't want them published, so we will answer them privately by return mail. But we know that many of your questions are the same questions that others would like to have the answer to, so it would be published and the answer given. Of course, not all questions could be handled in the Courier, but we'd try to print the ones that would be of the greatest help to the community of Charlevoix.

Right now as you are reading this you probably have one or more questions that you'd like some answers to ... things that have puzzled you for years. Questions on the endtime, final judgement, the eternal life hereafter, etc. etc. We'll take the time to answer each letter either by this column or by personal return letter, or both.

Not only do you want answers, but you want answers that are in harmony with the rest of God's Word. Answers that are simple and true. Answers that can be put into immediate operation in your life. You want answers to the purpose of life. God has supplied the answer to your every question. His first answer to every question is centered and based on Jesus Christ and His Atoning Work on the Cross. So now because of Jesus Christ we (the whole world) have full rights to all the promises of God. (2 Cor. 1:20). Drop us a line today. All letters held in strict confidence.

District No. 3 oversees environmental health

by PEG OHLE

"Environmental health" has become a subject of much concern in recent years, and in northern Michigan it comprises a large part of the work of District Health Department No. 3.

District Health Department No. 3 is made up of four adjoining counties – Charlevoix, Antrim, Emmet, and Otsego. Seven registered sanitarians and-or environmentalists make up the environmental health staff that provides health services that touch the lives of just about everyone in the area.

F. Dean Mikulski directs the activities of the seven men as a member of the Administration Staff of the Health Department. He is assisted in Charlevoix County by Larry Levengood and Gordon Block, in Antrim County by Walter Franczek and Ron Boss, in Emmet County by William Henne, and in Otsego County by William Lubs.

The number of contacts made by the environmental health staff in District No. 3 to provide various services during 1981 were recently reported as follows:

Children's camps, 73; child care centers, 96; foster family homes, 131; family day care, 34; group day care, one; child care, 24; fixed food services, 1,751; temporary food services, 66; retail food, six; food borne diseases, eight; product contamination or adulteration, six; air pollution, 70.

Rabies related, nine; hepatitis, one; communicable diseases, 43; disaster activity, seven; insect control, nine; mass gatherings, 85; rodent control, 27; community planning and zoning, 34; FHA, 44; VA, six; Farmers Home, 176.

Subdivisions, 139; mobile home parks, 141; campgrounds, 305; schools, 52; sewage, vacant land, 1,549; sewage, existing homes, 707; sewage, private, 1,945; sewage, semi-public, 370; sewage, public, 255.

Vehicle licenses, 18; septic tank cleaners licenses, 46; garbage and rubbish haulers, 120; solid waste, 164; non-community water supply, 150; community water supply, 123; public swimming pools, 245; bathing beaches, 15; marinas, 34; water pollution, 136; other services, 5,612. Total services, 14,833.

As a result of such environmental health contacts, residents of Charlevoix County received permits, licenses, inspections, and evaluations-appraisals in these numbers:

Well permits, 169; new on-site sewage permits, 144; replacement on-site permits, 67; rejected on-site sewage permits, seven; well drillers licensed, 17; mobile home parks licensed, six; septic tank cleaners licensed, four; campgrounds licensed, 18.

Full service food establishments licensed, 89; limited food establishments licensed, 27; fee exempt food establishments licensed, 25; temporary food establishments licensed, 42.

Nuisance complaints evaluated, 59; nursery schools inspected, three; foster home requests, 25; recreational camps inspected, seven.

Land evaluations, 105; FHA-VA appraisals, 23; plats, two; lots, 31; and swimming pools licensed, 18.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS from Boyne City, Boyne Falls and Charlevoix participated in a half-day seminar at the Charlevoix Area Hospital last Tuesday on careers in the health field. The 30 students heard presentations on the range of health field careers from various members of hospital departments. They listened to a panel discussion on the subject by a nurse, physician and hospital administrator Richard Krueger, they toured the hospital and they had an opportunity to ask questions of hospital employees.

Big Rock hearing

planning regarding the fuel pool; and several other contentions.

Since 1980 the intervenors have received legal-technical assistance from Professor Herbert Semmel and law students at Antioch Law School in Washington, D.C. They will be present at the hearing. Two Petoskey attorneys, Paul Hurst and Lawrence Hanson will assist at the hearing.

Among the experts who will appear are: Dr. Michio Kaku, Professor of Physics, City College of New York, will testify on the matter of criticality (the point at which the pool cannot be cooled) of the spent fuel pool; Dr. Arthur Schwartz, statistical expert at the University of Michigan, will testify on the chances of an aircraft hitting Big Rock, and Hadley Smith, Ann Arbor, a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission, the forerunner of the NRC will support O'Neill's contentions.

A parallel issue which at the point of writing may or may not be dealt with at the hearing concerns the ability of the spent fuel pool "to retain its integrity" if the water temperature in the pool were to rise to ungovernable heights, because of the addition of new spent fuel assemblies, (all spent fuel assemblies are still radioactive) should a loss of spent fuel cooling occur.

The board had taken an interest in this subject and directed the staff to address it with special emphasis.

On May 21 Gus C. Lainas, NRC Assistant Director for Safety Assessment, Division of Licensing, wrote Consumers Power "that errors were found by the staff in the analysis" submitted by the utility. "The errors and deficiencies are such that the analysis is not sufficient to assure the structural integrity of the pool would be maintained if pool cooling is lost," which means a meltdown might occur.

Lainas' letter adds to questions concerning present operating conditions and directs Consumers Power to supply the following information by June 4 to enable the Commission to decide whether or not the Big Rock Point licensing should be modified, suspended or revoked: 1) a justification for continued operation of Big Rock in view of the fact that "safety grade equipment is not available to cool the pool and access could be limited by loss of coolant accident; a corrected revision of the current analysis of record for the spent fuel pool structure; and a schedule for either "a comprehensive analysis of the spent fuel pool structure that shows the pool would retain its "integrity" under the toughest analysis bearing in mind that the strength of the pool's concrete has suffered some from radioactivity; or "provision of safety grade design features to assure that the spent fuel pool cooling can be maintained without access to the containment."

In telephone conversations with Joseph Gallo, attorney for Consumers Power, and NRC staff Richard Bachmann on Friday, the Courier has learned that Gallo will seek a delay for answering the letter.

"But the issues may be resolved at the hearing next week," Bachmann said.

He pointed out that the questions raised by the staff, though related to the hearing, really supercede the issue of whether or not to grant the utility's request for an expansion of the fuel pool.

"If the answers to the staff questions don't satisfy the staff, then the Commission will have to decide whether or not to shut down Big Rock," the NRC attorney said. "These questions concern present operations."

CERAMACISTS FROM AROUND MICHIGAN met last week in a two-day workshop at Charles Koucky's pottery studio, The Crockery, on M-66, conducted by Professor Walter Higgins, right, of the New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred University. The workshop, organized by local potters, was partially supported by a grant from the Michigan Council of the Arts. It was a technical workshop focusing on the construction of molds for tiles, slip casting forms and use of jiggering attachments to wheels. Potters from Detroit, Grand Rapids and Northern Michigan attended the workshop. Higgins trains industrial and studio ceramacists at Alfred University. He is also a consultant to industry.

Planning Dept. submits two budgets

The Charlevoix County Planning Department is submitting two tentative 1983 budgets for approval by the County Board of Commissioners.

The first budget is in the amount of $47,515 and the alternative one is in the amount of $51,765. The latter budget is based on the possibility the Planning Department will receive a grant of $22,000 from the Michigan Coastal Management Program, which money the Department would use to develop a land use and communities facilities plan.

The difference in budget figures is due to $200 more in office supplies, $300 more in postage, $100 more in postage, $2,400 more in printing and binding, $300 more in telephone, $150 more in advertising, and $1,000 more in travel – all attributable to developing a land use plan.

The basic $47,515 budget includes $3,200 for per diem wages, $35,075 for permanent wages, $750 for office supplies, $800 for postage, $1,000 for printing and binding, $300 for memberships and subscriptions, $110 for service contracts, $1,600 for telephone, $200 for advertising, $50 for office equipment repairs, $30 for equipment rental, $400 for miscellaneous expenses, $1,000 for employee training, and $3,000 for travel.

The 1982 budget for the Planning Department was $43,813.

Chamber to hold general meeting

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce will hold its first general membership meeting of the season Wednesday, June 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the Grey Gables Inn.

The meeting will feature a wine and cheese reception, at nominal cost, plus an important discussion on the community's economic well being.

Speakers include Richard Surbrook, director of economic development for Consumers Power Company; Ronald Nino, Charlevoix's master planner; Michael Greeley, chairman of the Downtown Development Authority and a representative of the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation.

The general membership meeting is an offshoot of goals recently set by the Chamber's board of directors to improve communication among members and make the Chamber more visible and responsive to community needs.

Trackmen cop conference crown

The Charlevoix Rayder track team added still another title to its list of wins Thursday when the team, coached by Hal Evans, won the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference title at Petoskey Thursday.

The team captured the title with a margin of 164¼ points to 89 for Petoskey, the closest contender. Rogers City had 71¼; Boyne City 70, Soo 31, Onaway 27, St. Ignace 23¼ and Gaylord 19¼.

The team will travel to Bangor for the state meet June 12.

Coach Evans said of his team "They were super. They're just great kids. They knew Van (Sloan) was hurt and each gave a little extra to compensate for it. I can't say enough about them."

In winning the league title, Scott Shepherd placed first in the 100 and 220 and second in the long jump, Ross Carey first in the shot and the discus, Doug Sloan, a freshman, a first in the 440 and the relay teams first in the 880 and mile relays.

In the field events Charlevoix placed as follows:

Shot put: 1. Carey, 3. Mark Beaudoin, 4. Mark Oostmeyer, distance 51'3"; discus: 1. Carey, 3. Beaudoin, distance 151'½"; high jump: 2. Larry Lemerand, 6. Tony Starr in a four-way tie; long jump: 2. Shepherd; pole vault: 5. Bill Ranger.

In the track events Charlevoix placed as follows:

100 yd. dash: 1. Shepherd, 5. Van Sloan, time 10.48; 220 yd. run: 1. Shepherd, 2. Jim Martin, 5. V. Sloan, time 23.93; 440 yd. run: 1. Doug Sloan, 3. Martin time 51.72; 880 yd. run: 2. Jim Landon, 5. Ron Way; mile: 4. John Tunison; two mile: 4. Bill Taylor; 880 relay: 1. Charlevoix (Dave Buday, Tim Louiselle, D. Sloan, Shepherd) time 1:36.6; mile relay: 1. Charlevoix (Martin, Buday, Louiselle, D. Sloan) time 3:38.56; 440 relay: 2. Charlevoix (Tim Krueger, Beaudoin, Buday, Louiselle); 110 high hurdles: 2. George Smith; 220 yd low hurdles: 2. Smith.

The track team captured the coveted Petoskey Relays last week with a total of 59 points.

Boyne City was second with 38 points followed by Rogers City with 35; Newberry and Traverse City St. Francis, 16 each; Onaway, 14 and East Jordan, 7.

The Rayders took firsts in four relays and second in two of the seven relays; a third in the 120 yd. high hurdles in which a new record was set; sixth in the Buckmaster mile and also sixth in the 7-8 grade 440 yd. relay to roll up their winning points.

The meet results follow: ¾ mile medley: 1. Charlevoix (Jim Martin, Tim Louiselle, Scott Shepherd, Van Sloan) time 2:35.7; mile medley: 1. Charlevoix (Doug Sloan, Dave Buday, Mark Beaudoin, Jim Landon) time 3:50.93; sprint medley: 1. Charlevoix (Shepherd, Louiselle, Tim Krueger, V. Sloan) time 1:10.62; mile relay: 1. Charlevoix (Martin, Doug Drenth, Shepherd, D. Sloan) time 3:39.19; 440 relay: 2. Charlevoix (Krueger, V. Sloan, Louiselle, Shepherd); 880 relay: 2. Charlevoix (Buday, Louiselle, Larry Lemerand, V. Sloan); 120 yd. high hurdles: 3. George Smith; Buckmaster mile: 6. Bill Taylor; 7-8 grade 440 relay: 6. Charlevoix (Mike Lent, Jason Brindel, Deno Drost, Pat Gibbons).

Softball team rolls in predistrict tourney

The Charlevoix Rayder softball team advanced to the district tournament Thursday after defeating Elk Rapids 20-0 in the second pre-district game here.

Earlier the team had defeated Kalkaska in the first of two pre-district games in order to qualify for the district tournament.

The team will play at Houghton Lake June 5. Coach Mary Lieberman said she did not know who their opponent might be at this time. "Not all teams have completed their pre-district games" she added.

In the game played at Charlevoix, the Rayders scored five runs in the first inning and then coasted to the win, adding seven in the third inning and eight in the fourth. "With the lead we had, we never got to bat in the fifth inning" the coach said.

Rhonda Buchanan allowed only one hit collected by the Elks pitcher, Dawn Miracle, who gave up 16 to Charlevoix.

Sna Reginia accounted for three of the runs Meg Fowler, Buchanan, Bridget Noirot, Kim Bolduc and Laura Kemp two each and Colleen LaBlance, Holly Taber and Angie McClanaghan, one each.

The team presently has a 17-5 record.

Splits with Petoskey

The Charlevoix softball team split with Petoskey last week, winning the big one by a score of 11-2 and losing the second 7-3.

The team concluded the season with a 17 win-five loss record according to Coach Mary Lieberman.

Rhonda Buchanan allowed only four hits as her team scored 11 runs on the four hits permitted by Petoskey hurler, Monica Malec.

Meg Fowler, Buchanan, Angie McClanaghan and Sue Reginia accounted for the Rayder hits.

Lisa Wilson had a double, Malec, Robin Elder and Karen Kondziela had hits for Petoskey.

In the second game Kelly Parsley was the winning pitcher as she held Charlevoix to five hits. Holly Taber allowed six hits.

Kondziela had three, Lauri Washburn, Kris Ronan and Dawn Bonter had one hit each.

Taber had a double, Fowler, Buchanan, Bridget Noirot and Kim Bolduc had one each.

Girls place fourth in Petoskey Relays...

The Charlevoix Rayder girls track team scored 26 points and placed fourth in the Petoskey Relays last week behind Rogers City with 56 points, Grayling with 43 and Traverse City St. Francis with 30. Seven teams were entered in Class C.

The Charlevoix girls placed in five of the six relays, finishing second in the spring medley, third in the mile relay, and fourth in the ¾ mile medley, 440 relay and 880 relay. Charlevoix's 7-8 grade 440 relay team also placed second in the meet.

In the spring medley relay, Charlevoix placed second behind Rogers City who set a new record of 1:22.30 in the event. Team members were Dianna Loder, Lisa Pischner, Sally Westenbroek and Carrie Richardson.

The 7-8 grade 440 relay team was composed of Sandy Wanek, Rhonda Brown, Kris Austin and Ember Spencer winning second place.

Finishing third in the mile relay, the Charlevoix team was composed of Ann Wagner, Pischner, Dohm and Plagge.

Members of the teams that placed fourth were: ¾ mile medley relay - Kathy Dohm, Loder, Mary Plagge and Cheryl Aull; 440 relay - Pischner, Westenbroek, Richardson and Lynda Cluk and the 880 relay - Richardson, Westenbroek, Cluk and Loder.

Dennis VanGuilder is the coach and Adele Kiteley the assistant coach.

...And sixth at M-HSC meet

The Charlevoix Rayder girls track team, with 15 points, finished sixth in the annual Michigan-Huron Shores Conference meet at Petoskey recently.

The team, coached by Dennis VanGuilder, placed in all three relays and in the low hurdles.

Rogers City took the meet with 99¾ points to nose out Cheboygan with 98¼ points. Petoskey had 86 points; Grayling, 50; Sault Ste. Marie, 38¾; St. Ignace, 31; Boyne City, 18; Gaylord, 9¾ and Onaway, 9.

The meet results follow: 440 relay: 2. Charlevoix (Dianna Loder, Sally Westenbroek, Lisa Pischner, Carrie Richardson); 880 relay: 4. Charlevoix (Loder, Westenbroek, Pischner, Richardson); mile relay: 5. Charlevoix (Mary Plagge, Pischner, Kathy Dohm, Sheryl Aull); 220 low hurdles: 8. Tasaa Culver.

Seek teams for tourney

The Charlevoix Recreation Department is seeking teams to participate in a Women's Softball tournament on June 18-20.

Any team wishing to enter the tournament may call the Charlevoix Recreation Department at 547-4272 or Dwight Boss at his home at 547-9098.

City slow pitch league ready to go

The Charlevoix Recreation Department Slow-pitch League will launch its season Tuesday with a five-team men's league playing two games every Monday and Wednesday plus two Friday's in June. The seven-team women's League will see action on Wednesday and Thursday of each week.

The schedules are planned so that the seasons will end by August 1. Tournaments will follow with the seasons completed by mid-August Dwight Boss City Recreation director said. "By mid-August many of the players who are college students are planning to return to school and teams are left without key players during the play-off tournaments. By completing the schedule early, every team has a full roster throughout the season, families have an opportunity for a vacation before school opens and others players have time for themselves while it is still summer" Boss said.

The teams in the men's league are McDonald's managed by Boss, Townhouse by Sonny Wright, Air Force by Richard Greenway, Swanson's K & D by Gordon Block and Erber Auto by Jim Marsh.

The Air Force team will not be seeing action until June 9 because of other commitments so the schedule has been re-arranged for the team's convenience.

The teams in the women's league will be playing three games every Tuesday and Thursday night. The teams are Kwikie Duplicating managed by Robb Hilton, Charlevoix Hospital by Ginger Stevens, Townhouse by Rich Borths, Medusa by Sherry Sellassen, Michigan National Bank North by Cookie Borths, Paul Bunyan Lanes by Rosemary Johnson and Erber Auto by Ray Browe.

Baseball team advances to District playoffs

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team, coached by Pete Spieles, advanced to the District play-offs at Grayling, Friday, June 4, after winning over East Jordan by a score of 5-3 in the second of a pre-district series. The team had won over Elk Rapids 14-1 in the first pre-district game.

The Rayders will meet Kalkaska at 12:30 p.m. Friday, June 4, at Grayling. Kalkaska had defeated Traverse City St. Francis 4-3 in a pre-district game Friday to advance to the district tournament. The Gladiators had defeated Kalkaska twice during the season.

In the game Friday, Kurt Puffpaff was the winning pitcher. He was relieved in the seventh by Mike Loper who was credited with the same. East Jordan had seven hits. Charlevoix had 10 off Kevin Mayhew.

The Rayders got off to a fast start in the game with the Jordanites, scoring three runs in the first inning. Jim Buchanan got on with a single and advanced to second when Scott Kelly went to first on a hit and run single. Gary Drury then brought in three runs on a homer. Loper hit a home run in the second to give the Rayders a 4-0 lead.

In the top of the fifth Chanda singled. Raymond then hit a homer to make the score 4-2.

Kelly doubled in the bottom of the fifth, moved to third on a single by Jon Supernaw and came home on a single by Jon Spieles.

Raymond gave the Red Devils their third run on a homer in the seventh.

Buchanan had a single, Kelly has four for four, including a double, Supernaw had two hits, Drury and Loper had homeruns and Spieles had a single.

Raymond had two homers for the visitors and Mayhew, Peck, Russell, Chanda and Newville Singles for the losing cause.

NOTICE OF HEARING
CHARLEVOIX CONSOLIDATED DRAIN NO 1

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 20 of Act 40, Public Acts of Michigan, 1956, as amended, a petition was filed with the Drain Commissioner of the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, by the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, requesting said Drain Commissioner to establish a community-wide storm drainage management district and to clean out, relocate, widen, deepen, straighten, extend, tile and otherwise improve culverts and bridges, as necessary for the following drains:

1. Prospect Street
2. State Street

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the Drainage Board for said drainage improvements has considered the said petition and made a tentative determination that the said petition is sufficient and that the said drainage improvements are necessary for the public health and are practicable; has given the name "Charlevoix Consolidated Drain No 1" as the name of said drainage project; has given the name "Charlevoix Consolidated Drain No 1 Drainage District" to the drainage district therefor; and has made a tentative determination that the following public corporations should be assessed for the cost of said project, to wit:

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX, Charlevoix County, Michigan, at large, for benefits to public health and
MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION, Highway Building, Lansing, Michigan

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the Drainage Board will meet on the 10th day of June, 1982 at 1:30 o'clock in the PM Eastern Daylight time, in the Commissioners' Room, County Building Annex, Charlevoix, Michigan for the purpose of hearing any objections to said project, to the petition therefor, and to the matter of assessing the cost to the public corporations above named. AT SAID HEARING THE PUBLIC CORPORATIONS TO BE ASSESSED, OR ANY TAXPAYER THEREOF, WILL BE ENTITLED TO BE HEARD.

This Notice is given by order of said Drainage Board.

Official Notice

PUBLIC NOTICE

The following Ordinance was adopted by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix at their regular meeting on May 24, 1982.

ORDINANCE NO. 398
AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 8.59(2) OF CHAPTER 99 OF TITLE VIII OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX.

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS: THAT SECTION 8.59(2) BE DELETED AND THE FOLLOWING SUBSTITUTED THEREIN:

(2) (A) The Planning Commission shall have the power to authorize, upon appeal, specific variances from the various requirements specified in this sign ordinance and to extend the term to continue non-conforming signs otherwise provided for herein.

(B) Applications for Planning Commission authorization as provided for herein shall be submitted to the Zoning Administrator on a form supplied for such purposes accompanied with an application fee in the amount of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars and shall be processed in the following manner:

i) The Zoning Administrator shall forward the application and supporting data to the City Planning Commission.

ii) Planning Commission shall hold a public hearing or hearings on the subject application. The notice of public hearing shall be posted not less than seven (7) days in advance, in writing, by first class mail to such property owners or occupants located within one hundred (100) feet of the property which is the subject of the application. After public hearing procedures, the Planning Commission may grant approval of the application. Said approval shall be in writing with any conditions or reasons for rejection, if it be so, which authorization shall be sent promptly to the Zoning Administrator and to the applicant.

iii) All of the following conditions in the judgement of the Planning Commission shall exist before any authorization as provided for in this Chapter shall be granted. Any such authorization granted shall:

(a) Not be contrary to the public interest or the general intent and purpose of this Chapter.

(b) Not permit the erection of a sign within a given district which is prohibited herein.

(c) Not cause substantial adverse effect to properties in the immediate vicinity or in the sign district where the authorized deviation is located.

iv) Special Findings. If all of the foregoing conditions can be satisfied, an authorization for a sign variance may be granted when the Planning Commission determines that any one of the following special findings can be clearly demonstrated:

(a) There are exceptional or extraordinary circumstances or conditions which apply to the property in question.

(b) That such deviation is necessary for the preservation of a substantial property right possessed by other properties within the same sign district.

V) Any person aggrieved by the action of the Planning Commission herein shall be entitled to claim an appeal before the Common Council which shall act as the Board of Appeals. The Board of Appeals shall employ the criteria established herein in making its decision.

A request for appeal of the Planning Commission action shall be filed with the Zoning Administrator, on a form provided, within seven (7) days of the action. All Planning Commission actions not appealed within seven (7) days shall become final.

Charlevoix Council Minutes

May 24, 1982
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time in a rescheduled regular Council meeting with Mayor Staley presiding.

Present: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Timms that the Minutes of the May 3, 1982 regular meeting and the May 10, 1982 special meeting be approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was adopted by voice vote.

A Public Hearing was held regarding a tax increment financing plan to purchase and develop a parcel of property at 107 Mason St. for use as a City parking lot as proposed by the Downtown Development Authority. A simultaneous Public Hearing was held regarding a proposed Ordinance to adopt the plan. Kenneth Boss, Secretary of the Charlevoix Public Schools Board of Education, read a resolution as adopted by that Board objecting to the proposed plan on the basis that it would divert anticipated revenue from the schools from the purpose for which it was voted. Jim Sheppard, Superintendent of the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, also read a statement opposing the proposed plan. Mike Greeley, Chairman of the Downtown Development Authority, and Linda Mason, President of the Charlevoix Merchants' Association, spoke in favor of the proposed plan. Dennis Kusina, a member of the General Public present, suggested that the proposal be placed on the ballot in the August primary election to be decided by the electorate.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms to adopt an Ordinance approving a tax increment financing plan as proposed by the Downtown Development Authority for the purchase and development of the property at 107 Mason St. into a City parking lot.

Motion was denied by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter and Timms. Nays: Councilmembers Block, Roloff, and Wood. Absent: Councilman Morris.

A Public Hearing was held regarding a proposed amendment to the City Sign Ordinance which would transfer responsibility for sign variances from the City Council to the City Planning Commission.

The following Ordinance was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Wood.

(See Ordinance No. 398 elsewhere in this publication.)

Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

A Public Hearing was held regarding a proposed amendment to the City Sign Ordinance regarding the size, number, and location of directional signs.

The following Ordinance was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Wood.

(See Ordinance No. 399 elsewhere in this publication.)

Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The following Emergency Ordinance was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Block and supported by Councilman Wood.

(See Ordinance No. 400 elsewhere in this publication.)

Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilmen Block and supported by Councilman Timms that a Public Hearing be held at 8:00 P.M. on June 7, 1982 regarding a permanent amendment to the City's Elimination of Blight Ordinance which will clarify and strengthen City enforcement in placing the expense of the demolition of blighted structures on the tax rolls as a special assessment.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Council adjourned to the Board of Appeals.

Following the Board of Appeals meeting, roll call of the Council was again taken with all members except Councilman Morris being present.

Council discussed a Site Plan as proposed by Robert Schleman for the construction of a boat storage building on Ferry Ave. adjacent to Ferry Ave. Beach. Councilman Porter stated that the deed to Mr. Schleman's property limits the property use to manufacturing purposes. The City Attorney stated that, in his belief, there was a time limit on the deed restriction which has expired. The matter was tabled until the regular meeting scheduled for June 21, 1982 to allow the Planning Commission time to submit their recommendation on the Site Plan.

Council reviewed a Site Plan for Phase II of the Northwest Marine project on Ferry Ave. for construction of ten (10) condominium units in the middle portion of the old Foster Boat Works on Lake Charlevoix. Denny Heck, owner of the project, stated that Granger Engineering has determined that the existing 6 in. water line at the site is sufficient to meet the projects water flow requirements. The City Manager stated that he must confirm this fact with Granger and determine if the water flow is also adequate for fire fighting purposes before he can determine rather or not a larger water line will be required.

Mr. Heck stated that boat pump-out facilities for the project will be provided by a portable pump-out unit as approved by the D.N.R.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Wood to approve a Site Plan as presented by Denny Heck for ten condominium units at the Northwest Marine Project on Ferry Ave. contingent upon approval of the on site water flow by the City Manager.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Tom Leu, Civilian Electronic Engineer for the Ninth Coast Guard District, presented a Site Plan for construction of a 197 ft. antenna tower at the local Lifeboat Station. Mr. Leu stated that the Coast Guard must remove five antennas from the old City water tower and will place them at the new site. He also stated that the mast of the tower will be 178 ft. with a 21 ft. pole antenna above it.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Porter to approve a Site Plan as presented by the U.S. Coast Guard for construction of at 197 ft antenna tower at their Lifeboat Station on the north side of the Upper Pine River Channel.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The following Resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Porter.

Resolution 82-5-1

WHEREAS, the water customers on the City's sewer system are charged sewage on all water used, and

WHEREAS, in the summer the residents use water outside of their house which does not enter the sewer system, and

WHEREAS, the sewer customer should not be charged for something he does not use,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that during June, July & August, the single family home sewer customers that apply for a reduction in sewer bill be billed for each of the these summer months a bill equal to the average bill for their last six months of use.

RESOLVED this 24th day of May, 1982, A.D.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Porter to allow the City Manager, in his capacity as the City Zoning Administrator, to make a distinction between those home occupations which cause increases in noise, traffic, activity, hazards, and other neighborhood impacts as opposed to those which do not cause any increase in activity; and, to allow the Zoning Administrator to waive the requirements of obtaining a Special Use Permit for those home occupations causing no external impact.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms to approve the rental of the front office and three parking spaces at the City owned building on Clinton St. (former Erber building) for $450 per month plus utilities and that the City Attorney be directed to prepare a lease for said rental.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, and Wood. Nays: Councilwoman Roloff. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Seek donations for annual Womens Club used book sale

The Charlevoix Woman's Club is again seeking donations of books for their annual used book sale, to be held at the Charlevoix Public Library in early August. All types of hard-bound and paperback books are welcome. Children's books are especially needed. Persons with books to donate may take them to the library during regular library hours, or call Mrs. Charles Ducrr, 547-2603. The books should be in boxes or bags marked BOOK SALE.

In the twelve years since its origin, the Woman's Club Book Sale has become a popular summer event with a number of regular customers who come every year and take home armloads of bargain purchases.

The money raised by the sale helps to support many worthwhile community activities and services. The first Book Sale was planned to raise money for Project CHICO, to provide educational assistance to area Indian children. In the past year $430.00 was spent from the CHICO fund for needed help for Indian children in the Charlevoix Schools.

The Women's Club also contributed this year to the Charlevoix Public Library, McCune Arts Center, Charlevoix Historical Society, Charlevoix Area Hospital, The Women's Resource Center, Charlevoix County Humane Society, Chip Counseling Center, Little Traverse International League for Peace and Freedom for Ground Zero Educational Week, Campus Life, and Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc. Proceeds from the Book Sale made it possible for the Woman's Club to contribute to all these groups.

Official Notice

PUBLIC NOTICE

The following Ordinance was adopted by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix at their regular meeting on May 24, 1982.

ORDINANCE NO. 400

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 9.153 OF CHAPTER 114 OF TITLE IX OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX.

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS: THAT SECTION 9.153 BE DELETED AND THE FOLLOWING SUBSTITUTED THEREIN

9.153. Enforcement - Notice to Abate.

(1) The Chief of Police is hereby charged with the enforcement of this Chapter. No person being the owner or person in charge of or occupant of any private premises shall allow or permit said property to become blighted in a manner prohibited by the provisions of this Chapter. When any such property is in violation of the provisions of this Chapter the enforcing officer shall notify the owner, person in control or occupant of such private premises to correct the violation within a time limited in the notice, such time not to be less than two (2) days nor more than ten (10) days from the time said notice is served. Such notice shall be served in the manner provided in Chapter 1 of this Code

(2) If the owner, person in charge or occupant of any premises notified to abate a nuisance resulting from a violation of the provisions of this Chapter shall fail to abate the same within the time limited in said notice therefor, the enforcing officer is hereby authorized to enter upon such private premises and abate said nuisance by correcting the violation. The cost of abating such nuisance plus an additional fifteen (15%) percent for overhead and other expenses; shall constitute a lien against the private premises and shall be charged to the occupant or owner thereof or to the owner of unoccupied premises, as the case may be. If not paid within sixty (60) days after the bill for such charges is rendered, such charges may be collected as a single lot assessment against said premises in the manner provided by Chapter 8, or in any other manner authorized for the collection of debts owed the City.

(3) Any person violating any of the provisions of this Chapter shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars and cost of prosecution or by imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Permitting a violation of this Chapter in private premises is hereby declared to constitute a nuisance per se. Upon application to any court of competent jurisdiction, the court may order the nuisance abated and/or the violation restrained and enjoined. The enforcement of this Chapter by abatement of any nuisance by the enforcing officer or by application to any court of competent jurisdiction for abatement by judicial decree or writ shall not preclude enforcement of this Chapter by complaint for violation of this Chapter and the imposition of fine or imprisonment as herein provided.

THIS AMENDMENT IS GIVEN IMMEDIATE EFFECT ON ADOPTION BY THE CITY COUNCIL FOR THE REASON THAT IMMEDIATE REMEDIAL ACTION IS NECESSARY BY THE CITY TO ABATE EXISTING STRUCTURES WHICH ARE PHYSICALLY DETERIORATED.

A BAD YEAR FOR MUSHROOMS? Not according to Tom Dooley, above, of Middletown, Indiana, who comes north to hunt for morels each year in the Charlevoix area. Dooley, who displayed his day's findings recently at Uhrick's Motel where he was staying, wisely would not say exactly where he found them.

Crooked Tree to present Huybrechts in concert

On Tuesday, June 1, Crooked Tree Arts Council will present Paul Huybrechts in concert at the Ross Stoakes Theatre at 6:00 p.m.

Paul Huybrechta, baritone, is a graduate from Grand Valley State College and recently received his Master Degree in Music from the University of Southern California where he studied with Dr. Cleveland.

Formerly Huybrechta has studied with Waldie Anderson and William Beidler. In Petoskey he has performed as a soloist in Handal's Mesiah along with performing several solo recitals.

Paul Huybrechta has recently sung and played Opera parts in "A Christmas Carol" and "The Dialogue of the Carmelites", at USC in Los Angeles. Huybrechta is also a regular Soloist at the Hollywood Presbyterian Church.

For his June 1 recital, Huybrechts will perform works by Handel, Brahms, Debussy, Vaughn Williams and others. He will be accompanied by his father, Prof. August Huybrechta, organist and choir director at St. Francis Xavier Church in Petoskey.

Rec. Dept. office hours

The Charlevoix Recreation Department office in the city hall will be open daily, Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. with the exception of the lunch hoor, Dwight Boss, City Recreation Director, has announced.

Applications now being taken for Bay View piano master classes

The Bay View Conservatory of Music is accepting applications for the Bay View Piano Workshop and Master Classes to be held June 21 through June 25, 1982, at Bay View, Michigan.

Pianist Flavio Varani and Nancy Zipay of the Bay View Music staff will be joined by Dr. Robert Facko in a series of lectures, and demonstrations on giving music lessons, teaching psychology, teaching method alternatives, developing the ear, and ensemble performance.

Varani will be specifically addressing questions of technical skill, methods of learning, projection of musical scores, and musical espression.

The week long workshop will include morning and afternoon sessions, with evening activities. Out of town students will stay at Ruth Crist Hall.

Flavio Varani has an international reputation as a pianist. He was born in Brazil, and won a scholarship to study in Paris at 13 with famed pianist Magda Taliaferro. His Parisian studies culminated in a first place prize at the International Chopin Competition in Majorca, Spain. Varani studied with Van Cliborn's teacher at Julliard School of Music and graduated with undergraduate and graduate degrees in music from Manhattan School of Music.

In 1972, Varani joined the Oakland University faculty. This year he is scheduled for concerts in Germany, Brazil, Venezuela, and will return in 1983 to play with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at Meadow Brook Music Festival. Later this year, his first recording on RCA will be released.

Varani's partner in the Duo-iano team at the Bay View Mosic Festival, Nancy Zipay, has beeo with the festival for nine seasons. She is a graduate of Manhattan School of Music. As soloist and in chamber music ensembles, Zipay has performed throughout the US and the Far East. Ms. Zipay has studied accompanying and chamber music with Samuel Sanders and Felis Galimir at Julliard and served in the studio of Dorothy Delay at Julliard. Currently she is a member of the faculty at Ohio University.

Dr. Robert Facko is considered a specialist in pedagogy for the beginning and intermediate piano student. For the past 16 years, he has been on the faculty at Oakland University as associate professor and is now director of the University Piano Program.

The University Piano Program is a three year old program teaching children music in group lessons. The very successful program has been growing in numbers each year and now has a long waiting list.

Facko holds his doctorate in music education from Columbia University.

Anyone interested in information can contact Dr. Ernest Sullivan, Director of Music, Bos 1596, Bay View, MI 49770, or phone (616) 347-4210 or (616) 347-5873.

Official Notice

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix will hold a Public Hearing at 8:00 P.M. on Monday, June 7, 1982 regarding a proposed permanent amendment to the City's "Elimination of Blight" Ordinance which would permit the City to initiate demolition of blighted property and to put the expense for said demolition on the City tax roll as a special assessment.

Deanne Balch
City Clerk

Official Notice

PUBLIC NOTICE

The City of Charlevoix will use an average of the last six months water consumption to bill the sewer charge for the months of June, July, and August for single family homes.

The intent of this reduction is to not charge the sewer customers for water that is used outside the house, for watering gardens, lawns, etc.

The requirement to receive this reduction is that you apply at City Hall each year and in order to qualify for the reduction for the full season, you must apply before June 15th.

C.H.S. Grads bid adieu

by FRAN MARTIN

Philip Loomis, Director of Public Affairs at the Big Rock Nuclear Plant, spoke on the subject of "The Basics" when he delivered the commencement address at the Charlevoix High School Sunday afternoon.

The 134 graduates heard him describe the basics as "Communication, the simple basic art of communicating with people".

Communication is a message traveling in two different directions. Talking is a message traveling in only one direction. Learning to communicate, to listen, to exchange ideas is true communication. "When we can't communicate between ourselves, it is no wonder we don't understand each other, no wonder the world is in the condition it is in today," he said of the inability of people to communicate.

"We need to turn off the television, open the doors, go outside, talk with people and start solving our own problems. Only then can we learn to communicate."

Borrowing the idea from a television personality, he then presented his own version of five things that would benefit everyone and teach them to communicate: Be friendly - see everyone as a good person and expect the best of them; be frank - tell it like it is but not to hurt anyone, just be honest; be fair - learn to listen and to understand; be firm - speak with conviction; be faithful - live up to your word, let people count on you. "If you can live by these, you will be trusted for your fairness and your integrity" he said before adding a sixth of his own: forgive. "Don't carry a grudge. Learn to forgive" he added before concluding his talk by saying "Everyone should utilize his time on earth to make life more peacable, liveable, satisfying and enjoyable."

In his salutatory, David Staublin said "I am part of a successful class and I think this success is due to the pride we have in ourselves; the effort we put in our work and the respect we have for one another".

He then pointed out the various fields in which so many of his class have been successful. He concluded by saying "If we could be successful as a group we can each attain individual success...As long as we remember to have respect, to work hard at what we do best, set high goals for ourselves, have the right attitude, and have pride in ourselves we will be successful".

Mariko Regler, as co-valedictorian, spoke of peace as her greatest concern. "We have the potential, ability and responsibility to move toward peace in the world. If we don't, as children of the nuclear age, we are doomed to be the last generation". She went on to urge that monies being spent on defense be used instead to make this a better world. She said "We, of the class of 1982, have the potential, if we can muster the will, to find ways to solve world problems and thus to perpetuate mankind." She then concluded by singing "Let There Be Peace", accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Robert Tollas.

Martha Staley, as co-valedictorian, spoke of the need for goals. "Today we have reached a goal, we are graduating. But we must now set higher goals for ourselves. We need something to believe in. But once you've reached a goal you can't stop. As much as you think your dream will content you forever, a part of you knows it won't. We all need to keep making new goals and planning new plans. We have to keep setting our sights higher. We may never quite reach the top but we must keep striving for it."

Dennis VanGulider, Assistant Principal, then presented members of the class who had gained recognition for their accomplishments in academics. They are the following students who received either monetary or honorary scholarships from the Michigan Department of Education, Competitive Scholarship Program: Jimmy Boggs, David Buday, Kathleen Clock, Cynthia Engler, Suzanne Greenway, Kristine Kelly, Michael Paul, William Ranger, Mariko Regler, Randal Schnackenberg, Scott Shepherd, Matthew Koontz, Martha Staley, Paul Stangis, David Staublin, Sally Westenbroek, Gerald Zeitler, Scott Boocher, James Buchanan, William Horton, Scott Kelly, Margo Smith and Randall Bullard.

Others who received awards or scholarships were Colleen LaBlance and David Buday, the Lions Club of Charlevoix Stewart Irish Coleman Award; Mariko Regler, the Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix Scholarship and Service Award; William Brodin, the Earl W. Miller Scholarship; Carol Dhaseleer, the Lambert Memorial Scholarship and Brenda Newton, the Petoskey Bicentennial Scholarship, both at North Central Michigan College; Lisa Staley, the Waterfront Fair Art Scholarship; Sandra Miller, the Eastern Michigan University Excellence Award; David Buday, an Aquinas College Scholarship; Patricia Cook, Patricia Morgan and Sally Westenbroek, Central Michigan University Board of Trustees Scholarships.

Mathew Koontz, Alma College Presidential Scholarship; Patricia Cook, Charlevoix Education Association Scholarship; Joseph Borths, the Big Brothers Big Sisters Scholarship; Gary Drury, Aquinas College Scholarship; Martha Staley, Michigan Technological University Board of Control Scholarship;

Applications ready for Miss Charlevoix pageant

Applications are now being sought for the annual Miss Charlevoix Pageant to be held Thursday, July 22 as part of Charlevoix's Venetian Festival.

Pageant Chairman Sandra Bonello has announced that this year's event features at least two major changes.

For one, all contestants in the 1982 pageant will be sponsored by local businesses. Girls who would like to participate but do not yet have a sponsor are asked to contact Mrs. Bonello. There are several businesses who want to sponsor contestants and are looking for interested girls she said.

Businesses who sponsor contestants will pay $15 each toward a scholarship fund for the winner.

In another change from previous years, applicants need not have attended Charlevoix District Schools. The only requirement is that their parents own property in the school district. This will open the contest for the first time to summer residents of the area.

Other requirements are that the applicant be between 17 and 22 years old, never have been married and never have had children.

The pageant will consist of swimming suit competition, a two minute, 55 second talent performance by each contestant and gown competition.

The participating girls will be given lessons in modeling, hair styling and make-up during the last three weeks before the pageant. They will also work on an opening dance with Candy Smith, dance exercise instructor for Vital Options, Inc.

Applications are now available and can be picked up at the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce office.

Council races set in all three wards; Staley unopposed

As of Monday this week, three races for council seats are shaping up for the fall city election while Mayor Kenneth Staley appears to be uncontested in his bid for a second term.

The deadline for filing nomination petitions, originally set for Tuesday, June 1, was extended one week to June 8 because of the confusion over state legislative districts.

If no more nominations are filed Tuesday, there will be two candidates for each of the three open council seats thus avoiding the need for a city primary in August.

In the First Ward, challenger Michael Greeley, 209 Petoskey Avenue, will face incumbent Ray Wood. Greeley is co-owner of the Wharfside Market in downtown Charlevoix while Wood is an independent building contractor.

A Second Ward race will pit a former council member against a political newcomer. Present Second Ward representative James Block has decided not to run for re-election. Seeking his seat will be Ivan Whitley, 222 Sherman, narrowly defeated in a bid for the council last year, and Joseph Etienne, Jr., 701 Grant. Whitley is involved with Whitley's Floor Covering on Lincoln while Etienne owns the local Kentucky Fried Chicken franchise.

In the Third Ward, incumbent Shirley Roloff, 100 Hampton Ct., faces a challenge from Paul Burlew, 109 E. Lincoln. Roloff is a housewife while Burlew recently opened the Accents by Burlew gift shop on Mason St.

Mayor Kenneth Staley will apparently be unopposed for re-election in November since there were no other nominations filed by Monday and no indication that any other mayoral nomination petitions were being circulated. If re-elected, Staley will serve a two-year term as a result of a charter amendment passed by city voters last year. The mayoral term was previously one year.

On another local political front, Dr. Jeffrey Porter, currently serving as a First Ward City Council member, filed nomination papers this week for the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners. Porter joins fellow Republicans I. Lee Moerland and Drew Young and Democrat Oscar Ward in the partisan contest for city representation on the board.

A City Council member cannot also serve on the Board of Commissioners so Porter will relinquish his council position if elected to the board.

Sign law variances occupy most of council meeting

by DAVE KNIGHT

Passing Charlevoix's new sign ordinance was a lot easier than having to define it. So found the City Council at their regular meeting Monday night.

Though the tough new sign law has been in force for several months, the job of reading its fine print has been an ongoing task for the council.

Much of Monday night's meeting was devoted to discussion by the council acting as the Board of Appeals on two variances from the sign ordinance sought by downtown businesses.

Anthony Kleiber, owner of Tony's Tackle on the east end of the building housing Wharfside Market, asked for permission to erect two more signs for his business in addtion to the one already in place facing south. The ordinance allows only one sign per business.

Kleiber told the council that one of the reasons the bait shop previously at the location folded was because customers could not find it.

On a motion by Council Member James Block, the variance was granted unanimously.

Pro-Spot, a sporting goods store opening soon in the Market mall, sought a variance for three signs painted onto their sidewalk awning. Though City Manager Robert Hunt advised the council to approve a square foot variance for the large lettering on the front of the awning, he advised against allowing two smaller signs on either end of the awning because of the precedent that would be set for other downtown merchants.

Despite a council vote in favor of the variance by a 3-2 margin, City Attorney Michael Gibbons ruled that four votes were required for approval and thus the variance failed.

Two other zoning variances sought Monday night included one for a deck on the rear of the F.W. VanDuyne home at 403 Michigan and one for a six foot fence at the Douglas Winnell property at 101 E. Hurlbut. The VanDuyne request was referred back to the Planning Commission while the Winnell

Millage votes set for Monday's election

The renewal of 15.25 mills for one year for operation of the Charlevoix Public Schools and for .50 mill for five years for the operation of the Charlevoix Public Library are among the issues on the ballot in the annual election in the Charlevoix School District scheduled for Monday, June 14.

Voters will also be asked to approve a .90 mill levy for two years to underwrite the cost of a new roof and insulation at the high school. The new roof will replace the one that has been on the building since it was constructed in 1960. Insulation which was not installed at the time the high school was constructed would be added now to help conserve energy. This millage would replace the 1.0 mill levied for five years for the remodeling the renovation of the Charlevoix Middle School. This millage expired in 1981.

With debt retirement millage being decreased by a full 1.0 mill, the total voted millage being requested would be 17.9 mills or 1.1 mill less than the 19 mills levied in 1981.

The Charlevoix School District receives no State Aid because of the valuation of the district. The district is not eligible for State Aid under the formula set by the state.

The only financial aid available to the school district is that which is known as catagorical aid which is earmarked for transportation, Special Education and Vocational Education.

The Charlevoix School District had anticipated $246,000 from the state.

First Congregational Church to hold Mission Festival this Saturday and Sunday

The First Congregational Church of Charlevoix will hold a Mission Festival on Saturday and Sunday, June 12 and 13. The purpose is to inform people about outreach of the church into Michigan, the United States, and "the uttermost parts of the earth." Starting at four o'clock on Saturday, there will be exhibits on the cultures and mission in Honduras, Japan, the Philippines, India, Turkey, Ghana, Michigan, and other places in the United States.

A Filipino dinner will be served at six o'clock, followed by a slide presentation and talk by the Rev. Dr. Eliezer Mapanao, President of Southern Christian College on Mindanao, the Philippines. The public is invited to hear him at 7:15 p.m.

On Sunday morning, Dr. Mapanao will preach at the ten o'clock worship of the church, followed by the opening of exhibits until noon. The ten o'clock service will be the first Sunday of the earlier summer worship time. There will be no Sunday School until fall.

Andrews enters senate race

The Republican race for the 37th District State Senate seat now has three entries.

State Representative Steve Andrews of Wolverine in Cheboygan County last week joined John Anderson of Traverse City and John Haggard of Charlevoix in a bid for the seat now occupied by Democrat Mitch Irwin of Sault Ste. Marie.

In making the announcement, Andrews said he would offer "experience, vigor and a strong record of accomplishment" to a diverse district that stretches from Traverse City north to Mackinaw City in the Lower Peninsula and from St. Ignace to Whitefish Point and from Sault Ste. Marie to Escanaba in the Upper Peninsula.

"The Senate race will be a challenge," Andrews said, "but I believe Republicans will take the majority in the Senate in November and I think the people of northern Michigan will be best served there by a Republican with experience."

Andrews is assistant caucus chairman, and, at 32, is the youngest person serving on the House Republican leadership team.

"I've been in the trenches for four years working with local government officials from counties that have 20 to 30 percent unemployment. I've talked with unemployed men and women, with businessmen who are forced to cut back their operations or shut down completely, and with labor leaders who fight for wage concessions rather than layoffs. I know that the common interest shared by every northern Michigan resident is improved economic conditions, and I think my record points out that I have been fighting for jobs ever since the people first sent me to Lansing.

Before going to Lansing, Andrews was a small businessman dealing in automotive supplies in Gaylord. He is a member of the House Labor Committee and co-sponsor of Michigan's workers' compensation reform laws.

"It's been immensely rewarding to see the fruits of a struggle I've been involved with for years," Andrews said. For the first time in more than a decade, businesses are seeing their workers' comp rates go down and that means a boost for our economy and new jobs in the future."

Andrews enlisted in the Navy at 17 and later served with the 1st Marine Division as a combat medic. He was decorated for heroism and received the Purple Heart. As a Viet Nam veteran, Andrews is the vice-chairman of the Military and Veterans Affairs Committee. He also serves on the Judiciary Committee and the House Education Committee.

"I have a young family with two small sons. I'm not just interested in what's happening to education today. I've got a stake in what happens tomorrow, as well. The kind of legacy we leave our children will make a difference to our grandchildren," Andrews said.

"State aid to education has been declining and we've got to turn that trend around. If we don't, we'll all pay the price – not just in higher property taxes, but in the very quality of life Michigan offers."

Andrews said his voting record and legislative accomplishments have "hopefully reflected my concern and the concern of my constituents for the future of Michigan and, more specifically, the Upper Peninsula and Northern Lower Michigan.

Brown Bag Originals is unique in that it features only hand-crafted items in all media. Here one can find hand woven articles, pottery, ceramics, hand-sewn items of every description from the tiniest of doll clothes to baby clothes, quilts and stuffed animals, plus doll furniture, shelves and other items of wood, Norwegian Rosemaling, hand-knit items, oil paintings, photography, jewelry, porcelain painting plus a host of other hand-crafted items.

"If it's hand-craft, you can bet you can find it at Brown Bag Originals" Mrs. Vernon Mathews said of the inventory at the shop which serves as an outlet for the items made by the co-op members as well as those of others sold on consignment. "We feel that our shop is representative of hand-crafting at its best" she added.

Brown Bag Originals is a cooperative composed of 11 members, all of whom make and display their own items. Mrs. Mathews is president of the cooperative; Mrs. Dawn Fletcher, vice-president; Mrs. Betty White, secretary; Mrs. Sue Miller, treasurer with Mrs. Joan Wagner as co-treasurer and Mrs. Janet Troppman as assistant treasurer.

Other members are Mary Corp, Joline Bates of Ellsworth, Mrs. Laurie McCracken, Linda Behringer and Mrs. Alice Tunison. Dale Troppman also exhibits his photography work at the shop.

All work presented for consignment must be approved by a panel of judges before it is accepted for sale at the shop to assure that only quality items are offered Mrs. Mathews explained.

All members share in time and work involved.

Mary Corp, a member of the cooperative ownership of Brown Bag Originals, is shown above with some of the new store's interesting wares.

Bible Questions Answers

Q. DEAR BIBLE Q & A: I'M CONFUSED. I'VE HEARD YOU TEACH ON THE FACT THAT GOD DOESN'T KNOW OUR FUTURE CHOICES AND YET THE WORDS FOREKNOW AND FOREKNOWLEDGE ARE IN THE BIBLE ALONG WITH PREDESTINATION. PLEASE EXPLAIN?

A. True, the words FOREKNEW, FOREKNOW AND FOREKNOWLEDGE do appear in the Bible a total of five (5) times only. Acts 2:23, and two times in Romans, 8:29 & 11:2, plus two in I Peter, 1:2 & 1:20.

In Acts 2:23 we find the Greek Word, PROGNOSIS, or forethought. So in this verse Peter is merely telling the people that Jesus has been delivered by the Father God by His counsel and foreknowledge, or by forethought, or prior thinking through the purpose of the Cross. All of this was done BEFORE the creation of man. God knew that He was creating man in His OWN IMAGE, which meant that man would have a FREE WILL and would be able to make his own choices. He, man, could say YES to a good thing, or he could say NO. Man would also be able to say YES to a bad thing and No to it also.

Remember now that Satan and one-third of the Angels had ALREADY sinned and so the influence of sin would be available to Adam and Eve as soon as they were placed in the Garden. So, God, in His forethought, and because he was a Creator of Love, came up with the plan of the CROSS thru which He would offer Jesus Christ, second member of the Triune Godhead, for the sins of mankind if man chose to sin. The Bible does not imply, nor does the Greek, that God KNEW FOR SURE that man would disobey and fall from God's Grace. But God planned that if man did fall, that He, God would have a redemption plan to rescue and save man from eternal damnation.

The tough one is in Romans 8:29 & 30. Here the words FOREKNOW and PREDESTINATE are words that work together to give us a fantastic view of how God planned, IN ADVANCE OF MAN'S SIN, to bring man back into a relationship with Him. Briefly, God FORESAW the possibility of man sinning and so came up with the CROSS OF JESUS CHRIST. God knew that some would respond to the CROSS, others would not. But each by their own choice. So God PREDESTINATED (to limit in advance), those that would respond, to ETERNAL LIFE. God DID NOT limit WHO could come to that glorious CROSS, but HOW! The HOW was thru Jesus Christ! To limit in advance was to limit only the HOW and never the WHO could come. God is not a respecter of persons. (Deut. 10:17, 2 Sam. 14:14, 2 Chron. 19:7, Job 34:19, Acts 10:34, Rom. 2:11, Gal. 2:6, Eph. 6:9, Col. 3:25 and I Pet. 1:17). If God PREDESTINED a group of people to go to Heaven and another group to spend eternity in Hell, then He is a sinner according to His Own Word (James 2:1-9). We'll finish this next week. Please write your questions to BIBLE QUESTIONS & ANSWERS: Box 361, Charlevoix, MI. 49720.

Seek rental home for new aid program

by DAVE KNIGHT

Emergency housing in Charlevoix County is the focus of a program recently proposed by the county's Advisory Committee of the Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency (NMHSA).

What the committee would like to do is have lodging available for county residents who, for one reason or another, find themselves without a roof over their heads.

According to Bill Knapp, NMHSA staff member for Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, the program would be similar to a halfway house and would accomodate a variety of cases where people suddenly find themselves homeless.

What the Advisory Committee would like to do, he said, is find a rental unit available in the county and staff it with either a live-in couple or shifts of volunteers.

"Various social service organizations provide funding for those persons who are burned out of their homes as well as others who are faced with housing emergencies," said Knapp. "However, locating the shelter itself can sometimes be a problem."

Funds available for temporary housing of homeless families are often not adequate to pay for living in a motel for more than a couple days, said Knapp.

What the committee would also like to provide at the "emergency house" is counseling for families wishing to use it.

"Whether because of eviction, which is probably the most common instance we are talking about, or fire, which would be not as common, suddenly being left homeless is usually a traumatic experience for a family," said Knapp, "We would like to provide crisis intervention counseling for these individuals in the same manner as a halfway house."

The facility, preferrably a large house, would be funded through user fees as well as third party payment for services. The committee stressed that no public funds in the way of grants or other methods should be used for the program.

If an emergency house can be located, said Knapp, a non-profit organization with its own board of directors, separate from the Advisory Committee, will probably be formed.

He also said, "Although an effort to make the shelter 'like home' is an important factor, an equally important factor is that this is a temporary shelter designed to respond to an emergency situation. A time limit, possibly three to five days, will be set requiring those using the facility to actively seek other more permanent accomodations."

The Charlevoix County Advisory Committee for NMHSA includes Cliff Molner, Doug McCombs, Art Siworski, Irene Brannon, Gary Russell, Felix Spaniak, Katherine Spaniak, Sheri Rhoads, Laura Eggers, Pat Sherwood, Leana Hardy and Knapp who is acting chairman.

The committee is currently seeking a possible location for the emergency house. Because of the nature of funding, a rental house would be preferred, said Knapp.

Anyone with information or suggestions is asked to write the Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency, 1515 Howard Street, Petoskey, 49770, ATTN: Charlevoix County Emergency Housing.

First graders learn puppetry

by ANNE KELLY

"When you get near the end of the year," Mrs. Jean Dubey, St. Mary's first grade teacher explained, "it's time for some enjoyable projects."

Her first grade class had recently made papier-mache puppets which they had dressed and named and generally had a lot of fun with.

"We visited other classrooms with our puppets. The children used them in reciting a little poem which they had memorized."

Mrs. Dubey had no trouble encouraging the class to give a demonstration with their puppets. On the contrary, they all wanted to introduce their creations. Many were sporting outfits made from bright green and white fabric which Sister Agnes Mary, principal, had generously donated so that she "didn't have to make a dress from it."

ON THEIR MORNING ROUTE of watering the results of Operation Petunia are Dale and Marilyn Boss with a custom-made petunia waterer. Boss urges property owners along U.S. 31 to water, weed and pinch the flowers as neccessary. City residents may apply at City Hall to freeze their water-sewer bill at the same rate as last year so that additional water used to water petunias will not be an added expense for them. Pinching off dead blossoms is also recommended as is the weeding out of any grass seed washed into the flower beds.

County 4-Hers make plans for summer camp on Beaver Island

Charlevoix County 4-H Program announces that applications are now being accepted for summer camp sessions. All 4-H'rs on the mailing list have received camp announcements. Applications may be obtained by calling the Cooperative Extension Service at 582-6232 or picked up at the office, 319 B. N. Lake Street, Boyne City.

Camp will be held on Beaver Island at the primitive campground owned by the Charlevoix Public Schools. Two sessions will be held. They are July 25-28 for those who attended Beaver Island camp last year, and July 28-30 for first year Beaver Island campers.

John McKinney and Steve Stewart, Sea Grant Agents who work through the Cooperative Extension Service in Michigan will be the principal resource people. McKinney is assigned to the northwest region of the state and Stewart works in the southwest region.

In addition campers will have classes in crafts with Jackie Krieg, swimming instruction and free swim time with Pam Parsel WSI, drawing and T-Shirt decoration with Penny Lewis, and will be building a table for the campground as a service project with Nelson Green. Meals will be under the direction of Claudia Grutsch. The thirty campers in each session will live in tents and cook outdoors during their stay with suppers being prepared over the campfire each night.

Other adults will be on hand to take on various duties such as evening programs, cook groups, beach duty, etc. They are volunteers Nancy Brooks, and 4-H staff members Betty Horrocks, Sheila Swaby, and Leah Green.

1982 marks the second such camp for Charlevoix 4-H'rs who are joined by Emmet County 4-H campers in this outing. This year some teen members will be disignated as having responsibility for some parts of the program. They will be working on evening programs, organizing games and activities and watching out for the welfare of younger campers at some times.

Part of the fun of this camping trip is the ride over to Beaver Island on the boat from Charlevoix. Then comes a ride down the length of the island in a van or bus. This trip is an opportunity for county youngsters to spend a little time in a part of the county which is usually unknown to them. They will have some time to look around in the village of St. James and camp at the lighthouse site.

Costs for the camp are $28 for Session I and $22 for Session II. This includes a boat ticket, camping fee and food. One large tent is lent by the Emmet County Fair and campers bring other tents and equipment to round out what is needed.

For more information about Beaver Island 4-H camp call the Cooperative Extension Service in Charlevoix County or the Emmet County office. Members of the planning committee for 1982 are: Jackie Krieg, Claudia Grutsch, Kristin Keith, Eric Green, Nancy Brooks, Sheila Swaby, Carrie Chambers, Heath Green, Betty Horrocks, Kyle Scott, head counselor and Leah Green.

New animal capture cage loan program started

City to sponsor baton lessons this summer

The Charlevoix Recreation Department will sponsor baton lessons this summer with the first four-week session scheduled to begin June 28 and the second July 26 Dwight Boss, City Recreation Director, has announced.

The price will be $2.50 per lesson or $5.00 per week. The total cost will be $20.00 for eight one-hour sessions.

Interested persons may sign up at the Charlevoix Recreation Department on the first floor of the Charlevoix City Hall between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The deadline for registering for the program is June 17.

There will be a meeting of all registrants on that date, so students may order their batons. Students may register for one or both sessions.

Anti-war speech features expert

Dr. Michio Kaku, internationally known physicist and anti-nuclear war advocate, will speak at the Charlevoix Congregational Church on Tuesday, June 15 at 8 p.m. Dr. Kaku's talk on the physical effects of nuclear war is being sponsored by the Charlevoix Ground Zero Group, the Traverse City Ground Zero Group and the Little Traverse International League for Peace and Freedom.

Throughout his career as a physicist, Dr. Kaku has been a highly respected international spokesperson for anti-nuclear war efforts. Dr. Kaku was one of the main organizers of the June 12, 1982 Peace Rally in New York at the opening of the United Nations Second Special Session on disarmament.

Graduating first in his physics class Summa Cum Laude and Phi Beta Kappa from Harvard University in 1968, Dr. Kaku went on to receive his Ph.D. in physics from the University of California Berkeley in 1972. After one year as a lecturer in physics at Princeton University from 1972-73, Dr. Kaku was appointed to a position at the City College of the City University of New York where he is currently an Associate Professor.

Dr. Kaku has published extensively in various areas of theoretical physics, contributing to five books and is the author of about 33 articles. He has spoken at many international physics conferences, including those in Caracas, Venezuela in 1977 and at Cambridge University in England in 1981. He was elected a Fellow of the American Physical Society in 1981.

State Senate candidate Anderson campaigns here

John Anderson of Traverse City was in Charlevoix last week promoting his candidacy for the 37th District State Senate Seat.

The 55-year-old president and general manager of Radio Station WCCW told supporters his major objective is a healthier Michigan economy. "I believe my 25 years of business and communications experience will enable me to make a strong contribution in the all-out effort that must be waged to get Michigan moving again," he said.

"Let me emphasize that I am not a career politican," he added. "Rather, I like to think that I am a successful business person who understands the problems now being faced in Michigan – budget deficits, high unemployment, business bankruptcies, high interest and taxes, and home mortgage foreclosures, to name just a few. And I believe that I can contribute some creative, innovative thinking, based upon my business background, to help pull Michigan out of the doldrums."

Although not a career politician, Anderson has served behind the scenes in the political arena for years. Past political activities include the chairmanship of the Grand Traverse County Republican party as well as the chairmanship of the Vander Jagt for Congress Committee.

Since moving to Traverse City from Cadillac in 1964, Anderson has been active in many civic groups, among them the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Cherry Festival, Munson Medical Center, Osteopathic Hospital, Boy Scouts, and American Legion.

In 1978, Anderson was named Traverse City's Distinguished Citizen by the Traverse City Chamber of Commerce.

Anderson was born in Coopersville and lived on a farm south of Cadillac. He graduated from Cadillac High School and later attended Michigan State University, interrupting his schooling to enter the Army in 1945. After returning from military service, he earned a degree from the Radio Institute of Chicago.

Opinion

Knight on the Town

The logical choice

by Dave Knight

When Joe Morris suffered a seriously disabling brain hemorrhage this past March, a cruel blow was struck not only to his family and friends, but also to the City of Charlevoix.

Morris, a longtime resident and businessman in the area, had been elected to the City Council the previous November representing the Third Ward. It was his second tour of duty on the council having served on that body the first time several years ago.

According to recent reports, Morris is gradually improving. Though he is experiencing some paralysis and his condition remains critical following periodic bouts with pneumonia since his hospitalization in Traverse City, Joe is slowly coming out of the deep coma into which he slipped March 21.

Monday night marked the fifth regular council meeting he has missed since the onset of his illness.

The council is thus obligated by the city charter to appoint a replacement. While popular sentiment would be to hold the seat open for Morris until he fully recovers, the reality is that the Third Ward remains disenfranchised as long as he is unable to serve on the council.

But it is not only the Third Ward that loses by having to replace Joe Morris. Morris was a crucial influence on the council. His contributions definitely benefited the city as a whole. His background in business management provided the council with valuable insight in fiscal matters. Responsive? Nobody had his ear to the ground closer than Joe Morris. By virtue of his most recent occupation as a realtor, he had intimate knowledge of who was buying what properties around town for how much money and for what purpose.

These are important things to know for someone saddled with the city's most important decisions.

When he was elected, he was the only council member operating out of a downtown business and thus provided an important link between the council and the downtown merchants, a link sorely needed in recent years.

The community owes a debt of gratitude to Joe Morris for his contributions as a council member. Here's hoping he will be up and around soon.

The matter at hand right now is seeing that the Third Ward is fully represented on the council. At least three people have expressed interest in the position which will probably be filled by council appointment at their June 21 regular meeting.

Unless they devise another method of choosing a replacement, which they can legally, the council will simply entertain a motion from the floor to appoint a new Third Ward representative. The appointment will require three votes to pass.

It will be up to the council to determine to the best of their ability the wishes of the Third Ward constituency. In this light, the logical choice to fill the vacant seat is Dr. David Strawbridge.

Strawbridge, chairman of the City Planning Commission, ran against Morris last November and lost by a mere 28 votes, 238-210. Having campaigned hard for the seat he is obviously willing to make the commitment. The 47 percent of the vote he received signifies a substantial endorsement, second only to Morris's, from the people of the Third Ward.

If the council sincerely wishes to serve the best interests of the Third Ward residents, they will appoint David Strawbridge to replace Joe Morris.

Clockwise

Of all the nerve!

by Bob Clock

OF COURSE, I was properly indignant last week when I received a letter from Max Novak, Charlevoix School Board president, and Vane Smith, high school principal, asking me not to bring my noisemaker to Sunday's graduation.

When I stopped sputtering, I asked our graduating senior if Messrs. Novak and Smith really expected me to create some kind of uproar during the ceremonies.

Katie admitted there have been problems in the past involving both graduates and their parents but she didn't think I should take the letter personally.

"It was so bad last year that this year they threatened this year to ask parents to accompany their graduates up to the platform to receive their diplomas," she said. "But thank goodness they changed their minds."

Naturally I was curious as to what hijinks would take place during the recent exercises. As a good citizen, I left my noisemaker at home, but I fully expected everyone else to arrive with tambourines and party hats.

And of course, I was disappointed.

Oh, one of the graduates smuggled in a jar of bubble mix and periodically a cloud of bubbles would waft — a la Lawrence Welk — over the mortar boards in the first few rows. But that was about it, except for the handful of streamers that appeared miraculously from the folds of the graduates' gowns when the ceremony was over.

If there were firecrackers and roman candles on the premises, I was long gone by the time they exploded.

However, the letter from the school officials has started me thinking.

Is it possible that we adults place too much importance on commencement traditions that are altogether too somber for the explosive jubilation of the graduating class?

I think maybe we do. Graduation, after all, is a cause for joyous celebration, a major milestone in the lives of our young adults. Perhaps a class picnic at Ferry Beach would be more in keeping with the spirit of the occasion — with teachers, parents, grandparents, brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, cousins and friends all invited.

After all, these kids have spent the last 13 years of their lives rising at dawn, fighting their was to school in all kinds of weather, spending six hours a day in the classroom and churning out mountains of homework every night.

They have good cause to celebrate — and so has everyone else.

But if a picnic is too far afield, I at least would like to see our school faculty — from kindergarten through high school — somewhere on the premises at graduation so I could thank them for the wisdom, patience and common sense they have shared with my kids.

And if they want to bring their noisemakers, I won't say a word.

City council meeting variance was defeated 4-1.

The voluntary budget-cutting plan devised in March involving a reduction of work hours by city employees was threatened Monday night when a representative of one union of city workers told the council the plan was not benefitting the city's general fund and thus should be terminated.

Michael Reinhart, union steward of Local 4106 of the Communication Workers of America, told the council that since funds from the sewer, water and electrical departments cannot be transferred to the general fund, workers in those departments should not be forced to reduce their hours to help balance the general fund budget.

Hunt responded that the income producing sewer, water and electrical funds were in as much need of budgetary help as the general fund and that the work reduction plan should be continued for workers in those departments.

Reinhart said a grievance will probably be filed if the council eventually decides to force city employees to reduce work hours. Currently the program is on a voluntary basis.

In another matter, Charlevoix Township Supervisor Oscar Stroud angrily demanded that the council vote immediately on his request to rezone the Wayside Motel, which he owns, from R-1 residential to C-1 commercial. The request had been the topic of three public hearings over the winter at which no action was taken.

Despite Stroud's appearance at the meeting, the council voted to table action once more until its June 21 meeting.

School election

to underwrite these costs. However, because of the economic climate in the state, only $6,771 of this amount has been received at this time and the school district has no assurance that it will receive more. Should more of these funds be forthcoming, the most that can be expected is $42,000 according to Vincent Olach, business manager.

Percentage-wise, the school district has received only one percent of the anticipated funds and must absorb these costs from tax monies raised in the school district.

The renewal of .50 mill for five years to underwrite the operation of the Charlevoix Public Library remains the same as it has been for the past 10 years.

Two trustees are to be elected to four year terms. Candidates are incumbents Ardith Wieland and Elaine Martin Buddle. Mrs. Wieland is seeking her third term and Mrs. Buddle her second term as members of the Charlevoix Board of Education.

Polls at the Charlevoix Elementary School will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday, June 14.

Persons wishing to vote by absentee ballot have until noon on Saturday, June 12 to apply at the Charlevoix Business Office for an absentee ballot.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Holt

Bearss - Holt

Teresa L. Bearss of Charlevoix and Philip C. Holt of Lynnfield, Mass., exchanged their marriage vows at a double ring service solemnized at the Community Church of God late Saturday afternoon.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James G. Bearss of Charlevoix and Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Holt of Lynnfield, Mass.

Officiating at the candlelight ceremony in the presence of 150 guests was the Rev. Glenn Bearss of Utica, uncle of the bride. Arrangements of yellow roses and white carnations graced the altar for the service. Potted white daisies were on the organ and piano. Mrs. James Jensen, at the organ, played "Moonlight Sonata", a program of traditional music, the wedding march and processional. Steven Stargardt, at the piano, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Michael Davis of Traverse City who sang "Woman". Chris Edkins of New York City sang an original song he had written for the couple and accompanied himself on the guitar.

The bride, wearing a gown of white Angel chiffon and Chantilly lace, was escorted to the altar by her father. Her gown was designed with a high neckline defined with Chantilly lace, an English net yoke with a Bertha type collar and long fitted sleeves with a wrist ruffle of the same lace. The full skirt of chiffon ended in a brush train. She carried a cascade bouquet of Phalaenopsis orchids and asparagus fern.

Karolyn Bearss as her sister's honor attendant, wore a yellow dacron polyester gown and bolero jacket. Gretchen Holt of Lynnfield, Mass., sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Steven Bearss of Hope, sister-in-law of the bride, Jackie Paul and Lisa Boss, as bridesmaids, wore gowns of baby blue dacron polyester styled with high English net necklines. Each carried a single Phalaenopsis orchid tied with streamers to match her gown.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith R. Schafer

Morris - Schafer

Cheryl Mae Morris became the bride of Keith Ralph Schafer on Saturday afternoon, May 29, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix.

The Reverend Father R. Dale Magoon performed the double-ring ceremony before 200 guests from various cities in Michigan, Ohio, Minnesota, and West Virginia.

The bride, who has been making her home in Lansing, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris of Charlevoix. The bridegroom's home is in Deerfield. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schafer of Tecumseh.

For the occasion, the church altar was decorated with iris, chrysanthemums, daisies, carnations, and baby's breath. The pews were marked with sprigs of lavender and white lilacs tied with white satin bows.

During the Nuptial Mass, Deborah Baldwin, a sister of the bride, served as lector, presenting a reading and talking briefly to the bride and bridegroom. She had prepared a booklet of the Order of Mass and Nuptial Vows and readings which were given to the wedding guests. Mr. and Mrs. Morris gave their daughter in marriage.

The bride's gown was fashioned of sheer white polyester, with a bodice designed with a Queen Ann neckline and full bishop sleeves. An A-line skirt fell from an empire waistline and glided into a chapel-length train.

Glossy Venise lace and Brussels lace graced the bodice and sleeves, and Venise lace also graced the Juliet cap to which was attached finger-tip veiling edged in Venise lace. The bride wore a pearl necklace which is a family heirloom that has been a part of the wedding finery of four generations of brides.

The bride's bouquet consisted of white, pink, and red roses with baby's breath, lily of the valley leaves, and ferns.

Two of the bride's sisters, Teri Faust and Pamela Threet, served as matrons of honor. Jeannie Darnell of Lansing and Debra Dzaika of Wyoming were bridesmaids. The attendants all wore floor-length lavender qiana gowns with fitted bodices and spaghetti straps. The gowns were topped with long-sleeved jackets with peplums which were decorated with matching lace. The attendants' bouquets were made up of white and yellow daisies, blue and white iris, white carnations, lilacs, and lillies of the valley.

Four-year-old Shannon Cooningham, a niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girl. She wore a dress of delicate

Engagements

Terry D. Davenport and Valerie A. Thomson

Thomson - Davenport

The engagement of Valerie Anne Thomson of East Jordan to Terry Dean Davenport of Big Rapids and Charlevoix has been announced by her parents, Mrs. Margaret Thomson of RR 2 and Duanne Thomson, East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Davenport of Big Rapids and Charlevoix are the parents of the prospective bridegroom.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Keodall School of Design and is an illustrator-designer with Wainwright and Raber Advertising Art of Mishawaka, Ind. Mr. Davenport is a graduate of Ferris State College and Northwestern University with a Master's Degree in Advertising. He will be working with the Tracey-Locke Advertising Agency in Dallas, Tex.

The wedding will be an event of July 2 at the United Methodist Church in Petoskey followed by a reception at the Harbour Inn at Harbor Springs.

Heimbecker and his ultralight can be seen crusing at low altitudes over city streets and lakefront beaches where the scenery can be spectacular on a hot summer day.

Heimbecker hooked on ultralight flying

by DAVE KNIGHT

Take a canvas lawn chair.

Attach a couple bicycle wheels.

Then bolt on two TV antennas covered with Saran wrap.

Add a pair of chain saw motors with propellers and a two gallon plastic gasoline can and, believe it or not, you're ready to fly.

If you don't believe it, ask Charlevoix's Skip Heimbecker.

Heimbecker has become a familiar sight to area residents as he flies over town in his Lazair ultralight aircraft. The Lazair is not unlike the contraption described above though it is much more sophisticated and airworthy than one might think.

Flying an ultralight plane is the ultimate in no frills travel. From his open seat mounted on an aluminum frame, the pilot controls the plane by means of an overhead stick for elevation and roll, rudder pedals for direction and throttles for speed.

The physical sensation of flying is unbuffered since the pilot is totally to the elements. That's not as brutal as it sounds because the Lazair cruises at only 35 miles per hour. It's top speed is 55 mph.

The Lazair design was developed five years ago by a young Canadian engineering graduate named Dale Kramer. It is now marketed by Ultraflight Sales Limited of Port Colborne, Ontario in a do-it-yourself kit that sells for about $4,300.

Putting it together requires an estimated 150 hours of work for a person of average skills. Tools needed include an electric drill, pop riveter, tape measure, ruler, C clamps plumb bob, metal snips, metal files, two wrenches, a level, protractor and some string.

There are currently some 500 Lasair ultralights owned in the U.S.A. and Canada. Heimbecker wants to see that number increased - he is the local dealer for Lazair and has already sold the model he has been seen flying for the past year. Two or three more sales are in the works, he says.

Skip Heimbecker

"Many people enjoy flying but cannot afford to buy a plane. Even rental programs are expensive as is the cost of fuel and other maintenance requirements," said Heimbecker, "The Lazair is the perfect alternative."

Indeed, owning a Lazair is about as painless a way to own an airplane there could be.

It weighs 142 pounds, is 14 feet long and has a wingspan of 30 feet. By removing a few bolts, it can be dismantled for storage in a space five feet wide, five feet high and 18 feet long.

The Lazair can take off in 100 feet of pavement or 200 feet of grass. It needs aven less area to land. It is classified by the Federal Aviation Administration as an "ultralight" aircraft and thus requires no license. The pilot does not require a license either although it is advised that he receive flight instruction to at least the point of being able to solo.

Power is supplied by two 100cc Pioneer chainsaw engines that each generate 5½ horsepower. Newer models have 185cc engines. Wings and tail are covered with Mylar, a light but durable transparent plastic that was used in the construction of the Gossamer Albatross, the first man-powered aircraft to fly across the English Channel.

Is the Lazair safe?

"I think it is safe as long as you treat it like any other airplane," says Heimbecker, "In fact, at the slow speed and low altitude you fly with it, it may be safer than flying in a conventional plane."

Heimbecker is an avid glider pilot and model airplane hobbyist as well as Lasair promoter. He takes full advantage of the ultralight's unique versatility. It's short landing and takeoff requirements allow him to fly over to Fisherman's Island, for instance, land on the beach for a picnic and take off again for home.

Lazairs can also be equipped with floats for landing on water and skis for snow. With its engines shut off, it can glide silently, riding on air thermals like a sailplane.

Some people shake their heads at the sight of Skip Heimbecker floating leisurely overhead on what looks like an unfinished model plane and sounds like a lawn mower.

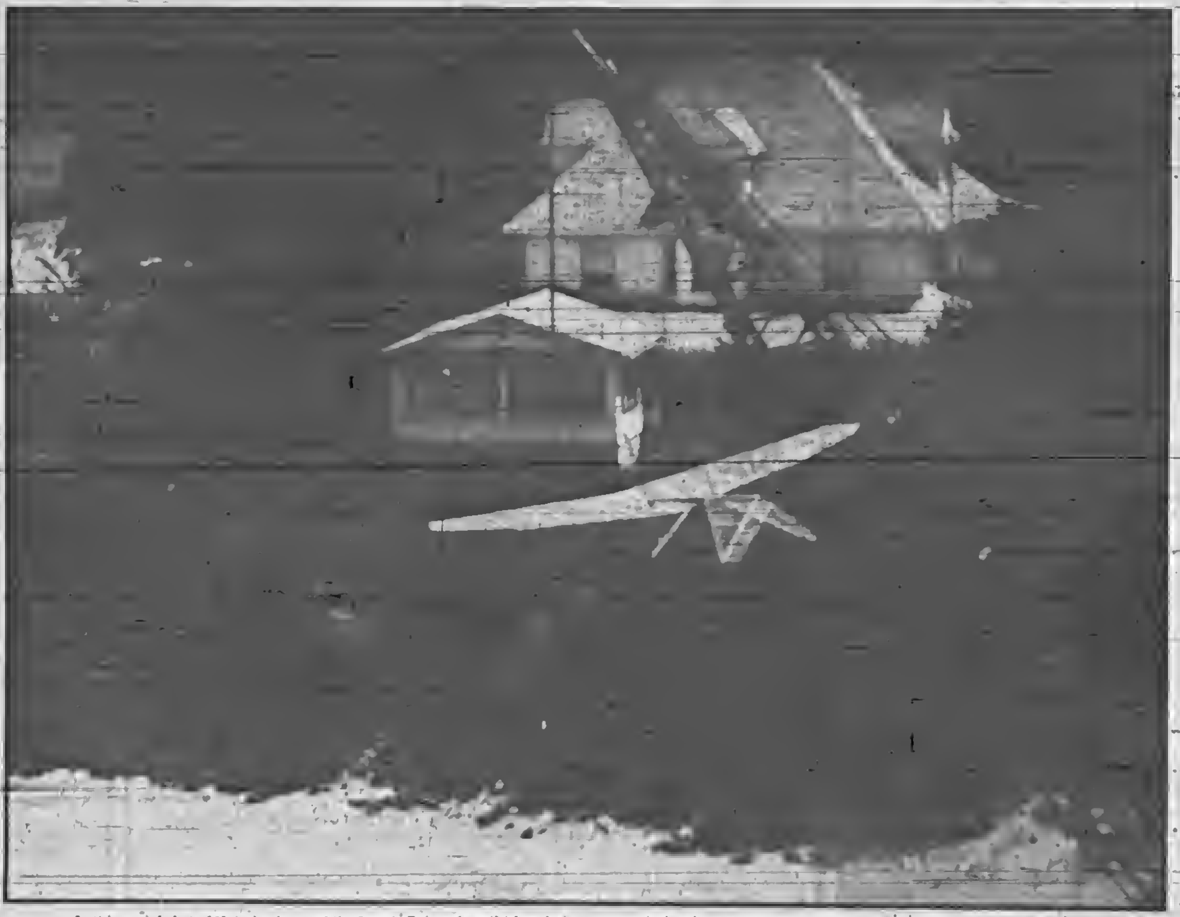
He doesn't mind.

They're the ones missing all the fun.

Skip is shown above with the Lazair on the ground parked next to his most recent acquisition, a motorized glider, right. The engine and propeller mounted behind the cockpit of the glider folds neatly into the fuselage after takeoff.

The fuel supply? A two-gallon can. That's the luggage compartment tucked behind it.

Compact five-horse chain saw motors supply the power.



In this aerial shot of Heimbecker and the Lazair flying along the beach, it almost appears as if he is about to hit the derrick working on the Charlevoix pierhead.

Baseball team headed for regional at Midland

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team captured the district title at Grayling Friday and have advanced to the regional tournament at Midland this week according to Coach Pete Spieles.

The Rayders won handily over Kalkaska by a score of 13-1 and then went on to defeat Onaway 4-2. Onawsy got to the finals by defeating Houghton Lake 16-0.

In the game with Kalkaska, Mike Loper was the winning pitcher giving up three runs. Riegler started for Kalkaska and was relieved in the second by Spencer who took the loss.

Kalkaska scored first in the bottom of the first on a throwing error and a base hit by Medell to take the lead.

Charlevoix, however, came back in the second inning to score three runs on a hit by Ken Speigl, a walk by Jeff Greene and a base hit by Puffpaff. The two walks that followed forced in the other two runs.

The team came back to score three more in the top of the third, two on a home run by Speigl and the third following an error and a base hit by Loper. They added four more in the fourth and two in the fifth.

Speigl had two hits, a double and a home run, and Jon Supernaw, Jon Spieles, Kurt Puffpaff and Loper had singles.

Puffpaff started for the Rayders agsinst Onaway and was the winning pitcher. He allowed four hits. Loper took over in the fifth. Scott Szymoniak started for Onaway and was relieved in the fourth by Steve Larson who was the winning pitcher in the game with Houghton Lake. Onaway gave up eight hits.

Charlevoix scored in the top of the second inning on three walks, a base hit by Spieles which brought in one run and a fielder's choice which scored the second run. Hits by Supernaw, Gary Drury and Spieles plus a walk gsve the Rayders two more runs in the top of the third inning.

Onaway got its runs in the top of the fifth on a walk, two hits and a fielder's choice which brought in the Cardinals' only runs.

Jim Buchanan, Supernaw, Drury, Spiegl, Greene and Puffpaff had singles and Spieles a double for the Rayders.

Charlevoix will meet the winner of the Midland district tournament Saturday.

Girls beat TC St. Francis, Tawas Area en route to district title

The Charlevoix Rayder softball team won the district title at Houghton Lake defeating a fine Traverse City St. Francis team by a score of 2-0 in the opener and downing Tawas Area 5-2 in the nightcap.

Rhonda Buchanan pitched both games allowing only three hits in the first game which was a pitcher's battle all the way with three strikeouts.

In the game with Tawas Area she gave up four hits and two walks and had six strikeouts.

Rose Merica allowed six hits in the game with St. Francis as Charlevoix scored in the first inning. Buchanan hit a single and advanced on throwing errors to score. Charlevoix scored its second run in the fifth when Angie McClanaghan, who had gotten on with a single, advanced to second on a hit by Sue Raginia and came home on a hit by Meg Fowler. Colleen LaBlance also had a hit in this inning. Sherry Kolaric had a double in the second. She had a single as did Sherry Lawless later in the game.

In the game with Tawas Area, Charlevoix scored three runs in the first inning to take an early lead when LaBlance and Holly Taber hit singles and then came home on a double by Bridget Noirot. Noirot added the third run on a single by Kim Bolduc.

Charlevoix's other runs came in the fifth when Buchanan got on base on a walk and scored on a hit by Bolduc and in the seventh when Buchanan got a hit and then came in on a single by Noirot.

Tawas didn't score until the sixth when Patty Stephan hit a double and then scored on a single by Debby Allen. The second run was scored in the seventh inning by Linda Nelkic who got on with a double and scored on a single by Lisa Koneski.

Charlevoix will now advance to the regional tournament at Clare this weekend.

Sue Raginia takes a healthy swing.

Carey is fifth at state meet

Ross Carey who placed fifth in the discus in the State Class C track meet at Bangor was the only member of the Charlevoix Rayder team to score in the meet.

Charlevoix had qualified for several events including two relays and sprint events at the regional meet at Traverse City.

Kentucky Fried Chicken golf tournament set for this Saturday

The third annual Kentucky Fried Chicken Two Man Best Shot Golf Tournament will be held at the Antrim Dells golf course on Saturday, June 12.

Participants are asked to report at 8:30 a.m. with a shotgun start planned for 9 a.m.

Entry fees are $25 for an individual or $50 for a team. The fee includes green fees, a buffet dinner, beverages, prizes and special awards.

Teams will be flighted according to the total handicap of both golfers. Last year there were five flights. There will be approximately ten teams per flight with 1st, 2nd and 3rd place awards.

For the ladies, a nine-hole tournament will be played on the same day at the Charlevoix City Golf Course. Entry fees are $15 for members and $20 for non-members. Tee times will be between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Everyone is to meet at Antrim Dells at 1:30 p.m. for a buffet dinner and prizes. For more information and entry forms, contact Joe Etienne at 547-4071.

Entry forms are due June 9.

Soccer clinic will open season

This year's youth soccer program sponsored by the Charlevoix County Youth Activities Program will be kicked off by a soccer clinic scheduled for July 8 through 10 at Shanahan Field.

According to coordinator Mike Davis, the clinic will be conducted by members of the Canadian Coaches Association and last about four hours a day. Davis is looking for strong participation in the clinic by area youngsters who will be playing in the youth soccer program later this summer.

The first practice for the program will be held July 26. Players who have signed up will be notified by mail of their coach and practice time. The final sign-up for the program will be Monday, June 14 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Department of Social Services office across from Kit Carson Lumber.

Emergency treatment consent forms and medical history forms are required from each player this year as is a $2 donation ($5 maximum per family).

A meeting is planned for 7 p.m. this Thursday, June 10 at Charlevoix High School of the Charlevoix Area Soccer Association which is being formed to promote and organize the sport locally.

All parents, coaches and others interested in the growth of soccer in the Charlevoix area are urged to attend.

Official Notice

BADGERS

The Natural Resources Commission at its meeting on October 13, 1978, under the authority of Act 230 of the Public Acts of 1925, as amended, ordered that for a period of five years beginning November 1, 1978, no person shall take or attempt to take a badger, statewide.

ANNUAL SCHOOL ELECTION

NOTICE OF ANNUAL ELECTION OF THE ELECTORS OF CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOLS
CHARLEVOIX AND ANTRIM COUNTIES, MICHIGAN TO BE HELD
JUNE 14, 1982

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Please Take Notice that the Annual Election of the School District will be held on Monday, June 14, 1982, in the Charlevoix Elementary School on Division Street, Charlevoix, Michigan.

THE POLLS OF ELECTION WILL OPEN AT 7:00 O'CLOCK, A.M., AND CLOSE AT 8:00 O'CLOCK, P.M.

At the Annual School Election there will be elected two (2) members to the Board of Education of the district for full terms of four (4) years ending in 1986.

THE FOLLOWING PERSONS HAVE BEEN NOMINATED TO FILL SUCH VACANCIES:

ELAINE MARTIN BUDDLE ARDETH M. WIELAND

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE THAT the following propositions will be submitted to the vote of the electors at the Annual School Election:

I. MILLAGE RENEWAL PROPOSITION

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Charlevoix Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan, be increased by 15.25 mills ($15.25 on each $1,000.00) on state equalized valuation for the year 1982, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes (this being a renewal of 15.25 mills for operating purposes which expired with the 1981 tax levy)?

II. MILLAGE RENEWAL PROPOSITION FOR PUBLIC LIBRARY

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Charlevoix Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan, be increased by .5 mill ($0.50 on each $1,000.00) on state equalized valuation for a period of 5 years, 1982 to 1986, inclusive, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operation of public library (this being a renewal of .5 mill for operating purposes which expired with the 1981 tax levy)?

III. MILLAGE RENEWAL PROPOSITION FOR MAINTENANCE AND REPAIR OF SCHOOL FACILITIES AND PURCHASE OF NECESSARY SCHOOL EQUIPMENT

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Charlevoix Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan, be increased by .9 mill ($0.90 on each $1,000.00) on state equalized valuation for a period of 2 years, 1982 and 1983, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes to be used for necessary maintenance and repair of school buildings and to purchase necessary school equipment (this being a partial renewal of the 1 mill which expired with the 1981 tax levy)?

All school electors who are registered with the city or township clerk of the city or township in which they reside are eligible to vote at this election.

I, Anah H. Potter, Treasurer of Charlevoix County, Michigan, hereby certify that as of March 23, 1982, the records of this Office indicate that the total of all voted increases over and above the tax limitation established by the Constitution of Michigan, in any local units of government affecting the taxable property located in Charlevoix Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan, is as follows:

Concentrated road patrols now offered

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office is presently participating in a new traffic safety concept of concentrated patrol to reduce accidents in Charlevoix County.

Any concerned citizen of Charlevoix County who has a concern over traffic safety for any specific road, can contact Sheriff George T. Lasater for concentrated patrol consideration. The traffic safety concern may be speeders, careless or reckless drivers, drunk drivers, etc.

One or more deputies in marked and unmarked patrol units will be assigned to the concentrated patrol roadway for designated periods of time. The citizen or groups of citizens requesting the service will be supplied a written report after the concentrated patrol efforts as to the number of citations issued, safety inspections performed, traffic stops made, arrest and number of patrol hours spent on the problem area.

When the citizen is requesting this service from the sheriff's office, please be able to supply Sheriff Lasater with the following information:

Specific roadway requested for concentrated patrol; nearest cross road; types of violations the citizen has observed; suspects if any (type of car, etc.) and time of day and day of week the citizen would recommend.

This program will be in addition to regular sheriff's department patrol activities. Request for this service may be made to Sheriff George Thomas Lasater at 547-4461.

Historical Society will elect 1982-83 officers at next meeting

Officers for the 1982-83 year will be elected at the July 6 meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society to be held at Harsha House at 103 State St. The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. The history of the Belvedere Club will also be presented at the meeting.

Plans were announced for the annual Heritage luncheon to be held at Harsha House on Friday, July 23, for members only.

At a recent meeting, Chief of Police Jack R. Mol presented the early history of the Charlevoix Police Department which, he said was organized April 23, 1897, by the Common Council whose members included such early businessmen as Fddings and Cruickshank. William Herschel Miller was appointed the first police officer to serve the city. He was the father of Mrs. Robert (Gwen) Wexstaff.

In his talk Mol pointed out that problems facing the police officers then were much the same as those of today such as drunkeness, dog nuisances, domestic problems and opening and closing hours of saloons.

Chief Mol cited as his most memorable experience as a police officer was the tragic sinking of the Bradley off Boulder Reef in Lake Michigan west of Beaver Island on Nov. 18, 1958. Because of Charlevoix's proximity to the scene, a morgue was set up in the community room of the city hall to take care of the more than 30 victims. The Charlevoix Police Department kept an around-the-clock vigil as families came from Rogers City and other area communities to identify the victims. The police department had to cope with the problem of keeping downstate news reporters from entering the building and from taking pictures through the windows of the morgue scene.

In conclusion, Chief Mol presented to the Historical Society the original booklet of the 1924 Traffic Rules & Regulations in Charlevoix and a gun used by Jeff Weikel who served as Chief of Police from 1917 until 1933. He added that the first police car (a Pontiac) was assigned to the police department in 1939.

Mol began his police career in 1958 after completing his academic training in Police Administration. He was later named Chief of Police by Mayor Andrew Essenberg.

Garden Club members report on convention

Mrs. J.O. Crawford, president-elect and Mrs. Jackson Beatty, corresponding secretary of the Charlevoix Garden Club have returned from Grand Rapids where they attended the three-day convention of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan held at the Grand Plaza Hotel.

Lyn Amos, of Davenport, Auckland, New Zealand, internationally known flower arranger, was the guest speaker at the banquet which climaxed the convention.

They also heard Henrietta H. Tweedie and Roberta L. Simonds, co-authors and illustrators of the book, "Flowers of Michigan" who lecture on "Wildflowers in Art" and Frederick McGourthy, recently retired editor of the Brooklyn Botanical Handbook Series, lecture on the topic "Explore Perennials". There were also workshops, tours of three outstanding gardens, the new Gerald R. Ford Museum and a walking tour of the downtown and riverfront areas of Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Robert Albers of Holland was chairman and Mrs. Charles Vandenberg of Grand Rapids, co-chairman, of the convention.

Soccer meeting set

Local teenagers and adults (both men and women) will have a chance to play team soccer in Charlevoix this summer.

Promoted "for fun and exercise", all games will be played at Shanahan Field.

This Wednesday evening, June 9, there will be a meeting for interested persons at 6:30 p.m. at Shanahan Field. Everyone who thinks he might like the game is urged to attend and learn the details.

Basic rules of the game will be distributed and a short scrimmage played.

Last year's team members will also answer questions. Ask Rusty Coolman, Terry Bonar, Duane Herriman, Rob Hilton, Dave Knight, or Dale Glass.

Bears - Holt wedding

the bride, was ringbearer.

Dr. Holt served as his son's best man. Steven Bearss of Hope and Randy Bearss, brothers of the bride, and Chris Edkins of New York City were groomsmen. David Holt of Lynnfield, Mass., brother of the bridegroom, Steven Bearss and Mr. Edkins seated the guests.

A dinner reception and dance, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at Duffy's of Charlevoix where Jimmy Boggs, at the piano, played dinner music and the Red Hearts of Petoskey played for dancing. The wedding cake was decorated by the bride.

After a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple will be at home at Haverhill, Mass. A reception honoring the couple will be hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Colonial Club Inn on June 12.

The bride is an optical technician. The bridegroom is an optician.

A rehearsal dinner at the Grey Gables Inn Friday evening was hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Morris - Schafer wedding lavender print and carried a basket of white, pink, and yellow daisies and pink carnations and scattered pink rose petals.

Alan Schafer of Clinton served his brother as best man. Scott Schafer, another brother, served as groomsman, as did Michael Rose of Blissfield and Tom Stephenson of Minneapolis.

Music was provided by Grant and Kathi Lange of West Virginia and Jeanne Lignell of Charlevoix. Mrs. Lignell rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March on the organ, and Grant Lange played several trumpet solos before and during the ceremony. Kathi Lange sang "The Lord's Prayer" during Communion of the Nuptial Mass.

Following the wedding ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception at the Deer Lake House at Boyne Mountain. The bride's brother, Charles, was in charge of the guest book; the bridegroom's sister, Ruthann Schafer, and the bride's sister, Liz Morris, cut and served the wedding cake following a buffet dinner; Grant and Kathi Lange and the band "Phoenix" furnished music for listening and dancing.

The bridegroom's family hosted the rehearsal dinner on Friday evening at the Grey Gables Inn.

Mrs. Morris was attired in a pale blue floor-length gown for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. Schafer wore a peach-colored gown with jacket.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Switzerland, Austria, and France, the newlyweds will be at home in Deerfield, where the bridegroom is self-employed at Schafer's Grain Elevator. The bride will be working as an oncology nurse in Adrian.

Rod Cortright's been busy in first year as county agricultural extension agent

by PEG OHLE

Meet Charlevoix

Rod Cortright

Rod Cortright is completing his first year as Charlevoix County Extension Agent. This week the Courier talks with him about some of the interesting and important activities he is presently engaged in.

COURIER: What projects are you working on these days?

CORTRIGHT: Probably the one that's taking up the most time is the no-till corn planting project. We're working with nine or ten farmers in the County to demonstrate the advantages of this type of planting.

COURIER: What are some of the advantages?

CORTRIGHT: There are many. It's a good conservation practice – it reduces wind and water erosion. It requires less equipment – in this area when you plow an acre of land, you turn over two million pounds of soil. With the no-till method, you just plant and spray. You don't use a lot of fuel, either – only about one-fifth of what you would use in conventional tillage. Another thing, no-till preserves the moisture in the soil. In a year, you would save 20 to 25 percent of the moisture, so you wouldn't be susceptible to drought. And no-till takes only about a third as much labor as conventional planting and plowing.

COURIER: Is the no-till planting method good only for corn?

CORTRIGHT: No, it can be used for other crops, but corn is the easiest and best place to start. It would work with hay and small grains.

COURIER: What else are you doing?

CORTRIGHT: We're trying to get a group together to see about getting vocational agriculture back in the high schools. I understand it's been over 25 years since vocational agriculture classes were dropped, and there seems to be a lot of interest in getting them going again. They have such a program in Petoskey but it's the only one in the area. If we can't get a school program going, we can probably put our own program together through 4-H. It would also benefit some of the present farmers who've never had a chance to learn some of the things we could teach.

COURIER: What about forestry?

CORTRIGHT: Oh, yes. Charlevoix County has a great forestry base, and it's being under-utilized. There are large stands in private ownership that are getting only a third to a fourth of the production they should. We want to get more involved in woodlot management. Woodlots should be thinned out and weeded like gardens. If a person learns just a few facts, he can increase the potential of his woodlot many times over. Good management of ten acres of hard wood will provide a lifetime of wood for a person.

COURIER: How is your computer programming working out?

CORTRIGHT: Fine. We have run at least 300 programs for individuals. The program we run most is the least-cost diary ration program. You know, about half the agricultural income in the County is from dairy, so we do most of our work there. The computer also makes it possible for us to keep in touch with the MSU campus and other Extension offices. We get a daily print-out from the campus.

COURIER: Are there any new programs?

CORTRIGHT: We're getting more involved in marketing. We're putting together educational programs to show farmers how they can market their crops profitably. We have to educate them to the fact that there are options.

COURIER: Other than dairy, what is the source of farm income in Charlevoix County?

CORTRIGHT: Livestock – mostly beef, orchards – most of them are dwarf trees these days, and a few seed crops like beans and potatoes. Small grains are grown mostly for feed.

COURIER: What has happened to the research on the disease Blue Tongue that many feared was a threat to cattle, sheep, goats, and deer?

CORTRIGHT: I understand the State is taking blood from infected goats and injecting it into some laboratory deer to see if the disease can be transmitted from one to the other. Results of the tests will be announced when they are completed.

COURIER: We can see you are involved in a number of different types of activities.

CORTRIGHT: My responsibilities are listed as agriculture, marketing, natural resources, and public policy. However, it all gets down to day-to-day questions. So far this morning we've had three questions about herbicides.

COURIER: Do townspeople use your services?

CORTRIGHT: More and more we're getting questions from people in town, mostly about their lawns and gardens.

COURIER: Are you a farm boy?

CORTRIGHT: Yes, I grew up on a crop and dairy farm in Calhoun County. I graduated from MSU in 1973 with a degree in crop and soil science. Then I worked for the Farmers Home Administration and for five years with the Soil Conservation District.

Obituaries

LEONARD W. BURNS

Funeral services for Leonard W. "Pete" Burns, 75, who died Saturday at the Charlevoix Area Hospital where he had been a patient since June 1, were held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Raymond Giflin of the First Congregational Church and the Rev. David W. Yingling of the United Methodist Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix May 5, 1907, Mr. Burns graduated from the Charlevoix High School in 1925 and from Olivet College in 1929. He taught at White Pigeon, Nachville and Hemlock before returning to Charlevoix to teach the seventh grade in 1947. He had also been an assistant football coach and had coached intra-mural basketball in the upper elementary grades. The team was known as "Pete's Pups". He retired in 1970.

He was a member of the United Methodist Church, Charlevoix Lodge No. 228, F. & A.M., Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star, Charlevoix Kiwanis Club, Great Pines chapter of the Michigan Association of Retired School Personnel, Charlevoix Education Association, Michigan Education Association and the National Education Association, National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons. He was associated with the Boy Scouts for many years as a Cub Master, Scout Master, a member of the local Boy Scout committee and as a commissioner of the Scenic Trails Council. In 1956 he was awarded the Silver Beaver, the highest award given in Scouting circles.

On June 4, 1932, he was married to the former Elizabeth (Betty) [illegible] at Normal, Ill. Since his retirement, the couple had spent the winter months at Zephyrhills, Fla.

Surviving are his wife; a son, Larry W. of Oconto Falls, Wis.; one daughter, Mrs. Michael (Janice) Raecke of Charlevoix; five grandchildren; two brothers, Robert C., of Charlevoix and John of Hillsboro, N.H. and a sister, Mrs. Helen Behan of Petoskey.

The family suggests memorials to a memorial Fund to be established in Mr. Burns name for the Boy Scouts.

GLENN A. HOLECHECK

Funeral services for a former Norwood resident, Glenn A. Holecheck, 81, of Jenison, were held June 2 at the Jenison Chapel of the Cook Funeral Home. Interment was in the Norwood Cemetery.

Mr. Holecheck died unexpectedly at St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Rapids May 30.

Born at Norwood July 16, 1900, Mr. Holecheck had resided in the area until the 1930's. He was married to the former Ila Overmyer at Elkhart, Ind., Jan. 15, 1937. They had resided at Jenison for the past 20 years.

He was employed by the L.J. Edison Construction Co. of Grand Rapids for 55 years, retiring in 1974. He was a member of the Jenison Baptist Temple and Operating Engineers Local 324.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Donald of Traverse City and Glenn, Jr., of Grand Rapids; two daughters, Mrs. Edmund (Darlene) Burke of Petoskey and Mrs. Lyle (Irene) Homrich of Jenison; 12 grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren; a brother, Robert of Norwood and two sisters, Mrs. Nina Hull of Pontiac and Mrs. Irene Kramer of Tucson, Ariz.

Ellsworth prepares for Pig Roast

The Banks Township Community Center in Ellsworth is busily preparing for the Second Annual Pig Roast & Games Weekend. Last year, the Center was celebrating its Grand Opening of the newly refurbished building. Work has continued throughout the year with the addition of roll-up draperies, purchase of chairs, building of additional library shelves, and the installation of an announcement board on the front of the building. Activities that were sponsored by the Center this past year include a preschool day camp during the summer months, volleyball, a Energy Conservation Show, a square dance, a Christmas Bazaar and Bake Sale, a 3 act play "The Robin Hood Caper" performed by local talent in May, as well as several rentals for wedding receptions and birthday parties.

This year the celebration will include many of the same games and activities as last year as well as several new ones. The theme for the weekend will center around "Tulip Time Festival".

The weekend begins on Friday June 18 at 8 p.m. at the Community Center with a Variety Show. Anyone interested in participating can call Artie at 588-6318.

Activities begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday June 19 with the judging of entries in the Pie Baking Contest. Trophies will be awarded to the best pies in the single and double crust categories. Pies entered in the contest will be consumed at the Pig Roast after judging.

The Arts and Crafts Show will be held in the Community Center from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Booth entry fee is $5. Call Mary at 588-6378 to reserve your spot.

The Grand Parade will begin at 11 a.m. and will include the band, floats from several local groups, horses, bikes, and the King and Queen of the Festival. Prizes will be awarded for the two best floats. Sign up for the parade by calling Mary at 588-6378.

Roast Pig dinners will be served beginning at 12 noon. The dinner includes roast pig, baked beans, applesauce, roll, pie and coffee or lemonade for $4, children $2. Pork sandwich and beverage is $2. Kielbasa and sauerkraut with beverage is also $2.

Children's games will begin at 12 noon and will include a tug of war, bicycle races and more.

The horseshoe pitch begins at 1 p.m. and the Cross Cut Saw Competition at 2 p.m. The winning teams in each competition will receive a trophy.

At 3 p.m. the adults get their chance for a tug of war. This event is as fun to watch as it is to participate in. To join the action call Hellen at 588-2498.

What's a pig roast without the firemen? They will provide water and entertainment beginning at 3:30 p.m.

Drawing for a full size quilt and a 12 Winchester will be held at 4 p.m. Tickets are available from Community Center board members and will be sold all day for $1 each.

The finale of the weekend will again be a Gospel Concert. Any individuals or groups that would like to participate please call Artie at 588-6318.

In the event of rain, all events that can be moved inside will be held in the Community Center. Those that cannot be held inside will be cancelled.

Ellsworth - Charlevoix pen pals meet

by ANNE KELLY

For over a month, Sue Tillotson's 2nd grade reading class has been corresponding with pen-pals from Ellsworth School. Thursday, they had the unique opportunity of meeting the face behind the writing, when Shelia Essenberg brought her students to Charlevoix School.

"One of the students in the class told me this morning, that she was so excited that she couldn't get to sleep last night," Ms. Essenberg told the Charlevoix reading class. Then the fun began, when both teachers introduced the eager correspondents to their pen-pals.

It started as a lesson in writing friendly letters, Mrs. Tillotson explained. The class [illegible] the Ellsworth 2nd graders a group letter. Later, when supplied with the names of the children in the group, they were able to choose one person with whom they wished to correspond. Names were chosen purely on a sight-unseen basis. Some just chose a name that interested them or sounded like their own.

"It was amazing how many of the children came up with a pen-pal who had similar interests," commented Mrs. Tillotson. "Of course they're all the same age [illegible] there were exactly the right number of children to match up class to class. Sixteen in both."

Some have already exchanged phone numbers and addresses. Ellsworth isn't so far away that a few lasting friendships may have been kindled as a result of the experience, Mrs. Tillotson felt.

More testing planned as TCE levels rise

by DAVE KNIGHT

Test well drilling begins this week at ten locations in the City of Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township as the investigation intensifies into the growing presence of trichloroethylene (TCE) in the city's water supply.

Said District Health Department sanitarian Larry Levengood Monday, "We definitely feel we are dealing with higher levels (of TCE) than when we first detected it."

Recent tests of city water have revealed the presence of TCE in concentrations up to 54 parts per billion. This represents a significant increase over the levels found last September and October when TCE was first detected in the city's water. At that time levels ranging from 14 to 31 ppb were recorded.

TCE, an industrial chemical used most often as a degreasing agent, is a suspected carcinogen, or, cancer-causing substance.

Following the City of Petoskey's announcement last year that TCE had been found in their water supply, tests for the substance were conducted in Charlevoix. The first local samples taken on September 17, 1981 revealed TCE in concentrations of 14 to 16 ppb in the city water.

Subsequent testing on an approximate bi-monthly basis has shown a steady increase in TCE levels. On November 9, 1981 a reading of 37 ppb was recorded, on February 18, 1982 the level was 48 ppb and, as recently as May 11, a sample taken from the tap at the city water works tested at 50 ppb. The highest level of TCE recorded to date locally has been 54 ppb found in a test drilling near the municipal well.

"One obvious thought is that groundwater recharge caused by the spring thaw may be affecting the levels of TCE," said Levengood, "If that is true, those levels should peak soon and start to diminish this summer."

The more alarming possibility, however, according to Levengood, is that the trend of increasing TCE concentrations is ongoing and will continue until abated at the source. A concentration of 75 ppb of TCE is considered by health officials to be the maximum allowable level for a public water supply.

Efforts to locate the source of TCE in Charlevoix's water have so far been unsuccessful. In an early stage of the investigation, four test wells were drilled in the immediate vicinity of the city well on Lake Michigan just south of the pier.

TCE was detected in two of the first test wells.

Of the ten sites selected for the second phase of test drilling, five are located near suspected sources of contamination while data from the other five will establish the direction groundwater flow and how concentrations of TCE vary in relation to the municipal wall. The sites were selected on the basis of soil samples and field studies conducted by Levengood and DNR geologist T. Eftaxiadis in the first phase of the investigation.

Test wells are planned for the following locations: one on the corner of Park and Clinton and another one block southwest, one on Clinton near the Middle School, one at the corner of Antrim and Grant, one on West Hurlbut east of Grant and one on the same street east of Sherman, one on W. Upright west of Lake, one near Impac Tool south of Carpenter and two on Medusa Cement Co. property. One more

Millages all pass

by FRAN MARTIN

The three millage issues on the ballot in the annual school election Monday were approved by a wide margin and two unopposed candidates for two vacancies on the Charlevoix Board of Education were re-elected.

The renewel of the 15.25 mills for one year for operating purposes was given the approval of the voters by a margin of 496 to 234.

The renewal of .5 mill for five years for operation of the Charlevoix Public Library passed by a total of [illegible] votes to 262.

The .9 mill issue to underwrite the cost of a new roof and the insulation of the roof area at the Charlevoix High School was approved by a 471-257 vote. This millage is for two years. It replaces the 1.0 mill levy for five years for the renovation of the Charlevoix Middle School which expired in 1981.

Ardeth M. Wieland and Elaine Martin Buddle, who were unopposed for re-election to the Board of Education, received 599 and 580 votes respectively.

Only 769, or approximately 18 percent of the 4,200-plus voters in the school district went to the polls in the election.

Hearing adjourned until fall

by TOM DAMMANN

The Atomic Safety and Licensing Board of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) adjourned its hearing Saturday afternoon on the safety of more than doubling the spent fuel in the storage pool at Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant.

No date was set for continuing the hearing but it is expected to be held in northern Michigan sometime next fall.

Held at Boyne Mt. Lodge before a three man panel, chaired by Judge Peter B. Bloch, the intensive review commenced June 7, with nine hour days and some evening sessions conducted throughout the week.

Big Rock owner, Consumers Power Co. of Jackson, applied to the NRC in April 1979 to ammend its operating license to allow an increase in the number of still very radioactive spent fuel bundles it can store in the waste pool from 193 to 441. This would be accomplished by rearranging and refabricating the storage racks to crowd more bundles into the pool without altering the pool's size.

A month later four area residents, Christa Maria, Jo Ann Bier and Jim Mills, all of Charlevoix, and John O'Neill of Glen Lake, protested the application on the grounds that the increase will endanger the health and lives of area residents. They were allowed to enter the case as intervenors.

In the ensuing three years, tortuous litigation proceeded to determine which issues of safety would be reviewed at this public hearing.

In the mid 1970's plans for regional nuclear reprocessing facilities were shelved, which meant that most nuclear power facilities around the nation had storage problems for their nuclear waste. Many were granted federal permission to "re-rack" the fuel bundles in their pools.

Until 1976, Big Rock's used fuel was reprocessed by a company that went out of business, according to utility spokesmen.

This spring's normal refueling left the Big Rock spent fuel pool with 61 empty spaces, not enough to completely unload its 84 bundle core, according to Big Rock spokesman, Phil Loomis.

This means that the plant will have to shut down in 1984, Loomis said. If the NRC grants the permit the plant can operate until the year 2000, when its license expires.

The second oldest nuclear power plant on line, Big Rock produced its first nuclear reaction in September 1962 and began commercially generating electric power Dec. 8, 1962.

The intervenors and the NRC staff have expressed concern about the plant's age and the impact of long term radioactivity on the metal and concrete used in the construction of the reactor and spent fuel pool.

The utility argues that Big Rock should be allowed continued operation so that the industry can learn how plants react to radioactivity among other things, as they grow older.

At the outset of the hearings, Judge Bloch explained that the main purpose of the hearing is to examine the questions raised by the intervenors.

All three judges observed that some of the questions were raised by the NRC staff and noted that usually these disputes have been resolved by this time in the proceedings.

Normally a utility satisfies the NRC's safety concerns long before the hearing, but in the case of Big Rock the NRC is still concerned about the ability of the spent fuel pool to withstand intense heat should an accident occur and the cooling devices fail.

Eleven attorneys, representing the utility, the NRC staff and intervenors, came from Washington, D.C., Chicago and Petoskey to present arguements and question expert witnesses, local and federal government officials.

The first concern examined was emergency planning with emphasis on the pamphlet which tells the public what to do in the event of a nuclear accident.

The intervenors charged that the pamphlet was not distributed door to door as required by federal law.

The panel expressed concern over discrepancies in testimony by Danny B. Bement, an emergency management specialist for the Federal Emergency Management Agency and Earl Muma, Charlevoix County Director of Emergency Planning.

Judge Bloch was outraged by Bement's testimony that Charlevoix businessmen and motel owners had not distributed the pamphlet to guests for fear it would hurt business.

"Something must be done about that," he said.

Other witnesses who testified on the pamphlet and plans for evacuating the area in the event of an accident at the plant were Big

Township wants to keep right-of-way

by DAVE KNIGHT

Charlevoix Township residents responded strongly Monday night to a claim by Mr. and Mrs. John S. Abbott, 501 Michigan Ave., that a 66-foot right-of-way extending from the west end of Division to the Lake Michigan beach is rightfully theirs and should be closed to public access.

In a May 25 letter to the township board, the Abbotts contended that the right-of-way was originally deeded to the township for use as a highway. Since that use never occurred, they said, the quick claim deed should be revoked and the property returned to them.

The right-of-way extends west from the intersection of Division and Michigan Ave. It jogs to the north of the Abbott home enroute to the lakeshore. The property has been used by area residents for decades as a means of access to the beach.

Several township residents attending Monday night's meeting at the township hall voiced strong objection to the closing of that access.

Said Clifford Biddick who lives nearby on Division, "I have always appreciated the use of this beach and want to do everything I can to help with the situation."

Mrs. Gail Wiemer, 514 Michigan, said, "We have lived across the street from this property for 17 years and have never considered the access to the beach to be a problem."

Mrs. Abbott stated that late night parties resulting in rowdy behavior and extensive littering prompted her and her husband, who is dean of the University of Detroit Law School, to seek closure of the public access.

"Children are urinating and defecating on our property, pulling down tree limbs and leaving trash all over," said Mrs. Abbott, "We have called the sheriff several times but he was always too busy."

Township supervisor Oscar Stroud produced a copy of an 1879 deed showing the ownership of the right-of-way as transferred to the township.

"It's up to the Abbotts to go to court if they wish," said Stroud, "The township stands firm on their claim to the property."

The board supported Stroud's statement voting unanimously to retain ownership of the right-of-way.

As of Monday, no legal action had been taken by either Abbotts or the township.

Haggard bows out

by PEG OHLE

One candidate bowed to another last week by withdrawing from the State Senatorial race and joining forces with his former opponent.

John Haggard of Charlevoix, an early entry in the race, announced he was no longer seeking the office and would place his support behind Steve Andrews of Wolverine, a recently-announced candidate.

In a statemednt read to the press on Friday, Haggard said, "With the approval of my wife Phyllis and four children, Betsey, Barbara, John, and Ronald, who have been my biggest supporters, I am announcing that I am officially withdrawing as a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator for the 37th District.

"I want to thank the people who have been working with me the past eight months and who are in agreement with my decision to insure that a Republican candidate wins the Senate seat in the November election to insure that this great State of Michigan, and in particular northern Michigan, can get on the right track for a complete economic recovery.

"With my withdrawal, I am formally endorsing Representative Steve Andrews to be the Republican Party's nominee for the 37th State Senate District. I would also hope that all those who pledged their support to me will do whatever possible to help Steve gain the August 10th primary nomination."

Haggard further noted that he and Andrews had been friends for a long time and he believed Andrews is the "dominant Republican in the primary, with an excellent chance for success in November's general election."

Andrews, who also attended the press meeting, thanked Haggard for his support, saying Haggard's withdrawal affects his campaign strategy personally more than politically.

"When two people who are friends are running against each other, it's diffcult to organize a campaign," he added.

Board members face each other in primary

Members of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners apparently like their jobs.

Eleven of them have filed for re-nomination in the August 10 primaries.

Not running are Donald Meggison of Charlevoix, John Haggard of Charlevoix Township, Ira L. "Bob" Davis of Horton Bay, and Keith R. Annear of East Jordan. Meggison, Davis, and Annear are giving up their posts for personal reasons. Haggard decided to run for the 37th State Senatorial seat instead. (See separate story).

Since the County Board of Commissioners will be reduced from 15 to six next year, incumbents are running against each other in several districts. The districts and the candidates now line up this way:

District 1 (Hayes, Bay, Evangeline, and Melrose Townships): incumbent Republican Larry Matthew, unopposed.

District 2 (Boyne Valley, Chandler, Hudson, Wilson, eastern Eveline Townships): Republican Tom Kondrat, Republican Karl Waldner, incumbent Republican Martin Bieganowski, incumbent Democrat Ralph Harmon.

District 3 (City of Boyne City): Republican incumbent Marvin Loding, Republican incumbent Oral Sutliff, Republican incumbent Casimir Toton, Republican William Underhill.

District 4 (City of East Jordan and South Arm Township): incumbent Republican Thomas Breakey and incumbent Republican Delbert Ingalls.

District 5 (western Eveline Township, Marion, Norwood, Charlevoix, Peaine, St. James Townships): incumbent Republican Clyde Cunningham, Republican Donald R. Smith, Republican William Sherman.

District 6 (City of Charlevoix): Republican incumbent I. Lee Moerland, Democrat incumbent Oscar Ward, Republican Drew Young, Republican Jeffrey Porter.

Artists' co-op opens downtown

Off Bridge Street Artists, a cooperative featuring the works of 14 area artists in nine medias, will host a Grand Opening at the gallery located at 104 Clinton Street, Saturday.

The artists themselves will be on hand from 6 until 11 p.m. to meet those attending and to introduce them to the various works in the gallery.

Linda Beers Aydlott of East Jordan, a jeweler and one of the co-op members, in speaking in behalf of the group to announce the grand opening, said that area artists have banded together in the gallery to exhibit their works. "We are so scattered, visitors to the area could not possibly seek each of us out. By exhibiting in a gallery we can all receive exposure by letting the public know we are here and have something to offer."

She went on to say that all members of the group are artists in their own right. All have been seen in shows throughout the state and elsewhere. Many have exhibited in Charlevoix's own Waterfront Fair. She concluded by saying that all the artists in the co-op make their living in their respective phases of art. "We all have homes; most of us have families. We are hopeful the gallery will allow us more time to remain at home, close to our own studios and thus do away with the traveling required to attend shows around the state".

The number of artists in the co-op may be increased at some future date Mrs. Aydlott said but any new members would be juried in order to keep the quality of work on a high level.

Present members of the co-op are Daniel Cote' of East Jordan who does watercolors; Steve Kendall, Harbor Springs, oils and watercolors; Robin McMillen, East Jordan, woodworking; Nancy Riggs Kouchy, East Jordan, weaving; Diane Hubert, Cedar, contemporary jewelry; Ray and Tami Bier, Charlevoix, pottery; Jerry Aydlott, East Jordan, color photography; Joe Spaulding, East Jordan, woodworking; Jo Moffit, Charlevoix, pottery; Scott Nelles, Rapid City, who works in cast bronze; Rebecca McMillen, who designs and makes clothing including skirts, blouses and dresses; Nancy Carey, East Jordan, black and white photography; Charles Kouchy, East Jordan, pottery and Mrs. Aydlott, East Jordan, a jeweler whose work is considered art neveau.

"We have three potters but the works of each is different. The same is true of the artists and photographers. Each has his own concept of his art and it comes through in his work. As a result, no two things even look the same," Mrs. Aydlott added.

As one enters the gallery, the names of the members and their type of art is shown on an attractive board. Since each artist is obligated to work two days each month, the name of the host or the hostess for the day is posted at the top.

The gallery will be open from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. daily throughout the summer.

Off Bridge Street Artists features a variety of wares.

More funds for Half-Way Home

The Half-Way Home in Petoskey will receive another $5,000 from Charlevoix County to help pay for rehabilitation of County residents.

That amount was authorized by the Board of Commissioners last week to add to the $3,500 already paid to the Home this year.

The Half-Way Home is a live-in facility for drug and alcohol abusers seeking rehabilitation. Most of them are referred to the facility by government agencies, including the courts.

John Vick, director of Half-Way Home, recently pointed out to the Commissioners that time spent in the Home is less expensive than time spent in jail and the Half-Way Home rehabilitation work cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

Bible Questions Answers

Continuing the question from last week, "I'M CONFUSED. I'VE HEARD YOU TEACH ON THE FACT THAT GOD DOESN'T KNOW OUR FUTURE CHOICES AND YET THE WORDS FOREKNOW AND FOREKNOWLEDGE ARE IN THE BIBLE ALONG WITH PREDESTINATION. PLEASE EXPLAIN!

Finishing our thought from last week, let me say that if God did PREDESTINATE a group of people to spend an eternity in Hell (against their choice), and another group to spend eternity in Heaven (without their choice), then He, God, is a RESPECTOR OF PERSONS and guilty of Sin according to His own Word in James 2:1-9. This type of "doctrine" and thought would be called "unfair" and "insanity" if a person did it. Why would we attribute such a monsterious determination to God? Remember, that FOREKNOW and FOREKNOWLEDGE simply apply to God giving thought to a possible problem that could arise in the future. It covers all possibilities and actions, but does NOT assign any person to be saved or lost before such a person has made HIS OWN CHOICE as to his final destiny. No sane pulpit in the world would ever assume that God has already FIXED the future of all peoples yet to come on this earth. If this were true (1) the Bible would CLEARLY TEACH IT and (2) there would be no use of preaching, teaching or any kind of missionary outreach. It wouldn't make any difference.

In Romans 11:2 Paul is merely mentioning the fact that even though God no longer is working with Israel as a nation, He still has not cast away the people of Israel, who still have the opportunity as individuals to receive Jesus Christ as their Lord and Saviour Messiah. The people that He FOREKNEW, were in the form of the Nation of Israel; who rebelled against God time after time and finally God had to bring judgement upon them and no longer use that Nation to reach the World.

The FOREKNEW part of it was that God planned to create such a nation and use it to bring forth His Eternal Truth to a lost World by bringing the Messiah, Lord Jesus Christ to mankind.

I Peter 1:2 shows that the FOREKNOWLEDGE of God was tied into His Plan of redemption which was THROUGH sanctification of the Spirit unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ. Verse 20 uses FOREORDAINED in relation to Jesus who was to be the Atonement for the redemption of mankind if they sinned. This was settled BEFORE man was created in the mind of the Godhead. Next week: Final thoughts on this subject.

Chamber says 'Yes' to development

by DAVE KNIGHT

"When we talk about economic development, we're talking about jobs," said Richard Surbrook, Consumers Power director of economic development at a special general membership meeting of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce last Wednesday.

Surbrook was one of four speakers at the meeting called by the Chamber Board of Directors to address the future direction of Charlevoix's economy. About 50 Chamber members attended the wine and cheese reception held at the Grey Gables Inn.

Others on the program included I. Lee Moerland, president of the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation, Ronald Nino, who is working on a master plan for the City of Charlevoix and Michael Greeley, chairman of the Downtown Development Authority.

"What are we going to do if our children decide to stay in the area after graduating from high school?" asked Surbrook, "There are no jobs for them."

He compared the State of Michigan to New York City some five years saying the "I Love New York" slogan is similar to what Michigan is trying to accomplish with its "Say Yes to Michigan" campaign.

"We in Michigan have been too negative the past five years. But we can turn our image around just like New York did," said Surbrook.

Acknowledging that the task will not be easy, Surbrook pointed out that the field of economic development is becoming increasingly competitive - between not only states but also communities.

To make Charlevoix more attractive to business and industry looking to relocate, Surbrook advised the gathering to organize their efforts.

"Often there are too many different people and groups trying to do the same thing," he said, "The communities successful in attracting new business and industry almost always have a cooperative attitude."

He also said that Sunbelt areas, which have experienced a development boom in recent years at the expense of the northern industrial states, have seen their successes peak and will soon be feeling the hardship of inadequate power generation facilities and shortage of fresh water.

"What we have to offer in northern and western Michigan is a high quality, less unionized and abundant labor force," said Surbrook.

Addressing the local situation, Surbrook said, "Get your indutrial park in shape! If (an industry) comes looking and you're not ready, you're not going to get it."

Moerland also noted the fierce economic competition between communities saying, "I am pleased to hear someone talk about attracting business from Petoskey and Grand Traverse County because I know they are doing their damnedest to attract us to their areas."

"We in the Charlevoix area have one item to sell - the quality of life," said Moerland, "The majority of industries that have located here have done so because of the high quality of life we can offer."

Moerland went on to describe the EDC's purpose and achievements to date. He offered the EDC's help in the economic development effort saying, "We're here if you need us."

Greeley, one of the original organizers of the DDA, described that body as another tool available for local development and listed the various methods of raising project funds that can be used by the DDA.

"The DDA is an economic tool that any community can use," said Greeley, "The edge that we have in Charlevoix is that people want to live here."

Greeley added that a comment had been made to him recently by a Grayling businessman to the effect that Charlevoix is recognized as a business leader of Northern Michigan.

Said Greeley, "I'd like to keep it that way."

Nino urged those in attendance to utilize such financing methods as tax increment financing, which was recently rejected by the City Council as a means for the DDA to purchase property for parking.

"If you are really serious about economic development, you have to grab for these methods of creative financing such as tax increment financing," said Nino, "If it weren't for these methods, much of the economic development happening in many communities today could not be possible."

He also emphasized the importance of a balanced approach to growth saying, "If you want Charlevoix to stay beautiful, you'd better get non-residential land producing the neccessary tax base."

Nino added that he will be completing final blueprint sketches of the downtown and waterfront areas within a couple months as one of the final stages of the master plan.

Plane is sold

The emergency evacuation plane which has served Beaver Island since 1974 will soon find a new home in Arizona.

The six-passenger DeHaviland U-68 Beaver was acquired as surplus Army equipment by the County Department of Civil Defense to provide emergency transportation for residents of St. James and Peaine Townships.

For several years it operated under the jurisdiction of the two townships and the Charlevoix Sheriff's Department. Two airlines are now flying in and out of Beaver Island regularly so the evacuation plane is not needed.

The plane was advertised for sale by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners in several flying magazines. Last week, the Commissioners accepted the high bid of $24,751 by an Arizona resident.

As a result of the sale, St. James and Peaine Townships will each receive $6,865.38 for espenses incurred in operating the plane, and Charlevoix County will receive $5,212.42 as its share of espenses.

The balance of $5,807.82 will be placed by the County in a special trust fund awaiting determination of its use.

Scholarship winners named

Debra Drenth of Ellsworth and Lisa Pischner of Charlevoix were announced as this year's winners of two nursing scholarships, administered by the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

The Charlevoix Area Scholarship is an annual $350 award for up to three years of study in nursing. It was presented to Miss Drenth, who will enter the School of Nursing at North Central Michigan College, Petoskey, this fall, for a two year R.N. course.

The Peggy Carey Northway Scholarship, awarded to Miss Pischner, is for $300 annually for three years. Miss Pischner will seek her R.N. degree in a three year program at Lake Superior State College.

The Peggy Carey Northway Scholarship was founded in memory of Peggy Carey Northway who died of leukemia in 1977 while a nursing student at the University of Michigan.

Both scholarships are granted on a competitive basis. Any resident of the Charlevoix Area Hospital service area entering the nursing field may apply for either of these awards.

Miss Drenth, who graduated this month from Ellsworth High School, said she was going into nursing because of her interest in working with people. Miss Pischner, who graduated from Charlevoix High School this month, said she is also interested in working with people and has the example of her mother and an aunt to follow.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The following Ordinance was adopted by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix at their regular meeting on June 7, 1982

ORDINANCE NO. 401

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 9.153 OF CHAPTER 114 OF TITLE IX OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS.

THAT SECTION 9.153 BE DELETED AND THE FOLLOWING SUBSTITUTED THEREIN

9.153. Enforcement - Notice to Abate

(1) The Chief of Police is hereby charged with the enforcement of this Chapter. No person being the owner or person in charge of or occupant of any private premises shall allow or permit said property to become blighted in a manner prohibited by the provisions of this Chapter. When any such property is in violation of the provisions of this Chapter the enforcing officer shall notify the owner, person in control or occupant of such private premises to correct the violation within a time limited in the notice, such time not to be less than two (2) days nor more than ten (10) days from the time said notice is served. Such notice shall be served in the manner provided in Chapter 1 of this Code

(2) If the owner, person in charge or occupant of any premises notified to abate a nuisance resulting from a violation of the provisions of this Chapter shall fail to abate the same within the time limited in said notice therefor, the enforcing officer is hereby authorized to enter upon such private premises and abate said nuisance by correcting the violation. The cost of abating such nuisance plus an additional fifteen (15%) percent for overhead and other expenses, shall constitute a lien against the private premises and shall be charged to the occupant or owner thereof or to the owner of unoccupied premises, as the case may be. If not paid within sixty (60) days after the bill for such charges is rendered, such charges may be collected as a single lot assessment against said premises in the manner provided by Chapter 8, or in any other manner authorized for the collection of debts owed the City

(3) Any person violating any of the provisions of this Chapter shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars and cost of prosecution or by imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Permitting a violation of this Chapter on private premises is hereby declared to constitute a nuisance per se. Upon application to any court of competent jurisdiction, the court may order the nuisance abated and/or the violation restrained and enjoyed. The enforcement of this Chapter by abatement of any nuisance by the enforcing officer or by application to any court of competent jurisdiction for abatement by judicial decree or writ shall not preclude enforcement of this Chapter by complaint for violation of this Chapter and the imposition of fine or imprisonment as herein provided.

Opinion

Knight on the Town

Voting blind

by Dave Knight

Petitions are being circulated this week by Charlevoix Township board member Don Smith to hold elections in both the city and the township on whether a charter commission should be formed to pursue consolidation of the two units of government.

The petitions are based on the assumption that such a charter commission would be comprised of seven city residents and two township residents. As of Monday night, Smith was well on the way to the number required to hold the election.

At the same time, legislation has progressed with astonishing ease through both houses of the Michigan State Legislature allowing equal representation on the charter commission.

Smith maintains that consolidation proceedings must adhere to the 1968 law establishing the one man-one vote principle. Besides, he adds, who knows if or when the governor will sign the bill?

Should the election petition be completed by July 9, which appears to be a certainty at this point, both township and city will vote and should either body defeat formation of a charter commission, the consolidation process goes right back to the beginning again.

Smith is a declared opponent of consolidation and has every right to his opinion. But his tactics in thwarting the process by holding an early election on the matter serves no good purpose.

What are people voting for or against? What will consolidation mean? The only basis on which to make an intelligent decision are the comparative service costs arrived at by a study committee some weeks ago, some facts of which are incorrect according to City Hall. Voters will be asked to vote with no clear idea of what advantages or disadvantages consolidation may hold for them.

Also, what have the township voters been told about annexation by the city? Do they realize the consequences of totally rejecting consolidation?

And what about long-range planning for economic development? Will Charlevoix find itself in the same boat as Battle Creek which may lose its whole industrial base because Kelloggs corporate officials don't want to deal with a township-city division. How many other firms are avoiding Charlevoix for the same reason?

There are many more questions whose answers will never see the light of day should an equitable charter commission not get the opportunity to closely study this crucial matter.

To end the consolidation process in such a complete void of pertinent facts does both city and township residents a severe disservice.

Clockwise

Gophers attack

by Bob Clock

IF YOU HAVEN'T been out to the city gardens on State Street recently, you are missing one of the liveliest events of the spring season: The Great Gopher Hunt.

Gophers have invaded the gardens in force this year — principally at the east end nearest State Street — and the turf along the garden road is riddled with their holes.

Gardeners say the little critters are particularly fond of squash seeds and corn.

One gardener told me he planted his squash three times — in one day. Every time he returned to his patch, the seeds would be dug up, the kernels removed and the shells scattered like confetti.

How do you go about catching a gopher? That is a question that has befuddled mankind since the dawn of time.

The most time-tested method is pouring water into their holes. When they emerge to escape drowning, you clunk them over the head with a hoe, a rake, a shovel or any other handy garden implement.

At the city garden, most gopher hunters work in pairs — with one pouring water while his companion wields a club. At least one of the four gophers who has gone to his reward at the city garden this year did so on the point of a jackknife. Another died ignominiously in a rattrap, baited with a peanut.

Until the colony is erased, some gardeners have taken to placing tall tin cans with both ends removed around their freshly plant seeds. Others plant in the center of discarded automobile tires, hoping to confound the thieves.

Alva (Sonny) Noirot says it's a mistake to put empty seed packets on the row-stakes, because he thinks the city garden gophers have learned to read and know just where to go for the most succulent feast.

GARDENERS ARE warned, however, that it is pointless to try to avoid the lowly gopher, because he appears throughout most of North America, from southern Canada to Panama. The word derives from the French gauffre which means "honeycomb" — an oblique reference to the gopher's myriad burrows.

The most common variety is the pocket gopher, which has two furry pouches on the outside of each cheek to store food. However, there are eight genera of gopher, more than 30 species and more than 300 subspecies, so it's difficult to tell just which gopher we're dealing with in Charlevoix.

FUNK & WAGNALLS New Encyclopedia says gophers are "voracious and feed on any type of vegetation found underground. They destroy food trees by gnawing away the roots, and ravage tuber and bulb gardens.

"The damage pocket gophers do is such that they have become serious economic pests and steps are taken toward their destruction whereever they are found."

The encyclopedia describes gophers as "chubby, ratlike animals, 10 to 14 in. in overall length, covered with soft, short fur."

They almost sound cuddly — until you realize how dangerous they can be. In the Mississippi Valley, the dark brown prairie gopher has a penchant for honeycombing the levees with his burrows. And when flood waters rise, you had better be ready to run— fast.

Test wells will help pinpoint source of TCE

dditional site may be selected.

Levengood stressed that these sites are for monitoring purposes only and are not yet under consideration as possible locations for a new municipal well. He added that the source of the contaminant may be from a previous use of a property not neccessarily related to its present use.

Funds for the test drilling have been provided by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) at the request of the city and the DNR. Drilling will be done by Technical Drilling Services, Inc. of Traverse City and is expected to take about two weeks to complete.

The TCE investigation is being coordinated by the DNR and conducted by Ecology and Environment, Inc., a consultant to the EPA.

For city residents concerned about TCE in their water, Levengood reports that boiling city tap water appears to eliminate the chemical. In tests at his home, Levengood found that city water boiled for at least 2½ minutes had no detectable trace of TCE. Should the TCE levels continue to increase, he said, his family will probably start to boil their drinking water regularly.

Levengood also tested the effect of aerating city water but found no evidence that TCE levels are changed. In a May 17 test, Levengood used city water with 48 ppb of TCE. After aeration, the TCE level was reduced only 3 ppb to 45 ppb.

"In most other communities where TCE has been detected, other industrial chemicals have also been found," he said. "In Charlevoix, however, we have found no traces of other contaminants which does not seem logical."

One curious aspect of the extensive tests on city water, said Levengood, is the abscence of any other chemicals.

Big Rock hearing adjourned until fall

Rock health physicist Charles Axtell, Phil Loomis and Consumers Corporatwe official Roger Sinderman.

The so called "criticality" issue was another topic of review. This is concerned with the question of whether or not a spontaneous nuclear reaction (meltdown) could occur in the spent fuel pool if an accident cut off the cooling system. The intervenors contend that this situation becomes more possible with the crowding of additional spent fuel in the pool, a contention which the board of judges felt should be explored.

Among issues remaining to be reviewed at a date or dates yet to be set are: the integrity of the pool's concrete walls under intense heat and boiling water; the interaction of cladding (metal coating or casing around the fuel rods) and steam; the flight patterns of military and non-military aircraft near Big Rock; and raditation penetration of the stainless steel containment sphere in case of an accident.

Momentary alarm spread through the hearing room Friday morning when Loomis and other plant officials were called back to the plant because it had been shut down when an electrical fire broke out in the turbine generator building, the non-nuclear portion of the plant.

It was classified as an "unusual event" when it went past 10 minutes duration, which meant that NRC regional headquarters in Chicago, State officials in Lansing, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's office and Muma were alerted immediately.

The fire occurred in the generator "exciter", a divice similar to a voltage regulator in an auto, Loomis revealed. The plant will be shut down "two or three weeks" while repairs are made.

During several evening sessions citizens, not involved in the interventions, were permitted offer "limited appearance" testimony.

Among those who spoke were:

Dr. Gerald Drake, internist of Petoskey, who asked that Big Rock be decommissioned in order to protect northern Michigan in the event of nuclear war; Nan Refior of East Lansing, who make an emotional appeal to protect the environment and Lake Michigan from poisoning by radiation; Josh Barnes, President of Lexalite Corp., who testified in favor of Big Rock as an inexpensive source of power and who questioned the hearing because of the costs to the taxpayers; Tom Stewart, golf pro at Birchwood Farms who opposed the spent fuel storage expansion, and challenged the economies of the action; Joseph McDonough and Osa Livingston of Beaver Island who raised the issue of embrittlement of the reactor vessel by neutron bombardment, an issue also raised by NRC staff, and that the Great Lakes are too precious a resource to permit utilization by a nuclear power facility; Lori Brown of Traverse City, who addressed the conflict of calculations and mathematics between two experts called to testify on the criticality issue; and Charlevoix resident Joe O'Sullivan, retired Navy officer who criticized the emergency pamphlet for being "too complicated", and advocated regular drills and exercised for all persons involved in emergency planning.

In the closing minutes of the last session Saturday afternoon, Judge Bloch complimented and thanked all the participants in the hearing.

In a private discussion with the COURIER the three judges said that even if Consumers is granted permission to increase the storage of its spent fuel a year from now, the utility has already instituted safety measures and will probably have to make more, as a direct result of conerns raised by Christa Maria, Jo Ann Bier, Jim Mills and John O'Neill.

Engagements

Terri Kondziela and Thomas Keie

Kondziela-Keie

Terri Kondziela and Thomas Keie will be married on September 27 at St. Mary's Church in Charlevoix.

The bride-to-be, who formerly lived in Petoskey, now resides in Santa Barbara, Calif., where she is employed as a Registered Nurse at Cottage Hospital.

The intended bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Keie of Charlevoix, works for the Sheraton Hotel in Santa Barbara in the wintertime and for the Argonne Supper Club in Charlevoix in the summertime.

Teen Center opening in Charlevoix Gym Club

by ANNE KELLY

What would kids ages 12 to 18 like to see happening for summer weekend entertainment in Charlevoix?

Dancing?

Roller skating?

Pizza parties?

A community center for teen entertainment is being offered during the summer months at the Charlevoix Gym Club on Taylord Road. The format has yet to be finalized, awaiting community input.

Tentatively, the Teen Center would offer a Friday and Saturday night place to go for dancing to rock and roll top 40 music and some live band entertainment. Target age group is the 12-19 bracket.

Jim Mitchell of the Charlevoix Gym Club had these comments regarding the purpose of the center.

"I see kids hanging out downtown. Maybe they're looking for a place to be. What we're offering is a place where they can have a good time and enjoy the music they like."

Parents who are wondering about supervision are assured that Mitchell has set high standards for the Teen Center.

"Parents can feel comfortable knowing that it will be a good clean place to take their kids," Mitchell remarked. They can drop their kids off and know that there's not going to be any smoking, drinking or rowdiness allowed on the premises."

Rules of the club call for a dress code, no drugs or alcohol on the grounds or in the facility, security checks at the door and in the parking lot, and no gang gatherings. "Any of the above conditions not observed results in removal from the grounds by local authorities."

Mitchell foresees his building being used as a family-oriented community center, with weight room, saunas and pool as projections for future development. For now, he is asking for community participation in deciding on an appropriate summer weekend program for their teenagers.

Possibilities include: roller skating, dances, dance instruction, availability of the facility for rentals for birthday parties, talent shows, running clubs, bike trips.

A Kick-off dance will be held Friday, June 18 and feature local musician Sean McClelland and his group "Aurora Borealis". Time is 8-11; $2.00 per person.

Interested Middle and High school students who are looking for a place to meet new friends and to hear some good music are invited to attend.

Interested parents are asked to stop by and check it out.

County residents attend MSU College Week

Four days of college life — classes, dorm rooms, new friends and extracurricular events — are in store for Agnes Clark, Louise Hart, Muriel Zulek, Leanna Hardy, Norma LaRosa, and Jane Wolf from Charlevoix County June 21-24.

They will join more than 1,300 others at College Week at Michigan State University, says Sheri Rhoads Charlevoix County Extension Home Economist. "The program is designed to be an informal learning experience in a university setting," says Rhoads.

Participants can choose from more than 60 classes offered through the week. The classes cover a variety of topics - nutrition, exercise and weight loss, self-development, relationships with family members, financial planning, coping with inflation and community involvement.

Many of the sessions are designed for reteaching, Rhoads adds, and allows College Week participants to share what they've learned with their communities.

Local Bar Assoc. names officers

The Emmet-Charlevoix Bar Association elected officers for the coming year at its recent annual meeting. They are:

William McTaggart of Boyne City, president; Michael Aho of Petoskey, vice-president; John Rohe of Petoskey, treasurer; and Jeffery Van Treese of Charlevoix, secretary.

McTaggart succeeds Edward Waud of Petoskey as president.

Special guest at the Association's meeting was the president of the Michigan Bar Association.

Voters to decide fate of county buses

by PEG OHLE

The fate of the Charlevoix County Transit System will be sealed on August 10 when voters will have an opportunity to approve or reject a .29-mill levy for three years to subsize the system during 1983, 1984, and 1985.

The System, which began operation in the summer of 1980 fully State funded, has been plagued with financial problems from the beginning. It has been poorly received by the general public (patronized by slightly more than six percent of County residents), and used mainly by senior citizens, adult training centers, workshops (including the Bergmann Center, and Head Start students.

During 1981, the System provided a total of 79,615 rides and collected $38,878.63 in fares, or an average of 48.83 cents per ride. During the same year, total operating costs of the System were $267,107.83, or an average of over $3.35 per ride. The deficit of $2.87 per ride was picked up and paid by the State from gasoline tax funds and license plate fees.

The State's 100 percent subsidy of the Transit System ends on July 31. At that time, Charlevoix County must begin to provide 25 percent of the cost of operation (minus fare collections). To that end, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners voted in March to transfer $8,500 from the general fund to the Transit fund to keep the System operating until December 31 of this year. It was further decided at that time that any future County funding would have to come from voted millage.

The necessity of voted millage is further indicated by the fact that at the end of July, 1983, State funding will be cut another 25 percent, making the County responsible for 50 percent of operating costs.

Based on the 1982 County assessed valuation of $367,664,949, the .29-mill levy would bring in $106,622.83 next year. If County valuation increases the following two years, so would income from the levy.

The Charlevoix County Transit System consists of eight buses, four of them with lifts for handicapped persons. Each day, buses are reserved in Charlevoix, East Jordan, and Boyne City from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. to take senior citizens to and from the meals provided by the Commission on Aging. Buses are also used to deliver bulk food and meals to home-bound persons.

While a few factory workers, business people, and government employees use the Transit System for transportation to and from their places of employment, the largest group of riders are those mentioned above who need special facilities. Before the County Transit System was set up, State and Federal agencies provided other means of transportation for these persons. Bergmann Center had its own buses, as did the County Commission on Aging.

Last March, in a count of file cards of persons using the Transit System, the Courier found that there had been only 1,671 individual riders since the start of operations in July, 1980. This included persons who had ridden a bus only once or twice, as well as many persons who have since died or moved from the area. On that same day, a bus driver turned in a report indicating he had carried 34 passengers in his eight hours of work. Sixteen passengers made local trips and 18 went outside the city or to other parts of the County. The driver drove 123 miles on his rounds.

In an effort to provide affordable transportation for the few who use the County buses, the Transit System has kept its fares at a relatively low rate. After much consideration, they were raised on April 1 on a 10 cents "across the board" basis to 60 cents for one-way trips within three miles, $1.10 for longer in-county trips, and $1.85 for trips to Petoskey. However, senior citizens and handicapped persons are charged only half fare for all trips. While this has cut the per-ride deficit a little, the System still requires substantial subsidies, as noted above.

And there is the lingering possibility that one of these days the State will not be able to pay its share of Transit System operations.

Murphy urged to plan budget on time

by PEG OHLE

In an effort to make sure the County receives its share of State Child Care Funds, the County Board of Commissioners last week asked the State Court Administrator to "encourage Probate Judge Murphy to submit Child Care Fund budgets as required by the Department of Social Services".

The request to the Court Administrator was sent after the Commissioners received a copy of a letter sent by the State Department of Social Services to Judge Murphy reminding him that his Child Care budget for next year was due in their offices by September 1.

The letter further noted that "Emmet and Charlevoix counties have a very poor track record in getting the Child Care Fund plans completed and submitted in a timely fashion. The Plan for this year, 1981-1982, was seven months late and last year's Plan, for 1980-1981, was six months late."

The Social Services Department correspondent also stated that, "I am sure that you are aware that both counties run the risk of none or limited re-imbursement for expenditures made prior to an approved plan and budget being on file."

It was this latter statement that alarmed the Charlevoix County Commissioners. They wrote the State Court Administrator: "This Board is deeply concerned that failure to timely submit a Child Care Fund plan will result in cutting monies urgently needed by this County for the welfare of its citizens."

A copy of the Charlevoix Commissioners' letter was sent to the Emmet County Board of Commissioners, whose Child Care Funds Judge Murphy also administers.

Area persons who work with new parents are invited to order quantities for distribution at their discretion.

For more information and to sign up, call Sheri Rhoads, Extension Home Economist, or write the Charlevoix County Cooperative Extension Service, 319 B Lake St., Boyne City, MI 49712 by June 30.

City band practices set

Charlevoix City Band rehearsals will be held at the high school band room from 7:30 to 9 p.m. every Monday night Terry Isenbarger, director of the band, has announced.

The band is preparing for weekly concerts in East Park during the summer months.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mr. Isenbarger.

Tag Day set

Easter Seal Tag Day in Charlevoix County has been scheduled for next weekend, Friday and Saturday, June 18 and 19, Mrs. Harvey C. Varnum, county chairman, has announced.

Funds derived from the sale will be used to support the loan closet which offers numerous sick room supplies for use by county residents.

"We have found a permanent place to store these supplies which include an electrically operated hospital bed, wheelchairs, commodes as well as crutches, walker and items that may be of use to someone who has been ill or injured. There are certain expenses with insurance as well as replacing items so there is a great need to replenish the small amount of funds we have on hand", Mrs. Varnum explained.

She went on to say that the Tag Day will be the first Easter Seal fund-raising project in the county since 1980. "We hope everyone will support our Tag Day."

Rayders fall to Sanford-Meridian

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball team concluded its season Saturday at Midland where the team lost to Sanford-Meridian by a score of 5-1 in the first game of the Class C Regional tournament.

The Sanford-Meridian nine then went on to win the regional tournament after defeating Mayville 13-1 in the finals. Mayville had won over Saginaw Carrolton to advance to the finals in the tournament.

Sanford-Meridian will play in the state tournament next Saturday.

Kurt Puffpaff started on the mound for the Rayders and was relieved in the fourth by Mike Loper. the pair allowed four hits. Walters gave up three to Charlevoix.

Sanford-Meridian took advantage of the Rayders wildness in the early innings to score in the first inning on a walk, a stolen base and a hit by Garner. The team scored two more runs in the second inning on three walks, a sacrifice fly and a pass ball, making the score 3-0 going into the third inning when Slaugher got on base on an error, stole second and scored on a fielder's choice. Walters topped off the scoring with a home run on the first pitch on the fourth inning.

Charlevoix scored in the sixth when Scott Kelly got on with a walk, advanced to second on a grounder and then scored on Jon Supernaw's single. Jeff Greene had a single but got no farther than first base.

Coach Pete Spieles said "We had a good season. In fact, we had a good game Saturday. The boys played well but Sanford-Meridian took advantage of the wildness in the early innings. That's when they did their scoring."

The team ended the season with a 22 win - 10 loss record.

The game was the last for seven players, all starters, Loper, Puffpaff, Greene, Kelly, Gary Drury, Ken Spiegl, and Jim Buchanan.

Reed City eliminates girls 7-5

The Charlevoix Rayder softball team lost its opening game in the Class C regional tournament at Clare Saturday by a score of 7-5.

Coach Mary Lieberman had only praise for her players, a young squad with only two seniors, who found themselves starting the tournament against one of the strongest teams in the state without their regular center fielder, Angie McClanaghan. Coach Lieberman said that Amy Sell, who had never practiced in that position, was her only substitute. "Amy did an excellent job under very difficult circumstances. It rained all through the game and the outfield was slippery which made it doubly hard for her in an unfamiliar position."

"Added to that, we have only two seniors, Holly Taber and Colleen LaBlance. No one expected us to get this far. It was hard work and dedication by all the players that took us to the regionals. I'm very proud of them all." Coach Lieberman has shown her coaching ability all season, coming through with a 19-4 season with a group of young players.

In Saturday's game Rhonda Buchanan who was on the mound for Charlevoix allowed 12 hits. Chris Simon gave up seven for Reed City, rated as one of the top teams in the state.

Charlevoix scored first in the game when LaBlance scored on a double by Bridget Noirot, Reed City scored in the second with Flinton and Hall collecting singles and then scoring on a double by Bloomberg.

Meg Fowler and Buchanan walked to open the third inning. LaBlance then loaded the bases with a single. All three then scored on a single by Taber and an error.

Golvidis hit a triple for Reed City and then scored on a single by Winth who went over the plate on a single by Flinton in the fourth inning.

In the fifth inning, Taber hit a triple and then scored on a single by Sue Reginia to put Charlevoix ahead 5-4.

Three runs by Reed City in the sixth inning put the game out of reach of the Charlevoixans.

"Rhonda pitched an excellent game; the girls played well but the experience of the Reed City team and the youthfulness of ours made the difference," Coach Lieberman added.

Reed City went on to win the tournament and will play in the state finals in Mt. Pleasant Saturday.

Merchants team plans practices

A practice time for the Charlevoix Merchants Baseball team, one of the seven teams in the Northern Michigan Baseball League, has been called by the coach, Pete Spieles, for 4 p.m. Wednesday at the Senior League Field on Grant Street.

Anyone interested in playing with the team is asked to attend the practice. If that is not possible, they are asked to call Mr. Spieles at 547-2398 to relay their intentions.

The team will play its first game against the Petoskey Old-timers at the Grant Street Park at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Other teams in the league are Gaylord, Manistee, Traverse City, Pleasant Valley, and the Petoskey Royals.

Local soccer association is formed

The Charlevoix Area Soccer Association became official Thursday (June 10) when, at a meeting of interested parents and soccer supporters, a constitution was adopted and board of directors elected.

The association, the purpose of which is to promote soccer programs for young people and adults, will coordinate its activities with the Charlevoix County Youth Activities Department, which has been promoting soccer in the area for the past several years.

Elected as Chairman was Dale Glass, Mike Bonar was elected Vice Chairman, Sue Balmer Secretary, Marilyn Friedly Treasurer, and Bruce Livingston and Carl Miller Trustees.

It was also announced at the meeting that a soccer clinic directed by Canadian soccer coaches, for interested young players, ages 15 and under, will be held July 6 through 10. The clinic will run from 8 a.m. to 12 noon daily. A fee of $25.00 per participant will be charged. It is hoped that some scholarships will be available for soccer players for whome the fee is a hardship.

The soccer association, working with Charlevoix County Youth Activities Coordinator Mike Davis, is in the process of forming teams from among the young people who signed up in late May and this week. The teams will be grouped by ages: 7 and under, 9 and under, 12 and under and 15 and under. It is hoped that practices will commence the week of July 26 and the first matches will be held the week of August 9.

At Thursday night's meeting, it was also agreed that a bank account will be opened in the name of the Charlevoix Area Soccer Association (CASA) to accept donations to help the soccer association acquire needed equipment.

Planning a trip to the Worlds Fair? Here's the lowdown from a survivor

by ANNE KELLY

If we were the type of people who were discouraged by unfavorable reports we would probably not have gone to the World's Fair. But, by the same token, we would probably not have had five children. Disregarding bad press coverage wasn't easy. Apparently we could expect anything from being short sheeted to meeting up with Fagan-type pick-pocket operations. There were to be long lines, disappointing displays, dwindling attendance and swindlers of every sort out to get us. But our family, eight strong with grandma thrown in for good measure, decided that a World's Fair just doesn't happen every day. We planned our trip to Hilton Head, South Carolina to include two days in Knoxville for the Fair.

Now, when people ask, "How was the Fair?" or "Is it true what they say about the Fair?" I have to answer to the tune of an old nursery school ditty I once learned: "That's about the size, where you put your eyes, that's about the size of it..." Because we saw the World's Fair from Noah's Ark, an over-stuffed station wagon filled with optimistic vacationers anxious to make the most of the experience. And where we put our eyes might well be different from where you would put yours.

Our first encounted with southern hospitality came about three miles outside the city where we had stopped to pick up the key to the home we had rented through a real estate rental agency in Knoxville. Noah's Ark popped a plank in the parking lot. The main radiator hose burst as if to celebrate our arrival. It was 7:00 P.M. on a Sunday night in Knoxville. There were no gas stations or garages able to accomodate us until Monday morning. A young man who had stopped in to check his house rental, overheard our predicament as we sat wringing our 16 hands hoping for a better solution than a night in the parking lot.

He graciously offered his assistance, took Rich to an auto parts store, and helped him install the hose. He gave up at least an hour and a half of his time to help us and wouldn't take a penny. Thank you to Kent Rowland of Knoxville for being a Good Samaritan.

Apprehensively we faced the reality of our housing accomodations. The gentleman who had helped us was renting his home for $220 per night. Our rental was going for a modest $70. We had decided that for the amount of time we would spend in a house, all we needed was a suitable place to lay ourselves down for two nights. Now, hot and exhausted, we faced the possibility of having rented a "pit".

One misconception about Fair accomodations proved to be that everything within a 30-mile radius is booked solid. There were vacancy signs at more than one motel in the vicinity. One couple we met at the rental agency said that they had been placed in Gatlinburg. When they arrived, the man from whom they were renting wondered why they would ever want to stay so far away. They did too.

Another misconception is that you have to pay top dollar to be comfortable. Granted it wasn't the Hyatt Regency but our little house was a delightful little 2-bedroom bungalow about 7 miles from the Fair which, equipped with couch and cots, slept all eight of us comfortably. There were freshly painted walls, varnished hard-wood floors, a fully equipped kitchen, T.V. and air conditioning. We were only the third guests registered in the guest book. It was an efficiency facility which suited our needs perfectly. We later learned that the owner had moved the house there for the purpose of Fair rentals and was planning to sell it in October. He stopped by before we left to make sure everything had been satisfactory for us.

But the Fair, what of the Fair?

The World's Fair is not like Disney World, where despite the crowds the grounds are meticulously well-kept and pleasant. Also unlike Disney World, the Fair is not the place for small children. The only reward for waiting more than an hour in the hot sun is the relief of an air-conditioned pavillion with displays they will not necessarily understand or appreciate. But if you are a family with both younger and older children, it is possible to enjoy yourself despite the odds.

Our older children were fascinated by many of the exhibits. I think they really got the feeling that we are part of a greater world and that this world is concerned about energy and what to do about it in the future. "Energy Turns the World" is the theme of the Fair. I think that it comes across. We definitely felt a joining of hands to solve a common problem among the countries we visited.

Another feeling is one of pride for the U.S.A. Our pavillion is six stories high, and resembles part of a pyramid. Its air-conditioning and hot-water system are powered by solar energy. Outside, the Young Ambassadors put on several shows a day in an outdoor theater, and inside, at the end of scanning all the displays, a final reward is a fantastic movie on energy and its progress in America over the years viewed on a screen the entire width of the theater.

We visited as many pavillions as we could cram into a 10 A.M. to 10 P.M. day: Australia, Hungary (for the Rubik's Cube), France (treasures from the Louvre), Japan, Germany and finally China.

China is the only country that did not keep with the theme of the Fair. Their pavillion while magnificent with beautiful artifacts: furniture, carvings, rugs, paintings and even some bricks from the Great Wall, was not air-conditioned and had no public restrooms. It made us think a lot about the quality of life we live, where what we make and do is not nearly as important as what we are.

The price of food was not exhorbitant. We settled for Appalachian burgers, oriental chicken and rice and Hagen-Daas cones. We couldn't convince the children that they would enjoy rabbit in the Hungarian pavillion where we had been tempted to take a table.

We were not accosted, our pockets were not picked, and the only swindling that went on went on in the souvenir shops. If you've been to Mackinaw City, you've seen worse.

Here are a few suggestions from a family who, as some T-shirts in one of the gift shops put it: "survived the World's Fair!"

We planned identifications tags on our younger kids and gave the older ones the address of the home where we were staying in Knoxville. It made us feel better in all the crowds.

Strollers rent for $3.00 per day but they don't have sun-awnings. We wished we had brought ours.

Things we did bring and were glad to have: bandaids; wet-ones; sun-tan lotion; Charlevoix visors (It was hot and sunny in long lines); a thermos cooler of lemonade and paper cups; sandwiches for the ones who couldn't wait for lunch; shoes not sandals(the pavement was hot).

Rides are very expensive and who goes to a World's Fair for a carnival?

Be prepared to spend a goodly sum on junk; the souvenirs the kids pick out are important to them so you have to bite your tongue and pay up.

The shows along the way really get you in the spirit of the Fair. We saw the Young Ambassadors, the taping of a live T.V. show from the Fair, the movie on energy at the U.S. pavillion and some country western dancing.

Most Importantly, don't get discouraged by the lines. Start at the smaller countries where the lines aren't so long or at the U.S.A. pavillion where, when they are long, circulate up through the building out of the heat. Then save China and some of the other more popular ones for after 5:00 P.M. when crowds are smaller (tour buses leave at 5:00).

The Mt. McSauba lodge is taking shape.

Ski lodge expansion to be ready for day camp

The expansion and renovation of the Lodge at Mt. McSauba is nearing completion in readiness for use by the Mt. McSauba Day Camp Dwight Boss, city recreation director, has announced.

The structure, originally 20 x 36 feet in size, was constructed in 1956 as a ski lodge. However, it now serves a dual purpose, as a home base for the day camp in summer and as a ski lodge in winter.

Because of the increased use of the ski hill and its use as a base for the day camp, it is being more than doubled in size from 720 sq. feet to 1520 sq. feet.

During the ski season it will be heated by a wood stove with the fuel being obtained on the property during the hours it is open and by natural gas during the night hours. A new garage has replaced the former structure and will be used to house the equipment used on the ski hill during the winter months.

The project is being financed by a $4,000 appropriation from the city with the recreation department supplying matching funds which are presently being raised through the sale of tickets with a host of prizes being offered. Tickets are available from Jack Gebott who operated the day camp for the recreation department.

County Board sets up funding for rainy day

Charlevoix County is preparing for a rainy day.

Last week, the County Board of Commissioners adopted an ordinance, known officially as a "Budget Stabilization Fund Ordinance", which will make it possible for the County to put into a special fund any monies left over from the general fund at the end of a fiscal year.

This money would then be available for a possible rainy day – when there might be a deficit in the general fund, when there isn't enough money to provide necessary public services, when tax collections are slow, or in the event of a natural disaster.

Annual appropriations to the Budget Stabilization Fund will be limited to 15 percent of the County's general fund budget. The money in the fund may be invested as provided by law, with earnings of the fund to be returned to the County's general fund. The money in the Stabilization Fund may not be used for capital improvement projects.

After approval by the State, publication in a local newspaper, and a public hearing on August 11, the Budget Stabilization Fund Ordinance will become effective December 31, 1982.

Survey to rate area shelter capacity

Starting June 14 a team of architects, engineers and engineering students will be in Charlevoix County for about a month analyzing buildings for their ability to protect people from various hazards including nuclear fallout.

The project will be coordinated by the Michigan Division of Emergency Services and the Charlevoix County Emergency Services Office.

According to county Emergency Services Director Earl Muma, the team will spend about a month in Charlevoix County inspecting various buildings and rating their adequacy as emergency shelters.

The information collected will then be fed into a computer and eventually incorporated into both the state's and the county's emergency planning documents.

Consisting of about 16 people, the survey team will include a field supervisor, bis assistants and up to 16 cooperative education and summer hire students. The supervisor and the summer hire students are employed by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Region V office in Battle Creek. The cooperative education students are employed by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The local team leader will be Fred Lee.

All team members will be wearing identification badges and will have credentials from both FEMA and the local emergency services office.

This project fits into a continuing FEMA effort to survey structures in the United States to find out how much fallout protection exists. Buildings in all communities are being surveyed to find out which ones have potential as congregate care facilities or upgradable fallout shelters.

Other Northern Michigan counties to be surveyed this summer include Emmet, Alpena, Cheboygan, Montmorency, Oscoda, Otsego and Presque Isle. The entire survey of the eight counties is scheduled to be completed by August, 1982.

McGoff buys Finn property; plans rail service to Petoskey

by TOM DAMMANN

John P. McGoff, publisher of several newspapers in the Detroit area, has extended his resort and entertainment operations, here, by purchasing 2.2 acres of harbor front land on Round Lake.

The land includes the dock which has been used for the past year to berth his dinner-cruise boat The Bay Queen. Formerly owned by Paul L. and Marie Osterberg, the land is the site of the Finn Lumber Co. owned and operated by Osterberg.

In includes 490 feet fronting Round Lake and the Pine River Channel running into Lake Michigan, immediately next to the north end of the U.S. Highway 31 bridge. Almost half of the frontage is taken up by the dock, the immediate reason for McGoff's purchase of the property, which he had leased with an option to buy last year.

Neither McGoff nor Osterberg would disclose the purchase price, but according to City Assessor's office personnel, the land and lumber company buildings have an assessed cash value of $380,000.

In a telephone interview at his Global Communications, Inc. office in Williamston, McGoff said that under terms of the purchase agreement, Osterberg must vacate the premises within 60 days. He said that at this point, though he hopes to build on the land, he has no definite plans.

"I would like to put up something that will be of use to the community, a convention center, perhaps," he said.

The property is now owned by Waters Edge Corporation, of which McGoff is chairman. Waters Edge owns a beach front resort on Lake Charlevoix as well as Beaver Island Transit Co. of which McGoff is also chairman. It in turn owns the two motor vessels, Beaver Islander and South Shore, and the Bay Queen.

The two companies are owned by Global Communications Corp. which is owned solely by McGoff and is principally involved in the wholesale travel business.

In the interview McGoff further revealed that he has made arrangements with Michigan Northern Railroad to haul a three car passenger train, called "The Bay Shore Express" between Charlevoix and Petoskey on four round trips daily on Saturday and Sunday for 10 weekends this summer, commencing July 3.

The train is scheduled to coincide with the luncheon and dinner cruises of the Bay Queen.

"Passengers intending to go on the Bay Queen will be picked up by our bus at the station, taken to the dock and returned to the station at the end of the cruise," McGoff said. The bus, reminscent of a San Francisco cable car, is a trolley mounted on truck chassis.

The train consists of three air conditioned passenger cars leased from Southeast Michigan Transit Authority (SEMTA). Round trip tickets for the train ride are $10 per adult and $5 per child.

Obituaries

JOHN R. MOSORYAK

Funeral services for John R. Mosoryak, 61, who died June 7 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held Friday at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The Rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home Thursday evening.

Born in Czechoslovakia June 3, 1921, Mr. Mosoryak came to the United States with his parents in 1928 and lived in Johnstown, Pa. He served in the U.S. Army from 1942 until 1946 during World War II. He moved to Detroit in 1946 and was employed by the Western Electric Co. On May 17, 1947 he married the former Mary Bereznay in Detroit where they lived until coming to Ironton in 1968 when they purchased and operated the Al-Ray Cottages. He retired from Western Electric in June 1981.

He was a member of St. Mary's Church here and before coming to Charlevoix was a member of St. Stephen Byzantine Church in Allen Park; Robert Jones Council of the Knights of Columbus in Lincoln Park and the Father Pierre Charlevoix Council of the Knights of Columbus in Charlevoix; Northwest American Legion Post in Detroit and the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 228, American Legion in Charlevoix, the Great Lakes Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America and a former member of the Board of Directors of Bergmann Center.

He is survived by his wife; a son, John K. (Jay) of Charlevoix; three daughters, Mrs. Chris (Marian) DeNio, Kathy and Barb Mosoryak, all of Charlevoix; four grandchildren; three brothers, Joe, Steve and Nick, all of Johnstown, Pa. and three sisters, Mrs. Lee (Anna) Harshburger of Harrisburg, Pa., Mrs. Marie Hitchner and Mrs. Jack (Jeanie) Rugenus, both of Bridgeton, N.J.

The family suggests memorials to the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild.

CARDS OF THANKS 072

I WISH to thank all the good people and friends for their thoughts, cards and prayers during my stay at Charlevoix Area Hospital and Rev Gerald Blevins. I especially want to thank the East Jordan Ambulance crew, Dr. Lindsay for riding in the ambulance, the nurses and Dr. Friedlinger for the great care they gave me. My family and I will be forever grateful. Russell Dietrick.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX COUNCIL MINUTES

June 7, 1982
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Staley presiding.

Present: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Absent: Councilman Morris

The minutes of the May 24, 1982 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

A Public Hearing was held regarding a proposed permanent amendment to the City's "Elimination of Blight" Ordinance which would amend the enforcement authority in the Ordinance.

The following Ordinance was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Block and supported by Councilman Wood.

(See Ordinance No. 401 published elsewhere in this edition of the Courier.)

Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris

Council adjourned to the Board of Appeals.

Following the Board of Appeals meeting, roll call of the Council was again taken with all members except Councilman Morris present.

The City Manager recapped the request for rezoning of the Wayside Motel property. Oscar Stroud, owner of the property, asked Council for an immediate vote on the request to have the property rezoned from R-1 to C-1 and voiced an objection to Council's delay in acting on this matter. The City Attorney advised Council that the neighboring property owners should be notified if the matter is to be brought off the table as they had previously been advised that no action would be taken pending adoption of the development regulations for that section of the City as to be included in the City Master Plan.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Block to reconsider and act on the matter of the proposed Wayside Motel rezoning at the next regular Council meeting scheduled for June 21, 1982.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Oscar Stroud stated that he will be representing his own interest in the Rezoning matter and will no longer be represented by Gregory Bryan, Jr., applicant for the rezoning and rental manager of the property.

Mike Reinhert representing the C.W.A. City union employees, asked that workers in the Electric, Water, and Sewer Departments be allowed to discontinue the practice of taking one day per month off without pay. He stated that these employees had initially agreed to the day off in order to help correct a deficit in the General Fund but had since found out that the wages saved cannot be transferred to the General Fund. The City Manager explained that it is illegal to transfer from the utility funds to the General Fund. Mr. Reinhert stated that the employees had also volunteered for a day off without pay in order to save the jobs of men in the Street Department who would otherwise have been laid off. He also stated that the day off will now be a violation to the union contract as it will no longer be on a voluntary basis and that a union grievance will most likely be filed. Council generally agreed to discuss the matter further at the next regular Committee of the Whole meeting.

Council briefly discussed filling the vacancy on the Council created by the illness of Councilman Morris. The City Attorney explained the legal aspects of the matter. Council generally agreed to discuss the matter further at the next regular Committee of the Whole meeting and to place the matter on the June 21, 1982 regular Council meeting agenda.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Wood to approve a one year contract with Robert Potter for assessment services at annual salary of $9,452.00.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Wood to accept the bid submitted by McCaleb, Inc. for coats, boots, and air packs for the Fire Department at a total cost of $6,190.08.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris

The following Resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Block.

RESOLUTION 82-6-1

RESOLVED, that the City Manager is hereby authorized to make application to the Michigan Department of State Highways & Transportation on behalf of the City of Charlevoix in the county of Charlevoix, Michigan for the necessary permit(s) to construct a storm sewer at US-31 and Prospect St. and US-31 at Antrim St. within the right of way of State Truck Line US-31, and that the City of Charlevoix in the county of Charlevoix, Michigan will faithfully fulfill all permit requirements, and will indemnify and save harmless all persons from claims of every kind arising out of operations authorized by such permit(s) as is (are) issued.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Block to amend the April 18, 1982 award for construction work at the Municipal Airport by Manthei Construction Co. to specify that the bid be awarded at the unit prices specified for material in the Manthei bid rather than a lump sum amount; and furthermore, that the bids awarded for extension of Runway 8-26 at the Municipal Airport on April 16, 1982 be amended to include design and construction of a taxiway and turnaround and the amounts changed as follows:

	Original	Additions	Now
Design	$10,435.00	$1,275.00	$11,710.00
Construction	*79,024.34	*16,284.55	*95,308.89
Construction Engineering	9,124.00	1,575.00	10,699.00
TOTAL	$98,583.34	$19,134.55	$117,717.89

*Estimate Only; Actual Cost Based on Unit Bid Prices and Quantities Used During Construction

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilmen Morris.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to authorize a Fly-In at the Municipal Airport on August 15, 1982 as requested by the Charlevoix Flying Club and the Charlevoix Soaring Club and that the clubs be granted a waiver of landing fees on that date.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilmen Morris

The City Manager reported briefly on the status of the following matters.

1. Planning Consultant, Ron Nino, will meet with the City Planning Commission at 5:30 P.M. on June 9, 1982 to review draft site plans for certain water front areas and downtown.

2. The City has been notified that a complaint filed by Teamsters Local 129 alleging an Unfair Labor Practice by the City was decided in the City's favor.

3. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will begin test well drilling and an analysis of City water on June 14, 1982.

4. Tax Tribunal proceedings have commenced regarding the Harbor Club tax appeal.

5. Gravelled streets and alleys in the City received a chloride application for dust control on June 7, 1982.

6. The D.N.R.'s ordered closure of the City's brush landfill under Act 641 appears unenforceable as a Delta Co. Court has ruled that the State has not provided the funding to meet the law's requirements as provided in the Headlee Amendment.

7. The City has been provided with six Workfare people from the Department of Social Services who will be assigned to work with City employees but will not replace any union employees or be used to reduce the work hours of any City employee.

8. A sailboarding school will be operating adjacent to Ferry Avenue Beach during the Summer months.

9. The owners of the Bay Queen will operate a passenger rail service between Charlevoix and Petoskey this summer. No City permits or licenses are required for the operation.

The Council having examined bills totaling $61,251.46 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Porter that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amount.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Council adjourned.

Deanne Balch, City Clerk
Kenneth A. Staley, Mayor

BOARD OF APPEALS

June 7, 1982

The Board of Appeals convened with Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood, present. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Bruce McArthur represented F.W. Van Duyne regarding Mr. Van Duyne's request for a variance to allow construction of a deck at 403 Michigan Avenue. Connie Pointner, an adjoining property owner, spoke in opposition to the variance. June Cross, a member of the City Planning Commission, stated that the Commission had been unaware of Mrs. Pointner's opposition to the variance at the time of their vote to recommend approval to the Council. It was also pointed out that the deck plan had been revised subsequent to approval by the Planning Commission.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Block to return the F.W. Van Duyne variance request to the City Planning Commission for further study and recommendation.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The Board discussed a request for front and side yard variances as requested by Douglas Winnell of 101 East Hurlbut Street to allow erection of a fence. Neighboring property owners present generally spoke in favor of the request being granted due to the unique properties of the small yard. June Cross, City Planning Commission member, stated that the fence was being erected for privacy and as a play area for a small child. It was pointed out that the fence is presently in place and had been partially erected prior to any variance application.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Porter to approve two variances as requested by Douglas Winnell of 101 East Hurlbut Street to reduce the required front yard setback at his home from 25 ft. to 9 ft. and the side yard setback from 10 ft. to 4 ft. to allow construction of a fence.

Motion was denied by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilwoman Roloff. Nays: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, and Wood. Absent: Councilman Morris.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to approve a sign variance as requested by Anthony Kleiber of Tony's Tackle Shop, located in the rear of the Wharfside Market Building, increasing the number of allowable accessory signs from one to two with the second sign to be located on the rear of the building facing Round Lake, said variance being granted due to the hardship and practical difficulty resulting from the obscure location of the business.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The Board discussed two sign variance requests as submitted by Tom LeVanway of the Pro Spot, Inc. to increase the number of allowable accessory signs from one to three and to increase the maximum size of one of the signs from 8 sq. ft. to 12 sq. ft. The City Manager stated that the three signs are located on an awning, one on the front of the awning and smaller signs at each end of the awning, and that the City Planning Commission had not addressed the smaller signs prior to their recommendation for approval. Mr. LeVanway stated that he was unaware of the sign requirements at the time the awning was purchased and that immediate replacement of the awning would be impossible due to financial considerations.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms to approve one sign variance, as requested by Tom LeVanway of the Pro Spot, Inc. to increase the maximum allowable size of the sign on the front of his awning from 8 sq. ft. to 12 sq. ft. and to classify the signs on each end of the awning as directional signs which would meet City Code requirements.

Motion was denied by the following yea and nay vote for lack of four concurring yea votes.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, and Roloff. Nays: Councilmembers Block and Wood. Absent: Councilmen Morris.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to approve one sign variance, as requested by Tom LeVanway of the Pro Spot, Inc. increasing the maximum allowable size on the front of his awning from 8 sq. ft. to 12 sq. ft.; and, that the City Manager be directed not to enforce the removal of the signs at each end of the awning until December 31, 1982.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Councilmen Morris.

The Board of Appeals adjourned.

Kenneth A. Staley, Mayor

Names In The News

West Shore Community College in Scottville recently announced the names of students who achieved High Honors and Honors status on the Dean's List for the 1981-82 Spring Semester.

A student from Charlevoix County was accorded Honors on the WSCC Dean's List, BRIAN L. GOSS, who is in the Diesel-Heavy Equipment Repair program.

GILBERT NOIROT, a junior majoring in pre-med, and INGRID WEIMER, a freshman, both of Charlevoix were among 205 Adrian College students named to the Dean's List for the 1981-82 spring semester. To achieve the honor, a student must maintain a 3.50 grade point average (4.00-A) on the basis of at least 12 credit hours.

DOUG GRUSE, grandson of Millie and Bob Withers, Stover Road, was valedictorian for the graduating class at Hammond, La., Junior High School this spring.

In addition, he received plaques for the principal's award for academic excellence and for outstanding services in the production of the school newspaper, for which he served as editor-in-chief. He also was presented the Daughters of the American Revolution's good citizenship medal and pin and five trophies for top achievement in science, English, reading, social studies and music. Doug also served as vice president of the eighth grade's student council and Beta Club honor society.

Doug's oldest brother, RICHARD, a junior this past school year, was awrded a letter for cross country competition and served on the student council at Hammond High School. Rich also has been selected to serve as one of 160 delegates at the Louisiana Boys State activities this August at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge.

Their brother TIM, who just completed his freshman year, is a member of the Hammond High stage and marching bands.

Doug and Tim are visiting here with their grandparents for the summer. Their great grandmother is Zelma Withers, the owner of the Mont's Restaurant building downtown.

The Gruse boys are the sons of the former Monte Marie Withers of Charlevoix and Dennis Gruse. Their mother is an x-ray technician working in Baton Rouge. Their father is managing editor of the Hammond Daily Star.

CHRISTOPHER (Kip) CODY CINNAMON, of Charlevoix, son of the late Mrs. Sandra M. Cinnamon, graduated from Williams College with a degree of Bachelor of Arts at the 193rd Commencement exercise on Sunday, May 30. Dr. Lewis Thomas, head of the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, was the Commencement speaker.

Cinnamon graduated with highest honors in Sociology. As his thesis he spent this last year developing a study of clerical workers in a Sacramento law firm (which has grown rapidly) and the effects of that growth on those employees. His other activities included Varsity Football (three years) and writing for The Record, a student newspaper.

Leah Green, above, Charlevoix County 4-H program assistant, received one of seven Achievement Awards presented May 11 during Spring 4-H Conference at Kettunen Center, the state's 4-H leadership training facility in Tustin.

The award, presented by the Michigan Association of Extension 4-H Youth Staff, recognizes staff members with less than two years of service to the 4-H program for their outstanding contributions.

Green has been responsible for a 46 percent increase in 4-H club enrollment and a 76 percent increase in the number of youths and adults participating in Charlevoix County 4-H activities and events.

She has also initiated a number of new 4-H projects and activities, including a camping program on Beaver Island for Charlevoix and Emmet County 4-H'ers, a babysitting clinic, 4-H day camp programs and a Japanese quail (Coturnix) program with local schools.

Green also worked extensively with the Charlevoix County 4-H leaders in order to obtain financial support from the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners for the Emmet County Fair, which attracts a large number of Charlevoix County 4-H youths each year.

Official Notice

COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE, the following ordinance for the County of Charlevoix was adopted by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners at a regular meeting held Wednesday, June 9, 1982

A PUBLIC HEARING on the following ordinance will be held on Wednesday, August 11, 1982 at 2:00 p.m. in the Commissioners' Room of the County Building Annex, Charlevoix, Michigan for the purpose of receiving public opinion regarding the ordinance. Persons wishing to address the Board on the subject of this ordinance may do so at that time

BUDGET STABILIZATION FUND ORDINANCE

AN ORDINANCE CREATING A COUNTY BUDGET STABILIZATION FUND, MONEY, APPROPRIATION TO THE FUND OF GENERAL FUND SURPLUS, ADDITIONAL TAXES, MAXIMUM AMOUNT, INVESTMENT, EXCESS, APPROPRIATION OF MONEY FROM FUND, PURPOSES, DETERMINATION OF INSUFFICIENT REVENUES, CONSIDERATION, AND PROHIBITED USE OF FUND MONEY

SECTION 1. DEFINITIONS

(a) "County" means the County of Charlevoix

(b) "Board of Commissioners" means the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners

(c) "Fund" means a budget stabilization fund

SECTION 2. PURPOSE

The purpose of this Ordinance is to create a County Budget Stabilization Fund pursuant to Act 30 of the Public Acts of 1978, as amended, being MCLA 141.441 to MCLA 141.445.

SECTION 3. CREATION OF A COUNTY BUDGET STABILIZATION FUND

There is hereby created a Budget Stabilization Fund for the County of Charlevoix

SECTION 4. MONEY, APPROPRIATION TO THE FUND OF GENERAL FUND SURPLUS, ADDITIONAL TAXES, MAXIMUM AMOUNT, INVESTMENT, EXCESS

(1) Each fiscal year following 1982 the Board of Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix may appropriate by an ordinance or resolution adopted by a 2/3 vote of the members elected and serving, all or part of a surplus in the general fund resulting from an excess of revenue in comparison to expense, to the fund

(2) The County shall not impose additional taxes producing revenue in excess of that needed for its estimated budget in order to provide for money to be appropriated to the fund

(3) The amount of money in the fund shall not exceed either 15% of the County's most recent general fund budget, as originally adopted, or 15% of the average of the County's five most recent general fund budgets, as amended, whichever is less

(4) The money in the fund may be invested as provided by law with the earnings of the fund to be returned to the County's general fund

(5) If the money in the fund exceeds that permitted in subsection (3), the excess money shall be appropriated in the County's next general fund budget, but shall not be appropriated to the fund

SECTION 5. APPROPRIATION OF MONEY FROM FUND, PURPOSES, DETERMINATION OF INSUFFICIENT REVENUES, CONSIDERATION

(1) Money in the budget stabilization fund may be appropriated by an ordinance or resolution adopted by a 2/3 vote of the members elected and serving of the Board of Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix for the following purposes

(a) To cover a general fund deficit, when the County's annual audit reveals such a deficit

(b) To prevent a reduction in the level of public services or in the number of employees at any time in a fiscal year when the County's budgeted revenue is not being collected in an amount sufficient to cover budgeted expenses.

(c) To prevent a reduction in the level of public services or in the number of employees when in preparing the budget for the next fiscal year the County's estimated revenue does not appear sufficient to cover estimated expenses.

(d) To cover expenses arising because of a natural disaster, including a flood, fire or tornedo. However, if federal or state funds are received to offset the appropriations from the fund, that money shall be returned to the fund

(2) In determining whether the County's revenue is not sufficient to cover its expenses, a reduction in the amount of money received for the fiscal year from any source in comparison to the amount of money received for the previous fiscal year, including a reduction in the allocation of state tax money, shall be considered

SECTION 6. PROHIBITED USE OF FUND MONEY

Money in the budget stabilization fund shall not be appropriated for the acquisition, construction, or alteration of a facility as part of a general capital improvements program.

SECTION 7. EFFECTIVE DATE

This Ordinance shall become effective on the 31st day of December, 1982.

SECTION 8. SEVERABILITY

If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase or portion of the Ordinance is, for any reason, held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction, such portion shall be deemed a separate, distinct and independent provision and such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions hereof.

This Ordinance is adopted this 9th day of June, 1982.

CERTIFICATE

The foregoing Ordinance was adopted by the Board of Commissioners of Charlevoix County, Michigan, by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the full Board, on the 9th day of June, 1982, and was duly recorded, posted and authenticated by the Chairman of the Board and the County Clerk as provided by law.

Olach to replace Morris on City Council

by DAVE KNIGHT

Clement F. Olach, 107 E. Upright, was appointed unanimously by the City Council Monday night to complete the unexpired term of Third Ward representative Joseph Morris.

Morris was disabled by a stroke in March and is still recovering in a Traverse City hospital.

Olach, 62, is a native of Charlevoix and a graduate of Charlevoix High School. He recently retired after 30 years of service with the Western Electric Company. Olach has served on the City Planning Commission for the entire five years of its existence and has participated in several civic affairs during his lifelong residence in Charlevoix. He and his wife Patricia have two sons and three daughters, all grown.

Said Olach following the appointment vote, "I love my little town and want to see it kept nice."

Olach was one of three Third Ward residents who expressed interest in the council vacancy. others included Planning Commission Chairman Dr. David J. Strawbridge and former council member F. Earl Muma.

A contingent of Third Ward residents was on hand at Monday's council meeting to urge the appointment of Strawbridge who finished second to Morris in last November's election. Kathy Mettler presented council members with a petition supporting Strawbridge.

Council member Shirley Roloff, also of the Third Ward, reported, however, that she polled about 300 residents of the ward and that 90 percent of the people contacted backed Olach.

A consensus decision to appoint Olach was reached in substance by council members at their June 14 committee-of-the-whole meeting. He will complete the term of Morris which extends until December 31, 1983.

The issue of the Wayside Motel rezoning was finally acted upon by council Monday night when they unanimously changed the zoning classification to "M-H", motel-hotel, from "R-1", residential.

The new "M-H" designation was incorporated into the city's zoning ordinance only minutes before the Wayside vote.

Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix Township supervisor and owner of the Wayside, was on hand at the meeting to protest the property's R-1 zoning. Stroud and his grandson, Greg Bryan, had first approached the Planning Commission in January and later the council in March to seek the rezoning. The matter was subsequently brought up at six council meetings before this week's determination.

Stroud told the council, "You are forcing me to violate the law by operating a commercial business on a residentially zoned property."

Council members have balked at the rezoning in past meetings to allow neighbors wintering in the South to be on hand. Questions were also raised as to Stroud's intentions for the property, should it be rezoned "C-1", commercial as originally requested.

The "M-H" zoning enacted Monday night as an emergency ordinance was proposed by City Manager Robert Hunt as a more appropriate classification for hotels and motels in the city which to date have been included under "C-1".

Neighbors present at the meeting expressed general approval of the Wayside property's current use but many voiced opposition to a "C-1" zoning on grounds that it would allow several uses unacceptable to them.

In other action, the council sent back to the Planning Commission a development plan submitted for approval by Robert W. Schleman. Schleman proposes to move a building from the ridge above Ferry Ave. to his property on Ferry Ave. between the Ferry Avenue beach and Irish Boat Shop. The building, according to Schleman, would be used for boat storage.

Despite Schleman's strong criticism of City Manager Hunt's ten-point recommendation to reject the site plan, the council followed Hunt's suggestion and referred the matter back to the Planning Commission.

Two Dearborn men were killed Thursday afternoon when their plane crashed in a cornfield in Marion Township minutes after they had taken off from the Charlevoix Airport in fog and a rainstorm at 4:10 p.m.

They were Ronald Lee Steffes, 55, and his cousin, Richard Michael Moraniec, 48.

The wreckage of the six passenger Piper Cherokee was found by Robert Curtis, Marion Township farmer, who had gone to the northern section of his farm to check on a hayfield. He reported the accident to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department at 6:47 p.m.

The plane, headed south, had cleared a woods and fence, apparently coming in at a sharp angle, and crashed in a cornfield. The impact forced the plane to cartwheel, strewing debris over a wide area. The plane did not explode or burn on impact. Among the debris were tools and plumbing fixtures.

Steffes and Moraniec had reportedly flown to Charlevoix earlier in the day to work on swimming pools, which Steffes' company sold and installed, at the Malpeli condominium and the Hemingway Point complex across the South Arm from Ironton.

Dr. Reed Freidinger was medical examiner according to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department. Autopsies were performed at Otsego Memorial Hospital in Gaylord. The bodies were taken to the Winchester Funeral Home and later transferred to the Howe-Peterson Funeral Home in Dearborn.

Steffes was widely known in the area. He had first come to Charlevoix approximately 15 years ago, had various real estate holdings and developed and built The Dunes, a 26-unit condominium on Lake Michigan near the intersection of Michigan and Petoskey Avenues. Among his holdings was a golf driving range on M-66.

He headed three businesses headquartered in Southfield including Ron Steffes Pools, Ron Steffes General Contracting Co. and Charon Land Investment, Inc.

Funeral services were held Monday at the Dearborn Chapel of the Howe-Peterson Funeral Home.

He is survived by his wife, Charlotte; three sons, Jon, Robert and Ronnie; two daughters, Mrs. Suzanne Meldrum and Anne; four grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Arnold (Elsie) Steffes and a brother, William.

Moraniec had at one time owned a home on Mason Street where he, his wife and family had spent summer months.

Funeral services for Mr. Moraniec were held at noon Monday at Divine Child Church in Dearborn.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth; four sons, Michael, Steven, Joseph and Marc; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moraniec, Sr., and two brothers, Michael J. Jr., and William.

Beach access dispute heads for court date

by DAVE KNIGHT

Ownership of a 66-foot right-of-way extending from the west end of Division St. to Lake Michigan is to be taken up before Circuit Court Judge Martin Breighner this Friday following action filed Saturday against Charlevoix Township by Virginia Y. Abbott and Elizabeth Hodgson who own property on either side of the right-of-way.

The right-of-way leading to the beach has been used for many years by area residents. However, the Abbott and Hodgson families claimed in a May 25 letter from John S. Abbott to the township supervisors that they each rightfully own 33 feet of the right-of-way and intend to close it to the public.

At issue is an 1899 quit claim deed filed by Bessie W. Pattengill dedicating the right-of-way to the township. Abbott, a former practicing attorney and currently dean of the Detroit College of Law, maintained in his letter that since there is no record of the township's acceptance of the dedication, the property reverts to the adjacent landowners.

At a June 14 township board meeting, Mrs. Abbott told board members and a large audience that excessive littering, disturbance and property damage had prompted her and her husband to seek closure of the right-of-way.

Mrs. Abbott was quoted in the Courier last week as saying she had called the Sheriff several times about disturbances "but he was always too busy." Her actual statement was, "We called the Sheriff quite a few times and quite a few times we stumbled down there (to the beach) ourselves because the Sheriff is very busy and he can't always send somebody right away."

In Circuit Court this week, Abbott will seek to preserve the property's current status by preliminary injunction until rightful ownership can be determined.

Charlevoix Township Supervisor Oscar Stroud declined comment on the matter until legal counsel could be consulted.

Golfers converge on area for Michigan Am

by FRAN MARTIN

The 71st annual Michigan Amateur Golf Championship was scheduled to open at the Belvedere Golf Course and the Antrim Dells Golf Course at Atwood at 8 a.m. Tuesday.

At that time 384 players from throughout the state with the majority of them from the southeast section of the state were to tee off at the two courses for two days of medal play. The field will then be cut to 64 including the defending champion Bill McDonald of Royal Oak, for three days of match play with the championship round to begin at early afternoon Saturday if the weatherman cooperates.

Other former title-holders besides McDonald who are entered in the tournament are Glenn Johnson of Detroit, a five-time winner whose first title goes back to 1954; another oldtimer, Melvin "Bud" Stevens of Plymouth, who first won in 1959 and who has won twice since then; Pete Green of Franklin who won in 1969 and again in 1979 and Steve Maddalena of Jackson, 1980 winner.

The tournament will also have five local contenders including Mike Custer, former Rayder golfer who is now on the Adrian College team; Dick Kenney, Bob Warner, Dr. Jim Gels and Joe Etienne.

Two former residents, Randy Faust, former Rayder and Adrian College team member who now lives in Adrian, and Glen Ikens who now lives in Brighton.

Other area golfers entered include Steve Kircher of Boyne Falls, a member of the Boyne City golf team last fall, Jeff Kirby who is associated with Antrim Dells and Marshall Nowlin, Jr., and Dr. Robert Williams, both of Harbor Springs.

Players who tee off at the Belvedere course at 8 a.m. Tuesday will start at 1 p.m. at the Antrim Dells on Wednesday.

258 Board to answer questions about Bergmann Center

by PEG OHLE

Local Members of the Act 258 (Mental Health) Board have been asked to appear before the Charlevoix County Commissioners at their meeting this Wednesday evening.

They will appear to answer questions raised by a member of the Bergmann Center Board concerning treatment afforded the Center by the Act 258 Board.

James Hater of Charlevoix, a Bergmann Center Board member, told the Commissioners earlier this month that the Center is being discriminated against by not receiving its fair share of Act 258 funds.

"We have 29 clients (employees in the sheltered workshop) and are receiving funds for only 22. Little Traverse Enterprises (a sheltered workshop in Petoskey) receives a greater sum per client than we do," Hater said in a detailed report.

He also asked that the County undertake a "program and fiscal audit of Bergmann Center funds."

The Act 258 Board is appointed by the Boards of Commissioners of the counties it serves and is funded by the State and those counties. Representing Charlevoix County on the Act 258 Board are Thors Kotowich of East Jordan, Martin Paul of Boyne City, and Sam Kosc of Boyne Falls. They, as well as Director Harold Kaufman, received invitations to tell their side of the story to the Charlevoix County Commissioners.

Over 60 percent of CHS 1982 grads to continue their education

A survey of the 1982 graduating class at the Charlevoix High School reveals that the largest number of students in the recent history of the school plan to continue their education beyond high school according to Charles Bentley, head of the Counseling Department at the school.

Of the 132 of the 134 members surveyed, 81 or 63 per cent of the class plan to continue their education; of the total, 51 or 40 percent plan to pursue four year programs and the remaining 30 or 13 per cent to initially enroll in programs of two years or less. A further breakdown reveals that 45 or 60 per cent are men and 36 or 63 per cent of the women in the class are college-bound.

The number of students continuing their education is up substantially over past years when the average number was 50 per cent Bentley said.

Asked to explain why the class of 1982 had more students going on to school, Bentley said there probably were many reasons but that "basically, this class was achievement oriented. They had a desire to accomplish. If you notice, they did well in all areas such as sports, forensics and as a class. They were organized and did things together. Added to that, I think young people have found that a high school diploma does not get them the job they want so they need more education. If they want it enough, they will work for it and this class was made up of those kinds of students."

An analysis of the last seven graduating classes shows how plans are changing.

Initial enrollment in four year programs for the 1976 graduating class was 31 percent; 1977 - 36 percent; 1978 - 34 percent; 1979 - 40 percent; 1980 - 32 percent; 1981 - 31 percent and 1982 was 40 percent. Initial enrollment in two year programs in 1978 was 16 percent with at total of 47 percent college bound; 1977 - 14 percent, total - 52 percent; 1978 - 22 percent, total - 56 percent; 1979 - 12 percent, total - 52 percent; 1980 - 24 percent, total - 56 percent; 1981 - 18 percent, total - 49 percent and in 1982, 23 percent were enrolled in a two year program with a total of 63 percent of the students were college bound.

Of those who do not anticipate further formal education beyond high school, 18 or 17 percent plan to continue with the job they now have; 13 or 10 percent to seek a different job and 14 or 10 percent are now looking for jobs. Three students plan to enter the U.S. Air Force.

A choice of colleges is always interesting. In the past, Charlevoix graduates have traditionally attended Central Michigan University, North Central Michigan College, Ferris State College and Michigan State University.

An analysis of the past six years shows how each class varies from others in terms of colleges at which many enroll: Central Michigan University - 1978 - 4, 1977 - 3, 1978 - 10, 1979 - 9, 1980 - 10, 1981 - 8, 1982 - 19; Michigan State University - 1976 - 10, 1977 - 11, 1978 - 9, 1979 - 14, 1980 - 5, 1981 - 7, 1982 - 8; North Central Michigan College 1976 - 9, 1977 - 8, 1978 - 19, 1979 - 8, 1980 - 17, 1981 - 18, 1982 - 15; Ferris State College 1978 - 3, 1977 - 12, 1978 - 8, 1979 - 7, 1980 - 9, 1981 - 5, 1982 - 4; Michigan Tech 1978 - 2, 1977 - 3, 1978 - 1, 1979 - 5, 1980 - 2, 1981 - 4, 1982 - 5; University of Michigan 1976 - 0, 1977 - 8, 1978 - 2, 1979 - 4, 1980 - 2, 1981 - 6, 1982 - 4; Western Michigan University 1978 - 0, 1977 - 1, 1978 - 1, 1979 - 4, 1980 - 3, 1981 - 0, 1982 - 3; Northern Michigan University 1978 - 4, 1977 - 2, 1978 - 10, 1979 & 1980 - 0, 1981 - 4, 1982 - 2.

Other schools 1982 graduates will be attending include: Aquinas College, 5; Hillsdale, Alma, Lake Superior State College and San Mateo College, Calif., four year colleges - one each.

DeVries Institute of Technology, Southeastern Academy, Fla. and Northwestern Michigan College - 2 each. Kalamazoo Valley Community College, Suomi College, Southeastern Michigan College, Brooks College, Calif., Muakegon Community College and Ohio Diesel Tech - two year colleges - one each.

Missouri Tech - one year college - one.

New system enacted for monitoring county funds

by PEG OHLE

Charlevoix County will soon embark on a new set of procedures aimed at monitoring all funds used in County operstions.

Notices of funding cutbacks and Government re-assessments of State and Federal public programs have made it advisable for the Board of Commissioners to provide assistance for all Department Heads and Elected Office personnel who handle these funds.

The County Ways and Means Committee will develop a procedure for auditing the income from all State and Federal Programs, sharing of funds, re-imbursements, revenue generated from ad-valorem taxes, and general revenues from Courts, Elected Offices, and Departments.

The County Statutory Finance Committee will develop a schedule for audit of all revenues based on program, agency, or department re-imbursement schedule and-or report filing requirements where established, and "no less than quarterly where no mandated schedule exists".

There have been instances in the past where County departments have not received State or Federal funds due them because the departments had not filed the necessary request forms or reports.

Census provides statistical profile of county

People looking for statistical information about Charlevoix County will find a wealth of it in the 1980 Census. In addition to figures for the County as a whole, information is broken down into the 15 townships, three cities, and one village. Here are some statistics selected at random:

TEST WELL DRILLING began Monday at one of at least ten sites in the city and Charlevoix Township to be monitored for trichloroethylene (TCE). The tests are to determine where the potentially cancer-causing chemical is entering the city's water supply and how the groundwater flow is involved. Technical Drilling Services, Inc. of Traverse City is doing the actual drilling with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency funding the tests for the city. Shown above is the drilling crew working at a site on S. Carpenter. Test drilling is expected to take about two weeks.

FERTILIZER FOR 30,000 PETUNIAS will be provided by the Chevron Chemical Company, Rolling Meadows, Illinois, according to Dale Boss who is shown above with some of the 400 pounds of Rapid Gro fertilizer, manufactured by Chevron, to be donated. The fertilizer will be applied to the almost five linear miles of petunias that line Highway 31 through Charlevoix. Boss estimated the donation to be worth about $800.

State senate race getting crowded

by PEG OHLE

Michigan's 37th District Senate seat has become a much-desired political job.

Before the primary filing deadline last week, Republicans Steve Andrews of Wolverine, John Anderson of Traverse City, Bill Castor of Sault Ste. Marie, and James Coon of Gaylord had entered the race. The August 10 primary winner will face incumbent Democrat Mitch Irwin of Sault Ste. Marie in November.

The number of Republicans filing for the seat seems to bear out the general feeling that the District's new boundary lines give the edge in votes to the Republicans.

Grand Traverse County, which is heavily Republican, has been added to the 37th Senatorial District, as has the part of Delta County in which Escanaba is located. Taken from the District are the more Democrat eastern counties of Montmorency, Alpena, Crawford, Oscoda, Alcona, and Iosco.

The 37th Senatorial District now embraces Grsnd Trsverse, Antrim, Charlevoix, Otsego, Cheboygan, and Emmet Counties in the lower peninsula, and Mackinac, Chippewa, Luce, Schoolcraft, and Delta Counties in the upper peninsula.

Andrews is now serving his second term as State Representative from the 106th District; Anderson is president and generst manager of radio station WCCW; Castor is an educator; and Coon is a business man and member of the Otsego County Board of Commissioners.

Irwin is completing his first term as senator from the 37th District.

Code to be updated

The Sanitary Code administered by District Health Department No. 3 for Charlevoix County will soon undergo review and updating.

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners recently appointed three members to work with the Board's Health Committee to select a list of persons to do the necessary work of reviewing and re-writing.

Health Department Administrator Gerald Chase told the Board that it was time for such a review due to changes in the law and knowledge gained from scientific and technical research.

Representing the Commissioners on the Committee will be Martin Bieganowski, Oral Sutliff, Marvin Loding, Donald B. Meggison, and Ralph E. Harmon.

Animal control shifted

Beginning next year, District Health Department No. 3 will supervise the work of the County Animal Control Department.

The Board of Commissioners recently passed a resolution assigning this responsbility to the Health Department. In doing so, the Board noted that "the control of animal-borne diseases (animal control) is an allowable public health service and is eligible for state cost sharing through the local health department."

It is anticipated that the County will benefit financially by the State sharing in the cost of animal control. Up to now, the County has borne the expense.

Opinion

Knight on the Town

A greater problem

by Dave Knight

Whether a 66-foot right-of-way from the west end of Division St. to Lake Michigan belongs rightfully to Charlevoix Township or to the two property owners who claim it (see page 1) will most likely be settled in a court of law or in the shadow thereof.

Public sentiment naturally tips against the case brought by Mr. and Mrs. John S. Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Hodgson who want to close the beach access used for decades by both city and township residents. This was demonstrated two weeks ago by the large turnout of concerned citizens st the township board meeting at which Mrs. Abbott also appeared to explain her position.

The unfortunate aspect of that confrontation, however, as well as those to come, is that the most important individual or individuals involved in the case will never be called to task. That third party, in fact, is the whole reason for the dispute in the first place.

The party in question is the person who left a jagged pile of broken beer bottles on Abbotts' beach; or the one who ripped tree limbs off their property to kindle a bonfire; or the one who scarred the delicate sand dunes with a four wheel drive; or the one who...well, the litany goes on.

"We have no problem with people using our beach in a reasonable and respectful way," said Mr. Abbott this week. "What we can tolerate no longer is the destruction of our property."

Charlevoix is a community of beach-lovers. Some love to stroll along the surf in the quiet glow of sunset. Some love to stretch out on a towel and bask. Some love to throw a Frisbee and some love to build castles. Beach sand becomes a major staple in the diet of any baby raised in Charlevoix.

With the beach so much a part of the Charlevoix way of life, it is becoming increasingly distressing to see its devastation at the hands of an uncaring few.

Many people consider all lakefront beach area below the high water mark public domain. In an opinion rendered July 7, 1978, however, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley is quite clear: "The public may not use the beach whether it extends to the ordinary high water mark or to the low water mark."

But Frank Kelley cannot be on hand to read his decision to every person who unpacks a picnic basket on a private beach. Beach owners everywhere share a common burden borne by no other property owner; they cannot keep people off their land so they must rely on the public's sense of decency and responsibility.

It is this implicit trust that has been violated by a misguided minority and for which the majority must now pay the consequences.

Those consequences are more than having to pick up some beer bottles. Serious, long-term damage has been done to many areas of Charlevoix's beaches, public and private alike, by four wheel drive vehicles. The ecological balance of the sand dune environment is a fragile one which is almost impossible to repair when destroyed. It is this legacy of abuse that will endure long after the litter is cleaned up.

The beach at the end of Division should be accessible to and enjoyed by everyone as it always has. Hopefully an agreement can be reached between the township, the Abbotts and the Hodgsons to allow continued pedestrian access.

But neither the Abbotts nor the Hodgsons nor anyone else should have to put up with the late-night disturbances, the mounds of trash, the outright desecration of one of Charlevoix's most precious resources. To say that people must accept these hardships as part of the cost of owning a beach is to condemn all beach owners to lives of filling garbage bags and sleepless summer nights. That's not right.

Until the real problem of beach-wrecking is addressed, the ownership of a particular 66-foot strip of land seems somewhat irrelevant.

Clockwise

Past acqaintance

by Bob Clock

I SOMETIMES wish the pace of summer life in Charlevoix were slower so we could get to know some of our parttime residents better. Year-'rounders know that the two months between the Fourth of July and Labor Day whiz by so fast that if you blink, you've missed the best part of the year.

The Ron Steffes family of Dearborn discovered Charlevoix about the same time as the Bob Clock family of Holly; however, the Clocks moved north for good, while the Steffeses elected to maintain their home in Dearborn and commute to Charlevoix as often as possible.

After so many years, I can't recall how I first met Ron Steffes, but it was probably when he stopped at the Courier office to place rental ads for the apartment building he owned on Antrim Street. Before long, Ron trusted me enough to leave the keys to his units at the Courier office and I would escort prospective tenants through the apartments when he was out-of-town.

Charlevoix didn't have so many real estate offices in those days and few Realtors were interested in handling rental properties.

Then one day Ron stopped at the office to say he had purchased property on the bend of Michigan Avenue and planned to build condominiums, an innovative form of home ownership just then coming into vogue. He had come to the right party if he were looking for a devil's advocate.

"That sand hill isn't stable enough to support a multi-unit condominium," I objected.

"I plan to anchor the building deep into the hillside," Ron answered.

"The lot isn't deep enough," I argued. "You'll never be able to provide enough parking spaces, unless you buy property across the highway."

"I got it all figured out," Ron said. "The covered carport will come almost up to the sidewalk, but you'll hardly be able to see it because of the landscaping."

"What about erosion?" I asked. "You're going to have to build something pretty substantial along the lakefront to stand up to the storms of November."

Ron had that figured out, too. He would build a massive seawall of Lake Michigan boulders stout enough to hold its own against the most vicious nor'wester.

"What are you going to call it? I asked."

"The Dunes," Ron answered. "Unless you can you think of something better for a condominium built on a Lake Michigan sand dune."

MONDAY MORNING at first light I walk down to Michigan Avenue to take a long look at The Dunes, which, over the years, has become a Charlevoix landmark.

The building is weathering well. Time has darkened — and softened — the raw timbers, shingles and wood siding that characterized the building when it was new. The angular roofline presents an attractive silhouette against the morning sky. In fact, the entire complex offers a light and airy aspect quite unexpected in a structure so large.

As I drew closer I could hear the surf breaking gently on the beach below the seawall. Along the highway, a rock garden and a row of young shade trees shielded the carport from public view, just as Ron said they would. The lot — which I had considered too small for such a development — actually is more than adequate.

I NEVER SAW never saw a great deal of Ron Steffes after The Dunes was completed. I moved to the News-Review in Petoskey and when our paths did cross we usually were too busy for more than a "Hi, how you doin'?"

Ron and his cousin Michael Moranlec were killed instantly last Thursday afternoon when Ron's Piper Cherokee crashed in Marion Township on one of his frequent trips to Charlevoix.

But The Dunes will stand for many lifetimes as a testimonial to Ron's devotion to his second hometown.

Letters: Should have stopped short of endorsement

To the Editor:

Your article "Knight on the Town" of June 9, 1982, was very admirable in your recognition of Joe Morris, Councilman 3rd Ward. And, would have been exeellent had you stopped before the last three paragraphs. Since you are not a registered voter in the third ward, you used the Courier to influence Council members as well as readers concerning a matter in which your responsibility as Editor was only to report actions and reaults. Concerning your statement regarding the fact that Dr. Strawbridge received 47 percent of the vote, you failed to note that of the approximately 920 voters registered at the time of last November's election, only 448 voted...which is a 48.6 percent vote. Many that I have contacted failed to go to the polls as they felt they did not have a viable alternative for which to vote. This then would indicate that Dr. Strawbridge received a 22.8 percent vote of all registered voters, which falls short of a mandate. To further explain the reasons for non-voter participation, those contacted strongly felt that the new housing districts and Belvedere area were controlling the 3rd Ward..thus depriving them of adequate representation. This letter is not intented to indicate any animosity or disrespect for Dr. David Strawbridge since I personally did vote for him in November. The intent of this letter is to point out the fact that as a responsible Editor for the only newspaper in Charelvoix, you ahould be above politics...expecially in areas in which you are not directly concerned. I make these statements as 1) a aubscriber, 2) an advertiser, and 3) a candidate for Councilman in the 3rd ward.!!!!!

Letters: Responses from township

Smith answers

Dear Dave,

I found your "Voting Blind" column to be very interesting, stimulating, and confusing. I would like to respond to a few of your observations.

(1)What is a fact and what is an assumption? It is a fact that the State Boundary Commission notified Charlevoix Township that a charter commission would be elected pursuant to Public Act 191 of 1968. Act 191 calls for one man - one vote, in other words a 7-city and 2-township member charter commission. It also provides for a 45 day time period to petition for an election to see if both parties wish to proceed. It is an assumption to think that Act 191 will be superseded because of a bill before the State Legislature that calls for equal representation on charter commissions.

(2) It's interesting to note that the boundary commission's consolidation process has never reached the charter writing stage. In every case there must be someone performing a "severe disservice" to the people by petitioning for an election. If the Courier feels so strongly about this issue and if an election is approved you will have ample opportunity to convince the voters to proceed with the charter commission.

(3)Yes, some of the facts gathered by the consolidation study committee were incorrect. In each case it was financial information supplied by the city. To set the record straight let me point out that the total city tsx base should be $53M. not $52M. The sewer rates should be lower for both city (-$4.60) and township (-$9.37) users. Debt retirement would be figured by dividing the total city debt ($105,000) by the new total tax base ($91M). Certain facts however remain unchanged: (1) the city millage rate is 13.5 mills compared to the township's 2 mills (2) there is no guarantee for cheaper electric rates for REA users (3) the days of 80 percent E.P.A. and 10 percent state sewer grants are long gone.

(4)Charlevoix area residents have more than enough information to make an intelligent decision regarding consolidation. Don't sell the people short; they know what's going on. I guess it's no longer a secret that the key to being a good leader is to sense what direction the group is headed and then get out of their way. My feeling is that over 80 percent of the township residents are headed awsy from consolidation and I'm just standing there handing out road maps.

(5)I'm asking you to respond to your own question about the consequences of totally rejecting consolidation. Personally, the consequences of consolidation mean higher taxes and a less responsive local government.

(6)What about the lack of communication by the city toward the township during the past two years concerning this issue. The present Mayor, former Mayor, Councilmen, and City Manager have all made numerous trips to Lansing to discusa matters with the Boundary Commission. It seema like, it would have been a diplomatic break through for the City to explain the process at a Township Board Meeting. I would like to point out that the City Manager, Bob Hunt, did attend a township meeting to seek township support for the equal representation legislation. Word is that the city fathers didn't want to attend a township meeting because it would put pressure on us – haven't they heard that we thrive on pressure?

(7)If consolidation is such a great idea, why do we have to go about it according to Act 191 and the Boundary Commission. Frankly, I don't have that much confidence in a commission that reports that the two Charlevoix County Boundary Commissioners, Garlock and Wieland, voted to approve the city's consolidation petition when they didn't even attend the meeting (Dec. 17, 1981). Both Garlock and Wieland point out that this issue should be resolved locally not in Lansing. Might I also point out that the first 14 days of our 45 day time period to petition for an election was used up in Lansing before we were notified. Consolidation will only occur with the two local governments working together. It won't happen when they are working against each other with the boundary commision acting as a referee.

(8)I hope no one was led to believe that Kellogg's of Battle Creek would be re-locating in Charlevoix if this township-city division is resolved in favor of consolidation.

Finally, consolidation has been a topic of conversation in Charlevoix for the past two years. Every aspect has been covered in one way or another. My conclusion is that it just isn't going to fly, but I would say to those who think it has a chance to vote in favor of a charter commission. But after two years of blowing smoke from Charlevoix to Lansing let's give the people a chance to express themselves.

Don Smith

Eyes wide open

To the Editor:

I disagree with Mr. Knight's assertion that Don Smith is thwarting the consolidation process, and that the people signing the petitions are being misled and "voting blind."

Let's remember that the city government is the body who applied to the boundary commission in May, after already working on it's application for over a year and through two administrations. Let's also point out that the city was never officially contacted the township people at any time prior to or after it's filing of the petition. The first official correspondence concerning consolidation came to the township via Lansing and with this correspondence also came the process and laws that are applicable to consolidation. The date is July 9, 1982, and if the people do not petition a vote by that date, the charter commission will be composed of seven city and two township representatives. This is what the township people are opposed to at this point - not necessarily the consolidation itself.

Despite current legislation that may change the rules we are bound to act on the present laws, not future possibilities. The fact is, unless we act by July 9 there will be a charter commission of seven city and two township representatives. I don't feel, personally, that this would give the township people much of a voice in the future, and apparently neither do the signers of the petition. If the city did not care for our input up to this point concerning the consolidation or the time-table it would adhere to, why should we assume they will care to hear our voice in the future.

In response to what the poeple have been told concerning annexation and the consequences of rejecting consolidation - the most prevalent rumor (since no official statements have been made) is that if the township people do not approve a charter for merging, the "city boys" will take the township piece by piece with no consideration for the wishes of the township people. This is not the type of information that breeds trust and cooperation between people. If the city truely wants to merge, and not just go through the motions, perhaps they could have initiated an open dialogue earlier instead of pushing on alone and aloof without ever contscting the township concerning its motives.

Consolidation is not a new issue. It's been a topic of meetings and general conversation for over ten years. If the present relationship between the city and township is problematic, let us assume the city is at least fifty percent responsible (the most recent example is their handling of the merger petition).

As to "questions that will remain unanswered" - what about some answers now like why has the city been so secretive in its consolidation petition? Why didn't the city wait for the new legislation before submitting their petition? What's the city's hurry? Why are the township people so opposed?

Let's remember that bigger is not always better and more money does not offer the magic solution to every problem. Perhaps the township people, myself included, would be more favorable to consolidation if the city would demonstrate its ability to manage its own responsibility and government before attempting to take on a larger responsibility. If the township were to seriously consider merging with the city, we would at least like a fair voice in a decision that would affect our control of government as tsxpayers.

Fond farewell

Dear Dave,

The moving van will be here to load what I need to move to Potterville, Michigan, tomorrow morning, where I will be serving as pastor to two United Methodist churches. (My family is staying in Charlevois until the end of summer.)

But before I leave, I want to say thanks to the people of Charlevoix for the seven years that my family and I have been privileged to live here. It has been my good fortune to have relationships with Kiwanis, Bergmann Center, Harbor Industries, the Indian community, several churches, and many people in a variety of other contexts. Our daughters have had a total of 19 years of schooling in the Charlevoix school (in all three buildings). My father-in-law is buried in the cemetery at Greensky Hill. We are buying property in Charlevoix. Our family has lived in Charlevoix longer than in any other one place. Like most of you, I believe that this is Charlevoix the Beautiful.

The wedding date has not yet been set.

First graders wonder why no belts on buses?

by ANNE KELLY

Charlevoix's K-3 participation in the AAA sponsored "Beltman" campaign program took a slightly different tack this year. "Beltman" encoorages yoong passengers to buckle up for safety. One class' discussion on the importance of using seat belts in cars led to a spontaneous question from a first grader: "Why don't we have seat belts in school buses if they're so important?"

First grade teacher Carolyn DeMoor explained to the student that while she really couldn't answer that question, there was a way she knew to find out.

"Why don't we write to President Reagan and ask him about it?" she suggested. The following is their letter written as a class:

Dear President Reagan,

We have been stodying car safety rules. We all buckle up our seat belts in our cars.

Our school buses do not have seat belts. We think there should be a law that requires seat belts in buses. What do you think?

Love,
Mrs. DeMoor's First Class

By the end of May, a response came in the form of an explanation from David H. Soule, Highway Safety Management Specialist, Traffic Safety Programs, U.S. Dept. of Transportation addressed to Mrs. DeMoor's First Grade Class.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), there is no regulation for seat belts being used on school buses based on various studies of 1) the number of children who wear seat belts in cars and 2) the number of accidents involving children riding in school buses.

These studies showed that 1) in a typical class only two children regularly wore seat belts, and that 2) there were very few accidents involving children in school buses (perhaps two or three in 10 years).

A suggestion followed that the children conduct a survey in their school to find out just how many children would use seat belts if they were in fact installed on buses.

"Keep a record of what each person says and if more than half of them say 'yes' then you could ask your school to install them in one or more of your newest buses on a trail basis," Soule suggested. "The President and we at NHTSA would like to know the result of your survey."

Mrs. DeMoor reports that her class followed through with the suggestion. The results of a room to room survey in grades 1-5 revealed that an overwhelming 377 would wear school bus safety belts and that only 82 said they wouldn't.

What action the survey results may initiate for Charlevois Schools is still undacided. But whatever the result, it's a fact that Mrs. DeMoor's first grade class learned a valuable lesson in civic action.

A first-grader in Mrs. DeMoor's class tries her seat belt on for size.

KCB annual meeting to be Saturday

A wine and cheese evening is planned for the first annual meeting of Keep Charlevols Beautiful, Inc. Saturday (June 26) at 5:30 p.m. at Leutheuser's Restaurant.

The business portion of the meeting will be concluded no later than 6:30 p.m. The nominating committee will present its reccomendations for board members for the year 1982-83 and election of officers will follow.

Discussion will be held on plans for fund raising for next year's Operation Petunia. The license plate sale continues to provide good revenue and is expected to generate sufficient funds for 1982.

Wbile weeding petunias last week Kate Brady, president of the Charlevols Garden Club, was thanked by a passing motorist for helping make U.S. 31 so pretty. The motorist said she and her husband were on their way from Muskegon to Petoskey but when they saw bow attractive Charlevoix was, they turned around snd came back into Charlevoix to eat and shop.

KCB members and guests are invited to stay for dinner and dancing in Leutheuser's Wine Cellar after the meeting.

Program on special diets planned by Extension

The Charlevoix County Cooperative Extension Service will be sponsoring "Special Diets: What's it mean to you?" a program for persons on low sodium, low sugan and other special diets, Monday June 28, 7:00 - 8:30 p.m. Boyne City City Hall Auditorium.

The program will feature Linda Ward, Northern Michigan Hospital Assistant Director of Dietary. She will talk about NMH's "Dial-A-Dietician" Program, low sodium and low sugar diets, salt and sugar substitutes and answer apecific dietsry questions.

Pastor Gary Russell, Master Public Health will be available to take free blood pressures, explain what high blood pressure is and how it affects the body and how to interpret the readings.

Sheri Rhoads, Extension Home Economist, will demonstrate "Nutrition Spotcheck" a free computer analysis of the Nutritional content of food. The aim will be to assist individuals to improve their diets by pointing out strengths and weaknesses of each person's 24 hour food recall.

The program is free and open to the public. Please register by calling the Charlevoix County Extension Office

Summer story hour to begin July 6

The Charlevoix Public Library will sponsor a summer story hour beginning Tuesday, July 6, and continuing weekly through the summer months Mary Beth Walleck, librarian, has announced.

The hour-long story hour, which will feature a story, an accompanying film and an art project, is planned for children of pre-school age. The story hour will be held at 10:30 a.m. every Tuesday.

Michelle Keleman will conduct the story hour.

Pre-school age children are invited to attend the special story hour every Tuesday.

Pizza Hut Manager Butch Hergenroeder presents the check to JoAnn Curtis as the employees look on.

Pizza Hut boosts Cancer Society drive

by ANNE KELLY

When volunteera marched for the American Cancer Society Fund this year, each crusader in the county carried a supply of discount coupons, good for $1.00-$2.00 off on certain sizes of Pizza Hut piszas. The discounts were granted in exchange for donations made to the American Cancer Society. Then, for every coupon redeemed, Pizza Hut contributed a dollar to the kitty, joining forces with other merchants around town in raising money for a worthy cause.

Recently, a check for $515.00 was presented to campaign chairman Jo Ann Curtis by Pizza Hut manager Butch Hergenroeder. Hergenroeder esplained that his employees were largely responsible for raising this amount.

"They all participated in promoting Pizza Hut's committment to the idea of matching donations with a dollar. They often had to explain to customers who ventured in without a coupon, that Pizza Hut would "trade" them a discount on their pizza for a contribution to the Fund."

Hergenroeder is understandably proud of his employees who helped raise the $515.00.

School bells ring for prospective boardsailors

by DAVE KNIGHT

Sailing mecca that it is, Charlevoix has traditionally been in the vanguard of every new development in the sport that has come along over the years. From molded hulls to Mylar sails, this town has seen everything.

Well, not quite everything until this year.

Sailing on a surfboard was first tried about 15 years ago. Now the sport known generically as "boardsailing" is one of the fastest growing recreational activities in the world.

So it is only natural for Charlevoix to be the site of one of the first boardsailing schools in the Midwest.

The Charlevoix Boardsailing School recently held its first function, an instructors' clinic, and will soon be offering regular classes in boardsailing for people of all ages and all levels of ability.

Dick and Gina Lepman, lifelong summer residents of the area, are starting the school so that people interested in boardsailing can learn the sport fully and correctly.

"As in such sports as skiing, you can probably teach yourself or learn boardsailing from a friend," said Gina, "But in those cases, you don't get the whole picture. It's easy to develop bad habits that will eventually limit your improvement."

Writes Dave Yost, editor of a boardsailing handbook, "People who rent equipment and try to teach themselves are cheating themselves out of a fun learning experience, and in most cases, they fail in their early efforts and abandon the sport."

The method to be taught by the Lepmans is called Boardsailing Instructional Group (BIG). Developed in Austria by boardsailing guru Richard Fuchs, it involves a thorough handling of theory, equipment, safety, first aid, weather and right of way among other topics. Participants undergo both written and practical examinations and receive certification if they pass.

The clinic held two weeks ago at the school's Ferry Avenue site on the Schleman property attracted 14 participants from all over the Midwest and as far away as New Jersey. Guest lecturers at the clinic included such local experts as sailmaker Gary Gleason on sails, Marine Deputy Ron Moore on DNR regulations, engineer Alvin Ranger on weather and Ski Patrol member Karl Jurries on first aid.

After morning lecture sessions, the participants took to the waters of Lake Charlevoix for the practical instruction. The Lepmans attended a similar clinic recently in Sacramento, California and used that experience as a basis for holding their own session for fellow boardsailing dealers and instructors.

Boardsailing first caught Gina's eye about ten years ago when she saw an article on the then experimental sport in Life magazine. To her, boardsailing seemed the perfect activity for the family's summers on the beach of Lake Charlevoix. The Lepmans' interest grew as, in their travels to the Caribbean and Europe, they saw more and more boards in use.

"In Europe, boardsailing is tremendously popular. Almost every other car on the highway has a board on top," she said. "One reason it developed so quickly in the Alpine countries such as Austria is that it provided a warm weather alternative to skiing."

Indeed, boardsailing has much in common with snow skiing. It provides maximum conditioning and exposure to the outdoors with a minimum of accoutrements.

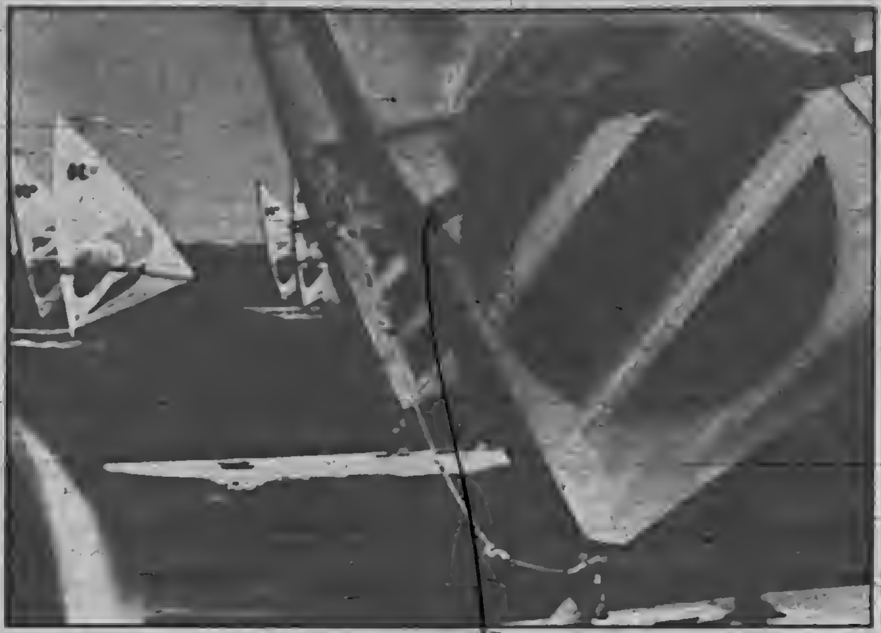
Classes at the Charlevoix Boardsailing School, tentatively scheduled to start next week, will be limited to four or five students per instructor. The Schleman property, where lessons will be held, is located right next to the city's Ferry Avenue beach.

A complete course involves three two-hour lessons on successive days and costs $55. Having completed a course at one level, the student may then opt to take a course at the next level of expertise. Boards, wetsuits and life preservers are provided. There are also price schedules for private lessons and board rentals without lessons. On the faculty at present are Gina Lepman and her son David plus certified local "boarders" with Strawbridge and Hagen Manker.

Beginners and youngsters are welcome.

Says Gina, "You don't have to know how to sail and you don't have to be strong."

To find out lesson times and further details, those interested may call Lepmans at 547-6646.



Clinic participants ended one day's session with a race on Lake Charlevoix.

At the recent instructors' clinic, Hagen Manker demonstrates boardsailing technique on the water.

Conditioning exercises were part of the clinic's sessions on shore.

As Charlevoix County American Cancer Society Chairman I would like, on behalf of the entire Charlevoix County Unit, to thank the following businesses and individuals for their help and support during the 1982 Daffodil Days and Crusade.

The Crusade was again a great success, and you donated one of the most valuable gifts you can give -- your time.

A sincere thank you!
Joanne Curtis

Two Rayders gain Class C All-State baseball honors

Two Charlevoix Rayder baseball players, Gary Drury and Jim Buchanan, have received All-State recognition by the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association their coach, Pete Spieles, has announced.

Drury was names to the Class C All-State first team as a designated hitter and Buchanan to the Class C All-State second team as an outfielder. Both were recent graduates and plan to attend Aquinas College in Grand Rapids.

Drury had a .412 batting average in 27 games, hit 11 home runs and had 43 runs batted in. Buchanan lead the team with a .459 batting average in the same number of games. He had three home runs and 15 R.B.I.s.

The pair plus Scott Kelly with a .418 batting average, five home runs and 22 R.B.I.s were also given Class C recognition by being named to the Class C All-Regional team. He plans to attend Central Michigan University.

Chx. Tigers place second

Early summer is USTA-Michelob Light League Playoff time for league teams in the Northern Michigan Tennis Association. This year, the 3.5 ability level played in Traverse City at the Grand Traverse Hilton and the Logan Racquet Center. The men's 4.5 level competed at the Little Trsverse Racquet Club in Petoskey.

The men's 3.5 level has strong competition from the Trsverse City area with the Grand Traverse Hilton Hitters taking the honors going ondefeated. Taking second place was last year's winner, The Charlevoix Tigers, sponsored by Charlevoix Properties, Inc., Ski and Shore Charlevoix, Inc., and The Real Estate Place. Team members include Broce MacArthur-captain, Tom Bickersteth, Bob Morgridge, Hagen Manker, Bill Dietrich, Gunnar Lundteigen, Don DeMoar, Guy Swanson and David Strawbridge. Their only loss was to the Grand Traverse Hilton Hitters. Placing third was The Andrew Kan Travel Service out of Petoskey, fourth was The Grand Traverse Hilton Slammers and fifth was Vivio's Northwood Inn from Indian River.

All the winners will progress to the State Playoffs in Lansing on August 21st. They will be competing against the other three districts in Michigan-Southeastern, Northeastern and Western. Winners at the state level proceed to the Sectional Playoff which will include teams from the state playoffs of Wisconsin, Illinois, Iodiana and Ohio. Teams successful at the Sectional level travel to the Regionals in Indianapolis and then on to Flushing Meadows in New York for the Nationals.

T-Ball, Ponytail and Peanut Leagues lead off next week

Two hundred fifty-two youngsters will be involved in the T-Ball, Pooytail and Peanut Leagues which will open their seasons next week Dwight Bosa, Charlevoix Recreation Director, has announced.

The T-Ball league is the largest in the program with 10 teams involving 140 boys and girls. This league will have three games nightly oo Monday and Thursday.

The Peanut and Ponytail League teams each have 52 candidates with four teams in each league. The Peanut League will play Tuesday and every other Friday; the Ponytail Leagoe is scheduled for every Wednesday and alternate Fridays.

T-Ball teams and their coaches are Yellow Sox, Anne Kelly; Orange Sox, Glenn Cunningham; Light Blue Sox, Deborah Jess; Green Sox, Joyce McClellan; Blue Sox, Tim Elenbaas; Black Sox, Maureen LaBlance; Gold Sox, Carl Miller; Red Sox, Ray LaVole; Royal Sox, Patti Sitzema and Tan Sox, William Jackson.

Teams and coaches in the Peanut League are: Tigers, Leslie Cunningham; Cubs, Ed Holm and Mike Crain; Dodgers, Sonny Young and Tony Warchol and Yankees, Bob Elliott and Carl Miller.

Ponytail teams and coaches are: Angels, Bruce Murray; Indians, Chris Lehman and Sue Annis; Royals, Valerie Brown and Kathy Washburn and Orioles, Audrey Roloff.

The first week of play will find the Tan Sox meeting the Yellow Sox at 6 p.m.; The Royal Sox and the Orange Sox at 7 p.m. and the Red Sox and the Light Blue Sox at 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 29.

The Ponytail League will see action Wednesday, June 30 when the Angels and the Orioles meet at 6 p.m. and the Indians and the Royals at 7 p.m.

Merchants open with split

Charlevoix Merchants Baseball Team, a member of the Northern Michigan Baseball League, opened its season Sunday by splitting with Petoskey.

Charlevoix won the first game by a score of 8-4 over the Petoskey Old Timers and dropped the second 3-0. The games were played at Charlevoix Sunday.

In the first game Mike Loper was the winning pitcher and Faust the losers. Both pitchers allowed four hits.

Scott Kelly, Jeff Trimper, Jon Spiels and Steve Dunkelberg had one hit apiece. For Petoskey Faust had two hits including a double and Ball and Swiss had singles.

In the second game, Ball pitched a no-hitter for Petoskey. Faust collected a homerun and Willis a round-tripper with one aboard for the visitors. Kurt Puffpaff was the losing pitcher, allowing the two hits before he was relieved by Jon Speiles in the fifth inning.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES AND ON PROPOSED 1982-1983 BUDGET

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on June 28, 1982, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. at Charlevoix High School the Board of Education of Charlevoix Public Schools will hold a joint public hearing to consider the district's proposed 1982-1983 budget and to consider the levying in 1982 of an additional proposed millage rate of 1.5 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Education may not adopt its proposed 1982-1983 budget until after the public hearing. A copy of the proposed 1982-1983 budget is available for public inspection during normal business hours at 208 Clinton Street.

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 25.75 mills be levied in 1982 from within its present authorized millage rate. The additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1982 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by five and eight tenths percent (5.8%).

The increase restores the millage rate to the amount authorized by the voters on June 14, 1982.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss both the school district's proposed 1982-1983 budget and the levy of an additional millage rate. Following the public hearing, the Board of Education may adopt its 1982-1983 budget; not less then seven (7) days following the public hearing the Board of Education may approve the levy of all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

BERNICE E. BURNS

Funeral services for a former resident, Mrs. Bernard E. (Bernice E.) Burns, 85, who died Saturday at Zephyrhills, Fla., were held Tuesday afternoon at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Glenn Britton of the Barnard United Methodist Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

The former Bernice E. Howe was born in Hayes Township June 16, 1897. She was married to Mr. Burns at Charlevoix in 1919. In 1924 they moved to Plainwell and in 1936 to Otsego where they lived until going to Zephyrhills, Fla., to make their home in 1946. Mr. Burns preceded her in death Oct. 20, 1975. She was a member of the First Christian Church of Zephyrhills.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Donald Kelly and a son, Richard J. Burns of Zephyrhills; four grandchildren; six great-grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Geralynn O'Donnell of Petoskey.

ELIJAH A. O'BRIEN

Funeral services for Elijah H. 'Lige' O'Brien, 93, who died June 14 at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility, were held Thursday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. James Raum of the Church of the Nazarene officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

Born at Norwood March 29, 1889, Mr. O'Brien was married to the former Stella Smith Sept. 11, 1922. They always resided in Charlevoix Township where he served as Township Supervisor from 1942 through 1944. He also operated a farm until 1977. He was among the last of the horse-age farmers in the area, using a team of horses to till and cultivate his crops until he retired. Even after he retired from farming he had a garden until 1980. He was a member of the Barnard United Methodist Church and the Barnard Grange.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Robert, of Troy; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The family suggests memorials to the Barnard United Methodist Church.

Speaker named for childrens' Vacation Bible School

Rev. Andy Kirkendall will be the guest speaker for a Vacation Bible School to be held at the Community Church of God, 202 West Hurlbut Street in Charlevoix, June 28 through July 2, according to the Rev. Walter G. Hastings, pastor. All children who have completed kindergarten through the fifth grade may enroll for the school, which will be held each morning, Monday through Friday, from 9:00 A.M. until Noon.

Rev. Kirkendall's presentations will feature puppets, Gospel illusions, "Shadrach" the Gospel computer, and storytelling done disguised as a special guest. Other activities include crafts, refreshments, scripture memorization, and prizes.

In the past, Rev. Kirkendall and his wife, Kay, have travelled extensively conducting Kids Crusades and Vacation Bible Schools on a full-time basis. Presently they are working with the Harbor Light Chapel in Harbor Springs in hospital ministry.

Several Charlevoix churches will be cooperating in the Vacation Bible School. Parents who would like to enroll their children free of charge may call 547-2875.

Official Notice

HAYES TOWNSHIP
REGULAR MEETING
June 7, 1982

Called to order by Supervisor, Lee Sneathen, at 8:00 P.M.

All the Board Members were present for the Meeting.

The Clerk's report of the May 1982 Regular Meeting was read and approved.

Fred Welch, Engineer from the Charlevoix County Road Commission was at the meeting to give an estimate for road construction on Stephens Rd. Total cost for one mile $54,000. Township's share would be $18,000. Mr. Welch also answered some general questions and discussed the brining of Township roads.

A Motion was approved to allow a zone change from A-1 to R-1 on the Raymond Burrows property described as follows: Part of the SW ¼ of NW ¼ of Hayes Township, less than 10 acres, south of the Boyne City Rd.

A Motion approve some corrections & additions to the Zoning Ordinance as read by the Clerk was passed by the board. These corrections and additions to appear in full in a separate article in this paper.

A denial of a zone change request from A-1 to R-1 for the Beaudoin and Osgood property in Hayes Township was made by the Board. Reason, Only the owner of property can request a zone change and no bona fide documents were presented to show that Beaudoin and Osgood requested the change for their properties.

The Hayes Township Zoning Administrator attended the meeting to report on some zoning violations at Susan Shores. The Administrator and Township Board will work on resolving the violations.

Mr. & Mrs. John Wiklanski presented the Board with a letter protesting the erection of a fence on an alley in Bay Shore. The Board does not have jurisdiction over this and referred the matter to the Charlevoix County Road Commission.

A Motion was approved to appoint Betty Strew on the Zoning Board of Appeals for a 3 year term.

A Motion was approved to raise the fee for zoning approvals paid to the Township Zoning Administrator from $15 to $20.

The Bills were approved for payment by a Roll Call Vote of the Board. Total Bills $6,132.18.

Motion approved to adjourn the meeting.

Courier honored for Girl Scout coverage

Charlevoix Courier Editor Dave Knight was presented with an appreciation award June 10 by Girl Scout Troop 264 Leader Carolyn Olinger. The award, presented at the troop's annual banquet, was for the Courier's "outstanding coverage of Girl Scout happenings."

The scouts themselves received several badges for individual achievement and awards for Girl Scout cookie sales.

Also honored were the girls' parents for their support. Carol Wilhite and Jan Ballard received rosebud vases for their assistance with troop leadership.

A talent show featuring troop members finished the evening.

Obituaries

GLENN E. ROSE

Funeral services for Glenn E. Rose, 81, former sheriff of Charlevoix County, who died June 14 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held Wednesday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. James Lugibihl of the Bible Baptist Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

Born at Ora, Ind., May 6, 1901, Mr. Rose came to Charlevoix County at the age of 12 years with his father who was employed in a lumber camp. As a youth, he was employed in construction, as a cab driver and a clerk in a grocery store. In 1936 he joined the Charlevoix Police Department and in 1954 was appointed sheriff of Charlevoix County, an office to which he was re-elected until he retired in 1966. On March 1, 1925 he married the former Ida Curtis who preceded him in death on July 14, 1973. On July 12, 1974 he married the former Jennie Krisa at Evanston, Ill. They returned here to make their home.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a son, Charles E. of Pinckney; two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Donna) Phillips and Mrs. Patsy VanSchoten, both of Ann Arbor; 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The family suggests memorials to the Charlevoix Area Hospital, Grandvue Medical Care Facility or the Michigan Eye Bank.

JACKSON E. TURNER

The Rev. Jackson E. Turner, 61, former pastor at the First Congregational Church here, died June 4 at Parkview Memorial Hospital in Fort Wayne, Ind.

A memorial service was conducted June 7 at the First United Church of Christ where he had been a minister since August 1980. Burial was at Manistee followed cremation.

Rev. Turner was born in Ann Arbor March 20, 1921, and lived in Manistee where he attended the Manistee Public Schools. He received a B.A. degree from Albion College, a B.D. degree from Oberlin Graduate School of Theology, University of Chicago Extension in Counseling and Psychotherapy and a Master of Divinity degree from Vanderbilt University and the Psychological Institute of Michigan.

He also pastored at the First Congregational Church here from 1946 until 1951 and at Onekema, Roscommon, Lathrup Village and Marine City, Michigan, and Lake Bluff, Ill.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy; two sons, Jackson Jr., of Huntington, Ind., and Johnson of Royal Oak and a brother, Robert of Cincinnati.

Preferred memorials are to the First United Church of Christ.

Bible Questions Answers

Final comments on FOREKNOWLEDGE & PREDESTINATION. Charles G. Finney, the great Revivalist of the late 1800's, used to say before entering a discussion with others about religion, "Gentlemen, define your terms." Of course if we don't know the meaning of the words we are using to describe the works of God we can all argue our own case without coming to the complete TRUTH of the matter. Finney went on to say "that any religion that does not define its terms must indeed be a most dangerous religion."

FOREKNOWLEDGE simply means that God has thought out all of the options (in advance) for mankind to be rejoined to Him in the event that they sinned. (Adam and Eve did!) God was going to make man with a FREE WILL, or CHOICE, and He knew the possibility of man using this FREE CHOICE to do evil instead of good. So God planned to redeem man thru the Atonement of Jesus Christ via the Cross. God further knew that SOME would accept His plan while SOME others would reject the plan, but both groups by THEIR OWN WILL!

PREDESTINATION is simply God LIMITING IN ADVANCE THE "HOW" this SALVATION was to be received. God NEVER chose WHO would, or could, be saved, but merely HOW they were to come to God and that was to be thru Jesus Christ. 2 Pet. 3:9 informs us that "God is NOT willing that ANY should perish." Yet we see the majority of people ignoring His pleas and living a life of selfishness. God can't stop a person from going to Hell if that person so chooses, nor can He prevent a person from entering the KINGDOM OF GOD if that person so chooses.

Think of the FOREKNOWLEDGE/PREDESTINATION problem like this. You are going to have a hayride from Charlevoix to Petoskey on July 4, 1982. You place an ad in the Courier inviting all people to ride with you. You know the time (7:00 P.M.) you're starting, you know you will be leaving from the Bridge. You know the route to Petoskey and back. The one thing you don't know is WHO or HOW MANY will be joining you. God is faced with the same problem. He has provided the WHY, WHEN, WHERE & HOW of Salvation. He just has to wait and see WHO will call upon the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to be saved.

PLEASE WRITE YOUR QUESTIONS TO B. Q & A, Box 361, Charlevoix, MI. 49720. Next week, questions on Divine Healing.

4-H Notes

Lots of activity lately!

by LEAH GREEN

Charlevoix County 4-H folks are excited about a number of things right now. We seem to always have something going on. To be honest, we usually have two or three things in the hopper at any one time. For instance, while 106 4-H'ers were getting ready to show their projects at two county Achievement Days, one for Saturday Basketball and one for all the other winter projects at Boyne Falls School, we were deep in plans for a Wild Food Day, young people were already signing up for Exploration Days in Lansing, a camp-planning committee was meeting to work on this year's week on Beaver Island and Livestock leaders and parents had already begun to address the many details connected with their part in the Emmet County Fair.

Sometimes it can be very confusing! But, the good news is that even though all of this is happening at one time, the load is shared by the neat volunteers who are really what makes 4-H go. I am part of all the activities we plan, but when you come right down to it - I am only one person - I don't stretch to meet all needs. So, true to 4-H tradition, enter the volunteers. They generate many of the ideas and do much of the planning. They take care of details, they make things, they see that people are where they need to be and do any number of other duties. The other good news is that parents, leaders and members alike enjoy what they do for the most part. If there wasn't pleasure, good fellowship and a sense of accomplishment involved here, nothing would be happening.

Let's back up now and see what they accomplished over the winter for the 4-H program in Charlevoix County and the children who live here.

Saturday basketball, let by Pam Parsel, saw more than forty members receive over thirty hours of skills, instruction and game time. Four junior leaders, Kim Mikula, Kim McNew, Richard Nelson and Clarence Start taught with Pam, but also learned what a leader has to do. The members showed their skills to their parents and other observers in a morning program on April 3.

In the meantime, all the other 4-H clubs and leaders prepared busily for Spring Achievement Day, May 1. This event was also held at the Boyne Falls School. This day, 85 more 4-H'ers showed three hundred projects! There were crafts, foods, horse displays, horticulture projects, needlework, sewing, fine arts and livestock projects. Everyone had an interview with an evaluator. Skilled members of the community served in this capacity.

Blue and red ribbons were awarded to members based on their age, years in the project area, and years in 4-H. Some children, singled out for particular excellence, received gold ribbons and the very best were awarded Trip Awards which are worth $15 toward a 4-H event during the coming year such as Exploration Days, our county's camp on Beaver Island or a weekend workshop at Kettunen Center next fall or winter.

Spring Achievement is a showcase for 4-H members who assemble and model their outfits. The committee which worked so hard to make this the success it was consited of Nancy Brooks, Dawn Reyes and Lucy Stolt.

All club leaders who had members showing that day had put in many hours of instruction and preparation beforehand. Their efforts, however, were rewarded as the general level of productivity and quality of the 4-H projects was very good.

Our county 4-H leaders and members have much to be proud of. Trip award winners from Spring Achievement Day are: Personal Appearance - Mike Horton, Lisa Harvey, alternate Tammy Boggs; Crafts - Aaron Brock, Amy Alger; Leisure - Aaron Brock; Foods - Paula Harvey, alternate Lisa Harvey; Needlework - Sue Stolt, alternate Robyn Gee; Livestock - Dan Stolt, alternate Jacob Robinson; Style Show - Sue Stolt, Amy Alger; Group Effort - Lucky Saddle Horse Club.

First place winners form the Style Show were Eve Reinhardt, Amy Alger and Sue Stolt. Second place winners were Krista Sumner, Amy Beyer and Nancy Louiselle.

Next time I'll let you in on what's coming up for 4-H'ers in Charlevoix County for the summer.

Art Fair scholarships awarded

Two scholarships for studies in the arts were announced last week by the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair Committee, celebrating its 24th year of promoting art in the area.

Lisa Staley, 18, of Charlevoix and Jeff Kelly, 15, of Charlevoix, have each been awarded the coveted scholarships reserved for young area artists.

Two scholarships were awarded this year, according to Connie Pointner of the Waterfront Art Fair Committee, because both students "are serious and talented artists."

This is the second year that Jeff Kelly has been a Waterfront Art Fair scholarship recipient. In 1980 he won his first scholarship, which he used for study at the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, near Muskegon.

Kelly, who works in pen and ink and acrylics said the first scholarship had helped him considerably, and that he is now intent on a career as a full time artist. He will be a junior at Charlevoix High School and hopes to attend the Kendall School of Art in Grand Rapids, after graduation. He will use this year's award for further study at Blue Lake this summer.

Lisa Staley, a June graduate from Charlevoix High School, will apply her scholarship toward her first year as an art student at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant. She too envisions a career as a full time artist, and is considering completing her studies at Kendall.

Lisa, who works in three dimensional soft sculpture as well as paints and pen and ink, says she's particularly fascinated by faces and expressions. Her soft sculptured caricatures of classmates faces attracted considerable attention at the Charlevoix School's art fair this spring.

She has also worked in commercial art, designing logos and business cards.

"One of the joys of working on this committee is to see how our scholarships for young artists are really paying off," Ms. Pointner remarked.

"It is exciting to find young people who really have talent," she continued. "When you find someone who is really dedicated and talented it is nice to be able to support that intent and enthusiasm," she concluded.

The Annual Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair, this year Saturday August 14, has had the dual purpose of bringing fine art to the community and stimulating the growth of art in the area.

The second oldest art fair in Michigan, it is also one of the most prestigious. A jurying committee selects the 110 artists whose works will be displayed and sold from over 700 applicants.

Charlevoix's is the only art fair which offers scholarships.

Both Lisa Staley and Jeff Kelly will exhibit at the August 14 show.

School Board holds 1982-83 budget increase to six percent

by FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its regular meeting Monday night, gave approval to a tentative budget for 1982-83, authorized an application for a tax anticipation note, extended administrative contracts for one year, approved a bid on a new roof for the high school (exclusive of the gymnasium) and appointed a freshman basketball coach among other items.

A tentetive budget of $3,998,276, which represents a six percent increase over the 1981-82 budget, was approved by the board. This compares to a cost of living increase of 10.5 percent.

At the same time the board authorized Supt. Gordon VanWieren to apply through the Municipal Finance Commission for a tax anticipation note in the amount of $1,555,000. As the name indicates, the funds will underwrite the operation of the schools until tax monies become available in December.

The contracts for the administration including VanWieren, Principals Vane Smith, David Smith and Ralph Raymer, Assistant Principal Dennis VanGuilder and Business Manager Vincent Olach were extended for one year.

John Pearl, who headed a committee to investigate the need for a new roof on the high school, reported on the six bids received and gave a recommendation. A total of six bids were received ranging from $139,346 for a synthetic rubber roof to the bid of $99,380 submitted by J.R.J. Roofing of Harrison which was the lowest bid. The bid was for a Trocal roof and is contingent upon an inspection by a structural engineer.

Specifications must now be compiled and bids accepted for the preparation of the structure for the roof which will include removal of the existing roof, removal of skylights and a series of windows and the installation of insulation.

A special millage of .9 mill for two years passed by school district voters just two weeks ago will finance the roof project.

Barry Anderson was named freshman basketball coach for the 1982-83 school year.

In other action, the board approved the adoption and purchase of four new textbooks for use in the high school.

The board also voted to subcontract with the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District in the areas of special education, vocational education and transportation. The board also heard the Truth in Taxation formula reviewed by Olach.

The annual organizational meeting of the board will be held July 17.

Suffers injuries from hit and run

Randall Russell, 18, Charlevoix, is in satisfactory condition at the Charlevoix Area Hospital where he is being treated for multiple injuries received in a hit and run accident in Marion Township between 11:30 p.m. and midnight Friday.

A Traversa City man was apprehended 45 minutes after the accident in Antrim County by Antrim and Charlevoix County deputies.

The suspect, whose name has not been released, will be arraigned in District Court this week.

Status quo of beach access holds pending further action

Arguments aired Friday in a Circuit Court hearing before Judge Martin Breighner resulted in stipulations by both sides that a 66-foot right-of-way extending from the west end of Division St. to Lake Michigan will remain in its present physical state until further legal questions can be addressed.

Ownership of the strip of land used by many area residents for access to the beach is being claimed by the two property owners on either side of it. Virginia Y. Abbott and Elizabeth Hodgson notified Charlevoix Township some weeks ago that ownership of the land was rightfully theirs and that public access will be closed.

Friday's action was a result of a request filed on behalf of the Abbotts and Hodgsons for a preliminary injunction to prevent any physical change of the property.

The township maintains that the right-of-way was deeded to them in 1899 and remains township property open to the public.

John S. Abbott, husband of Virgina and dean of the Detroit College of Law, represented his wife's position Friday saying that since no acceptance of the deed was recorded by Charlevoix Township, the township has no right to ownership.

Charlevoix Attorney Roy Hayes, representing Charlevoix Township in the case, filed a motion with Breighner for summary judgment. On Monday, Breighner waived oral arguments.

Briefs will now be prepared by both sides with a decision expected in August or September.

Early deadlines this week

Because of the Fourth of July holiday, Courier advertisers and news contributors are asked to observe deadlines one day earlier than normal this week. Display advertising copy should be submitted by noon Thursday while news and classified deadlines will be noon Friday. The Courier will be published and delivered on its regular schedule next week although the office will be closed on Monday, July 5.

August election to feature many proposals in county

by PEG OHLE

Besides primary candidates for local, state, and federal offices, Charlevoix County voters will have some proposals to vote on, on August 10.

Voters county wide will be asked whether or not they want to increase their tax bill by .29 mills (29 cents per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) to help support the Charlevoix County Transit System.

In Peaine Township, there are three two-part questions on the ballot.

The first has to do with renewing 1.25 mills ($1.25 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) and levying it for four years for the purpose of providing operating funds for the Beaver Island Airport.

The second asks if .50 mills (50 cents per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) should be renewed and levied for four years for the purpose of providing operating funds for Township roads.

The third asks if 1.50 mills ($1.50 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) should be voted and levied for four years for the purpose of providing funds for a town hall.

In St. James Township, there are two two-part questions on the ballot.

The first has to do with renewing the increase of up to four mills ($4.00 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) and levying that amount for four years for general operating funds of the Township.

The second has to do with renewing the increase of up to 1.25 mills ($1.25 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) and levying that amount for four years for operating the Beaver Island airport.

St. James Township is not asking for any new millage, simply to continue the present rate.

In Bay Township, voters will be asked if the Township Board should purchase the old North Bay School House on Church Road for a sum not to exceed $8,500.

In Boyne Valley Township, the question will be if the Township should levy one mill above the 15 mill limitation for two years to provide one-quarter mill (25 cents per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) for fire protection and three-quarters of a mill (75 cents per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) for landfill operations for the years 1982 and 1983.

In Wilson Township, there are two propositions on the ballot. The first one asks if the tax limitation should be increased by two mills ($2.00 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) for a period not to exceed ten years for the purpose of road improvements in the Township.

The second proposition asks if the tax limitation should be increased by one-half mill (50 cents per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) to build a new township hall.

Michigan Amateur champion Dave Graulau raises the prized Staghorn Trophy which he claimed over the weekend.

Graulau reigns over Mich Am

by DAVE KNIGHT

Twenty-one year-old Dave Graulau had almost as many lives as a cat in the finals Saturday of the 1982 Michigan Amateur golf tournament held at the Belvedere Golf Club.

One down and seemingly faced with defeat on the 18th hole of match play, Graulau watched as his opponent Mike Kerr blew a three-foot putt sending the two finalists into sudden death.

Then on the first extra hole, it was Graulau again in trouble when he drove onto a hillside rough and followed with a meek second shot far short of the green. He recovered, however, when Kerr also bogeyed the hole and the battle continued to seesaw until the 21st hole when Kerr's putter failed him once more.

Graulau sunk a 20-foot putt for a birdie on the hole but Kerr had only a four-footer to stay even. Amid cheers and groans from the large gallery, Kerr's putt rolled by and Graulau tossed his putter skyward in victory.

Graulau, a senior at the University of Florida and a native of Alma, beat Mike Fagan 2-up in Saturday morning's semifinals while Kerr, a Wayne County Road Commission accountant from Livonia, made it to the finals with a 4 and 3 victory over Bill Peterson of Alpena.

Medalist for the tournament was Ed Humenik of Allen Park who accumulated a 141 total in the qualifying rounds but was eliminated in Thursday's match play.

Also eliminated Thursday was defending champion Bill McDonald of Royal Oak who last year accomplished the rare double of taking medalist honors and winning the tournament.

Officials of the Golf Association of Michigan (GAM), sponsors of the 71 year-old tourney, announced at Saturday's awards ceremony that an agreement had been reached with the Belvedere Golf Club to extend the club's hosting of the annual tournament through 1988.

Saturday's finals were played under near-perfect conditions and before one of the largest crowds of spectators in recent years. It was, in fact, just about the first day of the tournament in which weather was not a major factor. Qualifying rounds and early match play was hampered by fog rolling in off Lake Michigan, high winds and unseasonably cold temperatures.

Don't go near dredging equipment

The Army Corps of Engineers want the public to "look but not trespass".

They have been having trouble with children and others who go beyond the ropes to look at their dredging work in the Pine River Channel.

"We know it's natural to want to see what's going on," a spokesman said, "but it's also dangerous."

They expect the dredging project to continue until early fall.

Showcase homes to be toured

by PEG OHLE

One of the most important events of Charlevoix' summer season is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, July 10.

It is the Home Tour sponsored by Kappa Sigma Sorority for the benefit of the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Five of the most beautiful and interesting homes in Charlevoix will be open to tours by the public from 1:00 to 5:30, that afternoon. Tourists will see bountiful displays of antiques and works of art, and many different types of creative decorating. They will view architecture dating from the 1890's to the most recent contemporary. They will look out into garden a ablaze with summer flowers and across lakes that seem to lap at the doorsteps.

"The tour is designed for those who appreciate nice things," a tour committee member explained as she described the homes that will be open:

The traditional style home of Tom and Cissy Bickersteth on the bluff overlooking Lake Charlevoix. The home was built as a cottage circa 1893 and converted into a year-round home after the Bickersteths bought it in 1979. The interior is described as being "beautifully furnished with many antiques, and with cedar cottage indoor siding".

The contemporary ranch style home of Mel and Betty Rosenhaus on Pine Point, Lake Charlevoix. The home was designed by Charlevoix architect Jack Begrow and contains "a delightful mixture of antiques and modern furnishings".

The traditional style home of Ray and Elizabeth Hodgson on Lake Michigan. The home was built around the turn of the century and was recently completely restored. It features a "wonderful country kitchen" and is "elegantly decorated".

The first modern four-level home in Charlevoix, the home of Dick and Cheryl Georgi on Lake Michigan. The home was designed by Chicago architect George Fred Keck and built in 1956. It was formerly owned by John and Margaret Schroeder. An unusual feature of this home is that it is built completely of redwood, inside and outside. The Georgis added a stained glass window in the front of the house and a back deck designed by Site Planning Development. The furnishings are "exquisite contemporary".

Refreshments will be served here during the tour.

The contemporary four-level townhouse of Clark "Bud" Matthews on Round Lake. There are "skylights, an indoor pool, a spectacular view, and contemporary furnishings".

Tour tickets are being sold for $10 a person (no children under 12 permitted on the tour). They are available in Charlevoix at the Chamber of Commerce office, the Apple Tree, Burnside's, and from the ticket chairman, Lucy Ingram, 715 East Dixon Avenue, phone 547-3942. Tickets are also available in Petoskey at the Chamber of Commerce office, and in Harbor Springs at the Tin Soldier.

Kappa Sigma has been planning the Home Tour for several months, and, as committee member Suzi Reis acknowledges, "We owe a lot of people for their help: Sue Bolt, who designed the poster; Terry Salmonson, who did all the photography; Trevor Wood, who made all the architectural renderings for the tickets; Gary Zundel, who is serving a special Kappa Sigma lunch at Duffy's the day of the tour; and many who made donations: Mettler's, Expressions Unlimited, Greenleaf Gardens, the Charlevoix Garden Club, Tim Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Begrow, Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Zundel".

Peace Education Center opens

Sunday, June 27, marked the opening of the Peace Education Network of Northern Michigan in Harbor Springs. The Peace Center, located on State Street just north of Main, held an open house from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m., and a potluck dinner party afterwards to mark the occasion.

The opening of the Peace Center reflects growing community concern about the threat of nuclear war and about a variety of social, economic, and environmental issues. The idea of a Peace Education Network, serving Northern Michigan as a clearinghouse and resource center for peace-related issues, sprang from last April's Ground Zero Week activities. The Network will be an umbrella organization helping to coordinate the resources and activities of both organized and ad hoc groups throughout Northern Michigan in promoting peace education.

The Center's activities will be coordinated by a full-time director and a volunteer staff drawn from surrounding communities. Funding for the not-for-profit organization will be sought primarily from voluntary donations and through local fundraising and grants.

A variety of information about the Peace Education Network and about the issues with which it is concerned will be available at Sunday's open house. Those interested in helping the Center or in arranging a program for their group, as well as those who want to know more about peace education, should plan to stop by the Harbor Springs office. For more information call 549-2997 (any time) or 526-6893 (evenings).

Deadline extended for swimming lessons

The deadline for registering for swimming lessons has been extended until Friday, July 2, Dwight Boss, City Recreation Director, has announced.

Registrations are being accepted at the Recreation Department Office on the first floor of the Charlevoix City Hall from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Lessons are scheduled to begin Monday, July 5.

Fees for lessons will be as follows: $10 per child or $20 per family for city residents and $15 per child or $30 for a family for out-of-city residents.

Bible Questions Answers

DEAR B.Q. & A. WHAT ABOUT DIVINE HEALING? IS IT REALLY GOD'S PLAN TO HEAL EVERYONE EVERYTIME TODAY? MOST CHURCHES DON'T TEACH ON DIVINE HEALING. ALSO MANY CHRISTIANS I KNOW SUFFER WITH SICKNESS OF SOMEKIND DURING THEIR LIVES. I'VE HAD RELATIVES AND GOOD CHRISTIAN FRIENDS THAT HAVE DIED WITH CANCER AND GOD DIDN'T HEAL THEM. Signed: Sincere

Dear Sincere. You've asked a lot of questions, but all of them good questions that deserve an answer. God's Word is the only place to go for the TRUE answer. Isa. 53:4, 5 is our first stop. This whole chapter is about the work of Jesus on the Cross, or the Atonement, given by Isaiah about 700 years before christ came to earth. Notice that in verse four it declares that Christ has (already past tense in the mind of God) borne (carried) our griefs (pains, diseases) and carried our sorrows (sicknesses). In verse five notice that he was (again past tense) wounded for our transgressions (sins) and bruised for our inequities (sins). Now if we believe that Christ took our sins on the Cross, then we must also believe that He took our sickness and disease as well, since both are mentioned in this great prophecy and sickness and disease are mentioned BEFORE the sins. Now this prophecy is fulfilled everytime Jesus heals in the Gospels and everytime the Disciples heal in the book of Acts. Matt. 8:16, 17 is a direct quote of the Isaiah prophecy. Notice in verse 16 that Jesus healed ALL that were sick that it might fulfill (verse 17) that which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, who said, Himself (Jesus) took our infirmities (pains, diseases -from the Hebrew word griefs) and bare (bore or carried) our sicknesses. At this point no mention is made of forgiving sins, yet we would not say that the forgiveness of sins part has "past away"! So God confirmed Isa. 53:4, 5 with Matt. 8:16, 17 just as He confirms any of His promises from the Old Testament to the New Testament thru Christ. I Pet 2:24 says that Jesus bore our sins in His own body on the tree, or cross. It also says that by His stripes we are healed. So here both sins and sicknesses are mentioned as in Isa. 53:4 & 5. Both are mentioned in James 5.14 & 15, first healing and then forgiveness of sins. Both are mentioned in Psalms 103.2 & 3. Here God says not to forget all of His promises. He forgives all of your sins, He heals all of your sicknesses. Christ died for all of our SPIRITUAL, PHYSICAL and MATERIAL NEEDS. Let's not cheapen His Grace by refusing to BELIEVE ALL OF THE ATONING WORK. More next week. Please write your questions to: BQA, Box 361, Charlevoix, MI. 49720.

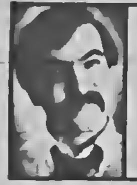
Opinion



Knight on the Town

Down to business

by Dave Knight

While Memorial Day is considered the traditional start to summer, it is actually not until the Fourth of July that those depending on summer trade begin to prosper.

Weekends have generally seen some heavy traffic through town but with many schools exending their schedules well into June and the Northern Michigan climate as unpredictable as it has been, one cannot depend on the period between Memorial Day and the Fourth to be very consistent.

Perhaps the reason we expect so much to happen right after the Memorial Day weekend is that the lingering images we have of summers past are the crowded streets and teeming shopping areas of July and August. We forget that it takes a few weeks to get rolling before the town hits its stride.

Summer business aside, other recent developments on the local economic front should be cause for some optimism.

The Medusa Cement Company went back into full production this week slightly ahead of its tentative schedule. The 70-some employees laid off a month ago are back at work and hopefully will stay on the job until the plant's annual winter shutdown.

Because of its direct dependence on the heavy construction industry, Medusa can be viewed as somewhat of an indicator to the larger economic picture. That gives this week's decision to restart production an even greater significance.

Can we be blamed for thinking positively whenever given half a chance?

Speaking of positive thinking, those who were skeptical of the Bay Queen dinner cruises at this point last summer should certainly think twice about John McGoff's newest venture. Passenger train service between Charlevoix and Petoskey begins Saturday under the auspices of the Bay Rail Express.

Four daily round trips will be offered on weekends during the summer as not only a means of shuttling Bay Queen customers from Petoskey to Charlevoix but also to promote general shopping and sightseeing traffic in both communities.

Don't be surprised if the nostalgia harbored by many for the days of passenger trains makes this the hit of the summer.

Feel better now

by Bob Clock

I DON'T KNOW about you, but I experienced a vast sense of relief when word flashed across the country last Friday that Secretary of State Alexander Haig had resigned.

I have nothing specific against Haig, mind you; it's just that I never felt comfortable having a former high-ranking military career officer so close to the president. Furthermore, his famous "I'm in control" statement at the time of the attempt on Ronald Reagan's life last year gave me chills.

Vice President George Bush was the man "in control," of course, and Haig should have known better. After all, the United States is not one of your run-of-the-mill banana republics where the military steps in at the drop of a sombrero.

Although neither Haig nor Reagan has publicly discussed the reasons behind Haig's resignation, it is no secret that the secretary of state has been on the outs with other members of the administration. Reagan and Haig also have had divergent views on the proposed Soviet pipeline which would make a large section of Western Europe dependent on Russia for natural gas.

Haig reportedly thinks the U.S. should lend a hand with equipment needed to build the pipeline, since we would not only be helping American industry but also assisting our friends abroad. Reagan says "No dice." He fears once the line is installed Russia will use the gas to bully her way politically through Western Europe. After all, her hand will be on the valve.

Would Russia really use natural gas as a weapon? Would she really shut off the flow to reach political or economic objectives? You bet she would. Since the invasion of Afghanistan and the imposition of martial law in Poland, anything is possible insofar as the Soviet Union is concerned.

And once Western Europe becomes dependent on Russia for natural gas to heat her homes and run her factories, that area of the globe must be considered as a satellite of the Soviet Union.

THE REPORT last week that the nation has returned to double-digit inflation was a shocker — although anyone who visits grocery stores with any regularity or drives an automobile should have known that something had gone wrong, particularly after a winter-long respite from ever-higher prices.

Twelve percent inflation is not going to do a thing to win frineds for the Republican Party in November — since lowering the inflation rate was Reagan's most note-worthy accomplishment after 16 months in office.

Now Reagan must battle not only high unemployment and high interest rates but also high inflation — and it is doubtful he can do much about any of them before Americans troop to the polls again.

I HAVE ONE question about Reagan's austerity budget which will have a built-in deficit of about $104 billion — more or less. If a Democrat had been elected two years ago, what would the deficit be if all of the social programs scratched or cut back by Reagan were suddenly restored or expanded?

Republicans generally believe such a deficit would be horrendous. But Democratic stalwarts claim the deficit would actually be smaller, because more Americans would be working and paying taxes and far less money would have been earmarked for defense.

The answer, of course, will never be known — and perhaps it's just as well.

Letters: Thanks for the help

He made it

To the Editor:

We would like to thank the many, many businesses, clubs and people of Charlevoix who helped sponsor Gary to become a "Young American".

It is because of your support that Gary was able to take advantage of this wonderful opportunity.

A very special "thank you" to Mrs. Connie Ford who has spent so much time and effort in helping Gary, and especially in this endeavor.

Thank you also to Grandpa and Grandma Kosewic and Uncle Dennis.

Tag Day success

Dear Friends:

A big "Thank You" to all the volunteers who so generously gave of their time, to make our Easter Seal of Michigan, "Tag Day Sale" a huge success. A special thanks to Thelma Behling, Boyne City, Betty Keits, Boyne Falls, Shirley Lusk, Charlevoix and Linda Snyder and Margaret Thompson of East Jordan who acted as chairpersons in their respective towns. Through their efforts and all persons that helped and to those who so generously donated, we will be able to refurbish our "loan-closet". Our closet consists of hospital beds, wheelchairs, walkers, crutches, commodes and related items. The money collected will be used to keep this equipment in working order, replace needed parts and to purchase additional articles.

Through the generosity of Dr. Michael Engel, D.O., our loan-closet is now located in Boyne City.

If you ahve a need for any of the equipment or would like to donate any items for this purpose please get in touch with any Easter Seal Society member or the people below, who give so generously of their time.

Again, thanks for your help in making possible this service to the people of Charlevoix County.

Petition report

Dear Editor:

Those who signed a Michigan Nuclear Weapons Freeze Petition may still be wondering what happened to the Freeze campaign. Statewide, it was a huge success! With a goal of 230,000 signatures, the state clearinghouse reported 372,448 signatures turned in May 26, or 114 percent of goal. This did not include an estimated additional two to three thousand turned in at the rally at the State Capitol, which went directly to the Board of Canvassers without being tallied at campaign headquarters. Thus there are sufficient signatures to assure that the Freeze proposal will be on the ballot in Michigan next November.

In the last few weeks of the signature drive an average of 60,000 signatures per week were coming from all 83 Michigan counties, unprecedented by any Michigan Petition drive in the past. The central campaign office said that probably over two-thirds of the Michigan campaigners had never done anything similar to this in their lives before. The activity involved people from all walks of life and all age groups, who were tasting for the first time what responsible democracy really means.

In order to assure representation from all parts of the state, goals had been set for each county. Charlevoix County's goal was 710 signatures. The final count for the county was 1,167 or 164 percent of goal. Emmet County turned in 1,450 signatures or 177 percent of their goal of 820. Grand Traverse County turned in 3809 signatures of 195 percent of goal. Antrim Co. sent in 867 signatures or 150 percent of goal.

Outstanding efforts were reported by Kent Co. with 194 percent, Ingham with 253 percent, Washtenaw with 274 percent, Kalamazoo with 281 percent, Midland with 254 percent, Keweenaw with 281 percent of goal, and highest of all, Leelanau with 296 percent of its goal. In all, 28 counties exceeded the goals set for them.

People from this northwestern corner of the lower peninsula can be justly proud of their contribution to the success of the campaign, but a big job still lies ahead. We must continue our education and awareness efforts to prepare the public to vote for the freeze in November. A bilateral freeze on the manufacture, testing and deployment of new nuclear weapons may not accomplish all we would like to, in the name of world peace, but it is a logical first step.

Clarification

Dear Mr. Knight,

While I have a number of concerns regarding your June 18 story on the Big Rock Point nuclear plant hearings, I'll limit my letter to correcting factual errors by your reporter.

The article states that a pamphlet outlining steps people should take in the event of a nuclear plant emergency is "required by federal law" to be distributed door to door. This is incorrect. Nuclear Regulatory Commission regulations state that such materials should be made available to the public and suggest several means of dissemination. They do not require any specific method of distribution.

Later in the story, in reporting on the issue of "criticality," one of the questions being considered in the hearings, your reporter referred to a possible spontaneous nuclear reaction as a "meltdown." A nuclear reaction is a splitting of atoms. A meltdown could only occur when nuclear fuel has no cooling medium, such as water, to prevent an uncontrolled chain reaction. The two terms are not synonymous.

Weddings

Wallace-Watts

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Watts

Maurine Wallace and Timothy Watts exchanged wedding vows on Saturday afternoon, June 19, at the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence C. Wallace of Charlevoix and the late Mr. Wallace. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Edward G. Watts of Petoskey and the late Reverend Watts.

Approximately 175 guests witnessed the original double-ring ceremony written by the bride and bridegroom and performed by the Reverend Raymond Giffin.

Floral arrangements for the occasion were created by Mrs. David Fowler and Mrs. W. R. Wood. They presented an old-fashioned setting, with antique white wicker baskets filled with peonies, hydrangea, painted daisies, baby's breath, and Baker's fern in shades of mauve, rose, ivory, and lavender. The church windows and altar were decorated with swags of greens and flowers and the candelabra with swags and ivory ribbon. The pews were marked with ivory ribbons and myrtle.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her grandfather, Harry E. Wallace. Her gown was designed and made by Mrs. Robert Lieberman. It was of ivory candlelight satin fashioned with short sleeves and a Queen Anne neckline. Appliques of lace beaded with pearls framed the neckline and decorated the A-line skirt of the gown. An ivory Spanish lace mantilla, brought from Spain by the bride's father when she was 18, was fastened to a floral headband. She carried her great grandmother's hand-carved ivory fan adorned with gardenias and lace streamers. Her grandmother's pearl necklace completed the ensemble.

Kim Lieberman of Detroit served the bride as maid of honor, while her sister, Rebecca Wallace, and Janine Kredell of Lexington were bridesmaids.

Their gowns were also designed and made by Mrs. Lieberman. They were of cotton eyelet with a floral print in ivory, mauve, and lavender. The square necklines were accented with self ruffles and the elbow-length sleeves were puffed. Pleated matching cummerbunds added the finishing touch.

The attendants carried wicker baskets with mauve and lavender silk flowers, baby's breath, and ivory lace. They wore matching flowers and lace in their hair.

John R. Kendall of Grand Rapids served the bridegroom as best man. Richard Schaefer of Petoskey and Richard Bogart of Charlevoix were groomsmen, and Todd Russell and Gary Russell, Jr. of Petoskey, cousins of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Sean Ryan sang a medley of songs as well as "She's My Lady". He accompanied himself on the guitar and also accompanied Mrs. Robert Tollas as she sang "The Wedding Song". Elizabeth Humphries accompanied Mrs. Tollas on the organ as she sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Following the ceremony, the wedding party boarded the Bay Queen trolley for a champagne ride to Stafford's Bay View Inn. The reception there was hosted by the bride's mother. Mrs. Florence Ross, an aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Betty Joan Russell, a cousin of the bridegroom, assisted with the cake. Greta Watts, daughter of the bridegroom, assisted with the guest book.

Mrs. Richard Bogart helped the bride's mother distribute crystal hearts to the wedding guests as mementos of the occasion.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bride's mother at her home in Charlevoix on Friday evening.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the newlyweds will be at home in Petoskey. The bride is employed by the Emmet County Juvenile Court and the bridegroom is a detective with the Harbor Springs Police Department. He was recently appointed a Deputy U. S. Marshall for the Western District of Michigan.

Engagement

Julie A. Michael

Michael-Taylor

Julie Anne Michael and Terry Lynn Taylor will be married September 18 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Michael of Charlevoix and the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Michael, also of Charlevoix. Her fiance is the son of Jerry Taylor of Burns, Oregon and Mrs. Darryl Smith of Hermiston, Oregon.

Miss Michael is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and attended Northern Michigan University. She is presently employed at the Holiday Inn in Petoskey. Mr. Taylor is a graduate of Burns Union High School and is serving in the United States Navy, stationed in Groton, Connecticut.

Film series to focus on problems of career women

A film series featuring best-selling author Joyce Landorf will be presented at the Community Reformed Church at 10:00 Wednesday mornings beginning July 7 and continuing each Wednesday morning through August 11. The films are a part of the community's Super Summer Wednesday Program which is sponsored by the Reformed Church, the Methodist Church and the Episcopalian Church of Charlevoix.

The new series entitled "His Stubborn Love", addresses the problems common to many women who are trying to balance marriage, career, children, work and are quietly suffering from the conflicting demands on their time and their identities.

Author of 14 best selling books, Landorf has drawn thousands all across the United States to her seminars.

Filmed at one of her seminars near Dallas, Texas, "His Stubborn Love" is a six part series. The films are entitled: "Change Points", "Your Irregular Person", "His Stubborn Love", "Mourning Song", and "Tough and "God's Waiting Room". Tender".

Beach gardening is next meeting topic

The Charlevoix Area Garden Club will meet at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Wakulat on Meanderline Road for its regular meeting on Tuesday, July 13.

The members will be treated to a salad luncheon at 12 noon with the produce from the couple's sand garden providing the luncheon fare.

The program that will follow will be "Beaches are for Gardening, Too" with Dr. and Mrs. Wakulat presenting a lesson on gardening in the sand. Members are asked to wear comfortable walking shoes.

On Thursday, June 24, club members visited the Grass Bay area near Cheboygan.

It's parade year again in patriotic Horton Bay

by PEG OHLE

They don't have a parade out in Horton Bay every 4th of July. That's because people there just don't get around to organizing one every year – mostly because they're "tuckered out" after each parade and it takes a while to recuperate.

The recent series of parades began in 1975, when Bay Township became 100 years old and William Ohle organized a celebration. Then, of course, they had to have another parade in 1976 to celebrate the nation's bi-centennial. But it wasn't until 1978 that the group, gathered around the coffee counter at the Horton Bay Store, decided they were again strong enough to run another parade. And it was 1980 – two years later – before the next 4th of July parade wound its way through Horton Bay.

Here it is 1982, and – you guessed it – there's another Horton Bay parade. But the parade will be on the 3rd of July not the 4th. That's because the 4th of July comes on a Sunday this year and the good people of Bay Township like to keep Sunday for Church and other quiet activities.

Some of the oldtimers in Horton Bay recall that prior to 1975, there hadn't been a 4th of July parade there since "right after the war" – World War I, that is. For a few years, bathed in post-war patriotism, local children decorated their wagons and bicycles and rode down the highway waving small 48-star American flags.

By the 1930's, parades were forgotten and Horton Bay sank into the Depression. Those days must not have been so bad however, because their memories are being revived this year in the theme of the parade. It's called the "Horton Bay Third of July Great Depression Parade".

Parade entrants have been asked to reflect the Depression theme in the various categories: Funniest, Bicycle, Beard Contest, Oldest Resident, Youngest Resident, Horses, Red White & Blue, Old Cars, Horton Bay, Horses & Buggy, Unique Animal, and Old-Fashioned Costume. First and second place ribbons will be awarded to the winners.

In the tradition of the community no commercial or political entries are permitted in the parade.

The parade will start at 11 a.m. at the corner of the Charlevoix-Boyne City Road and the Horton Bay North Road (Charlevoix Corners). The road through Horton Bay will be closed at that hour and remain closed until 12 noon, with the Sheriff re-routing traffic across to Church Road.

Local children in clown uniforms will pass out penny candy to children along the parade route, while a committee of six men and women will judge the entries.

Roxie Loding, Horton Bay resident (and Charlevoix school teacher) will sing the "Star Spangled Banner" on the porch of the General Store as the parade approaches.

Local residents being specially honored in the parade are Ira L. "Bob" Davis, the Grand Marshall, Edwin Bradley and Flossie Dyer, Senior Citizens' King and Queen, and the Reverend Allan Valkema, Most Honored Citizen.

The Boyne City High School band and the Boyne City American Legion Post will provide music and martial arms.

The parade will proceed through Horton Bay to the Bay Township Hall, where awards will be made by Master of Ceremonies Elmer Braun. Prior to the awards ceremony, the Township flag will be raised by Ohle and H. G. "Bucky" Harris while the Reverend Valkema plays the bugle. In 1976, Harris cut down one of his red pine trees and made a flag pole which he presented to the Township. Later, Ohle was instrumental in obtaining a flag that had flown over the Halls of Congress from Congressman Bob Davis. Since that time he has assumed the responsibility of raising and lowering it on days when the weather is clement.

After the awards are presented, parade participants and onlookers will return to the maple grove next to the Red Fox Inn, where beans and franks will be available for family picnics. There will also be childrens' games, a "dunk tank", and entertainment. Among those performing will be Sean Ryan, a Bay Township resident, and the vocalist known as "Robin". Another feature will be a demonstration of motorized hang gliding by the "Ultra Lights" of Traverse City.

Costs of the parade are being covered partly by selling chances on a quilt designed and made by Horton Bay resident Maureen "Mo" Skop. The winner's name will be drawn following the parade.

Jeanette Cornell, who works at the store, is general chairman of the 3rd of July festivities. She is being assisted by store owner Harriet Housel, Margaret Fair, and Tim Ferria. Committee chairmen include Mark and Roxie Loding, parade, and Dottie Rickard, childrens' games. The judges will be Ken Winter, Jim Silbar, Shelley Barr, Dr. Robert McGarva, and Irene and Jack Green. They will all be "tuckered out" come the evening of the 3rd of July, 1982, so we shouldn't expect another parade in Horton Bay for a while.

A typical entry in the Horton Bay Fourth of July parade combines simplicity and humor.

Bay View to stage 'Arsenic and Old Lace' and 'West Side Story'

Bay View Association Theatre Arts Department will present "Arsenic And Old Lace" this season and "West Side Story".

"Arsenic and Old Lace" by Joseph Kesselring is a comedy that deals with two charming and innocent ladies who populate their cellar with the remains of socially and religiously aceptable roomers, the antics of their brother who thinks he is Teddy Roosevelt and the activities of the other brother.

"West Side Story" by Arthur Laurents, Leonard Bernstein and Stephen Sondheim combines a modern interpretation fo Romeo and Juliet with a story of vivid sociological comment. There are principal parts which will be cast from local residents and conservatory students. Local persons who have had previous experience in the show are especially encouraged to tryout. A large chorus of dancers and singers is also required. Tryouts will be July 1 & 2, 7:00-9:00 P.M. & July 3, 2:00-4:00 P.M. in Voorhies Hall. Singers should bring a song of their own choosing. Dancers and production staff will also be interviewed.

Willard Pierce of New York City will be directing. Willard has a very succesful career in music and theatre and currently teaches voice at the West Hartford School of Music in West Hartford, Conn., and is vocal coach to the Young Americans and the American Musical Theatre.

Ann Sullivan, choreographer, is presently working on her Master of Fine Arts degree at New York University in New York City and also performing in a Young Artist Festival. Her dance classes at Bay View have been highly successful and include among others Stretch and Breathing, Creative Movement, Children's Ballet, Modern Dance, and Beginning Ballet.

The Youth Theatre program will be directed by Jeanne Klein. Her workshop will include acting for teens 12-18, a six week course offering intensive training in performing, also a two week session in Creative Drama for children 8-12.

At present Jeanne is director of the theatre program at Ohio Northern University.

Malpeli-Blanchard

Candelabra and bouquets of white phalaenopsis orchids, sweetheart roses, stephanotis, and ivy graced the altar of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix as Camille Luise Malpeli became the bride of Jeffrey William Blanchard on Saturday afternoon, June 19.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Malpeli, Jr. of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. William Blanchard of Petoskey. He has been making his home in Midland.

Approximately, 250 guests witnessed the double-ring service performed by the Reverend R. Dale Magoon. Also participating in the service were Janifer Blanchard, sister of the bridegroom, and John C. Malpeli, III, brother of the bride, who served as readers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white organza with a chapel-length double train and lace accents on the skirt and long sleeves. Her bridal bouquet consisted of white phalaenopsis orchids, sweetheart roses, stephanotis, and trailing ivy. She wore a band of stephanotis and phalaneopsis in her hair.

Vocalist Roy Harvey of Petoskey and organist Marilyn King of Charlevoix provided music for the ceremony. Selections included "The Wedding Song", "One Hand, One Heart", and "Ave Maria".

Therese Bradley of Traverse City served the bride as honor attendant. The bridesmaids were Faith Malpeli, sister of the bride, and Hope Malpeli, another sister of the bride, as well as the bridegroom's sisters, Cindy and Sally Blanchard, and Julie Hassel of Hartland.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of light blue lincen with green cummerbunds and white eyelet overblouses with Kabuki sleeves. They carried nosegay bouquets of a single phalaenopsis orchid, baby's breath, stephanotis, and trailing ivy.

Steven Hater of Cincinnati served as best man, and groomsmen were Marc Malpeli of Naples, Florida, brother of the bride; John Kenny of Saginaw; and Larry Gunderson, Beo Miller, and Roy Harvey, all of Petoskey.

The bride's parents hosted a reception following the ceremony. The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner the evening before the wedding.

Following a wedding trip to Hilton Head Island in South Carolina, the newlyweds will be at home in Midland, where the bridegroom is head of Administrative Services for the Bechtel Power Corporation.

Marriages

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey W. Blanchard

Mr. and Mrs. David Houseman

Carlson-Houseman

The United Methodist Church in Boyne Falls was the scene of the Saturday, June 19 wedding of Laurie Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carlson of Boyne Falls, and David Houseman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Houseman of Stevenson.

Rev. Forest Crum officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by 100 guests.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and wore an organza gown with high neckline, illusion embroidered bodice with Chantilly lace trim and ribbon. There was matching lace on the skirt, a chapel length train, Juliet cap, waltz length veil trimmed with lace.

The organist was Erma Strangstad. Other music was provided by guitarist Bill Christensen with Lori Peck.

The bride's sister, Carol Tobel, was maid of honor, while Gina Parker and Laura Moore were bridesmaids. They wore identical knit gowns with high necklines and long sleeves. Flowergirl was Sara Giem and ringbearer was Adam Miller.

Best man was Bill Kakuk and groomsmen were Paul Miller and Todd Menke.

The reception was hosted by the bride's parents at Corwith Hall in Vanderbilt and a rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Chalet in Gaylord.

The bride is a graduate of Central Michigan University and will be student teaching at Interlochen this fall. The couple will make their home in Traverse City.

Bergmann Center certified

The Bergmann Center of Charlevois recently received a one year certificate from the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities. Bergmann Center is an affiliate of the Northern Michigan Community Mental Health Services Board. The Program provides employment for 31 full time and 6 part time mentally and physically handicapped individuals in Charlevoix County. All employes are instructed and trained to reach their potential goals.

Industrial sub-contracts are received from: Weathershield Sports Equipment, Inc.; Hoskins Manufacturing Co.; Charlevoix Products; Midwest International and Michigan Maple Block Co.

Recent activities were participation in Special Olympics, Charlevoix Field Day, a dance held at the Center, a bowling banquet and a picnic at Robert Bergmanns. We also participated in Operation Petunia which was a community project.

Bergmann Center will be sponsoring a White Elephant sale on August 5 and 6. Donations will be appreciated.

City Band to open concert season

The Charlevois City Band, directed by Terry Isenbarger, will present the first of its Concerts in the Park at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, June 30, in East Park.

Among the selections the 25-piece band composed of volunteer instrumentalists will play are "Ceremony for Winds" by Cacavas; "King Cotton", Sousa; "Dixieland Concerto", Warrington; "New Hallford March" and Sousa's "El Capitan" march.

Mr. Isenbarger has extended an open invitation to area residents to play with the band. Rehearsals are held at 7:30 p.m. every Monday at the Charlevoix High School Band Room. Interested persons are invited to join the rehearsals and play at the weekly concerts.

Guards now on duty

Lifeguards are now on the three city beaches Dwight Boss, city Recreation Director, has announced.

The lifeguards will be at the Lake Michigan beach at the foot of Grant St. and the Ferry Ave. Beach on Lake Charlevoix from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. daily and at the Depot Beach on Lake Charlevoix from noon until 5 p.m. daily.

Lifeguard assignments will find Mike Streeler at the Lake Michigan beach, Gerard Doan and Sally Westenbroek at the Ferry Ave. Beach and Carolyn Loper at the Depot Beach. Jim Boss will serve the swing shift, replacing guards on their days off.

Chris Davenport Way will be returning as swim instructor. She will be joined by Kelly Carson of Lansing, a student at Western Michigan University and the grand-daughter of Mrs. Kit Carson, Sr. Lessons will be given at the Ferry Ave. Beach from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Summer reading program starting

The annual summer reading program for elementary school age children sponsored by the Charlevoix Public Library will be launced Tuesday, July 6 with party beginning at 1 p.m.

Theme of this year's program is Jack and the Book Stalk.

"The idea behind the program is to encourage children to read throughout the summer months, to use the library and to enjoy what it has to offer," Mary Beth Walleck, librarian, said in announcing the program. She went on to emphasize that this is not a contest. It is just a program to teach children to learn of the great adventures one can enjoy through reading she continued.

The program will run for six weeks and will conclude with a similar party on August 17 to which all children who participate will be invited. There will be games and treats at both parties for all participants.

Mrs. Pam Stangis will be in charge of the program.

Sailing races underway

Weekly sailboat racing under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Yacht Club is well underway for the season and is attracting several area sailors to the Lake Charlevoix course.

Each Wednesday evening at ten minutes to six, the racing fleet gathers for the race. The Race Committee boat, manned by Brian Jurries, starts the race which is set between buoys in the West End of Lake Charlevoix for a course of approsimately seven miles. Recording of the races and all of the boats' ratings are kept by Yacht Club volunteer Mike Miller and his computer.

Three series this year, a Spring series from May 26 to June 30th, a Summer series from July 7th to August 25th, and a Fall series commencing September 1st and ending October 6th, will give both summer visitors and local racers a chance to join competion.

David Strawbridge, Sail Race Captain, has divided the yachts into three classes: Santana 525, PHRF fleet (regardless of size) and a Portamouth fleet (main and jib only). The Portsmouth fleet is started first at 6:00 p.m., the Santana 525 fleet at 6:05 and the PHRF fleet at 6:10 p.m.

Sailing instructions will be available at the Yacht Club, at Irish Boat Shop, Gleason Sailmakers and from the Race Committee before the race.

Any new sailor who would like to participate may do so in the Portsmouth fleet for four races so long as he registers his name and boat with the Race Committee and race fees are waived for these four races. Registration forms are available at Irish Boat Shop, Village Car Care and Gleason Sailmakers. To quote a note in the Binnacle, the Charlevoix Yacht Club Newsletter, by Commodore Mike Carland: "To all non-racing sailing skippers. We have created a fleet just for you with the use of Main and Headsail only. This is a great way to come out and join the fun on Wednesday night and not feel pressured by high-plowered competition. We have many husband and wife teams, and even a man and his dog, for crews on these boats. Come and try it out at no charge to see if it is to your liking — you will probably find it is contagious."

Among the early placers in the Spring series races have been Bill Kenifeck's and Craig Tallberg's J 30, Pine River Hummer; Jim Knurick's and Hank Cawthra's Santana 525, Indooroophilly; J. Altman's Pearson 26, Cramped Quarters; Hagen Manker's and Karl Shepherd's Catalina 27, Lull; Josh Barnes' Santana 525, Bandit; Jim Beatss J 24, Camouflage.

Softball tourney this weekend

The double elimination softball tournaments will be held here this weekend, one sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department and a second by the Charlevoix Township Slow-pitch Association.

At this time, six teams have been entered in the City Recreation Department tournament and more will be accepted up until Thursday night Dwight Boss, city recreation director said.

Teams entered as of Monday night were Ernie Weaver's Service of Ann Arbor, Auto Painter Supply of Owosso plus four local teams, Townhouse, Erber Auto, McDonald's and Swanson's K&D.

The tournament will open at 6 p.m. Friday and run through Saturday and mid-afternoon Sunday.

The Charlevoix Township tournament has attracted eight teams and more will be accepted according to Mike Reinhart, league manager.

Entered in this tournament which will begin at 6:15 p.m. Friday and continue through the weekend are the All-Star Softball Club of Grand Rapids, B & L Hoggers of Ellsworth, Unique Finishers of Grosse Pointe, Flight Deck, V.F.W., Boyne Machine, Wojan's and The Landings.

New store offers full line of sporting goods

by FRAN MARTIN

Whether an active participant in numerous recreational sports or merely a spectator, Charlevoix's newest shop, the Pro Spot, located at 405 Bridge St. is prepared to meet your needs.

"We are prepared to offer a wide range of sports clothes for the entire family. In fact, we are a family-oriented business with sports wear and equipment in a price range a family can meet" Jackie LaVasnway who, with her husband, Tom, own and operate the shop, said.

"We offer such name brands as New Balance and Nike in sports wear; Converse, Nike and New Balance in sports shoes and Wilson and Prince in tennis rackets to name a few" Mrs. LaVanway, the former Jackie Biehl of Mancelona, continued.

She went on to say that Pro Spot was prepared to meet the needs of the tourist as well as year-around residents. "If your need is a swim suit or trunks for the beach, shorts and T-shirts for the tennis court, a sweat suit for jogging, an informal outfit designed for comfort or a cute outfit for little Johnny or Jane" we're prepared to offer it. The shop also offers shoes for all sports, jogging, track, basketball, boating to name a few.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVanway and their two-year old son have moved here from Mancelona to open the attractive shop which is a part of the Market Mall comples though it also opens on to Bridge St.

They will be assisted in the operation of the shop by Greg Williams, operating manager, Wally and Jeff Drenth, Jody Davenport and Dick Lynn.

"We would love to meet you. We hope you will stop in and introduce yourself" Mrs. LaVanway said in estending an invitation to local residents to stop in.

Charlevoix Council Minutes

June 21, 1982
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Staley presiding.

Present: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, and Block. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The Minutes of the June 7, 1982 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Timms to appoint Clement F. Olach as 3rd Ward Councilmember to fill the unexpired term of Joseph Morris.

Kathleen Mettler, a member of the General Public present and a 3rd Ward resident, presented a petition signed by approximately sixty 3rd Ward residents in favor of Council appointing David Strawbridge to fill the vacancy on the Council created by the illness of Councilman Morris. Several other members of the General Public present voiced their opinions regarding the proposed appointment of Clement Olach to fill the vacancy. Councilwoman Roloff stated that she had taken a survey of approximately 300 people and that 90% were in favor of appointing Mr. Olach.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, and Block. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Morris.

The City Clerk administered the oath of office to Councilman Olach.

The following Emergency Ordinance was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilwoman Roloff.

(See Ordinance No. 402 published elsewhere in this edition of the Courier).

Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to hold a Public Hearing at 8:00 P.M. on July 6, 1982 regarding a proposed permanent amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance which would create a Motel-Hotel (M-H) zoning classification.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council continued a Public Hearing as tabled on May 3, 1982 regarding a proposed amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance to rezone the Wayside Motel property at 801 Petoskey Ave. from R-1 to C-1 as requested by Oscar Stroud. Several members of the General Public present and surrounding neighbors of the property voiced their views on the proposed rezoning.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilman Wood to adopt an amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance to rezone the property at 801 Petoskey Avenue from R-1 to C-1.

Following further discussion of the matter, the City Manager reviewed the City's new Motel-Hotel zoning classification and a copy of that Ordinance was given to Mr. Stroud for his perusal. Mr. Stroud expressed concern regarding that portion of the Ordinance which only allows unit rentals on a nightly basis would not be suitable for his property and asked Council to consider an R-4, Multiple Family Residential, zoning of the property. The City Manager stated that the City's proposed Master Plan does not provide for any residential use of the property..

Councilman Block withdrew his motion to rezone the property at 801 Petoskey Avenue from R-1 to C-1.

Mr. Stroud stated that his main objective in the proposed rezoning was to eliminate the R-1 zoning classification. Councilwoman Roloff asked Mr. Stroud if he still wanted the C-1 zoning as requested. Mr. Stroud replied that those present had talked him out of his C-1 request and again suggested that Council consider an R-4 zoning. Dave Knight, a member of the local press, suggested that the property be zoned M-H for the present with reconsideration at such time as Mr. Stroud may present plans for an R-4 use of the property.

The following Ordinance was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms.

(See Ordinance No. 403 published elsewhere in this edition of the Courier.)

Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council adjourned to the Board of Appeals.

Following the Board of Appeals, Council reconvened with all members being present.

A proposed Site Plan was presented to Council by Robert Schieman for the construction of a commercial building at his property on Ferry Avenue adjacent to Ferry Avenue Beach. The City Manager recommended that Council return the Site Plan to the Planning Commission for more detailed information and to ensure compliance with City Code requirements.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Wood to return Robert Schieman's Site Plan to the Planning Commission to allow them to address the City Code requirements of the Site Plan as outlined by the City Manager.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, and Block. Nays: None. Abstaining: Councilman Olach. Absent: None.

Lloyd VanAlstine, Owner of Boyne Auto Co., located on South Bridge Street, appeared before Council to request permission to pave the public right-of-way on the Carpenter Street side of his building for parking purposes.

Moved by Councilman Olach and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to approve a request by Lloyd VanAlstine of Boyne Auto Co. to pave the 25' by 90' area between the Boyne Auto Building on Bridge Street and Carpenter Avenue, most of which is in the public right-of-way, and to allow a revokable permit for use of said right-of-way for parking purposes.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: Councilman Porter. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Timms to table the request submitted by Virginia Abbot for extension of sanitary sewer to her property located in Charlevoix Township.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Jackie Merta, Executive Director of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, appeared before Council requesting the use of East Park for 1982 summer Chamber events.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Block to allow the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce the use of East Park for the following events:

14th Annual Lakeside Hobbycraft Show, July 10.
Annual Venetian Festival, July 22-25.
Waterfront Art Fair, Aug. 14.
Sidewalk Sale Days, Aug. 19-21.
Apple Festival, Oct. 9-10.

Council discussed the advisability of allowing East Park to be used for retail sales during Sidewalk Sale Days.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to amend Councilman Wood's motion to exclude the Chamber's use of East Park for Sidewalk Sale Days.

Amendment was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Olach. Nays: Councilmembers Wood and Block. Absent: None.

Councilman Wood's Amended Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The following resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Porter.

RESOLUTION 82-6-2

WHEREAS, the City of Charlevoix is a party to a consent judgement in the Charlevoix County Circuit Court, dated December 16, 1980; and

WHEREAS, paragraph 4 of that judgement provides that the City "shall construct an addition to the existing terminal building at the Charlevoix Municipal Airport by December 31, 1982. Said addition to provide adequate office space for Defendants," said Defendants being Welke Aviation, Inc.; and

WHEREAS, on or before May 10, 1982, the Charlevoix City Manager offered to begin planning for the construction of such space, if Welke Aviation, Inc. agreed to enter into a rental arrangement for the space which is similar to that arrangement now existing between the City and McPhillips Flying Service; and

WHEREAS, Paul Welke, President of Welke Aviation, Inc. declined this offer, in a verbal conversation with the City Manager, and later by failing to respond to a written notice terminating paragraph 4 of the consent judgement;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX, that it has acted in good faith to meet its obligations under the terms of the aforementioned consent judgement; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that it has found that Welke Aviation, Inc. is unwilling to enter into the lease arrangement contemplated in the consent judgement; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that it is hereby terminating paragraph 4 of the consent judgement.

RESOLVED this 21st day of June, 1982 A.D.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms to award the contract for resident inspection and general engineering during construction services for the City's Stormsewer Project to McNamee, Porter and Seeley at an estimated cost of $12,000.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to award a contract for City Legal Services to Michael A. Gibbons for a period of one year at a annual fee of $10,000 for basic services plus $50.00 per hour for additional services.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Olach to write-off uncollectible bad debts owed the City in the amount of $220.87.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The following items were discussed briefly:

A. The City's proposed legislation to allow equal representation on a Consolidated Charter Commission Bill is presently waiting for the Governor's signature.

B. The City may be able to utilize the sanitary sewer lift station being installed by Michael Barnard on Ferry Avenue for the Ferry Beach Restroom Building.

C. Municipal Airport Vehicle Parking Rules have been revised and are posted at the Airport.

D. The City Manager stated that he has responded to a request from Jeff VanTreese, representing Bose Engineering, demanding payment for alleged use and damages to a vehicle rented by the City Recreation Department.

The Council having examined bills totaling $197,898.52 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Wood that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amount.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council adjourned.

BOARD OF APPEALS

June 21, 1982

The Board of Appeals convened with Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach present. Absent: None.

The Board discussed a request for a variance as submitted by F.W. VanDuyne of 403 Michigan Avenue to allow construction of a deck. Bruce MacArthur, representing Mr. VanDuyne, stated that the property owner was requesting Council's approval of a variance which would allow construction of the deck at an angle rather than the plan approved by the City Planning Commission. Connie Pointner, adjoining property owner, voiced her objections to any deviation from the plan recommended by the Planning Commission.

A Motion by Councilman Porter to approve a variance as requested by F.W. VanDuyne to reduce the required side yard set-back at 403 Michigan Avenue from 15 feet to 2.5 feet diagonally to allow construction of a deck was withdrawn for lack of support.

Mr. MacArthur presented a written statement to the City Clerk which listed hardship or practical difficulty, extraordinary circumstances, and property rights as justification for granting the variance.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Wood to approve a variance for F.W. VanDuyne of 403 Michigan Avenue reducing his side yard set-back requirement from 15 feet to 11.5 feet to allow construction of a deck.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, and Block. Nays: None. Abstaining: Councilman Olach. Absent: None.

Douglas Winnell appeared before Council to request reconsideration of two variances for the erection of a fence as denied by the Board of Appeals on June 7, 1982.

Moved by Councilman Olach and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to approve two variances as requested by Douglas Winnell to reduce the required front yard setback from 25' to 9' and the required side yard setback from 10' to 4' on his property at 101 East Hurlbut to allow erection of a fence.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: Councilman Timms. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Wood and supported by Councilwoman Roloff to approve a variance as requested by Jack Fels to reduce the required side yard setback from 15' to 10' on his property at 204 East Dixon to allow construction of a carport.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, Block, and Olach. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Wood to approve two sign variances as requested by Murdick's Cookie Nook of 111 Bridge Street to increase the maximum number of allowable accessory signs from 1 to 2 and to reduce the minimum allowable distance from the sidewalk on one of the signs from 10' to 8'; said variance being granted to retain the substantial property rights of the owner.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timms, Roloff, Wood, and Block. Nays: Councilman Porter. Abstaining: Councilman Olach. Absent: None.

The Board of Appeals adjourned.

FOLLOWING THE GLACIERS' PATH on a ten-day tour through Northern Michigan were these Girl Scouts from all over the country who made a stop in Charlevoix Thursday. The trip was part of the Girl Scouts' National Wider Opportunity program called "Where the Glaciers Roamed" and was structured to follow the path of the glaciers through various parts of the country. The Northern Michigan portion of the program was sponsored by the Crooked Tree Council of Traverse City. The girls visited Sault Ste. Marie, Mackinac Island, Agawa Canyon and many other regional points of interest.

Radio Club holds field day

On the weekend of June 26-27 from 2 p.m. Saturday to 2 p.m. Sunday, members of the Straits Area Amateur Radio Club participated in the 46th Annual American Radio Relay League Field Day Emergency Preparedness Test.

Thousands of amateur radio operators (HAMS) in the U.S. and Canada set up their stations in the open using only emergency power and portable antennas. They contacted as many operators as possible in the 24-hour period. These tests are designed to help HAMS refine operating skills so necessary during disasters and times of emergency when normal channels of communication are disrupted or unavailable.

The operation site this year was at the Boyne City Municipal Park located on the lake near downtown Boyne City.

The club operated high frequency radiotelegraph and radiotelephone stations with 200 watt transmitters plus a 2-meter FM station.

Field Day is sponsored by the American Radio Relay League, a membership society of U.S. and Canadian amateur radio operators with headquarters in Newington, Connecticut.

(1) Not more than 40% of the lot area shall be covered by buildings.

(2) Not more than twenty (20) dwelling units per acres shall be permitted in this district.

(3) Each unit in the development shall have a maximum size of 1000 square feet of enclosed living area. Kitchens shall be provided in no more than 20% of the units.

(4) Where the developer uses the required yard setback area for parking, there shall be a minimum building set-back from the right-of-way to each street on which the property abuts, of at least seventy-five (75) feet, the front twenty-five (25) feet of which shall be bermed and landscaped. Where the required yard setback area is not used for parking, there shall be a minimum building set-back from the right-of-way to all streets on which the property abuts of forty (40) feet, the total of which shall be landscaped.

(5) There shall be a minimum building set-back from all property lines of thirty (30) feet, and a minimum building set-back from all other adjacent use districts of fifty (50) feet. A minimum ten foot wide landscaped berm, or similar natural screening device, shall separate all parking areas from all other adjacent use districts.

(6) All areas provided for use by vehicles and all pedestrian walks shall be surfaced with bituminous asphalt, concrete, or similar materials, and properly drained.

(7) No building or appurtenances shall exceed the height of thirty-five (35) feet, measured vertically from the finished grade at the lowest elevation of the foundation to the heightest point of the roof.

(8) Storage or refuse containers shall be screened.

(9) Provision shall be made for safe and efficient ingress and egress to the public streets and highways serving the property without undue congestion of or interference with normal traffic flow.

(10) All new construction shall be serviced by public sanitary sewer disposal and public water supply system. All utility lines (power and telephone) shall be placed underground.

THIS AMENDMENT IS GIVEN IMMEDIATE EFFECT ON ADOPTION BY THE CITY COUNCIL TO PRESENT A SUBSTANTIAL PRIVATE PROPERTY RIGHTS.

The Bay

EYE ......Is Everywhere!

Is Summer Here Yet? ... Many of us northern residents have been asking ourselves this same question and have been ready for months for those rising temperatures, the feel of sand between our toes and the sun warming our brow. Hopefully, Bay View Country Club's Golf Mixer of June 19 are assuring signs that summer has finally arrived.

After an invigorating round of golf, a gala decorated club house served as a warm welcome for the proceeds to follow. In traditional summer savory style the barbecue ribs and chicken reminded many of fun-filled summers past. The band Fore Gone Conclusion prompted toes to tap and spirits livened to provide for all out fun!

Awards were presented for various golfing attributes - low gross among one of the categories. An announcement was also made as to Gary Domagalski (Bay View Country Club's Golf Pro) plans to be married. Congratulations!

Bits & Pieces…

Since fashion is a business as well as an art, trends sometimes start with economics rather than designer intentions. One example is the disappearance of prints after a long period of striking and colorful designs.

Prints didn't vanish because they were played out. In fact, Italian fabric designers put their textile industry on the fashion map with prints. Today, designers go to italy constantly for the prints they do use. They just don't use as many as they might, because good prints on natural fiber fabrics have become so expensive.

In America, the search for fashion prints has led to the door marked Qiana. The return of the silkline fiber created by DuPont to woven fabrics has been an inspiration for new, but less expensive prints. Like silk, Qiana takes vivid prints beautifully.

Qiana prints are less expensive than silk, which is the fabric of choice for summer prints at higher prices.

Summer clothes for leisure wear take inspiration this year from fashions for active sports use. But they are less rugged than clothes that are really meant for tennis, golf or sailing, and are detailed in less practical ways.

Shorts have always been part of active sportswear, but now they're used with matched jackets.

As active sportswear, shorts, great for leisure outfits, expose legs to painful sunburn. Culottes are more protective, but when used for leisure styles, their tops are designed to look good, not to protect the skin.

Lengths in leisure separates vary as they do in all current fashion.

Pants for real sports are usually classic, but in leisure clothes they must have something unusual about them that says fashion.

Summer's most popular party look may well be the "prairie" dress, whether as a one piece or a combination of top and ruffly skirt. It's romantic and often inexpensive.

Remember, prairie may mean an off-shoulder, half peasant look, a prim Victorian style, or even a naive concept, with pantaloons beneath.

For children, summer is pure fun, and designers have given them fashions in colors and themes that express the carefree joy of the season. Most styles are separates, because youngsters are so active in summer.

Children always enjoy the lively look of stripes, which happen to be big in general fashion this year. Bold awning stripes lead for summer.

For summer dress-up times, the adult trend to all white turns into delicately Victorian little-girl styles.

For older girls, the summer themes turn sophiticated. The white Victorian look is more richly trimmed. Bold prints appear on dark grounds.

Fall fashion choices are so varied that no one trend can presently be discerned. Short or long lengths, full or slim silhouettes - you can have them all. Many women will choose classics that make good fashion investments.

To keep a classic from being dull, says the Fiber Information Center, look to the fabric for fashion sparkle. Color, pattern and texture can make a classic fresh.

The Computer Age is Here!

by Bayside Travel

The computer is drastically changing the way in which the nation's travel business operates. And it is happening at an accelerating pace. In the past three years, some 5,000 of the country's 17,000 travel agencies have tied into a computerized reservation and ticketing system. This change is coming about primarily because this is the trend of business in general, but the shift to the computerized age is at a faster pace in the travel industry. This speedy change-over is due to the deregulation of the airlines.

The other day in the computer there were 175 air fares from Detroit to Orlando! "The only way for a travel agent to keep current and give the client the very lowest fare is to computerize," says Kathy Adelaine of Bayside Travel.

What happened to Emerick C. Zovko is typical. Agents at his Pittsburgh travel agency were spending many hours leafing through their Official Airline Guides, waiting out busy telephone lines to make reservations, and writing tickets by hand. Mr. Zovko has done what many other travel agencies including Bayside Travel of Petoskey have done — invested in computers. He leased several computer terminals and tied into United Airlines Inc.'s Apollo system. "We had people who wrote tickets all day," Zovko says, "but not any more." Because his agents' productivity soared by 50%, the agency was soon writing 41% more tickets. Last year, as a result, the Pittsburgh agency's sales shot up 60% to $10 million. Such sales gains are not unusual when agents tie into a computer network. It is to the benefit of all involved in the travel business to feed information into these computerized systems. The United Airlines Apollo systems has flight information for nearly 600 airlines; over 3,000 hotels, motels, and resorts, and all the major rental car companies. "We'd like to have as many people selling our rooms as possible," declares William H. Fowler, vice-president of hotel group reservations for Holiday Inns Inc. All in all computers are here to stay, and the bottom line is what we all want - better service for the consumer - you, the traveler.

THE YOUNG AMERICANS — The internationally famous performing group, impressively polished and professional, return to Northern Michigan for their 8th summer, touring four Broadway musicals in Petoskey, also Traverse City and Grayling. "To Richard Rodgers, With Love," plays July 13-16 & August 20-22. "Grease" runs July 27-30 & August 10-12. "The Pirates of Penzance" plays July 27-30 & August 13-15. "The Music Man" runs August 3-6 & August 17-19. All shows are held at Petoskey High School at 8 p.m. For tickets please call 347-1333. Box office is located at the corner of Lake & Howard in Petoskey's Gaslight District. Also see the Young Americans Dinner Theatre at Boyne Highlands.

Young Americans Are Back

Formed twenty years ago by Milton C. Anderson, of Petoskey, THE YOUNG AMERICANS have been seen on over 20 television shows, and specials, recorded 7 record albums, received an oscar for a full-length feature film, toured the nation 8 times and have just recently returned from touring Japan and France. The group consists of talented singers and dancers, ages 15-21, who come from all across the United States.

THE YOUNG AMERICANS is a non-profit, tax-exempt corporation formed to further understanding through youth and music. The groups' home base is in Los Angeles, CA., although they have considered Petoskey their second home for the past eight years.

Performers from THE YOUNG AMERICANS join many other talented young people from across the country in presenting musical comedy shows with "THE AMERICAN MUSICAL THEATRE." The American Musical Theatre, formed in 1975 in Petoskey, offers a unique training ground for young musical comedy talent to learn and grow as performers and designers. Those attending the American Musical Theatre reside at North Central Michigan College for the summer. They pay a tuition fee, receive college credits and work with many of the finest professional directors, designers and coaches available.

RUBY CORUNDUM

Ruby Corundum is one of the loveliest of the lovelies. Unfortunately, gentlemen, ruby is not a woman; ruby is a gemstone — the variety of the mineral corundum that possesses that marvelous rich, red color. Ruby is one of the top three gemstones in value and popularity. (The other two are diamond and emerald).

Why is ruby so valuable? Basically, because of supply and demand. Although the demand for fine ruby is high, this quality is exceedingly rare. As a matter of fact, large rubies are more rare than large diamonds.

Why is ruby so popular? Ruby's velvety red color has an unequalled appeal to the human eye. Red has often been identified as a royal color. It is also known to stir one's emotions.

Fine large rubies are a rare breed, but there are some exceptional specimens on display in museums throughout the world. The 167-carat Edward Ruby is in the British Museum of Natural History in London. The 138.7 carat Reeves Star Ruby is in the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, DC. The 100-carat Long Star Ruby is in the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

If you were born in July, ruby may have added significance for you, since it's the official birthstone for that month. It has been said that when a person wears his or her birthstone, the stone's special powers exert their influence. Ruby symbolizes charity, dignity, freedom and divine power.

If you would like to learn a little more about rubies or other stones of interest to you, come into Reusch Jewelry for a free consumer information pamphlet on the stone of your choice.

Can TCE be filtered out?

by DAVE KNIGHT

Filtration as a possible solution to Charlevoix's municipal water contamination will be discussed Tuesday evening by the Charlevoix City Council when the council holds its regular meeting, postponed for a day by the July Fourth holiday, at 8 p.m.

Officials of the Calgon Company met with City Manager Robert Hunt last week to explain the merits of filtering trichloroethylene (TCE) out of city water rather than drilling an entirely new well.

Since being discovered in the city water supply last fall, TCE has been detected in amounts up to 50 parts per billion (ppb) in some tests. The potential health hazard of the chemical, used as an industrial degreaser among other things, has not been confirmed by researchers but it is suspected to be a possible carcinogen, or, cancer causing agent.

The possibility of filtering the TCE out of the city water was first proposed at the council's June 28 committee-as-a-whole meeting. According to proponents, solving the problem by adding a filtration unit to the city's pumping facility would avoid the time and expense of finding a new municipal well site.

Ten test wells, drilled by a contractor to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Natural Resources, were recently completed at selected sites in the city and township. The purpose of the test wells was to determine groundwater flow patterns and try to locate the point source of the contamination.

In his agenda summary for the council, Hunt cautioned against rushing into the purchase of a filtration system saying, "In terms of the add-on type unit vessels available through Calgon, it is still a very new technology. There are currently less than ten of these systems operating in municipal water supplies throughoot the country and none in the State of Michigan. Though there is sufficient experience in indostrial and wastewater applications to document their effectiveness with regard to the removal of TCE, there is very little information about total operating costs which tend to be considerably higher than wells."

At Tuesday's meeting, Hunt will recommand that Granger Engineering be retained by the city for a cost of no more than $5,000 to conduct an independent engineering study of the TCE problem and possible alternatives to remedy it.

Bill signed for equal commission

Governor William Milliken signed into law Thursday, June 24, Public Act 192 which allows a charter commission studying consolidation between the City of Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township to be comprised of an equal number of representatives of both city and township.

The new law replaces a one-man, one-vote concept under which the city would have held a 7-2 edge over the township in a nine-man commission.

According to the language of the new legislation, "If the municipalities proposed far consolidation choose to appoint their charter commissioners pursuant to this subsection, the commission, when its order approving a proposed consolidation becomes final, shall instruct the governing bodies of the municipalities proposed for consolidation to appoint not less than eight and not more than ten charter commissioners. The govrning body of each municipality proposed for consolidation shall appoint an equal number of charter commissioners."

Whether the consolidation process will continue to the formation of a charter commission is presently in doubt, however, since a petition drive has successfully required an election to take place on the question of consolidation.

A total of 243 signatores requesting the election were collected in the township and 48 in the city.

An election date will be set by the State Boundary Commission.

Seek applicants

Due to the appointment of Clement Olach to the City Council, a vacancy now exists on the City Planning Commission. Any city resident interested in filling that position is asked to contact City Clerk Deanne Balch.

Bay Shore AF site to hold open house

For the first time in an estimated 12 years, area residents will be able to inspect firsthand the Bay Shore Air Force radar facility when an open house is held at the site Saturday, July 10.

Providing entertainment for the open house will be the 502nd Air Force Band from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio.

Known officially as Detachment 6, Combat Evaluation Group, the Bay Shore site is used by the Air Force as a training facility to "score" electronically simulated bombing runs made by bombers and fighters from all over the country.

Tours of the site will be given from 1 to 4 p.m. and will feature an actual training run by an Ohio Air National Guard plane around 2 p.m.

Refreshments and door prizes will also be available.

Open house coordinators Major Paul Schaffenberger and Sgt. Bruce Ippel explained that the event is in appreciation to the community for its support. The open house will also provide interested residents of the area with a chance to see the actual workings of the radar site which may be phased out and moved to Wyoming should funding become available.

A misunderstanding about the time and place the class picture was to be taken resulted in only a part of the class of 1918 at the Charlevoix High School appearing in the photo. Pictured are, front row left to right, Ila Woods and Katherine Harsha who are holding a flag with a star for Lee Newson, a member of the class who had already departed for service in the U.S. Navy; in the second row are Wilma Stephenson and Lillian McNeil; third row, Kenneth Widdifield, Beatrice Harrington, Leo Butler, Hazel Allen and Russell Schwitzer; back row, Robert O'Neil, Bess Hammet, Jack Supernaw and Clayton Smith. Other members of the class were Irene Auld, Benona Bartlett, George Beeman, Anna Gordon, William Hampton, Madge Kibbe, Walker Miles, Margaret Saunders, Roscoe Smith and Odillion Weed.

KFC to assist March of Dimes in July Fund drive

The Colonel Sanders Memorial "Help Change the Future" March of Dimes campaign is about to start its fourth annual fund-raising drive to help assure every child a healthy start in life. The campaign kick-off was announced today by Joe Etienne of the local KFC franchise and Marion Parker, Executive Director of the Northern Chapter of March of Dimes.

"We want to do our part to help the March of Dimes in its fight to prevent birth defects," said Etienne. "With the help of the people of Charlevoix we hope to assure a better tomorrow for America's children."

The month-long fund-raising campaign will continue through July and all Kentucky Fried Chicken employees will work closely with the Northern Michigan March of Dimes Chapter. Each store will have a special canister into which patrons are urged to donate their change to "Help Change the Future." In addition, a contribution of $.10 will be made to the March of Dimes for each chicken purchase on July 3, 4 or 5.

According to local March of Dimes campaign chairman Marion Parker, "Half of all monies raised here in Charlevoix and Petoskey will be returned to the local community to benefit our chapter programs. The other half supports national research and medical education activities."

On hand for the presentation to the Detroit College of Law of a microfilm reader in memory of Frank Hoffman were, in front, Hoffman's niece Carla Hoffman; in the middle left to right, his sister Jane (Hoffman) Chickering of Traverse City, sister-in-law Joan (Mrs. Robert) Hoffman and his wife Cheri Hoffman; in back is his brother, Robert Hoffman.

Hoffman remembered at DCL ceremony

The Detroit College of Law (DCL) recently held a memorial ceremony honoring the late Frank G. Hoffman of Charlevoix. Hoffman was serving as Assistant Charlevoix County Prosecutor and Charlevoix City Attorney during the time of his death of April 13, 1981. He was 31.

In memory of Frank, the Hoffman family and brother Robert L., DCL class of 1963, donated a Microfiche Reader-Printer to the Detroit College of Law Library. This machine is capable of displaying microfiche-microfilm materials on a screen and producing a photostat copy of the material.

Frank Hoffman was born in Petoskey on July 7, 1949. He graduated from St. Francis High School in Petoskey and earned a B.S. degree from Central Michigan University and a Juris Doctor from Detroit College of Law in 1974.

After completion of a law degree at DCL, he was employed by the accounting firms of Ernst & Ernst of Saginaw and Price Waterhouse of Detorit. In 1974, he joined his brother, Robert L., in the law firm of Hoffman and Hoffman. In 1977 he was named Assistant Prosecutor for Charlevoix County and was appointed Charlevoix City Attorney in 1979.

Hoffman maintained memberships in the American Bar Association; State Bar of Michigan; Emmet-Charlevoix Bar Association; Association of Trial Lawyers of America; American Judicature Society; St. Mary's Church and the Father Pierre Charlevoix Council 7172, Knights of Columbus.

Camp McSauba opens for season

Camp McSauba, a day camp sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department for boys and girls in the five to 13 year age groups, has opened for its seventh season.

The camp will operate for eight one-week sessions. Children may be enrolled for any number of sessions.

Sessions operate from Monday through Wednesday from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. and from 9 a.m. Thursday until noon on Friday with Thursday night being an overnight activity.

Children take a sack lunch, a beverage, their bathing suit and a towel. Transportation is the responsibility of the camper's parents.

The weekly camper fee which includes all activities, a T-shirt and two meals for Thursday night and Friday morning is $35.

The camp is located north of Charlevoix on 50 acres of land that features rolling and steep hills, sand dunes, sandy valleys, deep woods and swamp which offers a side variety of laod for nature study and 3,500 feet of Lake Michigan frontage. Activities are scheduled by the campers and their counselors on a small group level to encourage participation and decision making by everyone involved.

Regular activities include swim instruction. A new innovation is the use of a nearby pool for swimming instruction. Archery, BB gunnery, arts and crafts, nature study, games, hiking, camp crafts, singing, skits and stunts are also offered as part of the program.

In addition to Jack Gebott, director, who has supervised the camp for the past six years, counselors are Teresa Noirot, a sophomore at Alma College where she is majoring in Health; Kathy Cook, a senior Occupational Therapy major at Western Michigan University and Jim Buchanan, a recent Charlevoix High School graduate who will be a freshman at Aquinas College in September.

Plan flea market

The Norwood United Methodist Women will sponsor a flea market at Friendship Hall at Norwood Wednesday, July 14.

Home-prepared food will be served and baked goods and fresh produce tables will also be available.

The market will begin at 9 a.m. and continue throughout the day.

Spaces at the flea market may be reserved by calling 547-9187 or 599-2269. There is a fee of $5.00 for each space. Vendors must provide their own table.

Concert program set

The Charlevoix City Band, directed by Terry Isenbarger, will present its weekly concert in East Park at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Among the selection the band will present will be the Star-Spangled Spectacular by George M. Cohan; Two Gealic Folk Songs, Tyra; A Tribute to Sousa featuring marches by the famous composer of band music; Offenbach's Tales of the Vienna Woods and Dry Bones as arranged by Yoder.

The band continues to seek members. Anyone interested in playing with the group is invited to attend rehearsals at the Charlevoix High School band room at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Hobbycraft Fair this week

There will be a lot of action in downtown Charlevoix this coming Saturday.

Over 100 hobbyists and craftsmen from throughout the Midwest will converge on East Park for the city's 14th annual Hobby Show.

The Show slogan could almost be, "If you can make it, we've got it." There will be jewelry, dolls, clothing, handpainted silk, macrame, handcrafted wood, nature plaques, stained glass, salt dough, knitwear, cereamics, baby items, resin castings, dried flowers, polished rocks, handcrafted pewter, and wind chimes, to name a few.

Among local artisans displaying their work will be Linda Boocher, macrame; Rex Supernaw, handcrafted wood; Mary Cook, dolls and nature plaques; Mary Bataran, stained glass; Karen Bethway, salt dough; Emma Zednicek, knitwear; and Angel Bearss, ceramics.

With these and dozens of other participants, the show is expected to lure shoppers from all over the area.

Jacquie Merta, executive secretary of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the show, says the work to be shown will surpass the work seen in juried and larger downstate Hobby Shows.

Show Hours will be 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Knight on the Town
What a party coming up!

by Dave Knight

Final plans for this year's Venetian Festival are now being made and, as usual, there is just the right blend of tradional events and new additions.

Because of a schedule conflict, this year there will be no drum and bugle corps competition. But that does not mean there will be nothing to do on the Friday evening of Venetian Weekend nor does it mean the Saturday street parade will be at a loss for visiting hands.

The night of Friday, July 23, has been designated a "Night of Music" and will provide for residents and visitors four hours of music for dancing under the stars at East Park.

Chairman Marilyn Wilmot has booked the hand Red Hearts from Petoskey for the night. They feature a wide range of musical styles and plan to liven up things with a dance contest or two. The fun starts at 8 p.m. that evening.

And on Saturday, one of the highlights of the Venetian Street Parade will be an appearance in the parade by the Stroh Highland Pipe Band from Detroit. This nationally-known band, making a complementary visit to Charlevoix, will surely add to the color and gaiety of the "Charlebration!" theme.

Already off to a flying start is Chairman Sandy Bonello of the Venetian Queen pageant. Eight girls have entered the competition, each sponsored by a local business in another new twist to this year's festival. The contestants are already in rehearsals for the pageant which will feature a choreographed musical number to the "Charlebration!" theme.

Also providing entertainment will be one of the judges, Sean Ryan, who has been known to judge a lady or two in his travels. This all happens Thursday night, July 22, the traditional kick-off to the weekend's events.

Marina LaBlance is again heading the street parade committee while John Coolman is coordinating the Saturday evening Venetian Boat Parade. Both expect the "Charlebration!" theme, which reflects the party-like atmosphere of the weekend, to lend itself well to float and boat decoration.

Another new addition to the list of events this year is BMX racing. Charlevoix Township's beautiful new track, now equipped with electronic starting and timing systems, will host a triple-point race over the weekend. Organizer Dan Miller anticipates over two-hundred riders and their support crews plus hundreds more spectators for the races.

As always, the Venetian Foot Race under the guidance of Pete Spieles and the Fast Pitch Tournament headed by Ike Boss will also add to the weekend excitement.

Be sure July 22-25 is circled on your calendar. This year's Venetian Festival promises to be a "Charlebration!" nobody will want to miss.

Clockwise
Never looked better

by Bob Clock

WHENEVER I WALK downtown these summer evenings I am struck anew by what a beautiful place Charlevoix is to spend a vacation. If I didn't live here, I would certainly be numbered among one of the regular visitors.

And the old town has never looked better.

The locust trees which drew such bitter criticism before they were planted last year are in full leaf for the second time and they are stunning. The new leaves are so shiny they appear to be waxed.

East Park also is in fine shape, with the lawn neatly trimmed, abundantly watered and kept free of the debris that normally accumulates wherever people congregate. City workers are doing a top-notch job of keeping the park clean and green.

It's hard to imagine a prettier sight than the park on band concert night (Wednesdays), with the setting sun illuminating the attractive old homes on E. Hurlbut Street, sailboats and cabin cruisers bobbing on the waters of Round Lake, and seagulls wheeling over shore, stroking the cool night air in time with the music.

Of course, the shops are well-stocked and their window displays have never been more attractive. We all have our favorite windows, but I particularly like the Apple Tree with its display of ceramic cats lolling, sleeping or looking bored and the little "mosquito houses" you can buy for your window box or planter.

I also get a kick out of Todd Warner's sculpture in the window of the Bay Queen office. Talk about whimsy!

Sometimes I wonder if my kids appreciate the ambiance of their hometown. Probably not. But they will — in spades — once they move away.

OVERHEARD ON BRIDGE Street Thursday night: An vacationing teenage boy to his buddy, "I wish we could find some girl fudgies."

I HAVE TRIED to work up a full head of sympathy for Phil Ruppe over his difficulties with the state Board of Canvassers, but I can't.

As you know, Ruppe, a former Republican congressman who has announced for the U.S. Senate, was stricken from the August primary ballot because:

(1) In the last-minute scramble to meet the June 8 filing deadline, an aide forged Ruppe's signature on his nominating petitions, and

(2) The document was notarized by a woman whose notary commission had expired 10 months earlier.

Although it's not a violation of state election laws, the petition was filed a mere 15 seconds before the deadline — which, if not illegal, is certainly not very smart. What if the filer had been delayed by a traffic light?

Ruppe, who was cheated out of his last bid for the Senate when former Sen. Robert Griffin of Traverse City flip-flopped on his own candidacy, says he is going to challenge the Board of Canvassers in court in order to win a spot on the ballot.

Although I stand in awe of his audacity, I feel sure he is kicking a dead elephant. The Board of Canvassers actually favored Ruppe 2 to 1, but the motion failed to win bipartisan support so Ruppe's petitions were rejected. I feel the decision was the proper one, in light of the serious nature of the violations by the Ruppe committee.

So long as we have elections, the same rules must apply to everyone. And if the rules are bent too often they may break.

Ruppe would be well advised to spend the next six years building staff before taking another crack at the office.

4-H Notes

Off to Exploration Days

by LEAH GREEN

It's a record group! We're really happy about it. About what? Exploration Days. Every June nearly five thousand 4-H'rs from all over the state gather at Michigan State University to learn in an option of their choice and have a chance to relax and get to know each other a little during this three day event. Charlevoix County sent a delegation of forty-four this year. A year ago the number was twenty-five and we thought that was great. I guess it was, but the word is spreading about the fun those twenty-five had and we nearly doubled it this time!

The more the merrier - and it is. The Emmet and Charlevoix young people boarded the Emmet 4-H bus early on Wednesday, June 23 and journied to East Lansing. Options began right after lunch and continued twice on Thursday and again Friday morning. Following a picnic lunch Friday we loaded up the bus again and headed for the North.

Our Charelvoix 4-H'rs stayed in one of the MSU dorms and took their meals there. The food was good and there was lots of it. Evenings brought a performance of the 4-H Performing Arts Troupe or a chance to see a movie.

Some young folks took advantage of this time to take a quiet walk on campus, one of the most beautiful anywhere, and enjoy the fantastic variety of growing things on display there. Older members took a look at this university through the eyes of prospective students as they sampled life on a Big Ten School.

Forty-four tired but happy 4-H'rs have had a memorable experience to say nothing of a valuable one. In a fun setting they sampled one or two of the two hundred and thirty solid learning options originally available to them. There will be forty-four new ideas circulating in Charlevoix County. Some members will be able to assist their leaders as junior leaders next year because of this experience. Each should be able to share his or her new expertise with others. Only good can come from such a neat and painless learning process. Its the way 4-H works. True we are dedicated to learning but 4-H is informal, builds leadership and attempts to turn out folks who are going to be assets to their Communities. Who could ask for anything more?

Another view of the County Transit System

by PEG OHLE

Last week the Courier received a letter from a Transit System bus driver who criticized us for our stories about the problems of the System. We were too negative, he said.

Jim Ehrcke of Charlevoix, who has been driving a Transit System bus for two years, suggested that we could help the cause as well as learn something by talking to some of the bus drivers.

"The Transit System can be run with much better efficiency," Ehrcke said, so we invited him to the office for a talk.

He is dedicated to his job and fond of the people he drives. But he is also frustrated.

Last year, he spoke before the Lions Club in Boyne City and told them how they could use the Transit System. He showed them a schedule he had worked out for several daily trips between Boyne City and East Jordan and Boyne City and Charlevoix, as well as other runs into and out of the three cities. His schedule gave riders a wide choice of hours and, he says, would have made maximum use of the buses.

He turned his suggested schedule into Transit management and didn't hear any more about it. It was never tried, and in the meantime, many Transit buses run empty or near empty on many of their runs.

"Why don't they advertise so people know bus transportation is available?" Ehrcke asked, adding that when he is parked in shopping areas, people often come up to him to inquire about the bus.

We checked the Transit System budget and found that $2,500 had been budgeted for "Advertising - Marketing" for the period January 1, 1980 through September 30, 1982. At the end of 1981, a two-year period, only $649.53 of this amount had been spent.

Is it possible that, as Ehrcke says he has heard, the Transit system doesn't want to advertise because they are afraid it will get more business it they can handle?

Ehrcke suggests that pick-up points around the County would be helpful. He points out that buses make regular runs between the cities and pass certain points at regular times of the day. If people knew the time, they could arrange to be at that point to catch a bus. This would be useful for many rural communities such as Ironton, Advance, Walloon Lake, Horton Bay, and Bay Shore, as well as crossroads in between.

Ehrcke believes that a bus route around Lake Charlevoix would serve a lot of people and even provide a pleasant recreational drive. People are taking boat trips on the lake and train rides to Petoskey these days, so why not a bus trip around the lake?

These are some of the things Ehrcke had to say, and the Courier is glad to report them. Of course he is not a professional in Transit management, but he does not profess to be. He simply feels that he and other Transit drivers have some good ideas and should be asked for input from Transit management and the Commission on Aging.

We hope they are asked and that some positive good can come to the Transit System through their efforts.

Out of the Blue

Some will ever perceive,
As millenium's dawn,
An idea whose time
Has come ... and gone.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Ballard

Elliott-Ballard

Faith Community Fellowship in Boyne City was the setting for the June 26 wedding of Cindy Lee Elliott and Robert David Ballard. Pastor Clifford Molnar performed the double ring rites before 200 wedding guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis L. Elliott of Charlevoix are parents of the bride and Ms. Evelyn J. Ballard of East Jordan is the mother of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Victorian lace gown over taffeta with long sleeves and lace edging the pinafore-style bodice. Her veil of bridal illusion was edged with lace and attached to a lace cap. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

A program of traditional wedding music was offered by Carolyn Molnar.

Val Hoover attended the bride as matron of honor and Debra Kay Weisler was bridesmaid. They wore blue gingham sundresses with bolero jackets and wide brimmed hats. The attendants carried bouquets of yellow daisies and carnations.

Ken Hoover was best man and groomsman was Martin C. Weisler Jr. Ushers were Russell Ballard and Randy Weisler.

A reception followed the ceremony at Whiting Park in Boyne City.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian C. Stanek

Seeley-Stanek

Karen S. Seeley became the bride of Brian C. Stanek, at a June 26 wedding ceremony at the Missionary Church in East Jordan.

Candelabra and arrangements of white gladioli and blue carnations with red baby's breath graced the altar for the evening ceremony performed by Rev. Dale Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene A. Seeley and Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Stanek are parents of the couple. Both families reside in East Jordan.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white chiffon and organza gown with a Queen Ann neckline and lace bodice adorned with seed pearls, lace sleeves and an empire waist. The full skirt was highlighted by a pleated overlay trimmed with lace. The bride's elbow length veil of illusion was attached to a pearl trimmed lace cap and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white azalea silk flowers. All the flowers were made by the bride and her sister-in-law, Marie Seeley.

Traditional wedding music was played by Lynda Slate.

Janice Murray as maid of honor wore a white off the shoulder floral print dress and carried a silk bouquet of blue roses and carnations with blue and white streamers.

Patrick McWatters, nephew of the groom was ring-bearer.

Best man was Eric Hanson and ushers were brothers of the bride and groom, Dale Seeley and Jeff Stanek.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the American Legion Hall in East Jordan, given by the parents of the bride and groom. Debra Watersen, sister of the bride and Sherry McWatters, sister of the groom, served the wedding cake. Lisa and Teresa Stanek, sisters of the groom attended the guest book and served punch. Special guests at the wedding and reception were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B.L. Terpening and Mr. and Mrs. Burt Savage of Harbor Springs and the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Hill of Maine and Mrs. Mary Stanek of East Jordan.

On Friday evening, a rehearsal dinner was held at the Dairy Corner hosted by the parents of the couple.

The bride attended North Central Michigan College and is employed at Seeley's Printing in Charlevoix. The groom is a graduate of Machinist School in the Michigan National Guard and is in the Reserves. (Wedding photo by Jim Downey)

Super Summer Wednesday starts

Super Summer Wednesday, now in its fifth year will begin Wednesday July 7 and will continue to meet each Wednesday morning from 9:30-11:30 a.m. through Wednesday August 11. Super Summer Wednesday is a multi-faceted program that is offered to everyone living in or visiting the Charlevoix Petoskey area. It consists of Children's Program for youngsters in grades K-5; a Junior High Program for young people going into grade 6-9; a Women's Program for women of all ages and a Men's discussion breakfast meeting. It is held at the Community Reformed Church on U.S. 31 and is sponsored by the Reformed Church, the Charlevoix United Methodist Church and the Christ Episcopal Church.

The Children's Program includes music, crafts, recreation and a Bible-story time. Each activity at each grade level is handled by a different teacher, thus enabling each area to be taught by one who is expert in that area. The children change activities every half hour. The children's program will feature a musical, "The Music Machine" to be given for the community at the end of the series. There will also be a snack time for the children.

The Jr. High Program is for young people going into grades 6-9 and is specially designed for the Jr. High School young person. This phase of the program will be led by Tom Kraft who has worked with youth clubs and atheltic teams in Southern Michigan. Tom, a former All American basketball player for his college division, is now a senior at Western Theological Seminary in Holland, Mich.

The Women's Program will feature an exercise class at 9:30. At 10:00 the group will see the Joyce Landorf film series "His Stubborn Love". Landorf has been called "the most effective articulator of women's concerns in the Christian community today." The women's program is set up in such a way that women can participate in one or both activities.

This year the program has added a men's discussion breakfast group. Open to any man in the community the group will meet Wednesdays at 6:30 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. around a continental breakfast and discuss the book "Straight Talk To Men" by James Dobson.

Super Summer Wednesday is free, non denominational and is intended as a community service for the summer.

Speaker named for Family Campmeeting

Dr. William C. Neece

Dr. William C. Neece will be the speaker for the Charlevoix Family Campmeeting, which will be held July 10-18 in Charlevoix, according to the Rev. Walter G. Hastings, host pastor. The Family Camp is sponsored by the Churches of God in Northern Michigan, and the public is cordially invited to attend. The campground is located at Loeb and Veenstra Roads, just off highway 66, about three miles south of Charlevoix.

Dr. Neece is pastor of the Trinity Church of God in Hunnington, West Virginia. He has travelled extensively around the United States, in demand as a speaker at revivals, conventions, and campmeetings. Dr. Neece is a Bible preacher and Teacher. He will be speaking at the 7:30 p.m. services each evening, and will lead a weekday morning Bible study at 9:30 a.m.

The Charlevoix Campmeeting was begun in 1906 at its present location, and special meetings have been held almost every year since that time. The Community Church of God in Charlevoix began at the campgrounds and worshipped there for eleven years, until the congregation moved to its present location at 202 West Hurlbut Street in town.

Daily vacation activities are planned, making the Charlevoix Family Camp unique among campmeetings. This allows for a relaxed atmosphere which is conducive to fellowship, worship, and enjoyment for all ages. The special feature this year will be a luncheon cruise on the Bay Queen on Thursday, with about ninety persons already signed up to sail.

For further information on the campmeeting, interested persons may call 547-9508 or 547-2875.

Grandvue to hold patio sale

The Grandvue Medical Care Facility will sponsor a patio sale at the facility on Friday and Saturday, July 16 and 17.

Miscellaneous plumbing, light and kitchen fixtures as well as office equipment, an antique sewing machine, clothing and lots more will be offered at reasonable prices from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on both Friday and Saturday.

The facility is located two miles north of East Jordan on Peninsula Road on the east side of the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix.

Roy Bowman : President of Michigan Eye Bank

by PEG OHLE

Meet Charlevoix

Ray Bowman

Roy Bowman of Boyne City is president of the Michigan Eye Bank, an organization that provides corneas for persons who have lost their sight through accident or disease. This week he tells the Courier how the Eye Bank operates and gives us some figures to point up the scope of its work.

COURIER: How do you find cornea donors?

BOWMAN: On the back of each driver's license, there's a place for people to indicate their willingness to donate their eyes after death. However, we don't accept these eyes until we receive permission of the next of kin. The Eye Bank is a project of the Michigan Lions Clubs, so they constantly promote it. And word of mouth plays a big part.

COURIER: Tell us how you go about getting a cornea from the donor to the recipient.

BOWMAN: Shortly after death, the eyes are removed. In this this area, this can be done at either the Charlevoix Area Hospital or Little Traverse Hospital. The eyes are then transported (often with the help of the State Police and local sheriffs) to either the Kresge Eye Institute at Wayne State University or the University of Michigan. The Eye Bank personnel there will then advise the surgeons waiting for an eye to transplant that one is available.

COURIER: How much time elapses from the death of the donor to the transplant?

BOWMAN: The eye should be removed from the donor within six hours after death. We try to place it within 48 hours.

COURIER: What does the transplant operation entail?

BOWMAN: The cornea, which is located in front of the iris, is a transparent structure consisting of five layers of tissue. A corneal transplant is performed when the cornea becomes scarred due to injury, degeneration, or infection and vision is interrupted. There are two types of corneal transplants performed depending on the depth of the scarring. When the top layers of the cornea are scarred, they are removed and replaced. This is called a "Lamellar transplant". If all the layers are damaged, a penetrating transplant is performed.

COURIER: There's a story in one of your recent publications that tells about the first recipient of a corneal transplant from the Michigan Eye Bank, back in 1954. This man also had a transplant in his other eye three years later and reports he has had 20-25 or better vision in both eyes for the past 25 years. That sounds great.

BOWMAN: It's only one of many success stories.

COURIER: How many eyes for transplant does the Michigan Eye Bank provide each year?

BOWMAN: During the first 11 months of the 1981-82 fiscal year, 1,138 corneas were transplanted. That compares with 1,002 corneas for all of 1981.

COURIER: What are the costs of a cornea for transplant?

BOWMAN: Of course, we don't charge anything for corneal tissue, but we have to charge the lab fees for handling it. Last year that cost was $278 per transplant and this year we project it will still be under $300.

COURIER: Do people of all ages receive corneal transplants?

BOWMAN: Yes. In his annual report, our managing director stated that recipients ranged in age from four days to 96 years, with the average being 55 years.

COURIER: And who donates corneas?

BOWMAN: The average donor is 42 years old. We can use eyes from any age person.

COURIER: What do you do with donated eyes that are not satisfactory for transplant?

BOWMAN: They are used for research or surgeon training.

COURIER: What does the Michigan Eye Bank do besides providing eyes for transplant and research?

BOWMAN: Contributions from Michigan Lions Clubs made it possible for the Eye Bank to fund six eye research projects and sponsor two medical fellowships during the past year. The research projects received over $42,000 last year, and this year we have approved $57,000 for nine projects. The medical fellowships amounted to $15,000 each – one in ophthalmology at the University of Michigan, and one at the Kresge Eye Institute at Wayne State University.

COURIER: How is the Michigan Eye Bank organized?

BOWMAN: We're the second largest Eye Bank in the world. We're a non-profit organization with an 11-man volunteer board of directors. We have two divisions, the one at the University of Michigan and the one at Wayne State. We have two volunteer medical directors and eight full-time and four part-time staff members. We have 86 substations, 150 participating hospitals, and 189 volunteer certified enucleators (those trained to remove corneas).

COURIER: And the Lions Clubs are your major benefactor?

BOWMAN: Yes. Anyone wanting to know more about being a donor or a recipient of corneal tissue can get the information from his local Lions Club.

Percussionist Wiles to perform here with Symphonette

MIDLAND, MI – Think of a percussionist and what image comes to mind? The one in the back of the orchestra who sits for long periods of time counting measures of music then suddenly jumps to his feet with a crash of cymbals, a thunder of timpani, or, taking a whack at the bass drum runs back for a gentle "ting" on the triangle. This is the percussionist.

David Wiles, percussionist with The Northwood Symphonette (and Midland and Saginaw Symphony Orchestras) is skilled in all the stereotyped techniques of percussion, but his true artistry goes far beyond.

He is a composer, innovater and maker of instruments that make sound. He is fascinated with sound. "Think of a romantic candlelit dinner," he says, "that is the mood and image I like to think of when composing and performing my 'sound-sculptures'."

He does just that, shaping and creating textures with sound. Whether with ceramic bells, welded brake drums, metal "stroking rods," antique temple bells, wind chimes, marimba, timpani or tam-tam, Wiles involves the audience. They become participants in his creativity.

A graduate of Interlochen Arts Academy and Oberlin Conservatory, he has successfully combined the life of an artist with the life of a performing professional musician. As a former instructor at the Midland Center for the Arts in metalsmithing and sculpture, he is always observing, searching out new welding techniques, new materials and new ways to ferret out "the sounds."

There is another facet to Wiles, as president and owner of The Gumbo Rubber Stamp Company. Wiles is a "nut" about rubber stamps, even to the point of incorporating their use in an original composition during a recital as a 1980 associate fellow at the Northwood Institute Alden B. Dow Creativity Center.

His home is his studio. Fascinated with construction, it is always in some new phase of remodeling. The tantalizing aroma of one of his vegetarian concoctions welcomes visitors. It is a whole-wheat crust filled with a ratatouille mixture, smothered with melted cheese ... something of a cross between pizza, quiche and a casserole. Music plays from the first step on the porch where his metal sculpture "door-bells" herald your arrival, to the speakers and stereo emanating haunting sounds of Harry Partch, Black-Earth Percussion or, David Wiles.

Wiles is a gentle soul. One of those rare individuals who is instantly likeable. He believes in what he is doing; whether installing solar panels for efficient use of energy (his family owns a wood stove, window-insulation, solar-heating business), cooking 15 recipes of his cheese and vegetable combination to put into the freezer, processing orders for his rubber stamps that come from around the world, or talking about his music. He is a sincere hard worker who is in perpetual motion and a thinker who wonders about things. Marks of creativity.

Wiles will complete work toward his masters degree in music at the University of Michigan this fall. He has been there often, performing with The Current and Modern Consort, a group of percussionists dedicated to playing new compositions. Many are the works of David Colson, founder and conductor of the ensemble, who is also a member of The Northwood Symphonette.

Wiles and Colson are in the vangard of the sound of the future. Wiles' rubber stamp business now has designs for "color notation" of music. He finds his diversified interests an advantage when creating new sounds. "Soothing percussion," he calls it, "solo percussion is creative but must have credibility that goes beyond emotions." Wiles has the credibility. Watching him perform is a happy experience for audiences of all ages.

Wiles is a featured soloist during The Northwood Symphonette's Festival of the Lakes Tour of northern Michigan. He performs July 4 on Mackinac Island and July 15 in Charlevoix. The piece he will perform is by Heuwell Tircuit, an American composer who has spent a great number of years living and composing in Japan. "Odoru Katachi" is the title of the two-movement concerto commissioned by Thor Johnson in 1962 for the Chicago Little Symphony.

The commission by Johnson stipulated that a "demanding" piece for solo percussion be written for a versatile chamber orchestra. Johnson conducted its premiere twenty years ago and 168 additional performances of the work.

The concerto reflects the influence of Tircuit's many years in Japan. Freely translated "Odoru Katachi" means the essence or soul of dancing. The piece utilizes many rhythms of of Japan with the first movement indicative of Noh and Kabuki ideals and the allegro movement representing street musicians. The score calls for the use of an atare-gane (metal triangle). Wiles fashioned one by welding an old brake drum to get just the right sound.

The Northwood Symphonette performs this and other works July 4 in St. Anne's Church on Mackinac Island at 3:00 p.m. Charlevoix's Community Reformed Church is the site July 15 at 8:00 p.m. for the second performance. Tickets for all concerts are available at the door. For Charlevoix, contact the Crooked Tree Arts Council in Petoskey's McCune Art Center. Tickets are $6 for adults and $4 for students and senior citizens.

Special series to be on American Indians

The Crooked Tree Arts Council has announced that it will present a special series of programs during the month of September, 1982, to honor the may contributions of local American Indian culture to present-day community life.

The series of programs will be called the "Nishnabe Arts Festival", drawing it's name from the Indian word which identifies members of the Three-Fires alliance of tribes indigenous to the Northern Michigan Area: The Ottawa, Objibwa, and Potawatomi tribes. Some of the important features of the festival will be:

(a) A gallery exhibition of American Indian art of the Northern Great Lakes dating from ancient times to the present;

(b) A special educational theatre presentation of native music, dance, and legends;

(c) A series of demonstrations in which Indian artisans will demonstrate traditional crafts including Quill Box construction, beadwork, and basketry;

(d) A community banquet featuring foods prepared according to native American techniques and recipes.

The Nishnabe Arts Festival, which will be presented to the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey, is being planned by a committee appointed by the Crooked Tree Arts Council. Mr. Dewitt "Bucko" Teeple of the Tri-County Indian Center of Petoskey and Dr. Kirk Osonlach of Cross Village are the co-chairmen of the event.

Boyne Motel wins Township tourney

Rain slowed down but did not hold up for long the double elimination tournament sponsored at Shanahan Field by the Charlevoix Township Slow Pitch League over the holiday weekend.

Boyne Motel came through the winners bracket to take the tourney after defeating Wojan Aluminum 7-3 in the finals. Wojans had come through the losers bracket to go into the finals.

Boyne Motel defeated the All Star Softball Club of Grand Rapids 5-4 in its opening game Saturday morning and went on to defeat the Landings 17-6 and B&L Hoggers of Ellsworth 6-5 before taking on Wojans in the finals.

Wojans has pushed Boyne Machine from the winners bracket 23-11 and Unique Finishers 11-1 before losing to B&L Hoggers 13-6.

Wojens finished in second place, the Hoggers in third and the Landings in fourth.

Randy Holecheck of the Landings won the batting title with a .647 average going 11 for 17 at the plate. Ernie Mindel was the winning pitcher in the final game allowing 13 hits. Jim Ciuk, the losing pitcher, allowed 11.

In other games, the Landings beat Flight Deck 11-6, B&L Hoggers beat V.F.W. 14-7 and the Landings beat Stebe Construction 17-4.

In the losers bracket, Boyne Machine beat V.F.W. 4-2, Flight Deck beat Unique Finishers 11-6, Boyne Machine beat Stebe Construction 17-2 and Grand Rapids All Stars beat Flight Deck 11-6.

Carlsons take city crown

Carlson Plumbing of Charlevoix was the winner of the July Fourth double elimination slow-pitch tournament held here over the weekend, defeating the Ernie Weaver team of Ann Arbor 18-1 in the finals Sunday afternoon.

Carlsons had defeated Auto Painter Supply of Owosso 8-7; McDonalds 12-11 and Swansons K&D 5-4 before going into the finals against the Ann Arbor team.

Weavers had been knocked out of the winners bracket in their opening game when they were defeated by Swansons 9-8. In the losers bracket, the team defeated McDonalds 8-0; Townhouse 5-4 and Swansons 10-7 in a return game to go against Carlsons in the finals in a game that only went five innings.

Swansons K&D finished in third place. The top three finishers received trophies.

Pat Klooster of Swansons K&D received the batting and home run honors for the tournament with a .785 batting average and five home runs. Ray LaVoie was named most valuable player with a .571 batting average and two wins as a pitcher to his credit. He was a member of the championship team.

In the first round of play McDonalds had defeated Antrim Hills of Kewadin 10-3 and Swansons beat Townhouse 10-7.

In the losers bracket, Auto Painters trimmed Antrim Hills 15-1 and Swansons eliminated Auto Painters 14-5 before losing to Ernie Weaver 10-7.

Air Force's Ed Esten takes a swing in one of last week's softball games.

Seek Venetian race entries

Applications are being accepted for the fifth annual Venetian Festival Foot Race scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Saturday, July 24 according to Pete Spieles, coach of the Charlevoix High School Cross Country team, sponsor of the event.

As in the past, there will be three races, the one mile, the five kilometer and the 10 kilometer races.

Early fees will be $4.00 prior to July 24 and $5.00 on that date.

Ribbons will be presented to all entries and medals to the top three winners in each of the 25 categories. Trophies will be presented to the winners in each of the races. Prizes will be awarded immediately following the races.

Refreshments will be available to all participants following the race and at the 10 K aid station.

Catagories in the one mile foot race will be 13 and under, 14-18 years, 19-29 years and 30 years and over for both men and women.

In the 5K race, there will be five catagories in the men's division: 13 years and under, 14-18, 19-29, 30-39 and 40 and over and in the women's division four, 13 years and under, 14-18, 19-29 and 30 and over.

T-shirts will be presented to the first 100 entries in the race.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and participating stores and mailed to Pete Spieles, 800 Park Ave., Charelvoix, MI 49720. Further information can be obtained by calling him at (616) 547-2398.

To start tennis league

The Charlevoix County Youth Activities Program is sponsoring a tennis league for Charlevoix area residents.

This program is being offered with the cooperation of Charlevoix Township and will take place at the township's tennis courts on Waller Road.

There will be two divisions in each category: Adults, Mens and Womens and 15 and under, Boys and Girls. The adult league will take place on Wednesday and Thursday from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. while the 15 and under will take place on Wednesday and Thursday from 3 to 5 p.m.

The cost will range from $10 to $15 depending upon interest shown and the number of people involved. Costs include court time.

For more information call the Charlevoix County Youth Activities Program at 547-4471.

CORRECTION

The first paragraph of Ordinance No. 399 should read as follows:

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS: THAT SECTION 8.57 (1) e. BE DELETED AND THE REMAINING SUB-PARAGRAPHS (1) f. THROUGH (1) x. ARE HEREBY RE-LETTERED (1) a. THROUGH (1) w. TO REFLECT THE PROPER ALPHABETICAL SEQUENCE. AND THAT SECTION 8.57 (2) BE AMENDED BY CHANGING THE SUB-PARAGRAPH c. TO d. AND BY SUBSTITUTING AN ADDITIONAL SUB-PARAGRAPH c. AS FOLLOWS:

The last paragraph of Ordinance No. 401 should read as follows:

(3) Any person violating any of the provisions of this Chapter shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars and cost of prosecution or by imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Permitting a violation of this Chapter on private premises is hereby declared to constitute a nuisance per se. Upon application to any court of competent jurisdiction, the court may order the nuisance abated and/or the violation restrained and enjoined. The enforcement of this Chapter by abatement of any nuisance by the enforcing officer or by application to any court of competent jurisdiction for abatement by judicial decree or writ shall not preclude enforcement of this Chapter by complaint for violation of this Chapter and the imposition of fine or imprisonment as herein provided.

Results told of Spring Race Series

The Charlevoix Yacht Club's Spring Racing Series ended June 30 with an exciting race in good weather.

Pine River Hummer, as usual, was the first of the 33 yachts to the finish line but failed to save his time on Indooroophily, Max and Camouflage. In the Portsmouth Fleet the first boat across, Lull, also failed to save its time on Cheemaun.

With the results of that race, the final season positions are:

P.H.R.F. (Overall): 1. Hummer, 2. Camouflage, 3. Bandit, 4 Razzmatazz, 5. Max, 6. Indooroophily, 7. Tigger, 8. Mint Julep, 9. Crampt Quarters and 10. Sly.

P.H.R.F. (Fleet): 1. Hummer, 2. Camouflage, 3. Tigger, 4. Mint Julep, 5. Crampt Quarters.

P-28 (Fleet): 1. Crampt Quarters, 2. Tireless, 3. Blasen III.

Santana 525s (Fleet): 1. Bandit, 2. Indooroophily, 3. Razzmatazz.

Portsmouth Fleet: 1. Cheemaun, 2. Lull, 3. Clockwork.

Wednesday, July 7 is the start of the summer series. Each fleet will compete for the "gold" and also will be scored overall. Starting times therefore are 6 p.m. for Portsmouth and 6:10 p.m. for all others in the P.H.R.F. system.

The Santana 525 Class will hold its Championship Series July 18, 19 and 20; call Gary Gleason at 547-4600 for details. The P-26s are considering a simultaneous series; those interested are asked to call Mike Carland at 547-4416.

Award Shoot winners named

Winners have been announced in the recently completed Award Shoot for pistols sponsored by the Charlevoix Rod & Gun Club.

The club has also finalized plans for their first annual Turkey Shoot to be held this Sunday, July 11, starting at 10 a.m.

Competition to be held at the shoot includes 200-yard bench rest, 100-yard running deer, 100-yd. running deer for muzzle loaders, 200-yard off-hand poker shoot, .22 rifles off-hand silhouette shoot, .22 pistols target competition and trap competition for trap guns and field guns.

Door prizes will be awarded and lunch will be available on the club grounds located north of Charlevoix on Highway 31.

In the ten-week Award Shoot series held this past spring, Frank Zednicek placed first, Jamie Waller second and Babe Mathews third.

Ron Cox rounds the bases in last week's slow-pitch action.

At least one entry in the Horton Bay parade came away cleaner than when he started.

Bible Questions Answers

DEAR B, Q & A - DOES GOD HEAL EVERYONE, EVERYTIME? Signed Sincere.

Dear Sincere There are two loaded questions However, God has the answer from His Word, the Bible. Now the basis of all promises from God to man is found in a real relationship between God and Man. God is a God of Love, and therefore He has, is and will be ready ALWAYS to start a LOVE RELATIONSHIP with any Man, Woman, Boy or Girl, and at ANYTIME! 2 Pet. 3.9 tells us that God is NOT willing that any person should perish That is, God does not want any person to fail Spiritually, Physically, or Materially. But the CHOICE is left up to the person God made man with a FREE-WILL and therefore God will NOT force anyone to love or serve Him. So the first step in getting answers from God is to begin a relationship with Him. Rom. 10.9, 10 tells us how to start this love relationship. "If we confess, with our mouth, the Lord Jesus, and believe in our heart, that God has raised Him from the dead, you are saved " We begin by confessing to Christ that we are a sinner, a rebel against the plan of God's love, and then we ask for forgiveness thru Jesus Christ, and ask Christ to come and be King on the Throne of our Heart We then allow Christ to Rule and Reign in our Thoughts, Imagination, Mind, Heart and Spirit If we don't come into the Kingdom of God thru Jesus then the Bible tells us that "God hears NOT the prayers of a sinner."

So, once we come into this love relationship with God thru Jesus Christ, then and only then do we have the full right as sons and daughters of the living King to receive the promises of God. Yet, it is not enough just to believe in Jesus. We must also believe that He is the Healer of our bodies as well as our spirits. Heb. 11.6 tells me that when I come to God, that I must believe that He is who He says He is! Who God says He is (a Healer) must be believed rather than what men say He is! 2 Pet. 3.9 tells us in fact that He will HEAL ANYONE! He is not willing to see anyone sick. Jesus has already taken my sickness on his body on the cross. But the one who comes to God for the healing must be a child of God, a believer in Christ as The Healer, and be free of sin in his life God will heal ANYONE that meets those conditions He also heals EVERYTIME! Jesus never failed to heal in the Gospels He healed EVERYTIME! Only unbelief in His own hometown prevented Him from doing mass healings there. If He didn't heal when the conditions of FAITH are met, then He would be a liar. Num. 23.19 states that God does NOT lie MORE ON HEALING NEXT WEEK. PLEASE WRITE YOUR QUESTIONS TO: BQA, Box 361, Charlevoix, Mi. 49720.

Merta completes institute

Jacquie Merta, Executive Director of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, recently completed a week's Institute of Organization Management sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and held at Notre Dame University in South Bend, Ind. This marked the fifth year Mrs. Merta has attended the Institute which annually is attended by more than 300 voluntary organization executives from all over the country who participate in this professional development program.

The Notre Dame Institute is one of six, one-week sessions held at leading universities throughout the country. Others are Georgia, Southern Methodist, Colorado, San Jose and Deleware universities.

During the five-day session participants spent 27 classroom hours in the Institute course of study which is designed to assist voluntary organization executives to improve the knowledge and skills necessary to enhance the effectiveness of their organization. The instituta curriculum includes coursework in management philosophy, interpersonal processes, government, law and organization structure as well as more contemporary issues such as economic and environmental concerns. Each participant may attend progressive levels of the program throughout his-her professional career.

University professors chosen to serve as faculty are distinguished authorities in their respective fields. Other courses are led by top-level Chamber of Commerce and Association executives. This combination makes the Institute faculty unique in its depth and range of knowledge and experience.

KCB holds annual meeting

The first annual meeting of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc. was attended by about 40 members Saturday, June 26 at Leutheusers Restaurant. New board members elected were Rosalyn Goldstick, Gale Sheldon, James Mabee, Pat Ranger and Ken Heininger.

An auction to raise funds for Operation Petunia '83 was discussed and Clarence Goldstick and Clem Olach volunteered to be auctioneers.

Board member Nancy Fowler acknowledged the help of the following people with weeding petunias: Judy Cockfield, Marge Martin, Marian Beatty and sister, Anna Belle Webb, Wilma Stabnick, Carolyn Christiansen, Mary Helen Riggle, Judy Williams, Kate Brady, Ann Mikulski, Mrs. Lou Orlowski, Nancy Wood, Rosalyn Goldstick, Doris Lundteigen, Dorothy Lewand, Ed Lewand, Maxine Bergmann, Pat Ranger, Joyce Totten, Phyllis Block, Ann Evans and Marge Dinwiddie.

Dale and Marilyn Boss have made one application of the Rapid-Gro fertilizer and will make another in two weeks.

Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce director Jacquie Merta reported on the Chamber's plans to sponsor a "host ad hostess" who will provide visitor information and will police the central business district for litter.

Sadie Bartosik named NMC Adult Student of the Year

Sadie Bartosik of Charlevoix has been named Northwestern Michigan College 1982 Adult Student of the Year.

Bartosik received the Adult Student of the Year Award earlier this month at the annual college honors ceremony. In addition to a plaque, she receives $100 from NMC's Wigwam Club.

A data processing major, Bartosik first registered for courses in 1977 when she needed to learn about computers for her job in the engineering department at Consumer's Power in Charlevoix.

"I didn't have any intention of getting a degree," stated Bartosik. "I only planned to take a few courses, but I loved it and wanted to continue."

According to Bartosik, she began taking courses at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey, but transferred to NMC because she needed additional courses for her degree.

Taking two courses per term, Bartosik commuted the one and a half hours to NMC four nights a week - even during the most difficult winter weather. Now, five years and 75,000 miles later, Bartosik has graduated with an Associate of Science Degree.

In addition to her full-time job, and classes, Batosik, who is married, worked with her husband on their farm.

Maintaining a balance between all of her commitments was hard at times, but Bartosik said it was well worth the effort.

And what are her plans for the future? "If I decide to continue my education, I may combine my associate of science degree with an associate of aets or electronics degree," said Bartosik.

The Adult Student of the Year Award was established in 1967 at NMC, and is based on nominations from faculty.

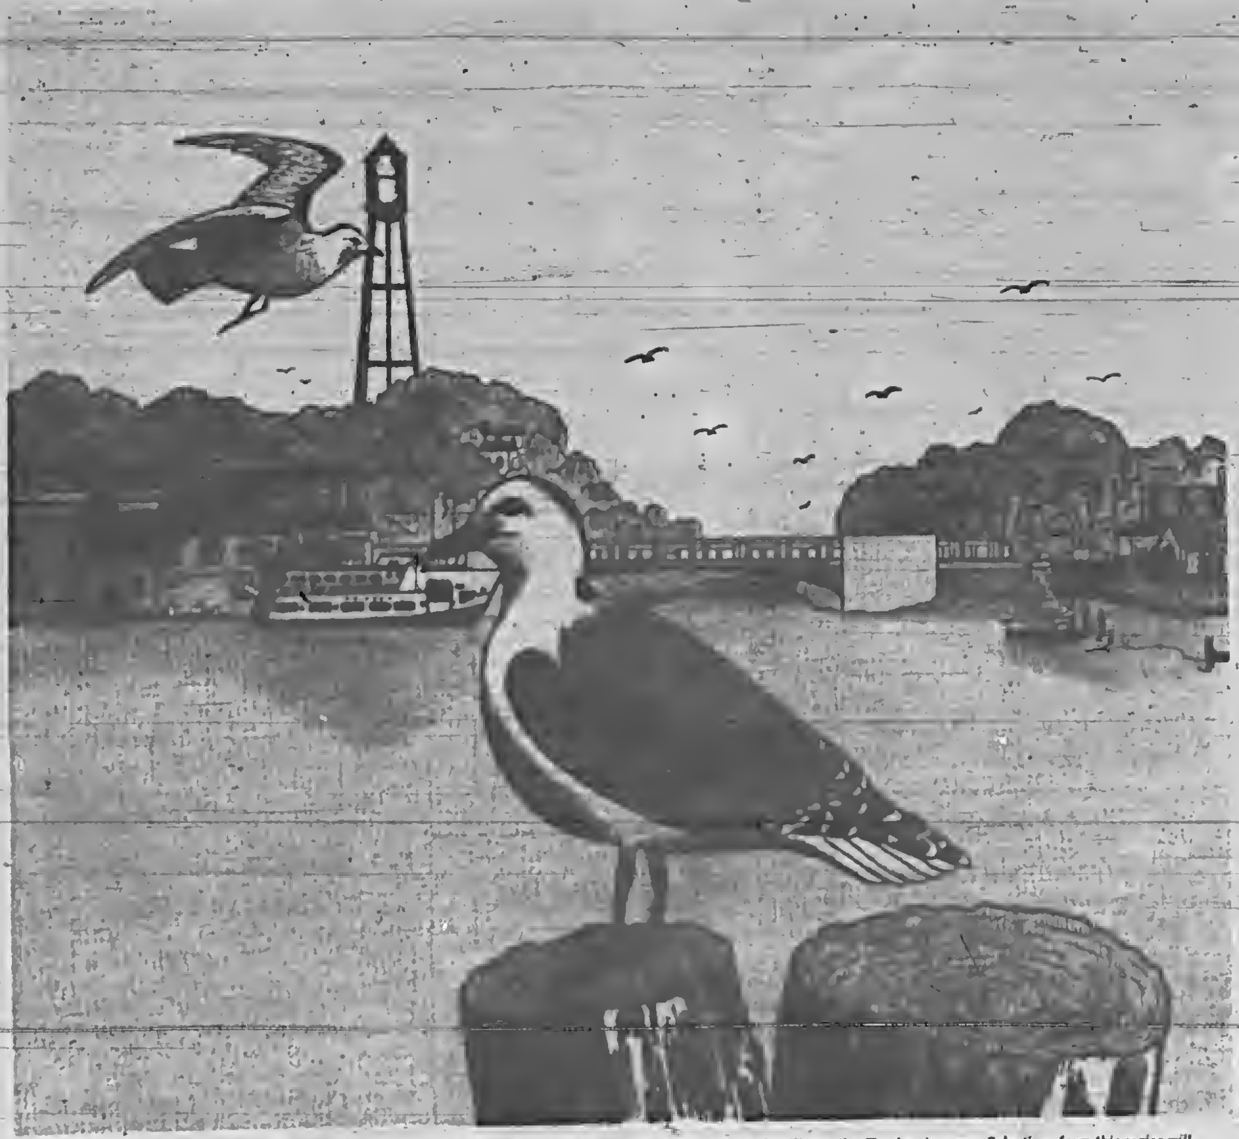
Free Supplement to the Charlevoix Courier



A FAMILIAR SIGHT to all residents and visitors in Charlevoix are the gulls on Round Lake. This view of the lake and the downtown waterfront was rendered by Charlevoix artist Marilyn Boss. Marilyn has done a series of pen and ink drawings of the birds most familiar to the Charlevoix scene. Selections from this series will be featured in Shorelines which, starting this week, will appear in the Charlevoix Courier and will be distributed in various locations each week during the summer.

When Summer comes to Charlevoix, Shorelines is never far behind

YOU CAN WIN $300.00 IN PRIZES

Enter the Shorelines Photo Naming Contest. $100 in gift certificates will be given to the winner of each photo contest to spend at these participating Charlevoix Shops.

There will be three Photo Naming Contests throughout the summer. July 1 through July 14, July 21 through August 4 and August 11 through August 25. $100 in gift certificates will be given to the author of the winning caption for each photo. There will be a new photo for each of the three contests.

RULES:
1. Your entry can be a "One-Liner" or up to 5 lines of limerick.
2. Anyone can enter, except the employees of the paper and their families.
3. All contestants must agree to permit their limerick or "one-liner" to be published.
4. A panel of judges will evaluate the entries submitted and name the winner.
